(The Committee are requested to see that the orders are given in as early as possible, in order that the work may be completed in due season.)

Philo Senate.

The second meeting of the mock senate was held last Friday evening. The attendance was not so large as that of the first meeting. This was due to the fact that a number of other organizations met on the same evening, aside from its being the night preceding the Exeter game.

The regular routine of business consumed but little time, and after this the executive committee submitted a set of by-laws for the government of the society. These were discussed and adopted by articles. Each measure brought forth a great deal of discussion, and the entire evening was thus used. The time cannot be regarded as lost, for many very valuable lessons in parliamentary usage were learned during the discussion of the regulations. The organization of the society is now very nearly complete, and a large number of bills were placed on the calendar for the next meeting, which will be devoted entirely to the discussion of them.

L. C., 22; School St., 0.

The third championship game was played on the campus Wednesday. Time was called at 3.15, L. C. having the ball. She advances 35 yds. by short rushes through the centre. Then Hazard runs around the end, bringing the ball within one yard of School Street's line. Cutler makes a touch-down. Hedges kicks a goal. School St. makes 8 yds. on the V, but soon loses the ball on four downs. Cutler makes 10 yds.; Hazard adds 5, and Cutler makes 3 through the centre and then is sent round the end for 25 yds.

School St. gets the ball on a fumble. Rice and Gilmour make 20 yds. L. C. secures the ball again and Hazard makes a good rush, when the first half ends.

In the second half School St. makes 1 yd. on the wedge, but soon loses the ball. Cutler then makes 15 yds. a round the end and adds 5 more through the centre. Such work soon brings the ball to School St.'s 20-yd line. Cutler runs around the end and scores the second touch-down. Goal. School St. makes 12 yds. on the V from the centre. After several short rushes, L. C. gets the ball on four downs. Hazard makes 8 yds. School St. holds well and Hedges has to kick. School St. gets the ball on her 40-yd. line. Thomson is laid up in next play and Merrill takes his place at end, and Smith is put at tackle. School St. fumbles. L. C. secures the ball. Hazard makes 8 yds. and Hedges 5. The ball is now passed to Cutler, who makes another touch-down from the 30-yd. line. No goal. School Street tries the wedge at the 25-yd. line and loses 3 yds. Quimby gets the ball on a fumble and Hazard, guarded by Cutler, goes over the line, but drops the ball. Gilmour falls on it making a touch-back. The wedge is tried again without gain. Gilmour makes 5 yds., but L. C. plays hard and gets the ball on four downs. Hedges and Cutler make 25 yds. through the centre, and bring the ball to School St.'s 1-yd. line. Hazard is sent over for a touch-down. Hedges kicks the goal. Score 22-0. Time is called soon after.

Cutler, Hedges, and Hazard did especially good work for L. C., while Gilmour, Thomson, and Merrill did some good playing for School St. Umpire, Rodgers, '94; Referee, Greenway, '93.

Salem St., 6; Morton St., 4.

The Salem St. and Morton St. teams played an interesting game of football last Wednesday on the campus which the former won by 6 to 4. The game was characterized by much better team work and general play, than is usually shown in these games.

Donovan, Towne, and Letton played a strong game for the winners, while Wormelsdorf and Hinkey did most of Morton St.'s work.

Salem St. had the ball at the beginning of the game and Bergner soon secured a touch-down for her from which Letton kicked a goal. Morton St. started out well from the centre, but soon gave the ball to Salem St. on four downs. It changed hands several times before the half ended, but neither side could pass the other's 25-yard line.

In the second half, Wormelsdorf made two brilliant runs for Morton Street and succeeded in making a touch-down a short time after play was begun, but no goal was kicked. Score 6 to 4.

After this neither side scored a gain but some hard work was done by both teams until time was called.

Knapp and Millard acted as referee and umpire.

E. C. 10; Salem St. 8.

In a very exciting championship game on the campus, Thursday, E. C. defeated Salem St. by the above score.

E. C. started the game with a V, and gained 25 yards by short rushes, but Salem St. gets the ball on 4 downs. E. C. works hard and prevents gain, and Letton punts on 3 downs. E. C. gets the ball and gains steadily, and soon scores a touch-down. No goal. Salem St. gains a few yards, and is given 25 yards on a foul tackle. Bergner runs around the end, and by steady rushes Salem St. scores. No goal.

E. C. starts from the 25-yard line, and makes 20 yards, but loses the ball on a fumble. Salem St. gains 10 yards only to lose the ball on 4 downs. Moody and Branch make good gains, but Salem St. again secures the ball, losing it again in the next scrimmage. E. C. makes good gains till time is called for the first half.

In the second half E. C. starts with a V, and gains steadily, bringing the ball to Salem Street's 1-yard line. Salem St. prevents gain, and secures the ball on 4 downs. Bergner makes 8 yards through the centre, and Donovan, guarded by Letton, makes a fine rush of 30 yards around the end. By steady gains Salem St. scores their second touch-down. Letton fails at goal. Lining up on the 25-yard line, E. C. gains steadily without losing the ball, and after several sharp scrimmages scores. Goal is kicked by Phinney. Time is called soon after.

The features of the game were the work of Moody, Branch and Lewis for E. C., and the all-round playing of Salem Street's backs.

Yale and Harvard Teams.

The annual foot-ball game between the above-named teams will be played this afternoon on Hampden Park, Springfield, Mass. Extensive preparations have been made for accommodating a large crowd.

The game has been looked forward to, with a great deal of interest, as Harvard, winning last year, has been working hard all the season to put another winning eleven on the field. The team has been greatly strengthened by the addition of Mackie and Corbett, but as the weeks narrowed down to days Yale gradually came to be recognized as the stronger team,

THE ANDOVER PRESS, PRINTERS

We publish to-day, the agreement drawn up by A. N. Hardy, photographer, and the Senior class, for class and school photographs. The reduced prices are for the benefit of every member of the school as well as for the Seniors. Therefore, we are requested to say, that the tickets necessary for procuring the reduced prices can now be gotten from Hooker, chairman of the committee, thus giving any who wish the opportunity of sitting for their cards during the Thanksgiving recess.

Three books representing as many co-operative furnishing companies have been distributed among the students within the last few days.

Two of these have been prepared by members of the school, and great pains have been taken to procure, for the benefit of the whole school, only the very best houses in Boston and Lawrence that furnish such lines of goods as meet the various needs of the students.

The third has been gotten up by outside parties, in no way interested in the school except from a pecuniary stand-point, they never having been connected with the school in any capacity, either as teacher or pupil. It is hoped, therefore, that the students will take unusual care in using the tickets of these books, giving the preference to the ones prepared by the members of the school. These tickets have been properly signed, thus throwing all responsibility back on to the managers, while there is no signature at all to the third.

We urge this, only because it will keep our reputation as a school well established among Boston business men and so that such enterprises in the future can be controlled by the school.

This can be done alone by the students presenting our tickets, thus showing the business men of Boston and Lawrence that our furnishing companies have control of the school's business.

We have been informed by reliable authority that a great many of the fellows have not yet paid up their subscriptions to the foot-ball management, and, further, that the managers have not enough money on hand to meet all of their obligations.

In looking over the matter we fail to see why this state of affairs should exist. As a school, we have placed the managers in the position they now occupy, and it is our duty to stand by them and to see them financially successful; especially so at the close of so successful a season. Let every man who has not yet paid up his subscription come forward immediately and do so.

Communications.

Editors of The Phillippian:

Now that the foot-ball season is over and the fellows commence taking exercise in the "gym," for the winter sports, during the afternoon and evening, why would it not be a good plan to have a new method of lighting it? The present arrangement is very bad, especially to one who takes exercise during the evening.

DOUBLE-BREADED SACK.

This is the prevailing garment this fall and has the call of all well dressed college men. I am turning out a great number of these and have just increased my display by a large invoice of the latest and noblest novelties of the day. My line of heavy imported woolsens; for Suits and Ulsters, are just what the students have been asking for; I am sure that an examination of my stock will please and satisfy every man in the academy. They are new, nobby, stylish, durable and make a superb garment. Call in and see them and if you are in need of clothes I feel confident you will find what you want, both in material and price.

Says in his new foot-ball book, "The successful half-back finds the opening made for him, he does not try to make the opening."

In these days of close competition it is important that every young man should look after his interests by looking the market over carefully, before purchasing. A comparison of work and prices is solicited by the undersigned, who has always endeavored to give to his patrons, a first-class article. Ten to twenty-five per cent less than Boston prices. We show a very large and complete stock of the latest fabrics and Men's furnishings, selected with special reference to the Academy trade.

have been elected members of the governing board of the University Club. Knowlton, P.A. '88, who was captain of the base-ball team that beat Exeter 22 to 6 was in town over Sunday. A large number of fellows expect to accompany the team to New York to see the Yale-Princeton game. The Phillips Fire Department was called out Friday night to a small fire. A large body of students assisted in the handling of the engine. As soon as the news of our victory reached Harvard, the old Andover men gathered on the square and held a small sized celebration. The final game for the championship of the school will be played on the campus this afternoon, between E. C. and L. C. As considerable rivalry exists between the two commons, the game promises to be interesting and closely contested. All fellows interested in either team should be on hand to support it by cheering. Among the old P.A. men at the game Saturday, were Cassidy, ex-P.S. '92; A. Ray Clark, P.A. '91, Yale '94; Tarbox, P.S. '90, now at Tech.; J. Alec. Mayers, P.S. '90, T.P.I. '94; King, P.S. Philo.

The Philomathean Society held its regular meeting on Friday evening.
At the call for miscellaneous business
a motion was made to appoint a committee to confer with the literary society at Exeter in regard to holding a joint debate between the two schools.
The idea proved acceptable, and a committee of five was appointed. Then there was an attempt to increase the meetings of the Philo Senate. The vote resulted in a tie, and the president voting with the negative caused the defeat of the motion.

The programme was begun with the criticism of the last meeting by
B. H. Porter. He was followed by Auten in an extempore on Illinois.
The information he gave was indeed meagre. The address of the evening was given by Branch. His subject was "The Three G's." He said the three g's represented grip, go, and ties a young man is likely to succeed.

"He didn't want a Coffin" was the subject chosen by R. M. Lester for his select reading. Then the first vote was taken on the debate, Resolved: That the World's Columbian exposition should be closed on Sundays. After this the debate began,
being led on the affirmative by Dicker-
man, and on the negative by Smyth.
Williams, McClellan, and Skerrye
were appointed to assist the affirmative, and Wilder, Brayton and Archbald the negative. The debate turned out to be very interesting, as is shown by the number of speeches made from the house. These were given by Auten and Skerrye for the affirmative, and by Wilder, Grilk, Bennett,
Pierson, and Gilbert for the negative.
The best speeches were by the leader of the affirmative, McClellan, and Skerrye. All, however, did well, since the subject was one upon which
each seemed to have some positive opinions. The leaders had made good preparations, and when the vote came again there was a tie. The chair decided in favor of the affirmative in regard to the discussion as a whole, but gave his decision to the leader of the negative when comparing the arguments of the two leaders. The meeting was well attended and successful
in every respect.
