PHILLIPS ACADEMY, ANDOVER, MASS., OCTOBER 16, 1889.

NO. 9.

Philo.

Between forty and fifty fellows were present at the meeting of the Philomathean Society last Friday evening, and, although there were some disappointments, owing to the fact that three who were expected to take part failed to appear, yet on the whole the meeting was thoroughly enjoyed. After prayer had been offered by Mr. Snell, a criticism of the previous meeting was read by Mr. Powell. This gentleman was followed by Mr. Lamprey, who spoke extemporaneously on the "Reasons why Andover is to be preferred rather than Exeter."

As the gentlemen who were to deliver the address and declamation were not present, the debate was now in order, and in the absence of the leaders appointed, it was moved that Mr. Snell lead the affirmative, and Mr. Moré the negative, on the question: "Resolved, That it will be for the best interests of the South to allow the negro the free use of his suffrage." The president appointed Messrs. Atha, Robinson and Geer to assist the affirmative, and Messrs. McLaren, Wilkinson and Perham the negative. There spoke from the house, on the affirmative, Messrs. Powell, Williams, Bumstead, Abbott, Lamprey and Chapman, and on the negative, Mr. Fouse. By far the best argument of the evening was by Williams. The president gave his decision with the affirmative.

We would say here, in behalf of the gentlemen who were absent, that they had not been notified of their appointment by the secretary, and so they were not to blame. This oversight on the part of the secretary was an unintentional one, he having been sick during the week, and thus unable to attend to his duties. In future all, we hope, will be notified promptly, and if any are unable to take their parts, it will save much annoyance if they provide substitutes.

The Discovery of a Forgotten Nation.

On Monday evening, the 14th, Mr. Dickerman lectured, on the above subject, to a smaller audience than was in attendance the previous Monday. The evening was rather rainy and a little cold. This may account for the small attendance; but any one who attended the lecture is led to believe that the others were detained at home from a foreknowledge of the inferiority of the entertainment. In the first place, every one had to hunt for his seat in a semi-lighted room, then sit and listen to a conglomeration of the most ancient Egyptian names, places and races, read quickly from a book, in a mechanical and slipshod manner. The pictures thrown on the screen were well illumined, but the only change was from maps to ancient sculpture, and from this again to maps, with which the lecturer appeared to be somewhat unfamiliar. This, together with the flatness of his attempted jokes, called forth much ridicule, in the shape of laughter, from young and old. The audience became impatient, and during the closing of the lecture there was a general hum of uneasiness through the room. Some may think this severe criticism; but even to one who delights in hunting up ancient relics and translating hieroglyphics of past nations, this lecture would have proved no source of instruction or interest. But we can look forward to next Monday evening, to being interested by Mr. Frank Beard, in his "Stories in Pictures." This entertainment will better suit the taste of the average Andover audience, and we may expect to be repaid for our trouble in attending.

Dartmouth, 20; Andover, 4.

On Friday afternoon Andover played her second game with Dartmouth, and, although the game resulted in a victory for the visiting team, the score was more favorable than the one two weeks ago.

When we play a heavy team like Dartmouth, we begin to see the weakness of our rush line. Since we have not the weight, it is all the more important that the rushers be diligent in their training if we can expect to cope successfully with Exeter's extraordinary rush line. Another serious defect which was noticeable in the game Friday, was the tendency of Andover to fumble, even at most critical points. Such things can be avoided. In other respects the playing can hardly be criticised.

The game was called at 3:40. Andover, having won the toss, chose the ball while Dartmouth took the north goal. Ogilvie starts off with a gain of twelve yards, but Dartmouth wins the ball on four downs. Dartmouth gains several yards every time the ball is put in play. Folsom makes several good rushes, and within five minutes after play is called Dartmouth secures a touch-down. Odlin fails to kick a goal. Score, 4-0.

At the 25-yard line Bliss leads off with a gain of fifteen yards. Andover loses the ball on four downs, but quickly regains it by the good tackling of McCormick and Colt, who capture Odlin at a loss of nearly fifteen yards. Bliss now advances the ball ten yards, but after the third down, in order to keep the ball, touches it down at a loss of twenty yards, but surrenders it when the distance is found to be only twelve. Tyler makes five yards, and Dartmouth begins to use her weight, which Colt checks in a measure by good tackling. The ball is now forced within Andover's 25-yard line. At this point Tyler, feeling the effects of an injury on his shoulder received a few minutes before, is substituted by Weeks. Four downs give the ball to Andover. Bliss punts to Odlin, who rushes from the centre to Andover's 25-yard line. Dartmouth is forced to punt, as Gilbert gets around the end. Stone makes an advance of several yards, and after the third down Bliss punts, Colt securing the ball at the centre. The ball is advanced fifteen yards by Cochran, and four more by Brown. Bliss adds eight yards, and the ball is now within Dartmouth's 25-yard line. At such a critical point, Andover fumbles and loses the ball. At once Dartmouth begins to make nearly ten yards at every attempt to break through our rush line. By continuing this process Dartmouth forces the ball within Andover's 25-yard line, but at this point loses it on four downs. Andover, failing to make any gain, punts to Dartmouth, who again forces it back to the 25-yard line. Gilbert now tackles a Dartmouth man at a loss of ten yards. Odlin tries for a goal from the field, but fails.

Dartmouth lines up at the 25-yard line. Brown leads off with five yards. After the third down Bliss touches the ball down at a loss of twenty yards in order to keep it, but Andover fumbles, and Dartmouth soon pushes the ball across the line, making her second touch-down. No goal. Shortly after the men had lined up, time was called. Score, 8-0.

Dartmouth opens the second half by forming a V, gaining fifteen yards. Andover struggles stubbornly, and wins the ball on four downs. After the ball has changed hands twice in this way, Stone makes a gain of ten yards, McCormick and Bliss advance it to centre. After three downs, Andover punts. Odlin is tackled by Colt, ten yards from the centre, within Dartmouth's territory. Dartmouth is forced to punt. Bliss returns it, and again Colt makes a good tackle of Odlin. During the next few minutes Dartmouth repeats the shoving process and gains a touch-down. Goal kicked. Score, 14-0.

At the centre, Brown gains ten yards, but Dartmouth wins the ball on another fumble. After gaining several yards Dartmouth loses the ball on a fumble. Colt gains five yards, and Bliss advances nearly to the centre, but Andover fumbles. While Dartmouth is repeating her act of pushing, Bliss secures the ball, and leaving Dartmouth's men in a heap rushes from Andover's 25-yard line and secures a touch-down. No goal. Score, 14-4.

At the 25-yard line, Dartmouth plays hard and makes advancement rapidly, although hindered somewhat by Hinkey's tackling. For a few minutes our rush line is very ineffective, and Dartmouth soon secures her fourth touch-down. Goal kicked. Score, 20-4.

At the centre Andover gains twenty-five yards. Bliss is forced to punt. Colt neatly tackles Odlin ten yards distant from Dartmouth's goal. Weeks makes two fine rushes, carrying the ball past the centre. Shortly after this the game is called.

The players and their positions were as follows:

ANDOVER.		DARTMOUTH.
Gilbert	Rushers	Norton	Quarter-backs
Colt		Folsom

THE ANDOVER PRESS, PRINTERS.

The interest which is beginning to be shown in the formation of house and street elevens is a very desirable feature of the football interests in the school. There is a likelihood that in this way a greater or less amount of good material may be developed for next year, and outside of this fact the games which are played between such elevens are always instrumental in a larger degree than is commonly realized towards increasing the interest taken in the game by the school at large. After the Exeter game the campus will be free for these games, and although a very short time remains after that date before cold weather sets in, there will be an opportunity for several interesting games to be played.

We are led to believe that there is a very small number of men in school who either do not understand, or else possibly try to take advantage of the way in which the PHILLIPIANs are distributed. It is customary to make the first three or four issues free to every one, in order to advertise the paper thoroughly among the new fellows. This may lead some to infer that such a distribution is kept up until something to the contrary is definitely stated. In order to correct any such impression, we wish to say that those who take papers when they are given out in the lower hall at noon will be held as subscribers, whether they have yet given their names to the editors as such, or not.

At the request of the cheering committee we publish in another column the school cheers. The committee are desirous that the cheers be thoroughly learned by every one, in order that every man may be sure of the cheer before he cheers. Let every man, therefore make it a point to know these cheers and the cheering will be vastly improved.

Cut out and Learn the following Cheers.

Hood, ex-P.S. '90, is in town for a few days.

Sanford, ex-P.A. '91, took in the Dartmouth game Friday.

The cold weather has stopped tennis playing for the present.

Mr. Jernegan preached at the Baptist church in town, Sunday.

The Bicycle club made a run to Haverhill last Saturday afternoon.

Sandford, ex-P.A. '91, and Perkins, ex-P.S. '91, were in town Friday.

The first meeting of the Andover Club, at Harvard, was held last evening.

Holland, ex-P.S. '90, is attending the Medical School of University of Penn.

Efforts are being made at Exeter, to have a series of class foot-ball games.

The Old South church is to be lighted by electricity, also the grim, dark Andover depot.

F. W. Moore, P.A. '89, H.U. '93, is manager of the Freshman foot-ball team at Harvard.

Germer, Captain of the Technology foot-ball team, was seriously injured in the game here last Wednesday.

English Commons had difficulty Saturday afternoon in getting a sufficient number of foot-ball men to come out for practice.

There is a rumor afloat that a movement is on foot to pass preparatory school graduates into all the colleges and universities without examination.

Yardley has been added to the cheering staff.

Tracy Harris, Andover '82, Princeton '86, is one of the three men constituting the Graduate Committee on Athletics at Princeton. The committee has recently advised a change in the captaincy of the foot-ball team, and the advice was promptly accepted.

Phillips men who graduated at Sheff. last June are reported as follows: Breed, undecided; Dillingham, post graduate course at Sheff.; Ferry, civil engineering; Lee, study abroad; Mitchell, civil engineering in Denver; Wright, railroading in Nashville.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Old South church gave their first sociable last Friday night in the church vestry. The first part of the evening was given up to music and reading. Miss Fannie Berry's reading was well received by the audience, and the singing of Mr. Pratt was excellent. After the entertainment cake and coffee were served. Several Academy fellows were present, and the time was spent very pleasantly by all.

A meeting of the Freshmen who are trying for positions on the Freshman eleven was held last evening in Captain Gill's room. Mr. Gill, after stating the necessity of choosing a man fully capable of filling the position, called for a vote, which resulted in the election of Mr. L. S. Owsley, '92 S., of Chicago, Ill. Mr. Owsley has played several years on the Andover eleven.—Yale News.

[The News is mistaken in stating that Mr. Owsley played several years on the Andover eleven. He played a strong game on the team last year, however.—Eds.]

The Cane Rush.

The Junior Middlers began to assemble on the campus immediately after the noon recitation, yesterday, in preparation for a cane rush. The Seniors had also been notified of the affair, and were out in full force to act as judges. '92 first started the cheering with only seven men, but were soon reinforced by about twenty-five men, who were rather slow in coming. At 12.53 the required fifteen minutes of cheering was up, and the judges ordered the '91 men to rush, which they did in good style. Time was called at 8 minutes past 1, and the count made, which resulted in nineteen hands for '91 and twelve hands for '92. No one was hurt in the rush, although most of the fellows who entered came out with some of their clothes torn or lost. Bliss did the best rushing for '91, and Moré for '92, who at the close had two hands on the centre of the cane. The '91 men knew nothing about the rush until they heard the cheering, but they responded quickly, and are deserving of praise for their good work.

The receipts of the Harvard University Boat Club last year were $7596.12, plus bills receivable, $9918.03.

1000 YOUNG MEN WANTED.

Must be able to dress correctly, and appreciate the higher class of Tailoring. We have turned away thousands of young men, in the past few years, who were desirous of trading with us, but who were unable or unwilling to pay our prices.
