

The Phillipian.

Vol. XVI. Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., Wednesday, May 16, 1894.

No. 58.

P. A. 7; Harvard Law School 9.

Andover played a very interesting game on Saturday afternoon with the Harvard Law School, and although they had four of Harvard's last year's champion team, we only allowed them to score nine runs. Heavy hitting was the feature of the game, and Hallowell played his usual fine game in centre. Perry, Paige, and Jackson played the best game for Andover, while Sullivan and Hallowell did the best work for the Law School.

Andover went to the bat. Barnes got out at first on his grounder to short, followed by Jackson, who got his base on an error of his hit, stole second, but got out at third on a hit by Hazen, who reached first on the fielder's choice, but was left on base after stealing second, Greenway getting out on a grounder to short. Hallowell opened for the Law School by knocking the ball far out between right and centre for a home run. Abbott got out on a grounder to first, then Frothingham followed Hallowell's example and knocked a home run also. Sullivan got out on a ground hit. Howland reached first on an error, but was left, as Stewart fled out.

In the second Drew struck out. Bement got out on a grounder to pitcher, then Paige and Perry both made hits and scored on a single by Sedgwick, who was left on second. Barnes going out on a fly.

In the third inning the home team failed to score, and Abbott singled, stole second, and after Frothingham fled out, scored on a single by Sullivan, who scored on Howland's single. Stewart got out on a fly to first, followed by Lowell, who reached his base on a wild throw by the second baseman. Lacey got his base on balls, and Cummings struck out, leaving Howland on third.

Bement fled out in the fourth. Paige made a hit, stole second, and scored on a single by Perry, who stole second, but was left, as the next two men got out. Neither side scored in the fifth.

In the sixth Andover failed to score, but for Harvard Cummings struck out. Hallowell got his base on ball, stole second, got to third on a wild pitch by Paige, and scored on Abbott's sacrifice. Frothingham also got out. Score, P. A. 3; H. L. S. 5.

In the seventh the home team again failed to score, and Sullivan knocked a three-bagger and came home on an error of the second baseman, Howland got to first on fielder's choice, and afterwards stole second. Stewart got his base on balls, stole second, and together with Howland scored on a three-base hit by Lacey, who afterwards scored. Cummings and Hallowell both fled out. Score, 3 to 9.

Hazen fled out in the eighth. Greenway singled, stole second, and scored on a hit by Drew, who got second and third and came home on a passed ball. Bement and Paige followed with outs.

In the ninth Perry hit safely, got to third on Sedgwick's hit, and scored on a wild throw. Sedgwick reached third on Barnes' sacrifice, and scored on a single by Jackson, who got out at second. Hazen hit safely, but was left on first, Greenway flying out.

Final score, Harvard Law School 9, Andover 7.

The lacrosse game between Stevens Institute and Cornell, Tuesday, resulted in favor of the former by a score of four goals to one.

P. A. 7; Harvard 8.

In the game last Monday with Harvard the team showed that when it became necessary they could play good ball, but although they kept the lead for six innings, the strain was too much for them, and in the seventh Harvard braced up and scored four runs, thereby practically ending the game. The team seemed to have no trouble in batting Highlands and Sedgwick managed to make a home run off him. The best playing for Andover was done by Letton, Sedgwick, and Barnes, while Winslow and Corbett played well for Harvard. The attendance was large and the cheering was excellent.

Andover went to the bat first. Barnes struck out. Letton made a hit, but got out at second. Hazen got his base on fielder's choice, and Greenway fouled out to Scannell. Whittemore hit safely, reached second on Winslow's sacrifice, and scored on Corbett's single. Manley fouled out to Drew, and Paine went out at first.

Drew was thrown out at first. Bement got his base on Whittemore's error. Whittemore also allowed Simmons to go first, while Bement went to second. Paige made a pretty hit over them, bringing in both Bement and Simmons. Sedgwick fled out to Cook. Barnes made a hit, reached second on fielder's choice, and with Paige scored on a passed ball. Hazen struck out, leaving Letton on first. Score, P. A. 4; Harvard 1.

Stevenson reached first on four balls. Scannell struck out. Highlands went to first on Barnes' error, Stevenson going to third. Highlands got out at second, and Stevenson scored on Whittemore's single. Winslow struck out. Neither side scored in the next two innings.

In the fifth Letton went to base on an error by Whittemore, Hazen reached first on Stevenson's error. Greenway fled out to Corbett, Drew went to first on Corbett's error, filling the bases. Letton then scored on Bement's sacrifice hit to Highlands, and Simmons was thrown out at first. Score, P. A. 5; Harvard 2.

Winslow then batted out a nice three-bagger and scored on Corbett's hit. Corbett went to second on Cook's sacrifice, third on Bement's error, and scored on Stevenson's ground hit.

In the sixth Sedgwick knocked a home run. In the seventh Harvard scored four times, and in the ninth Barnes made one run for us.

The Andover Press.

There are still some fellows in school who seem to consider it their duty to applaud the errors of visiting teams by which our nine profits. Several times Monday this tendency was unpleasantly noticeable. It should not be necessary to repeat again the reasons why this conduct is unworthy of a school like this, and we hope the men who have had this habit will see to it that it is discontinued.

We are much gratified at the good game which our men put up for the most part of the game Monday. In batting they showed up very well against the strongest pitcher we have met yet this year, but the fielding was at times very erratic and several poor throws were made at critical moments. The tendency to get rattled, which the men have shown several times this year, manifested itself again. It is the chief fault our men should work against and it will be their greatest danger when they are playing on strange grounds. The nine should, on its trip which is the first an Andover team has ever taken, make a showing which will do credit to the school. There is no doubt but that they can do this if they play the best game of which they are capable; but this fault of unsteadiness must be corrected or else they will stand little chance of making a good record.

Lecture.

The illustrated lecture on "Football at Yale," given on Monday evening by T. Cochran, P.A. '90, Yale '94, which had been arranged by the Athletic Association, proved to be very interesting and instructive to those who attended it. The force of the speaker's remarks was brought out by the large number of stereopticon views of noted foot-ball players, teams and special plays. Football has attained its high rank as an American college sport because, unlike base ball, it is so distinctively amateur, and so much science, pluck and cool-headedness are required to play it. Moral character, pluck, self-control and quick judgment, as well as strength of body are some of the qualities that are developed in the best foot-ball players. Foot-ball was first started in this country at Harvard in 1875. Yale put her first team in the field in 1878. The dual league which has been kept up since, then between the two Universities, is a famous one. Yearly, between $40,000 and $50,000 is taken in by Yale at foot-ball, but the money is not wasted, as the surplus is used for other branches of athletics that cannot depend on gate-receipts. Several views of the exterior and interior of the Yale gymnasium were given. Views were given describing a day's practice on the Yale field, and pictures of Yale's most celebrated players, such as Rhodes, McClung, Heffelfinger, Wm. B. Graves, Bliss brothers, McCormick, Hinkey, Butterworth, McCrea, Hickok, and Stillman, the strong points of each being mentioned. The speaker then spoke on the defensive side of the game, showing the importance of the the-tackles and ends. After a picture of Wallis and Winter, Yale's great tackles, and one of Newell, the celebrated Harvard tackle, he dwelt upon the importance of tackling "hard and low." Then followed a description of the Yale-Harvard game at Springfield which was illustrated with views of all the important plays. At the end of the first half with the score 0-0, Yale felt that the game was as good as won, and in the second half, discarding all tricks and playing the old-fashioned game, they finally pushed the ball over the line for the winning touch-down. In the Princeton game it was different and when the strain came, Yale didn't have the necessary reserve strength, and it was only her "sand" that kept her opponents from scoring again. The lecture was very entertaining and instructive, and worthy of a larger attendance.

Inquiry.

The regular meeting of the Society of Inquiry was held Sunday evening.
The meeting was opened with prayer by A. W. Ryder. The scripture lesson was read by T. F. Archbald, P.A.
'92, Yale '96, after which he made a few remarks with special reference to the text "Steadfastness." He then introduced N. A. Smyth, P.A. '93, Yale
'97, who spoke on the moral side of college life. In brief, he said there are three great points which fellows should look to in college life, viz.: honesty, purity, and temperance. Further, a good christian fellow was not looked down upon in scorn. Archbald then spoke briefly on practical religion giving some very sound advice to the fellows who intend to enter college next fall. This was one of the most interesting meetings Inquiry has held this year, and should have brought out more fellows.
