SIR HERBERT AMES GIVES TALK ON LEAGUE

MANY ATTEND LECTURE BY DISTINGUISHED SPEAKER

Probably the most prominent speaker who has visited Andover this year was Sir Herbert Ames, treasurer-general of the League of Nations, who gave a very interesting address about the league. Sir Ames opened his talk with a few of his own personal experiences. He said that during the world war, he had been raising money, and, as he needed a vacation, he took his wife up to Nova Scotia so that he might have a complete rest. Such, however, was not his fortune, for a telegram arrived offering him the position of treasurer-general of the League of Nations. For two weeks he debated on the question whether he should take the position or not. If he accepted it meant leaving Canada and selling his home. The League was a new thing at that time and many people thought that it would be a failure. On the other hand, the honor of being the first treasurer of a world parliament, in which the greatest statesmen of all nations would join, was no small consideration in itself. For seven years Sir Ames remained in the position of treasurer. He said that these years were the seven happiest and most important years of his life.

At first many people scoffed at the league, but after its successful accomplishments they saw that it was here to stay. In 1919 thirty two states came together in Paris for a peace conference. The dominant thought was never to have another war. The peace conference set up two kinds of machinery, one, to enforce peace, which was made up of the prime ministers and ambassadors, the other to promote peace by good feeling. The second is known as the League of Nations. The League members agreed to do five things, namely, to respect each other's boundaries, to discourage war, to refer disputes to arbitration, to help each other, and to promote co-operation.

One year after the League was started, fifty-six out of the possible sixty-four states of the world had joined the League. It was divided into five parts, the assembly or world parliament, the council or executive body, the secretariat, where four hundred people are employed to find out facts about cases, the International Labor Office, where experts study labor and social problems, and the Court of International Justice, which gives advisory opinions to the assembly and deals with disputes.

The assembly has had seven regular meetings and one special one, when Germany was taken into the League. At this time Sir Herbert's term of office as treasurer-general had expired and he was made one of the regular delegates from Canada.

He gave a very minute and interesting description of the special meeting when Germany was admitted. On the main floor the different delegates sat in groups. It was a very strange sight to see the white, black, and yellow races all mixed together. In the rear of the building were two galleries.

SENIORS OFFERED TRIP TO RAZOR FACTORY

FREE RIDE BOTH WAYS. DATE SET FOR APRIL 13

The members of the Senior Class and possibly Upper Middlers are to be given a fine opportunity to see how the safety razors are made from start to finish. The Gillette Safety Razor Company has invited the upper classmen to go thru their factory and see how it is done. They are going to send buses for us, take us all thru the factory, present each one with a Safety Razor, and then bring us back to Andover. To any one who is at all interested in manufacturing or engineering this is a great chance to see how a modern plant is run. And, too, we don't have a new razor presented to us every day.

The date which has been set for this trip is April 13th, which is next Wednesday. Those who wish to go should turn their names in at once to Mr. Dye. If there is room, Upper Middlers will also be extended this invitation.

English Prizes

The following prizes are offered in English in the Spring term:

The Andrew Potter Prizes. Two prizes, of thirty dollars and twenty dollars respectively, are awarded to those candidates for a diploma who shall deliver, at the Commencement exercises in June, the best essays on assigned subjects. The competition is open to diploma candidates only. The essays should contain from eight hundred to a thousand words.

The Schweppe Prizes. Two prizes, one of thirty dollars and one of twenty dollars, are open to members of the Senior and the Upper Middle classes. The examination, which will be held in June, will be based on the following works by Edgar Allan Poe:—To Helen; Lenore; Ulalume; Annabell Lee; The Bells; The Fall of the House of Usher; Ligeia; The Masque of the Red Death; The Purloined Letter; The Gold Bug.

The Goodhue English Prizes. Two prizes, one of fifteen dollars and one of ten dollars, are offered for excellence in English literature and composition, including the more practical topics of elementary rhetoric. The examination, to be held late in May or early in June, will be based on the work of the English classes in the Senior and the Upper Middle years.

The Charles C. Clough Memorial Prize, a prize of twenty-five dollars, awarded to the member of the Senior class who writes the best essay on the subject, The Character of Leontes.

The Chance of a Lifetime

Andover students will have the chance of a lifetime to bid on the famous football painting at the Andover Bookstore next Friday at seven o'clock. These are the artist's paintings made expressly for the biggest football games of the East last fall. Among them are the Yale-Harvard, Harvard-Princeton, Harvard-Brown, and the Harvard-Dartmouth paintings. These pictures will be auctioned to the highest cash bidder. This promises to be the most exciting auction of the season.

ELECTION ANNOUNCEMENTS AND OTHER NOTICES

Lyman Dewitt Westfall of Geneseo, New York, has been elected captain of the 1928 swimming team. He has starred in the dashes for two years. In the Exeter meet he secured two first places.

Harold Lincoln Harris, of Mansfield, Massachusetts, was chosen to lead the basketball team for next year. He entered Andover last fall. His play during the latter part of the season and in the Exeter game was very brilliant.

John Michael MacGauley of New York City, a new man in school, was elected captain of next year's wrestling team. He wrestled in the 135-pound class.

Braden Bayard Kane of Radnor, Pa., has been elected swimming manager for next year.

William Smyth of Englewood, New Jersey, has been elected to serve as Basketball manager for the coming year.

Mr. Dye announces that a moving picture will be presented at eight o'clock tonight in George Washington Auditorium. The program will consist of "The Strong Man", played by Harry Langdon, a News Reel, and an animated cartoon.

All Seniors who have not returned their proofs to Mr. Huntress must do so by Wednesday, April 13.

The Vagabond announces a new business competition, in addition to its regular one, open to Seniors only. Any Senior who gets $20.00 worth of advertisements is entitled to a silver charm and any who obtain $30.00 worth will receive a gold charm.

Chapel Speaker

The speaker at both services this Sunday will be Dr. James A. Beebe, President of Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa.

VIERNE TO DEDICATE NEW ORGAN MONDAY

FAMOUS ORGANIST OF NOTRE DAME TO GIVE RECITAL

Next Monday evening, in the aditorium of George Washington Hall, Louis Vierne, one of the foremost organists of the world, will give a recital. Louis Vierne long ago won a position of international fame, not only through the distingusihed quality of his performances as an organist, but also by virtue of the brilliance of his compositions. Born at Poitiers, France, in 1870, he received his first serious musical instruction at Paris, under the supervision of no less a person than the great Cesar Frank. Later studying with Widor and Guilmant, at the age of 24, he won the first prize at the conservatory, being appointed assistant to Widor at St. Sulpice, and becoming assistant to Guilmant in his organ classes at the conser. vatory until the master's death in 1911.

In 1900 he was appointed to the enviable post of Titular Organist of Notre Dame cathedral, Paris. Although forced by ill health to relinguish all musical activites for some years, M. Vierne has recently returned to his duties with health restored and at the height of his powers. Numerous concert tours in England, France, Belgium, Switzerland, Italy, Germany and Austria have firmly established his reputation as one of the foremost perfomers of the day.

For several years rumors have been abroad in America concerning a projected Vierne tour in America, but it has remained for the present management to translate these expectations into fact. It will be a rare privilege for organists, students, and lovers of the organ generally, to thus have the opportunity of hearing the compositions of one of the foremost modern composers played by the writer himself upon the wonderful organ in George Washington hall where their orchestral possibilities' may be revealed to their utmost.

Baseball Game Next Week

The first baseball game of the season will be played a week from today with Wellesley High School. This, however, is only a practice game, and Coach Merewether intends to try out all available material. Neither Frigard nor Lynch, who is doing some very nice pitching, will be able to oppose the High School. Frigard has knee trouble that will keep him out for a week or two.

The probable line-up will be Osborne on first base, Alexander playing second, Captain Luce holding down his old position at third, and a new man, Goodman, who is doing very well, playing short-stop. The outfield will be made up of Harding, Adler, and Slader. Both Murphy and Roe look like very promising pitchers. Roe, who is the strongest pitcher, is a little wild. Bassett will probably be behind the bat.

Coach Merewether is holding weekly meetings to discuss rules, plays, and any other things that come up.

ALL- CLUB LOSES TO EXETER ALL-CLASS

GAME VERY UNINTERESTING. SCORE: 19-5

On the Wednesday before exam week at the Thompson gymnasium the All-Club basketball team lost a slow and uninteresting game to the Exeter All-Class five.

The All-Club started to play the some stalling game that the varsity had done the preceding Saturday with such success, but Exeter solved it easily because the blue, handicapped by lack of practice, could not keep the ball away from them.

The first quarter, featured by very close guarding, ended 0-0. At the half Exeter led only 4-3, but in the third quarter their superior passing attack began to take effect, so that they enjoyed a 12-3 lead at the end of it. In the fourth period they drew still farther ahead. The final score was Exeter 18 Andover 5.

Following is the game play by play:

1st Quarter

Roe tapped the ball back to Fichthorn, who held it until the Exeter forwards came out of position and then passed to Ederheimer. Andover advanced up the floor, but the ball was intercepted.

Exeter took three or four tries. There were two fierce mix-ups under the Andover basket. The guarding was very close. Lewis almost scored a basket as the period ended. All-Club 0. All-Class 0.

2nd. Quarter.

To open the scoring, Alter sank a short shot on a pass from Adell. A moment later Ederheimer dropped in a free throw. Andover twice worked the ball down into Exeter territory, but lost it on bad passes. Several minutes of slow play followed. Lewis counted from the side., Miller dribbled by Runyon and shot a basket. All-Class 4, All-Club 3.

3rd Quarter.

Exeter got the tip off. Some good teamwork resulted in a basket by Alter. The All-club, after recovering the ball off the backboard, lost it by a bad pass. Runyon made a free-throw good. Ederheimer almost tallied. Lewis added three points to the all-class total by sinking a foul and long field goal. Reisner missed two free - throws. Andover carried the ball under the Exeter basket. However, good guarding prevented a shot. The period ended with a basket by Alter.

All Class 12 All-Club 3.

The blue made repeated advances into Exeter territory. Close guarding and some poor luck prevented baskets. Odell looped in a long shot. Alter followed with a short one. Just before the end of the game, Reisner and Deane tossed in baskets.

THE ANDOVER PRESS

SATURDAY, APRIL 9, 1927

THE PHILLIPIAN takes pleasure in announcing the election to the Editorial Board of T. Richardson, J. W. Bannon, R. A. Keyworth, F. Townend, and L. Mitchell, Jr.; to the Business Board of T. Lassiter, F. D. Burgweger, and J. S. Mason.

As we take in hand the reins relinquished (to carry on the metaphor employed by our predecessors) by the recent board, we cannot help being impressed with the task which confronts us. To conduct a school publication in a manner entirely satisfactory to all concerned is no easy matter, nor do we flatter ourselves that we shall succeed in doing this. What we will try to do, however, is to present the news of the school in a manner as interesting and intelligent as possible and to discuss in the editorial columns the many and varied problems of school life, which we all encounter and in which we are all interested. We acknowledge with pleasure the congratulations and good wishes of the old board, and can only hope that, in the year which is to follow, we shall show ourselves in some part worthy of their confidence bestowed upon us.

Club Baseball

Although club baseball practice has only been under way for a few days, there has been some very promising material found. However nothing can be definitely decided about the teams or their men until after the first game of the club championship series. Many new recruits will be received after the Life Saving tests are completed and undoubtedly a few wil be advanced to the varisty. There is a general shortage of battery men in all clubs, and an over abundance of outfielders, from which some pitchers will probably be developed. The Saxons and the Gauls are practicing on the old campus and the library and chapel campus, are being utilized by the Greeks and the Romans.

Club Track

Club track candidates have been working out for only a short time, but have made a good deal of progress. The runners are jogging easy laps and practicing starts under the coaching of Mr. Barss, while the field men are becoming accustomed to their events and striving for form. As yet, they have made no attempt for distance. The clubs appear evenly matched so that no indication can be gained as to which one will win the championship until after the first meet which is on the 22nd of April.

Exeter News

In the 36 hole qualifying round of the United North and South amateur golf tournament, which is being held in Pinehurst, N. C., a seventeen-year-old student at Exeter, Phillip Finley, finished with the third best score. Out of the 178 starters for a place among the 16 who began the match for the title Wednesday, Finley was bettered only by George Voight of Washington, who made a score of 135, and by W. C. Fownes Jr. of Pittsburgh, who made a total of 147. The Exeter boy followed closely with a score of 148 strokes. Unfortunately he was unable to compete for the title Wednesday, as he received a telegram from the President of Exeter Academy notifying him to return to school at once.

Sir Herbert Ames Lecture

One was filled with three hundred reporters, the other with eight hundred spectators. The taking in of Germany is perhaps the most important thing accomplished by the league thus far.

The council meets every two or three months. It is made up of eight members. The five great powers have permanent members. The others are elected. Their most important job is in keeping the peace. They have settled twenty-five questions in seven years. Sir Herbert illustrated the most important of these. The most troublesome territory is the Balkan states, which are always on a hair trigger. The league is now giving money to educate and to build up these states. This council is also in charge of the disarmament policies.

Sir Herbert stated that Geneva, the seat of the League, has become the watch tower of Europe. If a puff of smoke is seen, it is put out before it becomes a conflagration.

He closed his extremely interesting talk by saying that a new building will be built on the shores of Lake Geneva that will be constructed of materials which will stand. He then showed some extremely interesting latern slides of scenes concerning the league and its members.

Athletics for Spring Term

Last Tuesday after-noon in Borden Gymnasium the whole school assembled to receive directions for the atheletics of this term and to sign up for the various sports. Dr. Page told the student body that this term there would undoubtedly be a number of cases of mumps, measles and chicken pox, and he said that if each fellow would not watch his health carefully, the number of sicknesses might be as many and as bad as those of last term, which, he said, were unusually heavy. This term there will be an opportunity for all those who wish it to take a course in life saving under the direction of a man from the Life Saving Association of America. Riding will also be at the disposal of the students with a price of 15 dollars for 12 lessons or 1 dollar and a half for one lesson. The varsity tennis team has already been selected, but there will be a chance for any who wish to compete for a place on the team to challenge one of the men already picked. The team will be coached by Mr. Kelly. There is some doubt as to whether the school will maintain a golf team this year, but it is hoped that the faculty will pass this when the question comes to their attention. Coach Merriweather has reduced the baseball squad to a minimum number of players and there will be no more cuts. Any who have not tried out for this as a varsity sport and wish to do so must see Mr. Merriweather if they think they are competent enough in the game. All club athletics, started last Thursday.

American History Film Course

Mr. Roth, who during the winter term conducted the Film Course in American History, delivered his last lecture in Washington Memorial Hall on Wednesday, March 16th. The picture shown was "Dixie," the last which has been produced by Yale University. The crowd attending was the largest which the course has so far drawn, and the picture was one of the best.

Mr. Roth spoke of his appreciation for the great interest which has been shown in the course this year and briefly outlined the course which will be offered next year. The pictures will feature the discovery of North America.

Mr. Roth will appreciate any comments, either verbally or in writing, on the course. Such comments may be helpful in the presentation of the new pictures next year.

The picture "Dixie" showed fisrt a scene on a southern plantation previous to the out-break of the Civil War. The next episode showed the southern army after the first three years of warfare. General Lee held the loyalty and admiration of his worn and ragged soldiers. The picture featured the Allen family and their estate in South Carolina. After picturing the hardships of this family, the film closed with the surrender of Lee to General Grant at the Appomattox Court House. General Grant was pictured in his typical attire and attitude, while General Lee is also shown as the dignified and respected General of the Southern Armies.

Before the picture Mr. Roth also outlined the great events of history which led up to the Civil War. In April he will give an illustrated lecture on the subject, "How Geography has influenced the History of the United States."

This lecture will be free to the public and will be given in George Washington Hall.

SENIORS—

IF YOU HAVE NOT BEEN PHOTOGRAPHED—DO IT NOW!

Proofs not yet brought back must be returned immediately, to be sure of being in the class book. Anyone desiring photographs should be photographed early in the term and it would be wise to place your re-orders soon, also.

I may be away later in the term and the time is short.
