HOTCHKISS DEFEATED

Andover Wins Fast and Exciting Game 4 to 1

The proverb of the "lucky" seventh held true last Saturday when Andover defeated Hotchkiss by scoring four runs in this inning. Up to that time, Hotchkiss lead by one run scored in the fifth on the catcher's wild throw to third. In the seventh inning, however, with one down, Middlebrook singled, stole second, and got to third on a wild pitch when Pumpelly had walked Scudder and hit Daugherty. Captain Mahan sent a deep single to center scoring two men. A moment later, he and Daugherty scored on a wild pitch. Fast fielding prevented any further scoring. Exceptionally good work was shown by the entire Andover team, and Coaches Stearns and O'Brien are entirely satisfied with the men. Swett's three bagger and Wells's splendid catch of Smith's fly in the seventh were among the features of the game. Swett pitched a steady game for Andover, only allowing three hits, while Pumpelly, his opponent, was extremely wild, hitting four men and making two costly wild pitches.

The game by innings:

FIRST INNING

Eggleston started out for Hotchkiss by sending a long fly to Wells. Forbes grounded, Tesch to Murphy and Mudge went out Daugherty to Murphy. No runs.

Middlebrook grounded, Eggleston to Wilcox. Scudder got a scratch. Daugherty singled. Scudder went to second. Wilcox sent Mahan out, unassisted, while the runners advanced. Tesch was hit, filling the bases. Wells went out, Eggleston to Wilcox. No runs.

SECOND INNING

Wilcox was sent out, Tesch to Murphy. Lindenberry fanned. Smith flied to Mahan. No runs.

Murphy grounded, Lindenberry to Wilcox. Wiley walked. Swett sent a long three bagger to right, but Wiley was out trying to score. Middlebrook was out on a close decision, Eggleston to Wilcox. No runs.

THIRD INNING

Mahan got Pond's fly. Middlebrook caught Wick's liner. Pumpelly sent a high fly to Daugherty. No runs.

Scudder went out, Lindenberry to Wilcox. Daugherty struck out,

To be held at 7.00 o'clock tonight in the gym. Everyone must be there. Speeches by members of the faculty and the captain of the track team.

EXETER TOMORROW

Final Preparations for Annual Track Meet

The large list of entries and the past performances of both the Andover and Exeter teams promises to make the annual dual meet tomorrow, at Exeter, one of the fastest and most brilliantly contested in the history of the two schools. In all events, both field and track, the men who are entered have already distinguished themselves this year as men able to equal the performances of past years. In some cases, record breaking ability is shown as in the case of Buck last Saturday in the Harvard Interscholastics. The only significance of Exeter's apparent superiority over Andover in the interscholastic meets this year, is in regard to first place. But since several of Andover's best men have been prevented from competing in these contests on account of scholarship conditions, this is not considered to indicate anything very important. The result of this meet will greatly depend on either team's capability to obtain second and third place, in which respect Andover is very strong. In the trials last week several interesting performances were made, which showed that Exeter will have to have an exceptionally strong team.

The places this year will be counted as follows; five for firsts, three for seconds, and one for thirds. The entries are:

100-yd. dash—P. S. Crary, W. B. Kephart, E. W. Mahan, W. A. Coles.

200-yd. dash—P. S. Crary, W. B. Kephart, E. W. Mahan, W. A. Coles.

440-yd. dash—W. A. Coles, A. J. Bates, V. Space, E. A. Hobden.

880-yd. run—K. Irwin, F. G. Russell, P. C. Cutler, B. M. Fullerton, J. B. Gibson.

Mile run—N. A. Platt, J. W. Feeney, W. M. Bowden, G. W. Donovan, T. C. Tinsman.

High hurdles—E. J. Rosener, E.

HARVARD INTERSCHOLASTIC

Buck of Andover Breaks Pole Vault Record

As was expected, Exeter obtained first place in the Harvard Interscholastic meet on Saturday, scoring 38 points. Worcester came second with 23 points while Andover tied with Legate and Powder Point for third place, each scoring 10. The meet proved a great success as three new field records were established. The most brilliant of these was the wonderful jumping of W. M. Olee of Pawling School, New York, who cleared the bar at 6 feet 3 5-8 inches. This is not only a new interscholastic record, but the best record that has ever been made by the college men in the stadium.

The second record was made by Buck of Andover, when he vaulted 11 feet, 3 3-4 inches, beating the old record made by Whitney of Worcester last year by 2 1-2 inches. The third record fell when H. T. Worthington of Exeter did 22 feet, 8 1-2 inches in the broad jump. Andover's other men who scored were: Crary, third in the 100 yard dash; Davis, third in the high hurdles; and Rosener, who obtained second in the low hurdles. The final standing of the schools was; Exeter 38, Worcester Academy 23, Andover 10, Powder Point 10, Legate 10, English High 5, Pawling 5, Commerce High 3, Hope Street High 3, Noble and Greenough 1.

The summary:

120 YARD HIGH HURDLES

Final heat—Won by Meanix, Legate; second, Parson, Pope Street High School; third, Davis, Andover. Time—16 1-5 seconds.

100 YARD DASH

Final heat—Won by Rice, Powder Point; second, Teschner, Exeter; third, Crary, Andover. Time—10 seconds.

220 YARD DASH

First heat—Won by Rice, Powder Point; second, Teschner, Exeter; third, Jones, Exeter. Time—21 4-5 seconds.

440-YARD DASH

Won by Howe, English High

DEBATING TEAM LOSES

Once Again Exeter Wins Annual Debate

One of the closest and best-handled debates between Andover and Exeter for several years was won by Exeter last Saturday. In the final decision the judges were divided, two favoring Exeter and one favoring Andover. The debate was held in the chapel before a large audience of Exeter students and townspeople.

The question for debate was, "Resolved, that men and women should have equal suffrage in the United States." Exeter submitted the question and Andover chose to uphold the negative side. The teams were as follows: Exeter—Benjamin Estes Carter of Texarkana, Ark.; Charles Adelbert Trafford, Jr., of Worcester, Mass.; Charles Rumford Walker, Jr., of Concord, N. H.; and alternate, Rufus Fenner Scott, Jr., of Paris, Tex. Andover—David Nelson Beach of Bangor, Maine; John Wicks Cooke of Neton Centre, Mass.; Harold Strong Gulliver of Watertown, Conn.; and alternate, Frederick La Salle Johnson of New Haven, Conn.

Exeter's main arguments were: "Woman's Suffrage is just," "The women want the ballot," and "Woman's Suffrage will do no harm to the country." Andover's points were: "Equal suffrage has not been sufficiently tested and its adoption would be rash considering its record," "Women do not want the ballot," "Woman's Suffrage has not improved conditions where it has been tried," and "Equal suffrage will not do what is claimed for it."

The Andover team went to Exeter in an automobile hired for the occasion, and returned in the same way.

Professor Tufts of Exeter presided at the debate. The judges were as follows: His Excellency, Robert P. Bass, Governor of New Hampshire; the Rev. Henry W. Foote of Boston, and Mr. Joseph S. Davis of Harvard University.

After the debate, while the judges were conferring, music, both vocal and instrumental, was given. The program consisted of songs by Mr. Newhall, and piano, violin and cello solos by Mr. Robinson, G. H. Smith, and P. L. Godchaux respectively.

Means Prizes Awarded

The forty-fifth speaking for the Means Prizes was held Monday night in the chapel. There were eight contestants and at the end of the evening the judges, Mr. Edward Brooks, the Rev. Charles H. Cutter, D. D., and Mr. Ralph D. Paine, announced the following as winners: first, Frederick W. Smith; second, Dudley S. Poore; third, Angelo Perez. Mr. Stearns opened the evening by explaining the Means competitions and their significance. He also mentioned that the award of the judges would be based, one-third on the speaking of the essay and two-thirds on its structure and writing.

The first speaker was Oscar L. Chell of East Braintree, whose essay was on "Mexico under Diaz." Harold S. Gulliver then rendered an excellent metrical translation from the Iliad on the tragic death of Hector. A pleasing and interesting discussion of "The Theatre and the Rising Generation," was given by Robert W. Morse of Boston. The second essay on "Mexico under Diaz" was spoken by James W. Feeney of Andover. Frederick W. Smith of Ballardvale then described the theatre of Shakespeare's time in a pleasing essay entitled, "The Elizabethan Playhouse." "The Theatre and the Rising Generation" was again discussed in a most enlightening manner by Dudley S. Poore from Cedar Rapids, Pa. Several new and interesting facts about Diaz and his administration in Mexico were then revealed by John W. Cooke of Newton Center. The last speaker of the evening was Angelo Perez who gave a brilliant translation from Dante. During the intermission in which the judges conferred, Mr. Ashton played several selections on the organ.

Philo

The next meeting of Philo will be a mock faculty meeting and will be held on Friday evening, at 7.15, in Science 3. This meeting is open to the entire student body and all who would like to come are invited. The entire faculty will be represented by members of the society. Some of the members have shown up so well in their parts and looked so learned that the question has even been raised whether they are eligible for some of the prize-exams which are coming on now. Many matters of great importance will be brought up at this meeting. Several charges have been made against the faculty, and also against a prominent member of the student body. It is expected that this will be the most serious meeting that the faculty has had for a long time and there is a rumor that the first ten men in scholarships will be dealt with.

At first one of our friends on non-ex was to have given the critique, but unfortunately for some unknown reason he decided that he would have to leave us before eight o'clock.

Dartmouth Fresh Today

The strong Dartmouth Freshman team will oppose Andover today at 2.15 on Brothers' Field. Encouraged by their victory over Hotchkiss, the Andover nine is expecting to repeat the good showing made by them last Saturday. In this contest, however, they are against a much stronger and older team, who have thus far defeated the majority of their opponents by large scores, especially in the case of the fast Cushing team which they defeated 11 to 0. It is expected that all the fellows will be present with their megaphones to encourage the team and to rehearse the songs that will be sung at the Andover-Exeter track meet tomorrow. The Dartmouth line-up contains Lowe, the Exeter short stop, who played against Andover last year. The teams probably will line-up as follows:

A Victory for 1913

Monday afternoon the Middlers defeated the Juniors in a six and a half inning game on the Library Campus by the score of 10 to 3. The game was rather loosely played throughout and many long hits were made on both sides. Brown pitched a good game for '13 while Foster weakened in the latter part. The Middlers started scoring from the beginning and kept gaining steadily to the finish. Capt. Chatterton, Van Brocklin and Cochran played fine ball for '13 while Lindsay, Foster, and Gault excelled for the Juniors. The line-up of the teams were as follows:

Phillipian Banquet and Theatre Party.

Last Saturday night the members of the Phillipian Board held their annual banquet at the New American House in Boston. W. H. Smith acted at toast-master and introduced the speakers who included Mr. Leonard, Douglas, Nute, Quinn and Lucas. After a very good dinner, the party adjourned to the Shubert theatre where they saw "Hanky Panky."

Interclass Track Meet

The Spring inter-class meet will be held next Saturday afternoon at 2.15 on the Upper campus. The competition ought to be very close as no "A" or "AAA" men will be allowed to compete. Entries will be made to the class track captains.

Only three trials in the shot put, hammer throw and broad jump will be allowed. In the pole vault and high jump, men will be disqualified after two failures. The points will be as follows; five for firsts, three for seconds, and one for thirds. Numerals will be awarded to all the men who score on the winning team. The Varsity track men will act as officials. The track captains to whom the entries should be handed, are as follows:

- 1912—Fullerton.
- 1913—Kneen.
- 1914—Corry.
- 1915—O'Brien.

Trial heats in the dashes and hurdles will be held on Friday afternoon.

Speaker at Inquiry

Mr. Sherwood S. Day, Yale 1911, will be the speaker at the Society of Inquiry Sunday evening at seven o'clock. Mr. Day has been very prominently associated with Dwight Hall, and for several years has been at Northfield. Last year he addressed the Society and was well received. He will speak on "Northfield from the College Undergraduate's Point of View." As he is a loyal alumnus of Andover, it is hoped that a large number of fellows will be out to hear him. Men who are going to Northfield, and those who are interested should certainly avail themselves of this opportunity.

Big Game

The customary baseball game for the Commons championship will be held tomorrow morning, when the Brick House aggregation will meet the Clement House stars on the Old Campus. Great rivalry exists between these two teams and a speedy game is expected.

Swimming Pool Open

It has recently been decided that the swimming pool will be open from 11.15 to 1.00 on Sunday mornings in addition to the regular afternoon hours. Tomorrow morning the pool will be open from 9 to 12 o'clock and water sports will be carried out.

Prize Examinations

On Friday, May 31, the examination for the Harvard-Andover prizes will be held. Two prizes are offered, one of $15 and one of $10, for excellence in English Literature and Composition. Instead of as announced some time ago, the prize examination will be on the old basis: that is, the ground covered will be that required for admission to college.

The prizes have been sustained since 1889 by the Harvard-Andover club. The competition is open to members of the Senior and Middle classes.

On Saturday, June 1, the examination for the Frederick Holkins Taylor prize will be held. The prize was founded in 1908 by an anonymous friend of the class of 1868. A prize of eight dollars will be awarded for excellence in French Conversation or French Composition.

Tennis Tournament

The tennis tournament in singles has now started. All matches must be played off as soon as possible. The drawings for the first round are as follows:

- Ocuppaugh vs. Goodwin.
- Gaines vs. Welch.
- Wainwright vs. Goodlett.
- Sturgis vs. R. S. Cook.
- MacMillan vs. Pfaffmann.
- Beasley vs. Raymond.
- Martinez vs. Whitman.
- Thurston vs. Dickey.
- Holmes vs. Appleton.
- Makepeace vs. DeCamp.
- Winston vs. Buckwell.
- Sayer vs. L. Hill.
- Bartlett vs. Sherman.
- Lamont vs. Powers.
- Bevins vs. Lestrade.
- Watson vs. Whitney.

Tennis Team Victorious

On Saturday afternoon the Andover tennis team defeated the Dartmouth Freshmen, four matches to two. This was the second match of the season, the first being also a victory. Most of the games were fast and all the members of the Andover team played in good form. The singles resulted as follows:

- E. J. Howe, Andover, beat J. S. Pray, Dartmouth, '15, 6-0, 6-1.
 - J. Pfaffmann, Andover, beat Ballon, Dartmouth, '15, 6-4, 1-6, 7-5.
 - Aronowite, Dartmouth, '15, defeated E. Ocuppaugh, Andover, 4-6, 1-6, 7-5.
 - Watson Andover; beat Stone, Dartmouth, '15, 6-3, 7-5.
- The doubles resulted as follows:
- Howe and Pfaffmann, Andover, defeated Pray and Ballon, Dartmouth, '15, 6-1, 9-7.
 - Stone and Aronowite, Dartmouth, '15, defeated Watson and Ocuppaugh, Andover, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4.

Tennis Team vs. Harvard Fresh

On Thursday morning the Andover tennis team will meet the Harvard Freshman at Andover. So far the Andover team has showed up well, and a victory may be looked for. Pfaffmann has been elected captain of the team for this year. The following men will probably represent Andover: Pfaffmann, Howe, Ocuppaugh, and Watson.

Special Train for Exeter

The special train for Exeter on Thursday will leave Andover at 12.45. The tickets will be $1.00 apiece. They are now on sale at the station. Everyone must go on this train unless he has secured a special excuse. The train will leave Exeter immediately after the meet.

Tickets for Meet

The tickets for the Exeter track meet will be on sale at the Bookstore until 8 o'clock Wednesday night. Anyone who has not bought his ticket is urged to do so as they will be sent back to Exeter Wednesday night.

Business Meeting of Forum

The next meeting of Forum will be held on Friday evening in the Archaeology building. Every member of the Society is urged to be present. There will be no literary program and the meeting will be wholly devoted to business. The elections for officers for the Fall term, next year, will be held, and the reports of the present officers will be read. Shingles will be given out to those members of the Society who have paid their dues and the extra assessment. After the business meeting, the Society in a body will probably attend Philo's mock Faculty meeting.

Yale Freshmen Tomorrow

On Thursday, the Andover baseball team will go to New Haven to play the Yale Freshmen. The game is sure to be one of friendly rivalry and is one which Andover wants very much to win. "With the improvement which the team has shown lately, it is safe to expect a victory, although the Freshmen have an excellent team this year. Last year the Yale Freshman game was played at Andover and Andover won a very close game by the score of 4 to 3.

On the Yale team there are several old Andover stars. John Reilly, the Andover captain last year, is the captain and is playing third base. R. L. Ripley, who pitched for Andover for half of the Exeter game, is one of Yale's most dependable pitchers. Beedy at second base, the same position he occupied at Andover, has been doing well, and Louis Middlebrook, who was one of Andover's star fielders last year is now doing excellent work for the Freshmen.

The scores made by the Yale Freshmen so far this season are as follows:

- Yale 1915, 5; N. H. H. S. 6.
- Yale 1915, 13; Taft School, 0.
- Yale 1915, 4; Worcester, 1.
- Yale 1915, 8; Pawling, 6.
- Yale 1915, 1; Hotchkiss, 3.
- Yale 1915, 6; Pennsylvania 1915, 8.
- Yale 1915, 9; Williston, 1.
- Yale 1915, 1; Princeton 1915, 0.
- Yale 1915, 4; Holbrook, 0.

The lineups will probably be as follows:

The first speaker was B. E. Carter of Exeter. The substance of his argument was: "Woman's Suffrage is not a revolutionary movement. It is not right to deny women the privilege of voting. Women want the ballot. The expediency of giving women the ballot rests on their voting ability, and voting ability is nothing but the power to choose. The question is one of mental ability, and we find that there are more women than men graduated from our high schools. Fighting ability is no longer a qualification for the ballot. It is an unfair discrimination and contrary to the principles of the Constitution of the United States not to give women a voice in the government which controls their life, liberty and pursuit of happiness."

D. N. Beach, the first speaker for Andover, said: "To adopt Woman's Suffrage all over the country at once is a radical change. Equal suffrage has never been tested east of the Mississippi River and the population of the states where it is now in force makes up only one-sixtieth of the population of the country. In view of this, it would be rash and ill-advised to grant the ballot to women at once. The ballot is not an inherent right, but a matter of expediency and practicability. Would women be given the ballot without military service? The conditions in, and the labor laws of the states where equal suffrage is in force, are far behind the rest of the country."

C. A. Trafford continued the debate for Exeter, saying: "Our government is based on popular opinion and its policy is that everyone should have a voice in the government. A substantial number of women in the United States want the ballot. It is but just for women to be represented. Women are morally equal to men and in the past they have risen to each new responsibility given to them. Women do not need to be partisans, and emphasis should be placed not on economic questions, but on pure food and questions relating to the home. The right to vote should be limited only by fitness. Women have a natural right to a voice in the government which controls their lives."

J. W. Cooke, arguing for Andover, said: "Equal suffrage is a radical change and as such demands a slow and cautious extension. Equal suffrage will not do what is claimed for it: namely, it will not help the women nor will it have an especially good influence on politics and economics. Women will be the victims of machine politicians, and not being so experienced in outside affairs, it will be impossible for them to judge correctly about many questions. Woman's place is the home and the future of the nation depends on her staying there."

C. R. Walker, Exeter's third speaker, after summing up, said: "Equal suffrage is no peril to the state as a whole. Few women will enter politics, so that a very small number will be injured by political activity. As women are just as fit and are morally equal to men they should have equal rights. Summing up, women should have the right to vote because woman's suffrage is just, the women want it, and it will not harm the state."

The last speaker for Andover was H. S. Gulliver. He said: "Woman's Suffrage is not a theoretical but a practical question. The burden of proof rests with the affirmative and they must show some facts. In many states equal suffrage has been defeated and an anti-suffrage organization has been formed which includes many prominent women among its members. Only two per cent of the women vote at the school elections. There is a great deal of injustice in forcing the ballot upon the women of the country who do not want it." Gulliver then summed up Andover's points.

The rebuttals were given and some good points were made in them. The negative showed that women had brought about legislation without the ballot. The affirmative's strongest argument was that the economic conditions in the western states made complex labor laws unnecessary.

Class Baseball Tomorrow

On Thursday morning the final games of the interclass baseball series will be played off.

The first teams of 1912 and 1913 will play on the Varsity diamond at Brothers Field, while the second teams will play on the Library Campus. The first teams of 1914 and 1915 will play on the diamond near the football stands on Brothers Field, and the second teams will play on the Chapel campus.

The games will be played early so as to give plenty of time before taking the special train to Exeter. The special train will leave Andover at 12.45.

Seniors Win

The Seniors defeated the Junior Middlers, Monday afternoon on Brothers Field in a slow, uninteresting game by the score of 7 to 2. The game was loosely played and the hard hitting of '12 proved fatal for their opponents. Clarke, '12 pitched an exceptionally good game for his team. Thompson, Wells and Winters batted the best for '14 while Allen played well in the field. For the Seniors, Washburn and Clarke played a good all-round game, scoring twice apiece. The Seniors started off well but slacked up gradually near the end. The summary:

Change at Exeter

A new Senior Council is to be inaugurated at Exeter which will take the place of the present School Council. There will be ten members, elected by the school from fifteen men nominated by the council of the year before.

All nominations for class-day parts, managerships and captaincies must be approved by the Council. It will look into proposals for changes in the administration of student affairs.

The object of the Council will be to direct and control the actions of the students of the Academy in accordance with the traditions and spirit of the school.
