WORCESTER-ANDOVER DEBATE.

It is Likely this Year that Judges will Render a Decision.

Arrangements are fast being completed by the committee from our literary societies for the joint debate with Worcester Academy which is to come off at Worcester in the early spring. They are at present waiting to hear from Worcester who has received notice that her challenge has been accepted by both the Forum and the Philomathean Society. The letter from Andover contained the following requests: that three judges render a decision; that three speakers represent each school; that the leader upon each side be allowed twelve minutes, the two assistants eight minutes each and that five minutes be set apart for rebuttal. It will be remembered that last year, at Worcester's request, there were no judges and consequently no decision was possible, and that fifteen, ten and five minutes were granted respectively to the leader, to each assistant, and for rebuttal. Andover will soon send Worcester six subjects from which she will choose the subject for debate. Worcester has also the choice of sides. The committee, which consists of W. N. Weir, W. M. Wheeler, B. F. Edwards and Bruce, will endeavor to have the debate come off this term.

Mr. M. W. Reed will give instruction in Physics during the absence of Professor Graves. For three years he was a member of the class of '93 in Harvard University. For seven years he has been connected with the Observatory.

In his recent Report, Professor Pickering gives a summary of Mr. Reed's work on variable stars, observations of the reappearance of the satellites of Jupiter, telescopic meteors and the faint bands of light in the Zodiac. During the past year his investigations have been carried on with the 5-inch telescope belonging to Abbot Academy. The report speaks highly of the air at Andover for such observations and calls especial attention to the skill of the observer.

Mr. Reed may be assured of the hearty support and co operation of the class.

Hours for the Twenty-second of February.

There will be no recitations on the twenty-second of February. Excuses for the day may be obtained after chapel. Men are expected back at 7.30 P.M.

The February Mirror.

Despite our unwillingness in any way to discourage contributors, we are forced to acknowledge that the February number of the Mirror is a disappointment. The greater part of the contributions are lacking in the fundamental elements of successful writing of any value. The remedy is increased carefulness in the execution of the pieces and practice. This and an increased spirit of aggressiveness on the part of the editors toward contributors are the most imperative needs and will make the magazine more worthy of Phillips Academy.

Of the stories, "A Faithful Friend," and "Old John's Story" are the best. "Immortelles" is fair. "Ana-no hashidate" is an interesting sketch of the "Heaven built bridge" in Japan. "A Sailor's Story" by Richard S. Benner is marred by the very loose construction of sentences. The poem by P. G. Carleton, "A Winter Day", has been prepared with care, but contains little originality of thought. The editorials are the redeeming feature of the number. That upon the need of a new gymnasium strikes the key note of the question in asking for increased interest in our welfare and a positive effort on the part of the Trustees.

School Organizations.

The Forum.

Forum met as usual Friday evening. W. C. Ridgeway '95 was granted honorable dismissal from the Society. Manderville gave a declamation and Pierson a select reading entitled "Sheridan's Ride". Stewart spoke extemporaneously upon the advisability of giving as a Senior class memorial a free bed in the Lawrence Hospital. The debate was on the subject, "Resolved: That Hawaii should be annexed". The affirmative was led by Day assisted by Hinkle; F. H. Steadman and Sterns sustained the negative. The debate throughout was spirited; the arguments brief and sometimes weak. There spoke from the house on the affirmative, Farley, Harrington, Wheeler and Shivell; on the negative, W. G. Bale, Macfarlane, Symonds, Carberry, Franklin, Faxon and Christie. The affirmative received the vote of the house, while the decision of the chair lay with the negative. Christie read a critique of the meeting.

In place of the regular program next Friday evening, Philo will hold a competitive debate on the subject, "Resolved: That the Income Tax will prove detrimental to the prosperity of the republic". The choice of speakers for the debate with Forum which is to take place some time this term, will be made in accordance with the ability shown by the fellows at this debate.

The following program will be presented at the regular meeting of Forum next Friday evening: Critique Ward; Declamation, Carberry; Speech, Steenstra. The debate, which is to be extemporaneous, will be led on the affirmative by Dodge and French; on the negative by W. G. Bale and Stern

Philo.

The weekly meeting of Philo was held last Friday evening in Society Hall. Eustice was invited to join the society and Drummond granted honorable dismissal. It was voted that the regular program for next Friday evening be laid aside and that instead a competitive debate be held to choose speakers for the Philo-Forum debate. The subject for the competitive debate will be, "Resolved: That the Income Tax will prove detrimental to the Republic". Jameson gave the critique and Whitney an extempore on "The Dangers of a Snowstorm". The debate was on the subject, "Resolved: That the Nicaragua canal should be under the control of the United States." Eaton and Perham upheld the affirmative, Morrison and Salamon the negative. Morrison was not present at the opening of the debate and until his arrival A. C. Mack took charge of the negative. The affirmative obtained the vote of the house and the negative the decision of the president.

Classical Reference Books.

A small sum, about $30, has been invested in a collection of classical reference books which are to be placed in room 9 as soon as they receive the usual seal of the Academy. The books are upon ancient antiquities, art, literature and also some grammatical works. Students will be allowed to use these books at any time but not to take them away without permission from the one in charge.

The Chicago University has a glee club of sixteen women.

A GOOD SHOWING MADE.

The Work of the Banjo and Mandolin Clubs at Malden Particularly Gratifying.

The Glee, Banjo and Mandolin Clubs gave a concert at Malden last Saturday evening in Stanwood Hall. Although the audience was smaller than expected, the arrangements were perfect, and the concert from a musical standpoint was a success.

The Mandolin Club even excelled their work at the North Andover concert, rendering the "Belle Mazurka" especially well, while the Banjo Club was at its best in the "Normandy March." The Club showed great improvement and is now up to the usual standard of the school. The Glee Club sang as well as could be expected, considering the many changes that have taken place. Mr. Brown not only sang well himself, but proved a competent leader.

After the concert an informal dance was held. The program, with encores, is as follows:

PART I.

1. Awake, Little Kate. Glee Club
2. Maud S. Galop. Banjo Club
Encore. Brazilian March.
3. Les Oiseaux Hereux Waltz. Mandolin Club
Encore. Princess Ida March.
4. Drinking Song. Mr Brown and Club.
Encore. Three Little Darkies.
5. Cosette March Messrs Loomis, Shattuck, Spence
Encore. March Bohemia.

PART II.

1. Normandy March. Banjo Club
2. Jolliest Boys Alive. Glee Club
Encore. Landlord Fill the Flowing Bowl.
3. Belle Mazurka. Mandolin Club
Encore. Franz Ferdinand.
4. Kentucky Smile. Banjo Club
Encore. Marine Guards March.
5. The Boy in the Apple Tree. Glee Club
Encore. Zwei Bier.
6. Tobacco March. Mandolin Club.

Base Ball.

Word has just been received that Captain Rustin of Yale, P.A. '91, has very kindly volunteered to send coaches at any time Captain Drew may desire. It is probable that only one other coach will appear while the squad is working in the gymnasium, as F. T. Murphy gave the men a good start last Saturday. After out door practice commences the men will be given further attention.

The following men will report at the "Gym." at 2 p.m.: Sedgwick, Phillips, W. M. Lewis, Mintun, Waddell, Field, Butler, Hall, Barnes, Crawford, Holman, Elliott, Davis, Dayton, Dunn, Loomis, Harker, Edwards, Wakefield, Stuart, Branch, Mann, Clarke, Babcock, Durston, Maltby, Risley.

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 13, 1895.

The news that Yale will assist the nine this spring whenever necessary, will be welcomed by everyone, whether upon the squad or not. We but faintly express the feeling of Andover when rejoicing at the prospect of having, not in imagination, but upon the field men long sought for, who will have the confidence of the undergraduate body; and men whose services Phillips Academy has long felt were her due.

It is almost unnecessary to say that a high tone has always characterized Phillip Andover Academy. There are evidences of it everywhere; it has been a growth. It is indeed trite to say that manly dignity should be maintained even when men attempt to disregard the rights of men. A disturbance, whatever the cause, which calls for comment from the desk is greatly to be regretted. But it must be remembered that there are two sides to every question. A matter which affects the school character and calls forth discussion should receive more than cursory attention. A number of wise changes have been made this year: there is yet room for improvement in another direction.

A proposal as to another method of choosing Andover's speakers in the Worcester-Andover debate is worthy of consideration. The plan as suggested is that twelve men, six from each debating society, speak in a competitive debate before a committee of judges and that out of this number three men be chosen by the judges, irrespective of the society to which they belong. Under the present system the losing side in the Forum Philo debate has one representative against Worcester. It is just here that the method is open to criticism. For the third best man in the society winning the debate may be a better debater than the first man on the losing side. Such a coincidence would be by no means common but we must be on the lookout for the improbable. No such danger would be present under the proposed system, for the speakers would be chosen on their merits alone, irrespective of the society to which they belong. Furthermore, the experience and maturity combined in a committee of judges would make their decision more reliable than that of the members of either of the societies.

We must show our best front to Worcester at any cost. The nearer we get to a system which shall be free from any possible unfortunate situations and the more experienced and maturer judgment we can introduce into the method of choosing speakers for this debate the better. We believe that both of these advantages are attainable under the proposed arrangement. Speakers are so chosen in the colleges and the matter should receive careful consideration here.

The Harvard Musical Clubs to Come to Andover.

The Harvard Glee, Banjo and Mandolin clubs have volunteered to give a concert in the Town Hall on the evening of March 1st, for the benefit of the foot-ball management. The management is very hard pressed for funds and it is hoped that all who can possibly do so, will attend. The receipts will, it is expected, relieve the management of all financial embarrassments.

A party of college men is being formed by three recent graduates of Yale to visit the principal points of interest in Italy and Greece. Venice, Florence, Rome, Naples, Pompeii, Olympia, Corinth, Athens, and many minor places are on the itinerary. There is no better way to clinch one's historical knowledge and review one's interest in classical studies than to personally visit the places themselves. The entire ground is familiar to the organizers both from studies and from personal experience, and it is the intention to follow as closely as is consistent with comfort the customs of the people of the various countries visited, for by so doing the educational advantages are greatly increased and the expenses can be made very low.

The party expect to sail about July 3rd and return about the middle of Sept. Any one desiring additional information can secure it by corresponding with Mr. A. B. Brown, Harvard Medical School, Boston, Mass., or by calling at Dr. Bancroft's office next Saturday afternoon between 2 and 2.30 where Mr. Brown P. A. '90 will be glad to meet them and talk with them personally.
