Preliminary Tournament.

A trial tournament for the candidates for the track team was held on the Upper Campus on Wednesday afternoon. The races were, as a rule, slow, the men not caring to exert themselves before the Interscholastic meet in June. The one hundred yards dash was won by Senn in eleven seconds. Dunton was second, coming three feet ahead of Smith, who finished third.

West got the lead in the two hundred and twenty and held it to within forty yards of the finish when Lorraine passed him and won by two feet in 26 1-5 seconds. West was second and Woodward third. Lorraine kept up his good work by winning the four hundred and forty yards run in 55 2-5 seconds. Newcombe was second and West third.

Gaskell finished first in the eight hundred and eighty yards run in 2 minutes and 23 4-5 seconds. Laing was a good second and Tyler came in third.

In the mile run the contestants were well bunched until the last two hundred yards when Richardson pulled away from the bunch and won in 5 minutes and 5 seconds. Laing came in second.

In the high hurdles Hine finished first in 18 1-2 seconds, Harrington being only a foot behind. Hine also won the low hurdles in 30 seconds. Durston was second.

In the mile walk the three contestants kept well together the entire distance but Crouse managed to creep to the front towards the end and won in 9 minutes and 42 seconds. Noble finished second and Thrall third.

Schwartz with a record of 5 feet 2 inches won the high jump, Heywood winning second with a record of 5 feet.

E. S. Lewis won the pole vault with a record of 9 feet and 2 inches. A. B. Franklin was second. Hill got the broad jump with a record of 18 feet, 9 inches. The bicycle race and shot put were declared off.

Draper Speakers.

The ten successful competitors for the Draper Prize Speaking were announced in Chapel Thursday morning as follows: H. P. Bale '95, A. E. Branch '95, T. Kearny '95, E. T. Noble '95, G. M. Chadwell '96, W. G. Bale '96, W. P. Eaton '96, L. Easton '96, J. A. Richards '96, J. A. Symonds '97.

Andover 29; Bowdoin 6.

Bowdoin was badly defeated on the campus Wednesday afternoon. The score was 29-6. The Maine college boys acted sleepy. Bodge the regular pitcher got enough in the first inning and was succeeded by Harris who allowed fourteen hits during the remainder of the game. Meanwhile the fielders piled up thirteen errors most of which were inexcusable.

For a time it looked as though Sedgwick would shut the visitors out but in the fourth inning he gave four bases on balls which with a couple of errors and a hit netted four runs. In the seventh and eighth he simply tossed the ball over the plate. Drew, Davis and Greenway played very good games.

Yale, 8; Andover, 1.

What reputation and name do to opponents was very strongly shown on Friday in the Yale game. The home team was clearly under the spell of fright, and though at times they broke away from this influence, yet they can ascribe Yale's score to it principally. The Yale team only made seven hits three of which were scratch, yet the support the team gave this good pitching was farcial at times. Elliot, Davis, Harker and Barton were all off, missing very simple plays. The men, too, failed at what we considered their strongest point, batting. Butterworth who makes little claims to pitching, actually retired the side on three balls in the first inning, and during the whole game only allowed scattered hits and one run. True he had superb support, yet the question all over the campus was, where is the batting strength of the team gone. Only one man got to third base before Barton passed it for the one run scored.

Greenway's pitching, Drew's catching, Barton's two-bagger in the eighth and the general team work of the Yale nine were the features of the game.

Yale scored three runs in the first, on three errors and two hits, one in the second on two errors, three in the fifth by bunching four hits, two of which were mere scratches, and should have been fielded, and an error, and two in the seventh on two hits and two errors.

Andover's one run was scored on Barton's two-bagger, followed by a single by Greenway.

School Meeting.

At a school meeting yesterday morning it was voted to lay aside the season tickets for yesterday's game.

Training Table.

Barton '96 has been taken to the base-ball training table.

WORCESTER DEBATE.

To Take Place Friday Evening, May 17.

The final details of the Worcester debate have now been settled. The debate will be held at Worcester, Friday evening, May seventeenth, upon the question Resolved: "That the United States should construct, own and operate the Nicaragua Canal." Andover will support the negative side of the question and there will be no judges. Our speakers will be A. E. Branch, M. B. Patterson and E. D. Dewitt.

Abbot Recital.

The first of the Abbot musical recitals was given at the November Club House on Thursday afternoon. The audience enjoyed a delightful concert. Mrs. H. H. A. Beach, the pianist, rendered nothing but her own compositions. She played with sympathy and proved to have an extremely delicate touch "Dreaming" and "Valse-Caprice" were the selections best interpreted by her. Miss White's substitute filled the soprano's place to the satisfaction of nearly all. An unusual depth of feeling characterized her singing, though she had not the pure quality of voice which Mrs. Sawyer, the contralto, possessed. The latter sang Scena and Aria, "Eileude Wolken." The selections were many of them sprightly and fantastic. The opening number was a duet.

On May 29, at 4 o'clock, Sieverking, a young Holland pianist, will give the second concert. Mr. and Mrs. Heinrich appear June 6. Men wishing to hear these artists will find it possible to attend after the last recitation.

The result of Wednesday's base-ball games are as follows: Harvard 10, Williams 3; Yale 11, Wesleyan 5; Princeton 10, Lehigh 1; Technology, '97, 10, Groton 10.

'96 Base Ball.

The following men meet on the big campus at one o'clock: Phillips, Flaudrau, Risley, Edwards, Stevenson, A. B. Franklin, Crawford, Clark, Yuengling, C. D. Moon, DuFrene, Hutchinson, Chadwell, Holman.

SATURDAY, MAY 4, 1895.

The chance to broaden one's understanding of life and men, if missed, is always a matter of regret. It is an easy thing to miss such opportunities because of being uninformed; still easier through negligence. Surprise has been often expressed this winter at the lack of interest shown by the student body of the Academy in musical and literary attractions of a high order. Those who criticize should remember that we lead a busy life among ourselves and too often find more to take our attention than it is possible to handle.

To urge the assuming of so much that one carries about a burden instead of an active interest, is unreasonable. As it is, school men take too little time for aggressive, earnest thinking. No one has here been urged to take an active interest in this organization or that department of the school life and the larger life about us, unless he felt free to do so. The musical and other entertainments which are soon to be given will gain the attention of those who feel interested. There is a desire for something better aroused, and more is taken away than can be realized.

The game with Yale was a disappointment. In the first-inning Andover lost the chance to play an even game with her opponents. The defeat may be attributed to nervousness, something to be regretted but a fact which offers no knothole for escape. The result will be taken to heart and, if we read aright, the men will strive to attain to all that hard work can win. The fault so common among academical teams can be overcome if each man who represents Phillips Andover will put the interests of the team before his own and give the careful attention to details which alone can prevent a recurrence of yesterday's loose play.

School Organizations.

PHILO.

The attendance at Philo on Friday evening was small, but the literary program was very interesting. It was opened with a critique by Bruce, after which DeWitt gave an extemporaneous address, and Easton a select reading. The question for debate was: "Resolved, That the United States Government should control the railroads of the country." The speakers were Boynton and DeWitt for the affirmative, against Hopkins and Richardson. Eaton and Grill spoke from the house. The decision of the house and chair was with the negative.

Forum.

The regular meeting of the Forum was held on Friday evening. Wheeler made a report on the arrangements for the joint debate with Worcester, which is to take place at Worcester on the 17th of this month. It has been finally decided that no decision shall be given by judges. The same committee of arrangements was re-elected.

The literary program was opened with a select reading by Rogers, followed by Fisher with a speech on "The Railroads of China." A speech was also made by Patterson, on "Patriotism." Noble rendered a select reading in a very pleasing manner, and Pierson gave a declamation, "The Charge of the Light Brigade." The extemporaneous address by Luce was on "The Outlook for College Baseball." The meeting closed with a critique by Stedman. After much discussion, Carberry's motion to hold literary meetings every fourth evening was lost.
