Vol. XV.

Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., Sept. 28, 1892.

No. 3.

P.A., 22; Boston Latin School, 0.

Phillips did not score so heavily Saturday as might have been expected, but the game showed up some good material. Jennings, Hopkins and Manning did good work for Andover and Beal and Hunt for the B. L. S.

The game was called at 2.53. After some sharp work a touch-down was made by Jennings in three minutes. Hopkins kicked a goal.

Boston opened with a V. Bliss caught the ball after a kick and gained 20 yards. Jennings made a forty yard rush, scoring the second down. Hopkins kicked another goal.

Andover had to work hard to make the next down. Rodgers, Jones and Manning made short gains through the center. Then Andover lost the ball on offside play but soon got it back by a kick out. Manning made the touch-down. Hopkins failed at goal. The half closed with the ball near Boston's goal.

Andover got the ball in the V, lost it by fumbling and got it back on three downs. Centre work rushed the ball too near Boston's goal, and Jennings, breaking through, scored down from which a goal was kicked. The ball changed hands rapidly in the next five minutes and the game was called with it on the 25 yard line.

The teams played as follows:

The Seminary.

The Theological Seminary opened on Wednesday last with an attendance of 80, about the same number as last year. They are divided into classes as follows: Seniors, 13; middlers, 33; juniors, 24; fourth year men and others, 10. Although the total number of students remains the same, the Seminary has really made a gain over last year since it has an unusually large junior class. Of the entering class six are from Williams and of these, three were members of the class of '88 in P.A.

The available space in Phillips and Bartlett Halls is now fully occupied and it is anticipated that if next year brings an increase of numbers it will be necessary to occupy the Wiggins House as a dormitory.

Communication.

Editors of the Phillipian.

If some arrangement could be made to give the base-ball material in school a chance to appear, I am sure that the new men would be pleased. Many fellows are here who have played more or less and a game this fall would serve to keep up their interest as well as to give them an opportunity to show their ability. In case anything is done it will be to each one's advantage to show that he is willing to come out and work.

Yale's New Gymnasium.

The new Yale gymnasium which was completed last month is considered to be the finest in the United States if not in the world. The constructing and planning have been in the hands of such competent men that now there could be no improvement.

Its use will be unique for an American gymnasium, since it will include not only the "exercise department," which takes up the greater portion of the average gymnasium in this country, but also tanks for the university crews, a cage for the base-ball nine and fencing and boxing departments. In addition to this, Dr. Anderson, the gymnasium director, has removed his normal school of physical culture to New Haven, and has devoted a part of the building for conducting his classes which include over forty women and about a dozen men.

Dr. J. W. Leaven, who has held the position of gymnasium instructor for the last fifteen years, will be retained as medical adviser for the students, and W. E. Dole, who had charge of Yale's last year's track athletic team, will teach boxing.

Dartmouth Athletics.

The athletic interests of Dartmouth have taken on a new life. One of the foremost means for arousing this new interest was the winning of the base-ball championship this last spring. The college forces in connection with the alumni athletic committee have laid elaborate plans for a new campus to cover ten acres entirely enclosed by a high fence. Within this enclosure it is proposed to have two foot-ball fields, two base-ball diamonds, a two-lap cinder track and many tennis courts. A large grand stand will also be erected which will contain dressing rooms and baths for visiting teams. About $15,000 will be expended on the campus after which the attention of the committee will be turned toward the renovation of the gymnasium. The prospects in foot-ball are very bright. Capt. Allen, a former Exeter half-back, feels quite confident of many strong supporters among the new men. Altogether, Dartmouth is to be congratulated on what seems to be a new era in her athletics.

The Banjo and Glee Clubs.

The Banjo Club trial, held on Tuesday afternoon, did not bring out as many applicants as last year's trial, but nine new members were selected. F. Howard, H. Jennings, and R. C. Gilmore are the only old members back in school. The club expects to begin work in a few days, and will be made up of the following men: banjeaurines, F. Howard (leader), R. C. Gilmore, M. E. Stone, G. Holden, B. N. Norton; banjos, W. L. Blakeslee, E. L. Jones, and Woodfin; mandolins, M. T. Clark, R. M. Crosby; guitars, H. Jennings, C. K. Brown, E. E. Chivers.

The trial for the Glee Club has not yet been held but will take place next week, and all new fellows are urged to come out at that time. F. W. Conant, T. F. Russel, and H. Lapham of last year's club are in school. Mr. Stone, owing to lack of time, will not be able to assist the club this year, but Mr. Boynton, although he cannot sing with the club, has consented to give some suggestions. Mr. Boynton's long experience on the Amherst Glee Club will no doubt be of great help to the club. N. Coffin, the leader of the club last year, is not expected back, and a new leader will be elected soon.

PHILLIPPIAN Board meetings are held Wednesday and Saturday noons.

ENTERED AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER AT ANDOVER POST-OFFICE.

The Andover Press.

The places made vacant on the PHILLIPPIAN board by the '92 men have not yet been filled and besides, several places formerly occupied by '93 are now open. Therefore, we call the attention of the under classes in particular to this fact. '94 has but two men on the board. If she expects to have the controlling influence on it when she should manage the paper, it is high time her men were getting their experience. The Junior Middle Class has no representatives at all. Now too is their opportunity to try for the places open to them. We have spoken to the under classes in particular for they ought to have the preference, but owing to the small representation of '93, we shall not exclude candidates from that class.

It is the policy of the paper to be as representative as we can make it, and for this end we desire men on our staff representing as far as possible every phase of the school life. As we look over the list of editors, we find that there are none from the scientific department. We desire very much to see this part of the school have a representation in direct proportion to its numbers if possible. While we desire to secure the best possible talent and to present the paper in the best form, the chief end will be to give the news. We feel that this mission is peculiarly that of the PHILLIPPIAN. Every fellow having had any experience at such work will find an opportunity here to employ his knowledge and others may learn something in regard to it which will no doubt be of value if he expects to follow this line of work in after life. In order to avoid mistakes and that the men may better understand what is required of them, we shall call a meeting of those who wish to try for the board. Then it will be easier for all to find out the requirements. We hope that this meeting will be largely attended and especially by new men.

The communication concerning base ball is timely, and should receive the attention due it by those at the head of the base ball interest in the school. It has been the custom in the past to play one or more games at this season of the year whenever suitable grounds could be obtained. These can be secured this year, we think, and the advantage of knowing what material can be relied upon is one which the management cannot afford to overlook.

The game on Saturday resulted just as nearly everyone expected, in an easy victory for the home team. Nevertheless it served to point out some of its defects. Of course a great deal was not expected, but the results are very satisfactory. These points, however, are worthy of consideration. The men do not help one another enough in their play, the tackling is high and uncertain, and the centre stands up too high when playing. These faults will no doubt be corrected as the playing increases; but early attention to them will make them less difficult to remedy. The school, the management and the captain will expect the men to do all in their power to make themselves efficient, and they will gladly note every effort in this direction. If the men do their best work on the field and care for themselves properly when off, we may be hopeful for the success of the team.

Almost 10 Years

—OF—

Hustling!

FOR THE Students of PHILLIPS ACADEMY, with a growing trade each succeeding year, begins to show results. Our trade with the Phillips Academy Students last year was more than double that of any other year, and there was a reason for it. A knowledge of the wants; a desire to gratify them; a taste in selecting and A No. 1 style in making, all have succeeded in making our work of the highest merit. New students will follow old in selecting their clothing maker.
