

The Phillipian.

Vol. XVIII. No. 10.

Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., Saturday, October 19, 1895.

Price 5 Cents.

Mirror.

The first number of the Mirror appeared last evening. This year's board has presented a neatly arranged periodical and the stories are in the main very clever. The first one, "A Tale of Virginia," is a well written story with a rather improbable plot. It is very interesting, however, but might be lengthened to advantage. The author has evidently confined himself to too little space. "The Lighthouse Keeper's Story" is the best article in the paper. The style is good and the situations well drawn.

"The Struggle between Sail and Steam in Atlantic Commerce" and "Leaden Visiting Cards" are both deserving of praise. "Dulce Domum" and "Victims of the Plague" fall below the standard of the other stories. They are very weak, both in style and action, and the characters are not well drawn. "Two Nineteenth Century Highwaymen" is a very neatly written story, the characters being especially pleasing.

The poem, "Reflections," is an exceedingly clever humorous parody on an old familiar poem. The editorials are very fair, the first one being the best of the three. The Mirage is hardly up to that of last year. There is also an absence of book reviews.

In view of the short time the editors have had to prepare the issue and the small number of contributions, they have succeeded very well, and we feel sure their efforts will be appreciated by the school.

Senior Appointments at Yale

The Senior class at Yale chose their several committees last Monday evening. Among others the following Andover men were elected: Allen, as statistician; Archibald, chairman of Ivy committee; Fisher and McLanahan, Historians; Neale, chairman of supper committee; and Foote, triennial committee.

Meeting of Schools and Colleges at Providence.

Dr. Bancroft, Prof. Freeman and Prof. Forbes attended the meeting of the New England Association of colleges and preparatory schools which was held last week in the Brown gymnasium at Providence, History and Latin were the principal subjects discussed.

Tennis Tournament.

The doubles in the tennis tournament resulted as follows:

FIRST ROUND.

Perry and Palmer beat Grey and Cady by default.

Sands and Whiting beat Newcombe and Douglass by default.

Crawford and Quimby beat Henry and Heiskell, 6-3, 6-4.

Pingree and Cobb beat Schrieber and Woolsey, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4.

SECOND ROUND.

Perry and Palmer beat Whiting and Sands, 6-1, 6-3.

Crawford and Quimby beat Pingree and Cobb, 6-4, 7-9, 6-4.

The finals between Perry and Palmer, and Crawford and Quimby were close, requiring five sets to decide them. Both sides played very loosely at times, but there were many strong rallies. Perry and Palmer won, 6-2, 6-4, 5-7, 4-6, 6-1.

Harvard-Princeton.

After much negotiating a game between Princeton and Harvard has been arranged. The University of Michigan has consented to postpone their game with Harvard until a later date thus enabling Harvard to play Princeton on November 2 at Princeton. A conference between the two captains will soon be held to arrange the details of the game and draw up a set of rules to govern the playing. The agreement provides for a return game at Cambridge next year.

Entertainment.

Mr. Prey, who has given similar entertainments in the school for nine years, presented a fine exhibition of legerdemain in the Academy Hall on Thursday evening. The explanation of many humbugs which have for many years been before the public was very instructive, and the more simple feats of magic were very amusing. The second part of the performance, consisting of feats of manual-ocular skill, was by far the best portion of the entertainment. Mr. Prey's manner and anecdotes pleased the large and appreciative audience.

The University of Pennsylvania Dramatic Club will present Sheridan's "The Rivals," on Thanksgiving.

School Organizations.

Forum.

At the regular meeting of Forum on Friday evening the following fellows were elected to membership; Mason, Guinnison and Stickney. It was decided that hereafter there would be two extemporaneous addresses instead of one. Symonds gave a declamation after which Aldrich gave a select reading. French gave a speech on the "Hospitality of Boston," and Goddard followed with an extemporaneous address on the subject, "Should foot-ball become the national game." The debate of the evening, "Resolved, That the present Excise Law of New York should be repealed," was opened by Stedman on the affirmative, who was assisted by Thomas. R. J. Goddard assisted by Norris supported the negative. The debate which was very interesting was taken up from the house by French, Goddard and Richards. The negative received the vote of the house and the affirmative that of the chair. The critique of the evening was given by Christie.

Philo.

Owing to the postponement of Mr. Freeman's lecture, the program of Philo last evening was somewhat different from the ordinary. In the miscellaneous business the motion was brought up from two weeks ago, "That the annual be separated from the societies and that the editors be self-appointed," was lost. The meeting was then continued with a select reading by H. G. Williams and J. B. Richardson gave a speech on "The American Girl." R. H. Edwards then gave an address. After another speech by Ray Morris on "The Value of Classics," and one by E. L. Skinner on "The Young Man of To-day" the meeting was adjourned.

Inquiry.

The subject for the meeting of Inquiry to morrow evening is "God's triumphs in the mission field." Ref. Ps. 67: 1-7.

Wednesday's Games.

Wednesday's Games resulted as follows: U. of P. 36, Carlisle 0; Harvard 82, Williams 0; Princeton 10, Princeton Theological School 4; Amherst 12, Wesleyan 10; Yale 26, Dartmouth 0; B. A. A. 24, M. I. T. 0.

Communication.

[Members of the school are invited to contribute to this department, but the editors do not hold themselves responsible for the opinions here expressed.]

Editors of the Phillipian.

In the daily foot-ball practice there is a great temptation to resort to unfair methods of playing. What a fellow will do in practice he is likely to do in a game. Now why wouldn't it be a good plan to have an umpire and a linesmen every night, and as much as possible do away with holding and offside playing.

Andover vs. B. A. A.

Andover plays what will probably be the hardest game of the year this afternoon. B. A. A. is one of the strongest teams in New England, outside of Harvard and Yale. They defeated M. I. T. on Wednesday by a score of 24 to 0. Our men are confident of scoring, however, and we may expect a close game and perhaps a victory. The teams will face each other as follows:

The Andover Press.

SATURDAY, OCT. 19, 1895.

In spite of the urgent request of the track team captain, in regard to entries for the fall tournament, there was a very feeble response from the school and the entry list was so small that it rendered the tournament impossible. Last year, the fall tournament was in a large measure a success, and had the school shown the spirit which was expected, the one of this year might have had a like fortune. It is at present an open question whether the fellows have school spirit enough to turn out and do their best for the honor of Andover in this branch of her athletics. Further instances of this same sort of apathy may be cited in the support which football and tennis have received at the hands of the students.

We are loath to believe that the Andover spirit has departed from among us, and yet there seems to be more than a grain of truth in the statement. The school must sooner or later realize these hard facts, and awake to the situation. Let every man take this home to himself and see if he personally cannot do something for athletics. Without the united support of the school a healthy athletic life cannot be fostered, and we make this last appeal in the interests of Andover's old-time athletic supremacy.

The action taken by Philo last evening in defeating the motion to take the Pot Pourri out of the hands of the societies was very surprising. The motion seemed to be the only solution of the present difficulty in regard to the paper and this motion if carried would have insured the future success of the publication. There were surely no feasible arguments for the retaining of the paper of the societies, presented, and yet in spite of the most convincing arguments brought forward on the affirmative the motion was lost. The society could not surely have understood the matter rightly. Philo's obstinacy in this matter will be of serious detriment to the paper and its editorial board. We trust however that there is still a chance for Philo to redeem herself in this matter and when the consideration of the matter comes up to act in the right spirit and for the good of the Pot Pourri.

Street Team Captains.

English Commons, J. W. Burket. This is Burket's third year on the football field. He was end-on English Commons three years ago, and last year he played tackle on the second eleven. He will play quarter this year.

Latin Commons, E. D. DeWitt. Last year DeWitt filled the position of centre on the Latin Commons team, but will play guard or tackle this year.

School Street, J. D. Norton, jr. Norton was sub. last year on the Orchard Lake Military Academy eleven. This year he will play half-back.

Morton Street, C. W. Cady. This is Cady's first year at school. He has played foot-ball several years and intends to play end this year.

Salem Street, J. T. Hilliard. Hilliard is a new man this year. Last year he was tackle on the Hartford High School eleven, but will play right half this year.

Phillips Street, A. C. Newcombe. Newcombe is one of the best ends in school. He has been here three years, playing quarter on School Street his first year. Last year he was end on the second eleven. He will probably play end this year.
