Vol. XVI.

Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., November 25, 1893.

No. 20.

English Commons 10; Salem St. 0.

Last Thursday English Commons defeated Salem Street in a well played game, both teams working hard. English Commons won through superior team play, while on the other hand the Salem Street backs seemed to forget the signals at times, and work each man for himself.

For Commons, Branch did the best work seen in the street and house series this year, and his line bucking was the feature of the game. Burkett, Sedgwick, Gillespie and Morrow also played well, while Savidge, Paxton, Weston and Gould did good work for Salem Street.

English Commons gains but little on her opening wedge, and Salem Street secures the ball on downs. It again changes hands, however, and this time they work it down the field by the revolving V and good line bucking by Branch, who finally takes it over for the first touch-down and goal. Score, 6-0.

In the second half Salem Street starts off well and makes a good gain by her flying V. Rushes by Paxton and Savidge bring the ball well into their opponent's territory, where it is lost on downs. By good team work Commons gradually carries it to Salem Street's 5-yard line, and Gillespie is pushed through for the second touch-down. Branch misses the goal. Score, 10-0.

During the remainder of the half neither side is able to score, and time is called with the ball on Salem St.'s 20-yard-line.

The teams lined up as follows:

ENGLISH COMMONS.	SALEM STREET.
Craig,	Moltby,
Butterworth,	Higley,
Stanford,	Burns,
Morow,	Hunter,
Finlay,	Stephenson,
Gillespie,	Pope,
Jackson,	Gould.
Sedgwick,	Quarter-backs Humphrey.
Burkett,	Half-backs, Paxton,
Branch.	Weston.
Gray.	Full-backs, Savidge.
Umpire, Manning.	Referee, Rodgers.

Theodore S. Weld, who entered the Academy in 1820, and whose ninetieth birthday occurred on Thursday of this week, was present on the platform at the presentation of his portrait Tuesday afternoon to the Grammar School in Hyde Park, Mass.

John Lewis Russell, ex-P.A. '88, died this week suddenly of appendicitis, at his home in Great Barrington, Mass., aged 24 years and five months.

Crimson Extra.

The Harvard Crimson is to publish an extra in Springfield immediately after the close of the game. Arrangements have been perfected for reporting the game in detail, even to the last play. The paper will include, besides the full account of the game, cuts of the Harvard and Yale elevens, descriptions of the individual players, and an account of the Harvard-Yale series.

The papers will be printed at the Springfield Publishing Company, under supervision of the Crimson Printing Company. A special wire will be run from the printing room to the Crimson's space on the grand stand.

The paper will be sold for five cents. Ten thousand copies will be issued. The papers will be on sale after the game in Boston, Cambridge, Worcester, New Haven, New York, and many other cities, and on the trains returning from Springfield to Boston and New Haven.

Football Record.

The complete record of Yale's football games for the past seven years and that of this year up to date, is as follows:

1883—Eight games were played, of which Yale won all; score, 467-2.

1884—Nine games were played, of which Yale won all, score, 501-14.

1885—Eight games played; Yale won seven and lost one to Princeton by a score of 6 to 5; score, 366-11.

1886—Ten games played; Yale won all; score, 689-4.

1887—Eight games played; Yale won all; score, 437-12.

1888—Thirteen games played; Yale won all; score, 698-0.

1889—Fifteen games played, of which Yale won fourteen, and lost one to Princeton by a score of 10 to 0, score, 633-31.

1890—Fourteen games played, of which Yale won thirteen and lost one to Harvard by the score 12-6; score, 488-12.

1891—Thirteen games played; Yale won all; score, 488-0.

1892—Thirteen games played; Yale won all; score, 417-0.

1893—Nine games have already been played, of which Yale has won all; score, 330-6.

Out of a total of 120 games, Yale has won 117 games, having lost one to Harvard and two to Princeton. The total score is 5,514-92.

Phillipian Dinner.

Last evening the editors of the PHILLIPIAN were the guests of Messrs. Perry and Bennett. A very enjoyable evening was spent by all. The dinner was all that could be desired, and the efforts put forth by the recently elected members of the Board called forth praise from all. Good fellowship was enjoyed no less than the flowers and the menu, and the time was whiled away with story telling until it was quite late.

Forum and Philo.

A joint meeting of Forum and Philo was held in Society Hall, and after the usual business had been transacted a vote of thanks was, at McClure's suggestion, extended to Girlik for the active part he had taken in Philo during the past year. Pres. Schreiber was then called to a seat on the platform with Pres. Guillow.

The question of "What name shall be adopted in place of the Masque" was then raised. It was first moved and carried by a vote of twenty-six to fifteen that the name Masque be abolished. Sixteen new names were proposed. These were voted upon and six selected for the second vote. They were: Phillipics, Mask, Phillips Ivy, Blue and White, Phillips Aegis and Phillips Potpourri. The second vote left the Phillipics, Mask and Potpourri. A third vote dropped Phillipics, and after considerable discussion the other two were put before the house for the final vote, but although there were only sixty-six men present eighty-three votes were cast. This necessitated a vote by acclamation which was first taken by Philo and resulted as follows: Mask, 15; Potpourri, 12. Forum then voted, and it was found that Mask had 4 and Potpourri 21. Pres. Guillow then announced the vote, which stood as follows: Mask, 19; Potpourri, 33.

McClure then moved that the order of the program be changed so that the Yale-Harvard debate would come next, but this was not carried. Eddy then moved that the meeting be adjourned. This was seconded by Laing, and carried.

The meeting was an extremely lively and exciting one, as a great many fellows took part in the discussions, and at times the interest grew so intense that the President was forced to call the meeting to order. A great many rather unnecessary objections were raised by some who seemed to think that they must have a say in everything and exhibit their knowledge of parliamentary law, and while some of the points raised were good, yet it seems a pity that so much valuable time should be lost in this way.

Some one also remarked after the meeting that the gentleman had no right to move that the meeting be adjourned, as he was a member of Forum, and that the members of Forum might leave if they wanted to. It was thought that this was to be a joint meeting of the two societies, and if so did not Forum have equal rights with Philo? If this was the case it could hardly be called courteous to act in this way.

Souvenir of Yale-Princeton Game.

The official program of the Yale-Princeton football game at New York, on Thanksgiving day, will soon appear. The design is a novel one, and has been copyrighted by a well-known New York printing house, who will use it as an illustration and advertisement of fine work in the printer's art. It is oval in shape, about ten inches long by seven wide, having the appearance of a flattened football, as the covers are made of leather the exact color of pig-skin, and having the usual seam running through them lengthwise, which makes the resemblance to a genuine football very striking. The covers are also laced together at the back with a leather thong, exactly like that used to lace a football, and on the front cover appears in gold letters, "Yale vs. Princeton." The body of this souvenir will be no less attractive containing some sixty pages of fine coated paper, each page ornamented with a neat marginal design, and every third or fourth page given up to excellent half-tone illustrations of the various athletic teams of Harvard, Princeton and Yale, as well as pictures of men who have attained especial prominence in athletic sports. The publishers will issue ten thousand copies and estimate the cost in this quantity at about forty cents each. The programs will, however, be sold for twenty-five cents, the difference being paid by the advertisements. The program will form a very handsome and appropriate souvenir of the Thanksgiving day game.

The Andover Press.

It gives us pleasure to announce the election of M. T. Bennett, P.A. '94, to the PHILLIPIAN Board.

Last year there were no conveniences for a good well kept reading-room, but even under these disadvantages we undoubtedly had a much neater one than we have now. When by the consent of the Faculty it was moved from the athletic building into the basement of the school, it was expected that some attempt would be made to keep the room clean. Its appearance now is disgraceful, to say the least. The floor is littered with papers, and apparently there is no janitor to sweep it out. Of course, the paper on the floor is largely due to the fact that the post office is in the same room and fellows tear the wrappers off their mail and drop them wherever they happen to be. It never occurs to them that there is a basket at the door and it would be much better to save disorder by dropping all their waste paper in it. Something for which the reading-room committee is entirely to blame is the fact that almost none of the papers are in files and those which are are usually in the wrong one. Something must be done immediately about this, for it not only reflects great discredit on the school but it is hardly any use as a reading-room, for the papers which are read the most are torn to pieces, and in some cases not a trace of the paper can be found after it has been there a day. The fellows who own the papers should remember that they have no right to take them away until the next number comes, and the fellows who read them should try to leave the papers in just as good order as they find them. If everyone should take this to himself, a marked improvement would soon be noted.

The last of the series of house and street games will be played this afternoon, and it is to be hoped that a large number of fellows will witness the game. It promises to be very close as both teams have had comparatively easy work with their opponents so far, and have both shown considerable team work.

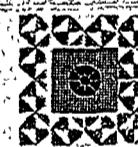

Yale University Foot-Ball Suits.

The following members of the Yale University foot-ball team were measured for suits: F. A. Hinkey, '95; J. C. Greenway, '95 S.; J. A. McCrea, '95 S.; A. M. Beard, '95; T. Cochran, Jr., '94; P. T. Stillman, '95, S.; W. O. Hickok, '95, S.; G. T. Adey, '95; S. B. Thorne, '96; R. Armstrong, '95, S.; W. R. Cross, '96; H. P. Cross, '96; C. S. Morris, '96; F. S. Butterworth, '95; F. T. Murphy, '97; E. L. Messler, '94 S.; T. Eaton, '94; W. M. Richards, '95; A. Brown, Jr., '96.

The suits are similar to those of last year, consisting of a blue-jersey, canvas jacket with "Y" on the left side, white sweater with large blue "Y," doeskin trousers, navy blue stockings, and blue cap with monogram.

He'd be a curiously shaped man, whom we couldn't fit exactly with Suit or Overcoat.

'Twill take a clever tailor to do the job as well as we do, and at best he'll charge as much again, even if he doesn't do it as well.

We haven't seen in town an overcoat, "custom" or ready-made, that's to be classed with the swell bell-botomed garments from Rogers Peet &
Co.

Somehow or other, the average
tailor doesn't seem to have "caught on."

These swellish coats, such as are worn by the best dressed men in New York—Kersey or Melton—$23.00 to $40.00.

Less costly but elegant overcoats,
honest all the way through $10.00 to $20.00.

It's a relief to most men not to be obliged to wait for their tailor.

What you buy here, and don't like,
bring back, and get your money for
it.

Harvard's New Dormitory.

Harvard's new dormitory, given by Albert Ross, the novelist, is to be one of the most complete in its finish now occupied by college students. It will have six stories and a basement, the design being of Italian renaissance. The exterior is of Scotch brick combined with red brick, trimmed with Indiana limestone and New York bluestone. The interior will be of quartered oak, the main corridor paved with marble, and the staircases handsomely panelled. A passenger elevator, the only one in a college building, will make the upper floor most desirable of all. The building contains fifty-five studies, most of them with bay-windows; an equal number of bathrooms, ninety-four bedrooms, two shower-bathrooms and a general room containing 2,000 square feet of space. All studies have open fire places and radiators, and are lighted by electric ity, 580 lamps in all being used. The contract calls for its completion on July 1, 1894.
