INQUIRY

Well Attended Meeting Conducted Wholly by Students

The regular meeting of Inquiry last Sunday night was a meeting carried on entirely by the students, at which topics concerning the general welfare of the school were discussed by different members of the student body. A business meeting preceded the discussion. Boynton read the secretary's report for the half year just closed. R. S. Cook gave the treasurer's report of the Society of Inquiry and of the Lawrence work.

John Hamilton, manager of the Lawrence work, spoke interestingly upon the actual work that is being carried on in Lawrence and commended most highly the efforts of the twenty-one men who are giving their aid as teachers for this worthy cause.

W. L. Dickey, chairman of the Bible Study committee, then gave a report of Bible classes to date, and spoke briefly about the necessity of more regular attendance.

Next came the election of officers for the remainder of the year. The nominating committee had named the following: President, Jack S. Wiley; Vice-President, J. S. Nickum; Secretary, G. S. Raymond; Treasurer, R. S. Cook. These officers were unanimously elected.

Short talks were then given on questions relative to the betterment of Andover. James Gould was the first speaker. He spoke about the conduct of fellows about the town, and how the reputation of the school depended largely upon the way the fellows conducted themselves in the view of outsiders. Knight Woolley spoke next and urged the Seniors and old men to set and to preserve the standards of the school. He made special reference to conduct in Chapel and in regard to hazing.

Lawrence Doby spoke on the smoking situation. C. T. Timbie, graduate treasurer, then spoke very interestingly on the matter of the fellows' conduct toward outsiders, of being frank in all matters pertaining to school questions, and of the use of profanity among men in a school of this kind.

The last speaker of the evening was Jack Wiley, who briefly outlined the work to be taken up in regard to Northfield, and told of the purpose and advantages of that yearly conference. A large number of fellows attended the meeting.

The report of the secretary of the Society was as follows:

Inquiry has held sixteen meetings so far this year with a total attendance of 1,136, or an average of 71. The average for the first sixteen meetings last year was 72.

The speakers at the meetings have been: Mr. Stearns, Mr. McCurdy, Rev. Mr. Richards, Mr. Clyde Martin, Mr. Plimpton, Rev. Artley D. Parsons, Mr. Crawford, Mr. G. W. Hinckley, Mr. Stackpole, Dr. Cornelius Patten, Professor Forbes, Mr. Brewer Eddy, Mr. Arthur Howe, Rev. Rockwell Potter, Dr. Tupper, Dr. A. P. Fitch, Mr. Thurber and Mr. O'Brien.

The following is the report of the chairman of the Bible Discussion Groups up to the present date. It shows the enrollment in each

The regular meeting of Philo will be held Friday night in Graves 3. The select reading will be given by Mudge and the topics of the week by Seward.

The subject for debate is, "Resolved, That the system of parcel post as it is now in use will prove of great benefit to the people of the United States." Martinez will lead the affirmative, with R. S. Cook assistant, and Briggs will lead the negative with Chisholm assistant. The critique will be given by Mr. Keep.

This will be the last debate this term, as the meeting on February 18 will be a mock trial, the meeting of the 21st will be omitted on account of the Prom, the meeting of March 7th will be omitted because of the play given by the Dramatic Club, and the final meeting as always will be devoted to business. It is important that every member should come.

Forum

At the regular meeting of Forum next Friday evening in the Archaeology building, the question for debate will be, "Resolved, That a Progressive victory in the next presidential election would be for the best interests of the United States." The affirmative will be led by Rosener, with Greene as assistant. For the negative, Ferguson will be the leader and Morrison assistant. The critique will be given by Mr. Crawford, Auty will give the declamation. Topics of the week will be rendered by Winters, and the extempore will be given by Palmer.

Boxing and Wrestling

Prof. Bryson has arranged a series of six lessons in boxing for five dollars. All fellows wishing to take advantage of this unusual offer should see Dillon at once. Up to the present there has not been as much interest in wrestling as might be expected. The classes are by no means crowded. There are a number of good wrestlers in school who ought to come out and try for the wrestling team. It can not be too emphatically stated that the opportunity given is an excellent one. A series of lessons in wrestling have been arranged at the same terms as the boxing lessons. At present Cyclone Burns is working hard to round the men into shape for the wrestling meet with M. I. T. on March 8.

Swimming Meets

The swimming meet scheduled with Brookline Gym Saturday afternoon has been postponed, and one with Newton High School has been arranged for the evening.

Dartmouth 3, Yale 2

The Dartmouth hockey team gave Yale a big surprise at St. Nicholas rink last Friday night by defeating the Elis in a closely-fought game by a score of 3 to 2.

Princeton Football Schedule

The 1913 Princeton football schedule, with the exception of October 4 and 11, is completed and is as follows:

Sept. 27. Rutgers.
Oct. 27. Syracuse.
Oct. 25. Dartmouth.
Nov. 1. Holy Cross.
Nov. 8. Harvard.
Nov. 15. Yale at New Haven.

ALUMNI BANQUET

Many Graduates of Old P. A. Present at Dinner in New York

The annual banquet of the Alumni of Phillips Academy, which was held on last Friday night at the Hotel Plaza, New York, proved to be a tremendous success. It was very largely attended, about 150 being present. Mr. Henry Van Duzer, P. A. '71, the president of the Alumni Association, presided. The speakers were President Hadley of Yale, President Hibben of Princeton, Prof. Forbes of Andover, and Prof. Sabine of Harvard, the dean of the School of Applied Sciences in Cambridge.

Prof. Forbes spoke of the work going on in the school at present and told of Mr. Stearns's travels. He called to mind the fact that Mr. Stearns was undoubtedly attending a dinner in China at the same time, which was given by former Chinese students of the Academy in honor of Mr. Stearns's visit.

President Hadley and President Hibben took advantage of Mr. Stearns's absence to pay him many handsome tributes. Pres. Hibben pleased the alumni very much when he asked, "Why does Old Eli win when it does win? Answer—Phillips Andover." He said that he believed that much of Yale's success on the gridiron was due to the predominance of Andover's representation on the team.

The alumni were seated in groups at small tables about the hall. At one table were many former members of the Glee Club who led the singing during the evening. Mr. Van Duzer was reelected president of the Alumni Association.

Notice

Union buttons will be on sale this afternoon and evening at the Grill.

Notice

All fellows who have not been able to secure rooms for their partners for the Junior Prom are asked to see R. L. Jones, 33 Day Hall, immediately, as there are only a limited number of rooms.

Track Notice

Fellows who are out for the pole vault, shot-put, and high jump are requested to report at 2.15 sharp on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Prom Notice

There seems to have circulated around school a wrong impression regarding flowers on the floor at the Junior Prom. This opportunity is taken to state emphatically that there will be no flowers allowed on the floor at the Prom.

Chapel Speaker

The speaker at both services Sunday and at the meeting of the Society of Inquiry will be Rev. Nehemiah Boynton, D.D., of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Lacrosse to Begin

There will be lacrosse practice at 3.15 p.m. today at the gym. Last Saturday a number of candidates reported to Captain Palmer and the practice was most successful.

Violin Recital This Afternoon

At the recital at five o'clock this afternoon in the chapel, Miss Bates of Cambridge will play the 1st, 4th and 5th of Mozart's Violin Sonatas. The entire recital will be devoted to the violin.

ONE MORE CHANCE

The following is a list of men who have not yet gotten their school calendars for which they signed up last term. This afternoon between 1.30 and 2.15 and this evening between 6.30 and 7.15, members of the Athletic Advisory Board will be in the Grill to give these calendars out.

This is a last call for the delinquents who have as yet failed to uphold their end of the proposition upon which they agreed when they signed the pledge blanks of the Advisory Board. Every man on this list should feel honor bound to uphold his pledge, and come forward immediately to meet this appeal.

W. H. Allen, W. S. Anderson, N. Armstrong, H. M. Baldrige, M. Bamberger, C. A. Bates, C. E. Bradley, Jr., D. G. Bradley, G. O. Bradley, Jr., G. R. Broussard, J. F. Brown, Jr., C. C. Burns, J. Exhibition Gym Meet

At 3.30 o'clock next Saturday afternoon at the Borden Gymnasium, the exhibition and meet with the Harvard Varsity gym team will be held. This meet is the first one this year and will be open to the public at 25 cents admission. Students will be admitted free of charge.

Princeton Defeats Harvard

Princeton defeated Harvard in a fast and exciting hockey game last Saturday night, by the score of 3 to 1. Baker's playing was the feature. The deciding game of the series will be played at Boston on next Saturday, February 15.

Numbering Football Players

According to a statement issued at Princeton last week, Parke H. Davis, Princeton's representative on the Football Rules Committee, will advocate at the coming meeting of that body the passing of a rule requiring that members of the football teams be numbered. This plan was decided on at a meeting of the Princeton Board of Football Control, held to decide upon the changes in the rules which Princeton will advocate. Another change in the playing of the game which will be recommended by Mr. Davis will be the removal of the goal posts from the playing field, the posts to be set on the rear line of the zone behind the goal line.

UNION SMOKER

Interesting Talk on the Militia Given by Colonel Sweetser

Last Saturday evening at the Union reading-room, the second "smoker" of the series was held. Col. E. L. Sweetser of the Massachusetts militia was the speaker. Mr. Sweetser spoke very interestingly for an hour about the militia. The speaker's pleasing manner of address, and modest and retiring bearing, won for him the immediate appreciation of his interested audience.

Mr. Sweetser began by telling of the standing army of the United States.

The whole regular army now consists of but 80,000 men, a number which would be entirely inadequate in time of war. Most other countries maintain a much larger force than the United States. For this reason it has been advisable to establish what is called the National Guard, or the militia. Every state has its own regiment or regiments, according to the population. These men, while at the same time carrying on their vocations, assemble evenings at specified times to drill, to be examined, and, as much as possible, to prepare themselves thoroughly for emergencies.

Mr. Sweetser then discussed the problem of peace. He said that "the way to secure peace is to prepare for war." Just as the big man appears, and generally is, so formidable that others are reluctant to become engaged in a fight with him, so the country that possesses all possible means of defense and that fortifies its every strategic point, is the one that is so fearfully respected by other nations that it seldom if ever is attacked. Preparation, then, is the best means of prevention.

The National Guard now numbers 120,000 men, who, whenever an alarm is sounded, are ready to take up arms in the common cause. This force, together with the regular army, makes a total of 200,000, which is about one-fifth of that which Germany can summon in a single night. It is very difficult to obtain recruits for the militia. Only those who are well fitted mentally and physically are accepted. As in business, the honest and straightforward man is always selected by preference.

These volunteer troupes are on an equal footing with those of the regular army. Their principal duty in time of peace is to aid the civil authorities to maintain or restore order and control. Accordingly the necessity arises for officiating at any panic occasioned by various causes, as, for instance, by a fire or earthquake. Then there is the necessity of quelling strike riots, and it was in connection with this phase of militia service that Col. Sweetser told of his experiences at the recent Lawrence mill-workers' strike. He told how difficult it was to get in control of affairs in Lawrence at that time, on account of the small number of his forces, and because of the ignorance and desperation of the people who were causing the disturbance. This was accomplished, however, and in such a diplomatic and careful manner that little bloodshed or loss of life resulted.

For this, Col. Sweetser and his men are to be highly complimented, as the difficulties of the situation are everywhere appreciated. None the less annoying obstacles were illustrated by the stories that Col.

Change in Yale "Tap Day"

"Tap Day," a picturesque event at Yale for many years—it being the day when juniors are "tapped" for membership in the four senior societies—will be robbed this year of much of its publicity, according to an order just issued by Dean Jones. By this order the public will be excluded from the campus and the mothers, sisters and sweethearts of the expectant juniors will not be allowed in any of the college buildings as formerly. The order is the outcome of a movement that has been spreading recently to take away from "Tap Day" its spectacular and public features, in which the disappointment of the men not elected has been a painful incident. In recent years there have been notable examples of star athletes and others prominent in undergraduate life who have invited their parents and friends to be present and then have failed of election. It is generally believed in college circles that the order of Dean Jones forecasts other changes in the old custom, which has been severely criticized by alumni and undergraduates.

Change in Cornell Honor System

By a radical change in the rules of the Cornell honor system, a man must be found guilty of unfairness in examinations twice before being expelled. The penalty for the first offense is now simply to repeat the course. Moreover, the same pledge as is used in Princeton must now be signed at the end of examinations. The reason for the former change was the decision by the committee that the severity of the punishment was the greatest reason for the ineffective working of the system, and that, until it had become a tradition in the college, it was better to diminish the penalty. The purpose of requiring the pledge, where it was formerly omitted, is to continually bring the system before the minds of the undergraduates, since the lack of attention to it was considered a serious defect in the past.

Average attendance for the eight classes, 82, or 53 per cent.

This shows that only about one-half the fellows are living up to the agreement that they made when they signed up for one of these groups. These classes are a splendid thing, for they promote good-fellowship among the fellows, and bring the fellows in closer touch with instructors in charge. There is no one who cannot get something of value from any of the classes and the fellows should try from now on to the end of the term to bring the attendance up to the number expected. It is not too late for any more men to join.

Gym Team, at Dartmouth

For the first time in its history Dartmouth College will have a gymnasium team. A call for candidates was recently issued and was enthusiastically received by the students. It is probable that the Athletic Council will soon recognize the team and that it will compete with the other colleges.

Vote of Yale Alumni on College Questions

The Yale Association of Rhode Island recently sent out a set of queries on Yale topics to its members in order to secure alumni opinions on some present Yale problems. These questions were the same as those sent out by the Boston Yale Club.

They were sent out to 159 members of the Association, and of these 52 have replied in one form or another. Eliminating those who on the various questions had no opinion, were doubtful, or had some other suggestion, the vote was as follows:

(1) On the merger of Academic and Sheff.: a tie vote was the result, 24 being in favor of it and 24 against it. Four did not answer the question. The vote of the Boston Yale Club stood 65 to 46 against this proposal.

(2) A.—Thirty-six were for the four-year course in Sheff. while 8 voted against it. Five did not answer, and two favored it, but thought one should be allowed to do the work in three years if possible. B.—On the question as to whether the three-year course should also remain, the vote was closer. Twenty prefer the four-year course to the exclusion of the three-year course, and 13 prefer it in conjunction with the three-year course. Ten favored neither, and 9 did not answer.

(3) Last fall we heard from the Boston Club that its members were very much against restricting the number of extra-curriculum activities in which a student might engage, and again the vote from the alumni of Rhode Island shows that 31 are in favor of no restriction, and 15 are for restricting the number.

(4) Twenty-five voted for compulsory Sunday chapel, while the number against it was 22. Two were for it with a limited number of cuts.

(5) The adoption of artificial rules to prevent the Sunday exodus found favor in the minds of 25, and 20 declared against it.

(6) Nine men believe in exclusive graduate coaching, 35 voted for professional undergraduate supervision, and only 3 for professional. Two were in favor of whichever experts deemed advisable, and one declared for a combination of all three.

The man to be discussed next Sunday, February 16, is the Seventh Earl of Shaftsbury. References:

Dartmouth Football Schedule

The football schedule for 1913 was announced by the Dartmouth College football management last Friday. It provides for nine games. University of Pennsylvania, Carlisle and Colby are scheduled in place of Harvard, Cornell and Bates, who were on the 1912 schedule. The game with the University of Pennsylvania, the first in sixteen years, will be played on Franklin Field, Philadelphia; Carlisle will be met on November 15, at the Polo Grounds, New York City. This will be the first time that the Green has met the Indians.

- Sept. 27. M. A. C.
- Oct. 4. Colby.
- Oct. 8. Norwich University.
- Oct. 11. University of Vermont.
- Oct. 18. Williams.
- Oct. 25. Princeton at Princeton.
- Nov. 1. Amherst at Amherst.
- Nov. 8. U. of P. at Philadelphia.
- Nov. 15. Carlisle, at New York Grounds.

It is noteworthy that the last four games of the schedule will be played away from home, the team playing its last exhibition game at Hanover on October 18, when it meets Williams.

Athletics at Yale

Many more are now active in the minor sports at Yale than has hitherto been the case. A total of 247 are now participating in the various branches of minor athletics. Wrestling leads with seventy men, while tennis is second with about fifty.

Four of the best distance runners of Yale's Varsity track team have been declared ineligible by the faculty. These men are Brown, Boucher, Smith and Bellows, and the notice of their ineligibility was given to Captain Wagoner last Tuesday. This is an especially severe loss to Yale because two of the men were to have been picked by Coach Mack for the relay team which will run against Harvard. It will now be necessary either to withdraw from the event or to transfer sprinters to the half-mile run to complete the entries. Some track officials favor the former course.

Sweetser related in regard to the affair. Crowds of women strikers were wont to torment the helpless soldiers with tongues and hands, as it appeared that some, confident of their inviolability, would deliberately approach and slap the faces of the restraining militiamen. Huge companies of enraged strikers would assemble in the streets, blocking the traffic, compelling the loyal mill-workers to remain away from the factories, stopping street cars to effect this purpose, and attempting various other outrages, to suppress which the wits and resources of the authorities were taxed to the utmost. It was done, however, and much credit is accordingly due those who so cleverly avoided undesirable and seemingly inevitable episodes incidental to the quelling of the riot.

Col. Sweetser concluded his talk by impressing upon his listeners the importance of the National Guard and the advisability of joining it. Among his troops at Lawrence he had men from every rank and walk of life, from that of a banker and governor's son, to that of a coal-heaver. These men had been drilling regularly in their companies, so that when the time came for service, they were prepared. "We are training men now," concluded Col. Sweetser, "to live and not to die for their country; and to learn how to preserve themselves to preserve it."

Frank Large, P. A. '12, is a candidate for the Freshman baseball managership at Harvard. J. K. Selden, P. A. '12, is also a candidate.

Football Rules

The 1913 Football Rules Committee, consisting of fourteen representatives of different colleges, will meet next Friday to draw up rules of play for next season. The meeting will be held in the Martini Hotel, in New York. Walter Camp, '80, and H. H. Ketcham, 1914, football captain for next year, will represent Yale. Mr. Camp will advocate adopting the rules for next season along the same lines as those of 1912. However, if radical changes are proposed by other members of the committee, he will be prepared to set forward certain propositions of his own. Captain Ketcham advocates a return to 20-minute quarters. Mr. Ketcham says that the proposition of numbering the players, which will be advocated by P. H. Davis of Princeton, would be of great service to spectators and officials.

Harvard Track Meet

The date of the Harvard-Yale track meet has been fixed for May 17. The meet will be held in Cambridge this year.

Intercollegiate Soccer Schedule

The Intercollegiate Soccer League have announced their schedule for the spring season, which will open on March 15, when Columbia plays Yale. The league is made up of Columbia, Cornell, Haverford, Harvard, Pennsylvania, and Yale. Fifteen games in all have been arranged and the season will close on May 2 with the Harvard-Pennsylvania match.
