SENIORS WIN

Interclass Cross Country Run Won by '13

The Seniors easily won the scratch cross country race last Monday afternoon by finishing their team of five men before that of the other classes. Although Bradley of 1915 came in first, the rest of the men in his class did not finish soon enough to win the numerals for 1915. The afternoon was wet and unfavorable for the race. Twenty-six men started, but only eighteen finished the race. At the end of the first lap Bradley led, with Wilton and Martinez a short distance behind. The first two men held their lead throughout the race, but Farrell and Peabody passed Martinez, getting third and fourth places respectively, while Martinez finished fifth. The men were well strung out at the finish and there was little sprinting.

Five of the first nine men were Seniors, finishing in this order: Farrell, Martinez, Hale, Kincaid, Stockwell. These men will receive their cross country numerals.

The following is a list of all the men as they finished, and the times of the first ten.

1 Bradley, '15	17-30
2 Wilton, '14	18-13
3 Farrell, '13	18-16
4 Peabody, '14	18-20
5 Martinez, '13	18-36
6 Tinsman, '15	18-40
7 Hale, '13	18-50
8 Kincaid, '13	19-02
9 Stockwell, '13	19-21
10 Sullway, '13	19-22
11 Henn, '14
12 Fletcher, '13
13 Carpenter, '14
14 Woodford, '14
15 Davison, '15
16 Mooney, '14
17 Fellowes, '15
18 Good, '15

The score:

1913—32.

1914—39.

1915—49.

1916—No entries.

Library Additions

The following books have been added to the library:

Readings in American Constitutional history; ed., by Allen Johnson.

The Northwest under Three Flags, by Charles Moore.

Magna Carta, by W. S. McKechnie.

W. E. Henley's Poems.

Something to Look Forward To

On Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock I shall begin the series of Wednesday afternoon recitals with an introductory recital illustrating the various organ stops. I shall play a popular program as follows:

- Idylle Bossi
- Trio Homilius
- Arie, "Bist du bei mir" Bach
- Am Meer Schubert
- Prelude to the Third Act of "Die Meistersinger" Wagner
- Slumber Song Hoffman
- Overture to Tannhauser Wagner

It would be very gratifying if a somewhat larger number of fellows would take an interest in these recitals.

ANDOVER vs. YALE

Hard Game Expected Today With Varsity Team

This afternoon on the old campus the Andover soccer team will play Yale varsity. A very interesting game is expected as Yale has eight of last year's men back on the team, and her prospects for again winning the intercollegiate championship are very bright. Andover has one of the strongest soccer teams in her history, which has been demonstrated thus far by her splendid record. By far the most interesting game of the season is to be expected. There are five old Andover men on Yale's team; they are Holmes, who plays at right inside; Smith, at left outside; Captain Dickey at right fullback; Bickford at right wing, and Snyder.

Following is a list of the Yale team which will make the trip here: Bryant, Shepard, Hawley, Stock, Ogden, Snyder, Smith, Hill, Gray, Holmes, Bickford, Bright and Dickey.

The Andover lineup will probably be as follows:

- Feeney, g.
- Sturgis, fb.
- Blanchard, rfb.
- Young, chb.
- Davison, rfb.
- Palmer, lfb.
- Mackinlay, rof.
- Hudson, rif.
- R. S. Thompson, cf.
- Tucker, lif.
- Lee, lof.

Chapel Speakers

Mr. Stackpole will preach at chapel tomorrow morning. Rev. Brewer Eddy will be the speaker at the vesper service. Mr. Eddy will also deliver a talk to the Society of Inquiry at seven o'clock. His subject will be, "Glimpses of South India." Mr. Patton spoke last week on India, but he referred to the northern part, so Mr. Eddy's talk will not be a repetition of the other. Those who have heard him say that he is a very interesting speaker.

Class Football Numerals

Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 the Junior Middle football team had their pictures taken at the Sherman studio. Following is a list of those who received their numerals:

Lindsay, Chisholm, Early, D. Burnham, Young, James, Conway, Adams, Fellowes (capt.), Lennon, Weston, Tinsman, Macrae, Thompson.

Since the Junior Middlers failed to win from the Juniors last week, the Middlers will receive their ribbons. Following is a list of the fellows who will receive ribbons: J. West, Garston, Boseley, P. Hunt, Spencer, McMillan, Burnes, Blumenthal, Stevens, Volk, Winston, Snyder, Whitney, Woolley, C. West.

Robert C. Chapin, '05, is assistant treasurer of the firm of Chapin & Hollister, manufacturing jewelers, of Providence, R. I.

Ralph E. Pierce, '09, and Miss Nolia Miller were married October 15, 1912, in Honey Grove, Texas, where they will make their home.

William F. Washburn, '07, is with the Walk-Over Shoe Co., Campello, Mass.

Enos K. Sawyer, '98, of Franklin, N. H., has been elected State Senator to represent the Sixth Senatorial District in the incoming Legislature.

ENTERTAINMENTS AT SCHOOL

On Wednesday evening, November 27, Mr. Stackpole entertained at his house all the fellows who remained here over Thanksgiving. The first part of the evening was spent in playing games. Then refreshments were served, after which Mr. Russell entertained the fellows with ventriloquism.

On Thursday evening Mr. Forbes entertained the fellows who were here, at a supper in the Phillips Union. After supper Mr. Forbes gave an illustrated talk. First he read a part of Gray's Elegy in a Country Churchyard which was illustrated. He then showed some very interesting pictures of Rome and vicinity and ended with a couple of humorous stories which were also illustrated. Both entertainments were thoroughly enjoyed by all who attended.

Swimming Meets

The first of the series of handicap meets for prizes will be held today. The meet for the junior division will come off at five o'clock, that for the senior division at 7.30 o'clock. All entrants should report at the pool fifteen minutes before the time for their meets in order to draw for heats. The events scheduled for today are the 50-yard dash, 100-yard dash, and plunge. The handicaps are as follows:

50-YD. DASH

- Scratch—Hulbert.
- 1 sec.—Bevins, Rosener, Haskell, Waring, B. V. Thompson.

Prominent Alumnus Dead

Dr. James Woods McLane of the class of 1857 died Monday at his home, 107 East 38th Street, New York. Dr. McLane was born in New York City August 19, 1839. He was educated at Phillips Academy and at Yale University, from which he received the degree of B.A. in 1861. He was graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons in 1864. In 1866 Dr. McLane was married to Miss Adelaide Lewis Richards. For many years Dr. McLane was Lecturer and Professor at the College of Physicians and Surgeons. He was Dean of the Medical Faculty of that College in 1891, and President of the College from 1889 to 1891.

He was attending physician to the New York, St. Luke's Nursery, and Childs and Sloane's Maternity Hospitals, and President and Trustee of the Roosevelt hospital.

THE BALKAN WAR

Mr. Crawford of the Faculty Gives Very Interesting Talk

On Monday evening, November 25, Mr. Crawford gave a most interesting illustrated lecture in the Archaeology building, taking as his subject the Balkan War.

Mr. Crawford first spoke on the early history of the Balkan states, the early people who inhabited these states such as the Huns and the Bulgars. The population of the Balkan peninsula consists now of the Greeks, Turks, Slavs, and Albanians. The origin of the Albanians is doubtful; they probably came from the state of Illyricum. The two contending religions are Islam and Christianity.

Mr. Crawford said that the many attempts to unite all three states have all failed. The chief reasons are because of the mountainous country in which they live, and the fact that they could build no roads.

The four great nations involved in the war today are Montenegro, Serbia, Bulgaria, and Greece. So far, Turkey has not done a thing in the war but to lie low. Rumania has kept out of this war altogether. The cause of all this trouble was Czar Ferdinand.

Mr. Crawford then showed some very interesting slides which showed the customs and manners of dress of the Turks. He said that they use the buffalo to draw heavy burdens. They also drink buffalo milk, which is very good.

He then showed some pictures of the Albanians who are very closely connected with the Slavs. The Albanians are tobacco smugglers, and because of the great monopoly on tobacco in Mokey, there is much profit by it.

The next pictures were of the Dardanelles. One of the reasons why Turkey is so strong is because the shores of the Dardanelles are lined with guns and the channel is full of mines. Hence it is very dangerous for ships to go down the channel.

He then showed some pictures of Constantinople, scenes along the Bosphorus and Golden Horn. Mr. Crawford said that the Parliament House is called the Sublime Porte because of its wonderful gateway. One of the chief sights in Constantinople is the cistern of one thousand and one columns, in which they used to keep the water in time of sieges. Another peculiar thing in Constantinople is the fire tower in the public square. A man stands in the top of this tower and is on the lookout all the time for fires. In case of fire, if in the daytime, he hangs out two big brass balls and at night two lanterns. Then everybody is notified even if the fire is ten or fifteen miles away. The mosques, or churches, in Constantinople are very beautiful.

Another peculiar thing is the way in which the different traders get together. For instance, the fishermen all collect at a certain place, those selling shoes at another place and so on.

Mr. Crawford concluded his lecture by describing a Turkish cemetery. He said that they were very large, so large, in fact, that often people got lost in them. They are not kept up at all and at best are very mournful looking.

SOCCER TEAM WINS

Harvard Freshmen Defeated 7 to 0

The Andover soccer team easily defeated that of Harvard Freshmen by the score of 7 to 0 in a one-sided game last Tuesday afternoon. Andover completely outplayed her opponents not only in team work but also in individual playing. The excellent cooperation of the Andover forwards combined with the weak defense of the Harvard halfbacks, made it often possible for the Andover line to carry the ball a long distance down the field and shoot goals. Our forwards played together and displayed the best team work of any game this year. This strong offensive play, coupled with the steady work of our backs made an excellent showing for the Andover team.

Lee played a remarkable game at his usual position; left out forward. Time after time he carried the ball half the length of the field or more and shot to center, exhibiting great skill in the ease with which he handled, or, to be more exact, footed the ball, seemingly keeping or taking it away from his opponents at will. Thompson and Mackinlay also played well on the line. In the backfield Sturgis and Young starred with their long kicks, while Feeney did good work in the goal, stopping several hard shots and getting off numerous goal kicks which went to the middle of the field. Purdy played well at left full for Harvard. Of the goals, Thompson scored three, Tucker three, and Hudson one. Three of the goals were shot at the very beginning of the game, one later in the half, and the other three in the second half.

A more detailed account of the game follows:

FIRST HALF

The game was called at 2.30, on the Old Campus soccer field. Andover's kickoff. Bales received a kick in the ankle and was replaced by Tucker. Andover took the ball clear to the goal and nearly scored. Harvard kicked back. Mackinlay got the ball, carried it down right side, and centered to Tucker, who shot a neat goal. Harvard got the ball near Andover's goal, but Feeney kicked it out of the danger zone. Lee and Tucker carried the ball through Harvard's defense and Tucker scored again. Harvard kicked off. Andover got the ball, rushed it down, and made another goal. This time Thompson did the scoring by a pretty kick. Harvard kicked off. Andover took the ball through the Harvard defense; Tucker and Thompson ran into the goal with the ball, knocked down the goal keeper, and scored. No more goals were shot during the first half. Harvard's playing became noticeably better, and the ball was kept nearer the center of the field. Score: Andover 4, Harvard Freshmen 0.

SECOND HALF

Palmer took Davison's place at right halfback. Andover carried the ball to Harvard's goal, but shot several times unsuccessfully until Thompson finally placed the ball in the net with a well directed kick. Harvard then got the ball near the Andover goal, but overshot. Blanchard kicked out. Andover carried the ball up the field, and Hudson shot a goal. Harvard kicked off, and the ball was immediately sent up into Harvard's territory. There was a long scrimmage, but finally

Inside Football

Experts who have studied the two most popular games of their respective seasons, baseball and football, agree that there are as many possibilities in one branch of sport for "inside work" as there are in the other.

There is "inside" football just as there is "inside" baseball, declares one of the leading authorities on both branches of this country's most popular pastimes.

The great difference is that there is so much more "inside" football that not only does the average spectator miss it, but the players and coaches themselves see little of it. At present it seems that the possibilities of "inside" football are unlimited.

Every player on a team has chances to do inside work, but the position which most needs the ability to grasp a situation and grapple with it in a new way is that of quarterback. Around the little men who call the signals for the big elevens open a thousand possibilities for inside play, and many are the quarterbacks who do not take advantage of their opportunities. That is why the "heady" quarterbacks, that is, those who can run a team on the field as well as the coach on the side line could direct it, may be counted on the fingers of one hand.

The quarterback must keep in mind the number of the down, the distance to be gained, the position on the field, the length of time that remains to be played, the individual and collective strength of his own men and the individual and collective strength and weakness of his opponents, the peculiarities of the officials, and the number and kind of plays at his disposal. All of these things must be considered in a single instant and decision given sometimes in the fraction of a second, frequently while rising from the ground or struggling to be disengaged from the mass, and frequently when suffering from painful injuries. And yet they say it requires no brains to play football.

A football player seldom gets credit for "inside" work for the reason that the grandstand does not recognize it.

Just a few instances: Under the new rules it is sometimes more advisable for a member of a team on the defense to drop a forward pass which he has caught than to hold it. This is on the occasion of a forward pass on a third down. A defensive halfback has a chance to catch the ball, but sees that he would be downed without carrying the ball back to the line where it started. In this case the right play is to touch the ball and let it drop to the ground, so that the ball will then be brought back to the place where it started and given to his side. To the grandstand this play properly executed would be hissed by the unthinking.

Again, a quarterback in the safety position is standing almost on his own goal line. The ball is kicked to him. He can make an easy catch, but the heady man in this case will usually allow the ball to fly or bounce across the goal line. The defending side is then allowed to take the ball out to the twenty-yard line and put it in play. If he elects to catch it he will probably be downed before reaching that line. Yet quarterbacks have been called dubs and poor catches by the grandstand for this play. The same procedure should be used where a high kickoff is kicked so as to pass or bounce over the goal line immediately, especially where the ends coming down under the kick are fast.

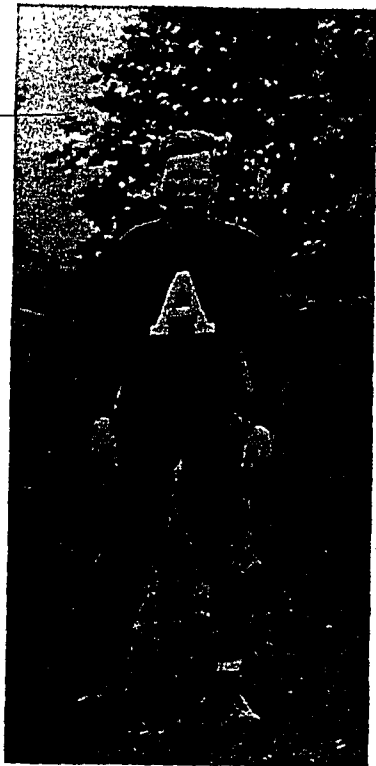

The heavy backfield of these days runs outside and continues parallel to the goal line for a few paces in order to tempt some unwary man on the other team to tackle him and secure a penalty against the tackler.

Almost all coaches have devices for getting the other team offside. The favorite device of Bill Roper, now director at Princeton, was a peculiar system of signals. The series containing the charging number would be called and immediately after the last integer called the team would count two to themselves and charge. Other teams found it impossible to accustom themselves to this system of charging, which was without any apparent signal. It mystified the opposing teams and they began charging a couple of seconds after a series which did not contain the charging number and were caught offside. False starts and twitchings of the ball by the snapper back also accomplish the same object.

The use of the unexpected play is the quintessence of inside play. One of the most successful things at times is the repetition of a play which has just failed. Two plungers have tried in succession to pierce through guard, and the man defending the spot counts himself safe from a third attack. Another play of the same kind under these circumstances will frequently take him unawares and result in a substantial gain.

A thousand other possibilities are open to the student of the game for inside work. Running with the ball, catching, passing, kicking—each has a dozen little tricks which spell defeat or victory if taken advantage of or neglected at the psychological moment.

Andover-Middlesex Tie

The Andover soccer team played its fourth game of the season a week ago Wednesday at Concord, tying Middlesex by a score of 1 to 1. Andover's exceptionally fine team work secured a goal in the first part of the game. To counteract this Middlesex kicked a goal, just before the close of the first half.

In the second half Andover easily had the advantage over their opponents as Andover, time and time again, rushed the ball down the field, but each time the ball would go a little wild, several times striking the crossbar.

Middlesex's goal tender, Hollister, was the sensation of the game. In other departments Andover outplayed their opponents. William Wood, jr., played a splendid game in the Middlesex forward line.

The stars for Andover were Mackinley, Young, Blanchard, and Lee. Captain Mackinley made many fine centers.

The line-up was as follows:

Charles E. Chapman, '08, has received a signal honor from the University of California, having been sent to Spain to make exhaustive researches in the history of that state in the civil and ecclesiastical documents at Madrid, Seville and other cities.

Since taking his master degree at California in 1909 Chapman has been engaged in historical research in the Bancroft library. He prepared a scholarly theme on "The Route from Mexico to California" as a preliminary paper toward his degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Other important work which he has done at the University includes:

HERE'S A REFRESHING AID TO STUDY AND SPORT

Keep a package of "The Beneficial Pastime" always in your pocket. It makes study seem easier. It brightens teeth, sharpens appetite, and strengthens digestion.

While you are exercising and enjoying the fragrant juice of fresh crushed mint leaves, your mouth is kept moist and your lips are kept closed, so that you breathe properly.

And the flavor lasts longer than you can chew!

Chew it all day today, tomorrow, and the next day.

Chew it over Andover, Andover again.

You can't chew out that fascinating flavor of the fresh mint leaves. It lasts, and lasts, and lasts.
