CONCERT

Combined Clubs Render Excellent Program at Rogers Hall

Last Saturday night the combined musical clubs gave their first concert of the year at Rogers Hall, and it proved a great success. The Glee Club gave a most excellent program, and the work of the quartet was most commendable. The hits of the evening were the medley pieces given by Sharp and Phillips of the Mandolin Club. In conjunction with the quartet they gave some rags that were applauded time and again. Both the Mandolin and Banjo Clubs proved to be very good, and their selections were exceedingly well rendered. The quartet deserves a lot of credit for the way they handled their selections. It was composed of the following: First tenor, E. Baker; second tenor, D. Armour; first bass, M. W. Phillips; second bass, J. S. Nickum. Assisted by Sharp and Phillips, the selections of medleys were excellent.

Quite a number of fellows went over who are not on the clubs and everyone enjoyed a thoroughly good time. Previous to the concert a short reception was held, at which the fellows met their dancing partners. The dance followed immediately after the concert, and was most enjoyable. Both the concert and dance were given in the new gym, and it made an excellent place for the whole entertainment. Refreshments were served during the dance, in the swimming pool. The fellows left on the special car at eleven o'clock.

The selections rendered by the clubs were as follows:

MANDOLIN CLUB

Meteor March Rice

SWIMMING TEAM

Prospects for Coming Season Bright. Meet with Harvard '16 Saturday

With the approach of the aquatic season, Coach Murray is giving the swimming squad much attention. Daily workouts are being held to develop a team that will reflect honor upon Andover in swimming circles. Special effort is being made this year to make the work more interesting than usual.

The prospects for the coming season are fairly encouraging since good material has been furnished to fill out the team, and several veterans from last year are improving readily. Captain Gould is doing exceptionally good work in the long distances, and Moore is improving his attainments of last year in the longer swims. Hulbert is doing well in the fancy dives and ought to win several points this year. Of the new men Brinkerhoff and Baldrige are very promising.

Several interclass meets have been planned for this term.

All fellows who have attained any degree of efficiency in swimming should begin to train for this meet at once. The first meet for the varsity will be with Harvard this Saturday at Cambridge.

Boxing Appointments

It has been found necessary to change the schedule of boxing appointments printed in the last issue of the Phillipian. ## HOCKEY SCHEDULE

Team to Play Exeter February 8. Harvard '16 and Dartmouth '16 Included in Schedule

Manager Woolley has announced the hockey schedule for this year. There are in all eleven games on the schedule, one of which has been played and two canceled on account of weather. The game next Saturday is with Melrose High School, and on January 29 we play Stone School. All these games will be played here. These schools were on the schedule last year, and judging from the showing of past years, the games should prove excellent. February, February 1 is the only open date, but it is very probable that a game with Brooklyn, Gym will be secured. Harvard '16 play here on February 5th, and February 8th is the game with Exeter. This game is causing a great deal of interest not only on account of the keen rivalry between Andover and Exeter, but this is the first year that the two schools have met in hockey. The game will be played here. On February 12th Dartmouth '16 will play here. Dartmouth Freshmen always send down an excellent team, and a good game is assured. The last game is on February 15th with Worcester Academy, and is to be played in Worcester. In all, it is an excellent schedule, and with the right sort of weather a splendid season should result. The team has not yet had a chance to show what it can do, but there is a lot of good material out, and with more opportunity for practice a good team should be developed.

The schedule:

Jan. 11. Rindge Technical School at Andover.
Jan. 15. Harvard Law School at Andover.
Jan. 18. Arlington High School at Andover.
Jan. 22. Somerville High School at Andover.
Jan. 25. Melrose High School at Andover.
Jan. 29. Stone School at Andover.
Feb. 1. Open.
Feb. 5. Harvard '16, at Andover.
Feb. 8. Exeter at Andover.
Feb. 12. Dartmouth '16 at Andover.
Feb. 15. Worcester Academy at Worcester.

Notice

Forum

At the regular meeting of Forum next Friday night the question for debate will be: "Resolved, That a graduated federal income tax should be adopted in the United States." The two sides of the question will be upheld by the men who make the Forum debating team, the trials for which are to be held tonight. The Select-Reading will be given by Preston. Dulaney will give the Topics of the Week. Medlicot will render the extempore, and Mr. Crawford will act as critic.

INQUIRY

Dr. A. P. Fitch Addresses Society on Religion

At the regular meeting of the Society of Inquiry held last Sunday evening in the lecture room of the Archaeology building, Dr. A. P. Fitch, who had spoken at both morning and evening services at the Chapel, gave an exceedingly interesting and at the same time, a very helpful talk on "The Religion of a Schoolboy." Although the attendance was small, each fellow went away feeling more than repaid for being present.

Dr. Fitch began his inspiring talk by saying that there were many different forms of religion, and even many kinds of the Christian faith. He said that we should have a great deal of respect for the participant in each, however distant it might be from our own.

There are some men, he continued to say, who, being theologians, make a definite study of religion, in all its forms; analyze its beginnings, seek out its purposes and results, and in short, spend their lives in philosophic religious research.

Then there are the devout, pious, and faithful church-goers, who seem to take great benefit and inspiration from their deep and sincere faith. This sort of religion does not come naturally to the schoolboy.

According to the speaker's classification, the third division of religious people contained those who love the church itself, who take great delight in seeing the fine stained-glass windows, the inspiring appearance of the building, and who are filled with noble thoughts and conceptions by their creed and ritual. A man in devotional exercises is always to be an object of veneration, declared Dr. Fitch.

But not one of these three forms of religion is suited to the condition of the mind of a growing schoolboy. What then, he asked, is the natural expression of religious faith of a boy? The speaker answered his own question by saying that his life must agree with his moral convictions. The character is the main thing, he added. The schoolboy of strong character is he who is to succeed in life.

Dr. Fitch went on to say that in such a religion three things must be strictly observed: First, attention to studies. While it is important to make friends and to enjoy one's self, learning is the prime object in any well-regulated school. Next, the error of the use of profanity; for, as was said, swearing is used for three causes: namely, because the user cannot find proper words in his limited vocabulary to express what he desires to say; because a person desires to "bolster up his falsifications" to strengthen his lies, and lastly, because he is careless and swears because some one else does. Profane men never join in any true religion. The third fact that must be recognized in this religion is the abuse, in silly and indecent tales, of the sex question. As the speaker said, this problem is, and naturally should be, uppermost in the minds of schoolboys, but it should not be treated lightly and vainly, as is often the case, but reverently and respectfully, for nothing in the whole world is more sacred.

Dr. Fitch closed this splendid talk by saying that care in regard to these three clauses in the creed

These Men Must Face the Kodak

There are at present 90 Seniors and 19 non-returning Middlers who have not yet handed in their pictures. The time limit has been repeatedly announced as January 25, for getting these pictures in, and that means that the fellows have absolutely got to get their pictures handed in on or before next Saturday. Appointments should be made at Sherman's at once. What was stated in the last issue of the Phillipian should be expressed again, namely, that it is very important that the fellows should cooperate and aid the management in making a success of the Pot-Pourri for 1913.

COLLEGE NOTES

A gift amounting to about $2,000,000 has recently been received by Cornell University from Mr. Charles F. Baker, the President of the First National Bank of New York.

The following statistics show how the "All-American" football players, chosen by Walter Camp for the last thirty-one years, were divided among the different colleges:

Yale	74.
Harvard	53
Princeton	45
Univ. of Penn.	33
Univ. of Chicago	5

Recognition for work done by students on college publications is to be given hereafter at the University of Wisconsin. The award of merit will be in the form of a "W" watch fob and will correspond to the awards now given students who have excelled in athletics or debating. The new award will be known as the journalistic "W" and will be presented to editors and managing editors of college publications after they have completed a year's work.

Dartmouth's track management has accepted an invitation from the Denver Athletic Club to send its track team to Denver for a meet with some Western college team. The meet is to be held in that city during the first part of April under the auspices of the Athletic Club, which has already sent representatives to Leland Stanford University in order to try to arrange the match with that institution. Should Leland Stanford refuse, the University of California will be invited.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new baseball cage at Cornell. All of the iron trusses have been received and a gang of about fifteen men, with the aid of a powerful forty-ton derrick, are putting them in place. The cage is set on the lower western level of Alumni Field, with windows on the north, west and south sides. Considerable excavating still remains to be done inside of the walls. But little grading has been going on recently. The levels have been fairly well established, however, and the general plan of the field is now distinctly shown. When completed this will be one of the biggest works of its kind ever established in this country.

Harvard has begun the preparations for their winter track season, with a promising squad of veteran material, considerably strengthened by some of last year's Freshman team. Their first winter meet, the annual indoor games of the Boston Athletic Association, is only five weeks off and Coach Donovan has plans for hard work before that time. Although the Crimson will enter a large all-around team at the coming carnival, the greatest interest centers in the one-mile relay race with Princeton and the two-mile relay against Yale. O'Brien and Adams are expected to prove a strong combination against the Princeton runners, while Warren and Koch, the Varsity half-milers, will run against Yale as well as Lawless, the cross country team captain, who is fast at 880 yards. Bingham, the star Exeter half-miler, will probably captain the Harvard Freshman relay team which has a race with the Yale Freshmen.

Princeton's athletic board of control has decided to overhaul the entire athletic equipment, according to an announcement made recently by Dean Howard McClenahan, 1894, who is chairman of the board. This move is regarded as preliminary to the campaign for the money for the monstrous new stadium, of which $100,000, or one-third of the total, has already been collected. The three men composing this committee, which is destined to be one of the most important in Princeton's athletic history, are Dean McClenahan, Dr. Joseph C. Raycroft and Howard H. Henry, 1904, one of the Tigers' best football players and baseball outfielders. The plans proposed are for the establishment of a skating rink for the hockey team, which is now obliged to practice at the St. Nicholas rink, New York, the enlargement of the training and field houses at Osborne Field, and a new baseball cage.

Yale 1913 Schedule

The Yale University football schedule for 1913 has been completed by Manager E. D. Davis. There are ten games in the list, the same number as was played last year. The season opens on September 24 with the game against Wesleyan. As usual, the first game is the only game that will be played on a Wednesday. The order of gam is identical with that of the season of 1912, the only exception being that the University of Maine is substituted for Syracuse as the third game of the season, and Lehigh for West Point. The dropping of West Point from the schedule is an important change, and one that the management has made for several reasons. In the first place, the trip is too hard a one for the team so early in the season. West Point as a rule cannot leave their own grounds, and the substitution of a game with Lehigh in New Haven does away with the expense and other disadvantages of such a long trip.

All the games will be played at New Haven until the Harvard game in the Stadium on November 27

European Tour of School Boys

The fellows who are planning to go to Europe this summer had better look into the tour of prep school boys which starts Saturday, June 28. There are big advantages and opportunities in store for the fellows who go on this tour.

The ocean voyage over and back is half the trip. The fellows will meet other fellows from prep schools from all over the country. A master from each school will accompany the tour. Some have the idea that the time on the boat passes slowly, but this is not so at all. There are games on the deck, such as shuffle-board, quoits, etc. There will also be concerts and musical entertainments, and every evening a brief talk or reading will be given by the masters concerning the places to be visited. So there will be plenty to do on the voyage.

Several schools have planned to do something in remembrance of the heroes or great men attached to the state from which they come. The Penn Charter School of Philadelphia has united with other Philadelphia schools in contributing to a wreath of Pennsylvania laurel, to be placed on the grave of William Penn by the Philadelphia delegation while at Jordans, England. The delegation will also have services in the little meeting house which William Penn attended at Jordans.

Culver Military Academy, Culver, Ind., will be the representative military school of America accompanying the party. The Culver cadets will be in uniform during portions of the visit, when the boys are at Rugby, Harrow, Eton and other English schools, and at all special functions.

The life in England at the different schools will be a big opportunity, which many a boy has hoped to experience. They will attend classes and witness different school games while visiting these schools, thus seeing the life which the English boy lives.

All the time will not be spent in visiting schools. There will be much time spent in sight-seeing and three weeks will be spent in the Alps in Switzerland where the boys will really have an outing. Here they will do mountain climbing, one of the trips being a climb to the top of the Rigi where they will spend the night in order to see the sunrise. The boys will arrive at Geneva in time to witness the annual sports of the Swiss school-boys.

At the request of parents of the boys, a special tour has been arranged, so as to enable parents to be near their sons at all times, and to be in the same city or locality with them on Sundays or during special events.

All who are interested in this tour and desire further information, should see Mr. Pifer as soon as possible.

The Yale College authorities have announced definitely the dormitory arrangements for next year's Academic Freshman class. Wright Hall will still be occupied by first year men. Pierson Hall will also be used by Freshmen, and the overflow will be housed in the building at 242 York Street. This building will be under control of the college, and the rooms will be rented in the same manner as in other dormitories.

Dean Jones made the following statement:

"The dormitory arrangements for the class of 1917 will be much the same as for the present Freshman class, in that they will occupy Wright and Pierson Halls. The Garland at 242 York Street has been leased and will be a regular college dormitory. The apartments will be rented to the Freshmen at prices consistent with those charged in other college buildings. With these accommodations the Freshman class will be lodged where they will be under the direct control of the college."

Yale Baseball Schedule

George Bruce Cortelyou, Jr., president of the Yale Baseball Association, has announced the schedule for the coming season. It calls for Yale to open its playing season March 21, a week earlier than ever before.

Yale will make an innovation of its Easter trip by playing two prominent northern universities, Holy Cross and University of Pennsylvania, in the south. Yale is scheduled to meet only one professional team, the New York Giants, with whom it will open the exhibition season in the polo grounds. The schedule:

March 21, Washington and Lee at Norfolk; 22d, Holy Cross at Norfolk; 24th, Pennsylvania at Washington; 25th, Georgetown at Washington; 26th, Catholic University at Washington; 29th, South Orange Field Club at Yale Field; April 2, New York University at Yale; 5th, Trinity at Yale; 9th, New York National leaguers at Polo grounds; 12th, Wesleyan at Yale; 16th, Fordham at Yale; 19th, University of Vermont at Yale; 23d, Columbia at Yale; 25th, Georgetown at Yale; 26th, Pennsylvania at Yale; 30th, Tufts at Yale; May 2, Virginia at Yale; 3d, Brown at Providence; 7th, Amherst at Yale; 10th, Pennsylvania at Philadelphia; 14th, Dartmouth at Yale; 17th, Holy Cross at Worcester; 21st, Brown at Yale; 24th, Cornell at Ithaca; 27th, Williams at Yale; 31st, Princeton at Yale; June 4, Holy Cross at Yale; 7th, Princeton at Princeton; 12th, Princeton in New York (in case of tie); 14th, Cornell at Yale; 17th, Harvard at Yale; 18th, Harvard at Cambridge; 21st, Harvard at New York (in case of tie.)

of this boys'-religion, would attract favorably the attention and respect of not only one's peers and mates, but also of one's elders and inferiors.

Communication

It should hardly seem necessary to have to remind the fellows so frequently about keeping off the grass and making short cuts, but there are still a great number who, after the many requests and warnings that have been given, still persist in keeping off the walks and not on them. At the present time when the ground is so soft, it is very injurious to the grass, and in a comparatively short time, a path is formed which takes a great deal of time and work to remove. Not only should fellows keep off Mr. Stearns's lawn, but the Chapel campus, and other places are becoming veritable run-ways for over-ardent students, who choose these short cuts to reach their classes ahead of time. The school has always been justly proud of the appearance of its grounds, and much money is spent each year by the trustees with this end in view. To accomplish results with any success at all, the fellows should be more thoughtful, and try and lend their help in the undertaking. In the future the fellows should remember the advice given in the past, and should follow out the request of "Gentlemen, please keep to the walks."
