The Phillipian.

Vol. XVIII. No. 59. Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., Wednesday, May 6, 1896. Price 5 Cents.

Communications.

[Members of the school are invited to contribute to this column, but the editors do not hold themselves responsible for the opinions of any correspondent.]

To the Editors of the Phillipian:

Every year the Street Teams are allowed to assess the fellows to furnish sweaters and suits for their respective teams, thus depriving the regular school Athletic Teams of money that is badly needed. This has gone on to such an extent, that several times recently the school foot-ball and base-ball management have been in debt at the end of the season. Now, would it not be a good scheme for the Street Team Managers, to collect smaller amounts from the fellows and each to contribute a fixed sum to a general pool, which could be used to get suits for the team which won the series. This would not only enable the fellows to give more to the school teams, but would also create a greater rivalry among the street teams by making it a greater honor to win the series; it would also deter those fellows from going out whose sole object is to win a sweater or suit and who care nothing whether their team wins or not.

Mr. Pettee's Geometry.

Mr. Pettee's new Geometry, which has been in preparation for some time, appeared on Saturday. It is a neat, compact book published by Silver, Burdett and Company, Boston. The principal aim of the author is to "direct the student's attention to the goemetric relation itself rather than to the description of the relation—to the properties of the figures used illustrating the geometric fact, rather than to the verbal discussions of hypothesis and conclusion." In this he has admirably suceeded, for the book is concise throughout and the secondary or supporting reasons, while complete, are kept subordinate and distinct from the main chain of proof.

Portraits of President Kirkland and Dr. Holmes.

Two oil paintings, one of John Thorton Kirkland, P. A. 1785, and President of Harvard, 1810–1825, the other of Dr. Wendell Holmes, P. A. '25, which were presented to the school at the alumni banquet were placed in the chapel Monday morning.

School Organizations.

Philo.

The program for the next meeting of Philo is: Extempore, J. B. Richardson; address, Beardsley; select reading, R. F. Edwards; critique, Boynton. The subject for the debate is, "Resolved, That the West exerts more influence than the East on public questions." Upheld on the affirmative by Morrison assisted by Salomon, on the negative by A. H. Richardson assisted by Leach.

ENTERED AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER AT ANDOVER POST-OFFICE.

The Andover Press.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 6, 1896.

The invitation, which was read and accepted at the school meeting this morning, did not seem to be received with the proper spirit. The town people have just shown us in many ways how thoughtful they are, and was the spirit shown this morning a proper reciprocate for this? Whenever the Andover fellows have a plan under way or anything in which the town people can be of assistance, you will always find them ready, so why now that we have the chance, shouldn't we enter on this with all our hearts and make it a success, at least as far as we are concerned? Let us make up for the laxity in spirit shown this morning by turning out in full force for the parade.

Our attention has been called to the fact that several times this year the track house has been broken in by persons who would not wait for it to be properly opened. This was repeated on last Saturday and now the management threatens that if it happens again the house will be closed for good. It seems a great pity that fellows who would use the house properly and who would derive much advantage from it should be debarred on account of a few heedless offenders. However, we heartily endorse the action of the managers as being the only way to settle the difficulty. They cannot be expected to go to the expense of putting on new locks or repairing damages every week or so. If the house is closed it will bring the matter closer to the fellows and compel them to take some action which will put a stop to the trouble.

Yale Handicap Games.

The invitation handicap games of the Yale Athletic Association were held at New Haven Saturday afternoon. Athletes from Yale, Harvard, Columbia, Holy Cross, Dartmouth and minor colleges entered and made the games a great succes. Harvard's large team failed to win an event and captured but two seconds. Conneff of Holy Cross, the champion mile runner, was in very poor form, and dropped off early in the race. The results were as follows: 120 yards dash—Won by T. R. Fisher, Yale, (3 yards), in 12s.

880 yards dash—Won by A. H. Atha, Yale, (40 yards), in 1.56 4.5.

220 yards hurdle —Won by S. Chase, Dartmouth (scratch), in 25s.

Mile run —Won by Buckingham, Yale (120 yards) in 4.18 2-5.

Pole vault—Won by C.T. Van Winkle, Yale(scratch), 10 ft. 10 3-4 in.

Running broad jump—Won by Mitchell, Yale(1 foot); Chase 2d, 22 ft.

Throwing hammer —Won by Beck, Yale, (3 feet), 131 ft. 11 in.

Outing for May:

Outing for May is an excellent number in text and illustration. The contens are as follows: "The Search for Mrs. Denbeigh," by Agnes L. Provost; "Llano Estacdo," by Jas. F. Duncan; "The Truth of a Trouting," by Ed. W. Sandys; "Canoeing on the St. John," by Rev. W. C. Gaynor; "Racing Sandbaggers," by C. H. Chapman; "Camp Cookery," by A. W. Gillette and W. and A. McAndrew; "Breaking a Bike," by F. H. Benson; "Wild Steeds of the Pampas," by A. Livingstone; "Black Bass Fishing," by F. J. Wells; "Len's World Tour Awheel;" "Tiger Hunting in India," J. H. Porter; "Yachting in 'Frisco Bay," by A. Inkersley; "Handicap Reform in Lawn Tennis," by J. P. Peret; "The National Guard of Nebraska," by Lieut W. R. Hamilton, and the usual editorials, records, etc.
