COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

At ten o'clock Wednesday morning, in a drizzling rain, the class of 1905 and the alumni formed at the Archaeology building and escorted by a band, the lower classmen, and the members of the faculty, marched to the Chapel, where the exercises were held. Principal Stearns opened the exercises with a prayer, then, after the orchestra played a number, the competition for the Andrew Potter prizes took place. Norman Francis Peters of Newside, Pa., was the first speaker. His essay was well written, and delivery was good but lacked emphasis at times.

Henry Esplen Kloss of Tyrone, Pa., spoke second, and held the interest of the audience very well.

Rufus Bartlett Hall, jr., of Cincinnati, O., followed Kloss. His essay showed careful preparation, and his delivery was very effective.

After Hall came Charles Vanderveer Graham of Brooklyn, N. Y. He had his essay well in hand and delivered it with a great deal of spirit.

George Woodbury Oliphant of Methuen spoke very quietly and effectively. His essay was very carefully written and he enunciated his words perfectly.

The last speaker was Neal Townley Childs of Ridgeway, Pa. His essay was well written, but he did not have it very well in hand, pausing a little too long between paragraphs.

The judges after some deliberation, finally decided to divide the prizes evenly between Oliphant and Hall, each man receiving twenty-five dollars.

The announcement of prize winners for the year was made and is as follows:

The Draper prizes for selected declamations, $20, $12 and $8, endowed by the late W. F. Draper, class of '43—First, Paul Michael Piel, New York city; second, Neal Townley Childs, Ridgeway, Pa.; third, Aldrich Blake, Grand Rapids, Mich.; committee of award, the Rev. W. R. Arnold, Ph. D. of Andover, Prof. M. C. Gile of Colorado Springs, Col., and the Rev. C. H. Oliphant of Methuen.

The Means prizes for original declamations, $20, $12, $8, endowed by the late Wm. G. Means of Boston—First, Neal Townley Childs, Ridgeway, Pa.; second, James Merriam Howard, Montclair, N. J.; third, Charles Pascal Franchot, Olean, N. Y.; committee of award, Prof. J. W. Platner, D. D., of Andover, Wm. E. Hocking, Ph. D., of Andover, and the Rev. Wm. W. Rockwell, of Andover.

The Cook prizes for excellence in Greek, $15, $10, $5, endowed by the late Joseph Cook, LL. D., class of '57—First, Charles Vanderveer Graham, Brooklyn, N. Y.; second, Rufus Bartlett Hall, jr., Cincinnati, Ohio; third, George Russell Fessenden, jr., Ashfield; judge, William Eddy, Ph. D., Providence, R. I.

The Dove prizes for excellence in Latin, $20, $15, $10, sustained by George W. W. Dove, of Andover, class of '53—First, Charles Vanderveer Graham, Brooklyn, N. Y.; second, Rufus Bartlett Hall, jr., Cincinnati, Ohio; third, Carroll Clark Hinckley, Andover; committee of award, Matthew S. McCurdy, A. M., Frederick E. Newton, Ph. D., instructors in Phillips academy.

The Converse prizes for excellence in mathematics, $20, $15, $10, sustained by E. B. Converse, Esq., of Englewood, N. J., class of '37—First, Ralph Wickham Gibbs, Norwalk, Ohio; second, Thayer Adams Smith, Hanover, N. H.; third, Carroll Clark Hinckley, Andover; committee of award, Matthew S. McCurdy, A. M., Frederick E. Newton, Ph. D., instructors in Phillips academy.

The Valpey prizes for Latin and Greek composition, $10 each, founded by the bequest of the late Rev. Thomas G. Valpey, class of '54—Latin, John Tilghman Rowland, Greenwich, Conn.; judge, Robert P. Keep, A. B., instructor at Phillips academy.

The Wadsworth prize for excellence in Physics in the scientific department, $10, sustained by Dr. W. S. Wadsworth, of Philadelphia, class of '87—Aldrich Blake, Grand Rapids, Mich.; judge, William B. Graves, A. M., instructor at Phillips academy.

The Stevenson prize for excellence in German composition, $8, sustained by Robert Stevenson, '96, in memory of his father—Francis Hardon Burr, Chestnut Hill; honorable mention, Henry G. Piel, New York city and Joseph Brown, Lynn; judge, Carlton B. Stetson, University of Vermont.

The Fales history prize for excellence in history, $25, sustained by Fred S. Fales of the class of '92—Albert Farnsworth, Lawrence; judge, Prof. William MacDonald, Brown University.

Harvard English prizes for excellence in English composition and rhetoric, $15, $10, sustained by the Andover club at Harvard. First, James Merriam Howard, Montclair, N. J.; second, Charles Pascal Franchot, Olean, N. Y.; honorable mention, John Tilghman Rowland, Greenwich, Conn.; judge, Dr. John Erskin of Amherst.

Robinson prizes for extemporaneous debate, $10 each, sustained by H. S. Robinson of Andover, Meigs Oliver Frost, New Britain, Conn.; Neal Townley Childs, Ridgeway, Pa.; Henry Gemmer, Hackinsack, N. J.; committee of award, Charles U. Bell, Andover, Charles L. Curtis, A. B., Andover, Colver J. Stone, Esq., Andover.

The Andrew Potter prizes for the best commencement essay were divided between George Woodbury Oliphant of Methuen and Rufus Bartlett Hall, Jr., of Cincinnati, O., each receiving $25.

The Crane prizes for excellence in Virgil, gift of the late Rev. Oliver Craue, D. D., LL. D., copies of Dr. Crane's translation—Charles Vanderveer Graham, Brooklyn, N. Y.; George Russell Fessenden, jr., Ashfield; judge, Prof. Chas. H. Forbes, Andover.

Senior honors were awarded as follows: Greek, George W. Oliphant, Leonard B. Parks, Melvin H. Walker, Jr.; Latin, George R. Fessenden, Jr.; Charles V. Graham, James Benton Grant, Jr.; physics, George R. Fessenden, Jr.; chemistry, George S. Shirk; physiography, George W. Oliphant.

Following the announcement of prizes, the diplomas were awarded. Principal Stearns made an address to the class which was very much enjoyed by everyone present. The exercises concluded with the singing of the school hymn and the benediction.

'05 CLASS POEM.

In glory now our sun is setting,
We are the class of nineteen five,
Hard we've worked to win our honors
Through four long years we've kept alive.

But when we think of all the pleasures,
And all the toils we've labored through;
We feel remorse in going from you,
And our Alma Mater grand and true.

We bid farewell to classes coming,
To all good friends we leave behind,
Forget the deeds of our misdoing;
But keep the good ones in your mind.

We represent the brilliant members
Of the brilliant age that is to come,
You've started us in Life's hard journey,
To win the battle you all have won.

DENISON SHOEMAKER PHELPS, '05

CLASS PROPHECY

I was sitting in the Morrill House one day with the Spring fever when Pete Dugan came in and we got to talking about the class of 1905. I'll now try to tell you a few of our observations. If there are some things here that you don't like why blame it to Pete.

Louis Fouts came up first and we didn't know what to do for Louis because he has been in the senior class for about five years now. Pete seemed to think that Louis would make a good man to shovel smoke in a Painless Dental Parlor.

Jim Howard our worthy statistician was another hard one. I expect to see Jim strolling around here some day with a hand organ and a monkey.

We picked out Neal Childs for a United States Senator but we had to hesitate for a time on "Shorty" Forbes.

There used to be a story in Greece to the effect that a gentleman named Atlas bore the weight of the world on his shoulders. If that man Atlas ever gives up his job, I think "Shorty" could fill the bill. "Dutch" has been at that laundry business for some time now and I think that he would certainly succeed if he started up a Chinese laundry in St. Petersburg.

When I mentioned Tommy Thompson's name two of my chairs got up and left the room. I am sure that some day the city of Ballardvale will make Tommy chief of police.

We were quite sure that some day the name of the Gravesend Race track will be changed to "John Bennett's Rest." Leave it to John.

Mort Seabury will probably be managing the Touraine in Boston some day. I hope he does better than he did on that Dining Hall.

If Peters doesn't sing in the Metropolitan Opera House in a few years, we'll all know it was because Decker French cut him out.

Pete and myself both expect to go into Boston in a few years and find Cy Clough leading the Boston Americans. How about that Charley?

Leonard Kennedy will have a good chance to publish his first book about the time that Jim Grant gets to be editor of the New York Sun.

If some of Denny Phelps' poems don't outshine those of Lord Tennyson, the world will have lost a great man.

Pete thought that Worth Howard would be running a Coney Island beauty show and I guess that Eliot Carter will soon be throwing the hammer for the New York Athletic Club. Graham will probably put the shot. Eddie Dillon should have a good chance for strong man in a circus, also Bill Williams. Lou Dewey will probably be a professional class dinner manager and I guess that Dinny Raymond will be back here some day teaching American History, assisted by Newt Perry.

If Lew Parks doesn't grow any taller he ought to occupy the Presidential chair one of these days and Charly Lanigan should be a good running mate.

We couldn't pick out one for B. Sullivan, unless it's that he gets to be "boss" of Chicago. He's pretty well fitted to teach Roman History. Dick Gurley will sour milk for a Heinz Pickle Factory.

Here Pete got up and left the room, He left it then in sadness and in gloom I hope you won't feel sad now, And try not to be blue, If in my bunch of hot-air here A little was on you.

The class then marched in a body to the Academy building and participated in the Ivy exercises. After planting the ivy, the president of the Senior class presented the spade to the class of '06, and also the keeping of the school customs. Henry Homer Hobbs of Thorndike, Mass., vice-president of the class of 1906 received, in behalf of his class, the spade and the keeping of the customs. The remarks of both men were very appropriate. "Old Andover is champion" was then sung, concluding the exercises of the afternoon.

The following men acted as ushers on class day: B. H. Sullivan, C. W. Howard, A. N. Dewey, A. D. Parker, T. A. Cushman, S. J. Keator.

Friday, June 23, 1905

We take pleasure in announcing the election of the following men to the editorial board of the PHILLIPIAN: T. A. Smith '06, C. P. Franchot '06, S. S. Day '07. The heeling has been very satisfactory this term, but there were not enough men out. The board hopes that there will be more competitors next term.

The annual publication of the Pot-Pourri and Class Book came out on Tuesday last. The book is a great success considering the obstacles which the board has had to face, and we wish to congratulate the editors most heartily on this success.

Senior Prom.

The Senior "Prom" of the class of 1905 was held in the Borden gymnasium on Wednesday night and was a very successful event in spite of the inclement weather. At eight o'clock the first couples began to arrive and at nine the dancing commenced, continuing without a break, except for refreshments, until three o'clock in the morning. The music was excellent and improved as the evening went on, so that the dancers were loath to let it stop at three. The gym was very effectively decorated with green boughs and blue and white banners. After the tenth dance refreshments were served, consisting of ice cream and cake, which was heartily enjoyed by the hungry dancers.

The "Prom" committee deserve a great deal of credit for the success of the evening. The committee consisted of A. L. Parker, chairman, J. M. Howard, E. L. Fouts, H. H. Ramsay, A. N. Dewey.

Gift to Andover.

The will of the late Robert C. Winthrop, Jr., which was filed in the Suffolk Probate court Tuesday, contains a bequest of $5,000 to the trustees of Phillips Andover Academy.

The income of this gift is to be used for the "encouragement of the study of Latin and Greek." Mr. Winthrop was an old Andover man and graduated from here in the class of 1850.

Draper Prize Speaking.

The thirty-ninth annual contest of selected declamations for the Draper prizes, was held last Monday evening in the stone chapel. The audience was fairly good sized and appreciative, but on account of the unfavorable weather, not as large as in previous years. The committee of award consisted of Rev. C. H. Oliphant, Prof. M. C. Gile and Rev. W. R. Arnold. After retiring for a space of time, in which O. W. Mosher, Jr. rendered three well-played selections on the violin, the judges returned and announced the following decision: first prize of twenty dollars to Paul Michael Piel of New York City; second prize of twelve dollars to Neal Townley Childs of Ridgeway, Pa.; third prize of eight dollars to Aldrich Blake of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Principal Stearns presided. In his introductory speech, after stating the conditions and founding of the prize, he said that in one way it was a sad occasion, as it was the first one at which Mr. Draper, the founder, was not present. He announced Harry Meixell jr., as the first speaker with the selection "Vesuvius and the Egyptian" by Lytton. This was delivered smoothly, and was well varied but it was spoken a little too fast.

The next speaker, Henry G. Piel, delivered "Spartacus to the Gladiators" with feeling, but his enunciation was rather indistinct.

Charles P. Franchot was next introduced, speaking "Our National Flag" by Beecher. His delivery was clear and emphatic, especially towards the end of his piece.

The next speaker, Neal T. Childs, had a subject dealing with recent events in Russia, "St. Petersburg is Quiet," by Pool. His delivery was effective, but he was too long.

"Subjugation of the Philippines—Quikitous" by Senator Hoar was then rendered by Guy S. Deming. He spoke with good emphasis and showed signs of careful preparation.

Joseph Brown delivered "The Cuban Refugee" and held the interest of the house closely. His delivery however, was rather too dramatic and somewhat overdone.

The seventh speaker, Aldrich Blake had a fine piece and rendered it very creditably. Emmet's speech from the Dock" was very effective, and Blake's strong delivery did it full justice.

Paul M. Piel spoke a characteristic selection from Poe, "The Tell-tale Heart." He was dramatic, and delivered with feeling, at the same time controlling his voice well.

"The Assault on Charles Sumner," by Burlingame was next rendered by Albert Farnsworth. His delivery was good, but rather unnatural.

The last speaker, Wilbur B. Jones, rendered "Public Opinion" by Phillips. He spoke well, but was not as effective as some of the others.

Reunions.

CLASS OF '90

The class of '90 had their reunion in the dining hall on last Tuesday evening. There were 21 covers laid. In the afternoon they paraded around the hill escorted by a band.

CLASS OF '85.

The class of '85 held their 20th anniversary at the Inn on Wednesday evening. There were quite a number present to take part in the banquet.

Dramatic Club President.

At a recent meeting of the dramatic club L. M. Ferguson '06 was elected president for the next year.
