ALUMNI GATHERINGS

Enthusiastic Welcome Given to Mr. Lillard and Mr. Timbie Everywhere on Western Tour

Mr. Lillard and Mr. Timbie returned to Andover last Wednesday after quite an extensive western trip, during which they represented the school at alumni dinners given in many cities. New alumni organizations were formed in Rochester, Buffalo, Detroit, Cleveland, and St. Louis, which promise to be a great addition to the present alumni association. At all of the dinners great enthusiasm, as well as much interest in the welfare of the school was shown.

The first stop which Mr. Lillard and Mr. Timbie made was at Rochester, N. Y., where a dinner was given on February 28th at the Genesee Valley Club. There Mr. Lillard, with the aid of stereopticon slides, gave an account of the school's history, and described its present grounds and buildings. Among those present at this dinner was a man in the class of '52, Mr. Joseph H. Gilman, and also F. W. Coates, '09, who was captain of the Academy football team in that year. At this dinner an organization of the Rochester alumni was formed for the first time. The officers elected were: President, Rev. Dr. H. H. Stebbins, '58; Vice-President, Mr. E. F. Brewster, '69; Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. F. H. Gordon, '02.

On Saturday, March 1st, the Andover representatives attended a smoker and supper given by the Andover alumni at the University Club in Buffalo. About thirty were present, among them being a former Andover football captain, F. R. Large, '10. Here again the slides, showing the school as it now is were used and greatly appreciated. At the smoker copies of the school songs and cheers were distributed, and the "old boys" enjoyed themselves immensely singing the old songs and giving the old yells. Here also an association was formed for the first time among the alumni of Buffalo, and the following officers were chosen: President, Mr. John H. Field, '89; Vice-President, Mr. F. DeP. Townsend, '92; Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. N. S. M. Taylor, '00.

Then came the alumni dinner at Detroit on Monday, March 3rd, at the City Club. It was not a large affair, as about twenty attended, but all had a fine time, and a great deal of interest and spirit was shown. At the dinner the Detroit Alumni Association was formed and officers elected.

On Tuesday, March 4th, the annual banquet of the Chicago Alumni Association was held at the Hotel Blackstone. Distinguished guests were Mr. Julian S. Mason, '94, managing editor of the Chicago Post, and Professor Scott of the University of Chicago. Many school songs were sung and there were several speeches, in which Andover was especially praised as an institution of national character.

Next in order on Mr. Lillard's and Mr. Timbie's trip was the smoker given by the Andover alumni of St. Louis on March 5th. The slides before mentioned were again shown. All those present were very much pleased with the growth which the school has made since the times when they were here as students.

TRIANGULAR MEET

The triangular swimming meet between Yale and Princeton Freshmen and Andover will take place this evening at eight o'clock at New Haven. The school team leaves Boston on the three o'clock train. The team has been practicing faithfully under Mr. Murray's careful training and should give a good account of themselves. The order of the events is as follows:

1. Plunge.
2. 100-yard swim.
3. Relay.
4. Dive.
5. 50-yard dash.
6. 200-yard swim.

The lineup for Andover is as follows:

- Plunge—Baldrige, Moore.
100-yd. dash—Capt. Gould, Rosener.
Relay—Rosener, Hulbert, J. T. Moore, Capt. Gould.
Dive—Hulbert, Bevins.
50-yd. dash—Moore, Hulbert.
200-yd. swim—Capt. Gould.

Manager Burnham and Dr. Page will also accompany the team.

"The Stymie"

"The Stymie," which is to be given by the Pi Eta society of Harvard in the Andover town hall on April 5th, promises to be an unusually fine production.

Ever since the organization of the Pi Eta society, at the close of the Civil War, its members have been interested in the production of dramatic pieces. Plays by the masters were used during the first twenty years, but gradually the club members began to write their own plays. Music and dancing were soon added and the annual Pi Eta performances became full-fledged musical comedies, which were entirely original work.

The play this year, "The Stymie," deals with golf as its main theme. The whole atmosphere of a golf tournament with its varied outdoor and social interests is effectively brought out.

The clever story is greatly enhanced in attractiveness by tuneful music; and songs and dances have been arranged, for both principals and the chorus, which are confidently expected to make this year's production the high-water mark of Pi Eta endeavors. It should be added that the interest to be derived from masculine portrayal of feminine roles is a feature which never fails to be diverting.

Seven of the cast are members of the musical clubs of the university. Most of the music was written by Blakie, the treasurer of the musical clubs. Four other members of the cast are connected with the University Dramatic Club. In fact, all the principal characters are connected with college activities in one way or another.

The coach for the play is Mr. Lord, who has had much experience in this line, and for the past two or three years has coached the play given by the Dartmouth Dramatic Club.

It is hoped that the fellows will keep this show in mind and that there will be a large attendance on the night of April 5th. Mr. Hinman has taken great pains to bring about the production of the play in Andover and has had the price of the seats reduced from a dollar and a half to a dollar.

Preliminary Contest for the Draper Prize Speaking

The preliminary trials for the 47th annual speaking of selected declamations for the Draper Prizes (amounting to $40) will be held in the Chapel on Wednesday evening, April 2. At that time, ten speakers will be chosen, to compete for the prizes at the final contest during Commencement week. This competition is open to the whole school. At the preliminary trials each candidate is allowed from two to three minutes. Members of the school intending to enter this competition should commit to memory a suitable piece, during the vacation. The successful candidates may of course speak a different selection at the finals from the one spoken at the preliminary contest. Any who wish advice as to choice of a declamation should consult with Mr. Stott before the end of the term.

Forum

At the meeting of Forum last Friday evening the debate which was scheduled was omitted, and the meeting was entirely devoted to business. McMillan was unanimously elected president for the spring term. Other officers elected were: Ferguson, vice-president; Hatch, secretary; Perkins, treasurer, and Davison, marshal. Sutherland and Beardsley were elected members of the society. A banquet committee, consisting of Davison, Palmer and MacMillan was appointed. The report of the secretary for this term was read and shows the average attendance for the winter term to be 12. Speeches were made by the incoming and outgoing officers. Mr. Crawford gave a short talk in which he advised each member to become familiar with the Rules of Order, and showed by certain instances the value of these rules.

Andover-Exeter Concert

Tonight the annual concert of the Andover and Exeter combined musical clubs will be given at Exeter. This concert should be the most successful of the season, which has been very good, especially when the fact that many men have been ineligible on account of conditions is taken into consideration. In spite of the latter handicap the Andover musical clubs have done remarkably well, and deserve no small credit for their work. The men will leave Andover on the 4.35 train this afternoon and return by special train at 11.15. The program of the Andover clubs will be the following:

1. (a) "Lady Dainty"
(b) March, The Enterpriser.
Mandolin Club
2. (a) "Cato's Advice"
(b) "Serenade"

INTER-CLASS MEET

Middlers Win Swimming Numerals in First Contest of Its Kind In the Pool

Yesterday afternoon at half-past two the inter-class swimming meet took place. The class of 1914 won first place with 22 points, and by so doing each of its members is entitled to wear their swimming numerals. This is the first year that swimming numerals have been awarded, so it can be seen that swimming is increasing in importance.

Most of the races were closely contested, especially those between 1914 and 1913. The captains of the four teams were: Brophy, '13; Haskell, '14; Brinkerhoff, '15; and Tilton, '16.

The summary of events is as follows:

Wrestling and Boxing

The final bouts for the boxing and wrestling championships were held last Wednesday. There were many very close bouts, especially in the wrestling where an extra period of time was necessary in three of the contests, so evenly were the opponents matched. The featherweight boxing match was so even from start to finish that no decision could be given, and the bout was declared a draw. The results of the bouts were as follows:

BOXING

Featherweight, 127 lbs.—W. Brown vs. J. Brown. The bout was declared a draw, and W. Brown won the cup on the toss-up.
Lightweight, 137 lbs.—Husted defeated Armstrong.
Welterweight, 147 lbs.—Ames defeated Macrae.
Middleweight, 158 lbs.—Coles defeated N. Durfee.
Heavyweight—Gault defeated J. Gould.

WRESTLING

Featherweight—Lee was given the decision over Tucker. No fall.
Lightweight—Basso threw R. S. Cook.
Welterweight—Bales threw Davison.
Middleweight—W. Sheldon threw Stevens.
Heavyweight—Baldrige threw Gault.

THE ANDOVER PRESS

March 15, 1913

This issue in charge of the Managing Editor.

It is with deep regret that the present management will make way for the nineteen hundred and fourteen board which next term will take up the work of publishing the paper. To them we extend our best wishes for a successful and prosperous year.

No one can deny that Professor Forbes's policy of mentioning in Chapel the important news items in the morning papers is a mighty fine one. It is astonishing how few men in school see a newspaper at all regularly, of course excepting when some world's series is going on. It is still more astonishing how few men bother to read the affairs of their own country and government. The excuse, so often given, that we have no time, is no excuse at all, nor has the price of a daily paper much to do with this spirit. Cut out your Sunday paper and spend your dime for dailies, if you have to. You will save your pocket-book and your time.

President Wilson was inaugurated on the fourth of this month. When Professor Forbes mentioned it the following morning, it was a great surprise to many men in school. This is just an example of the ignorance of fellows in the Academy as to what is doing in the outside world.

Already Professor Forbes's morning remarks have had the good effect of stirring up a little interest in national affairs. An education consists not only in learning Latin and a little history, but also in keeping up with our own times and showing a fair amount of reasonable intelligence concerning the affairs of our country.

In the reading-room in the Grill are kept the best newspapers and periodicals from all parts of the country. It is a discouraging fact that many of these papers are left unopened on the tables. The reading-room is an ideal place in which to look over the papers, and it is a shame that Andover men use it so little.

Public Speaking

The result of Mr. Stott's prize speaking contest for this week is as follows:

MONDAY

First, Furbish, "A Country Fair in Maine."

Second, Perry, "Boston as a Seaport."

WEDNESDAY

First, Miller, "Spanish War."
Second, Johnson, "Booker T. Washington"; Michelini, "Cotton Raising in the United States."

FRIDAY

G. O. Bradley, "Death of Captain Scott."

Second, Chiras, "Spanish War."

The following are asked to see Mr. Stott at once about the Means Speaking: T. H. Anderson, J. L. Davis, L. K. Moorehead, N. B. Paradise, Knight-Woolley, S. M. Hall, W. J. Hever, M. Hays, E. W. Baker, M. R. Smith.

NOTICES

The twelve o'clock period on Tuesday will be omitted instead of shortening the length of recitations during the morning. It is of the greatest importance that no one should cut any period Tuesday as this will be regarded as a serious offense. One may leave Andover immediately after his last recitation.

Before leaving Andover everyone is asked to consult his record at the Registrar's office so that all errors may be corrected. After a student has left town it is too late to adjust matters.

The regular meeting of the Society of Inquiry will be omitted tomorrow evening, as it is the last Sunday of the term.

It is asked that all books belonging to the library should be handed in to Miss Frost before the close of this term. If any books returned are desired for next term's work, they will be reserved upon application.

It is of the utmost importance that all men who wish to change their boarding-houses at the end of this term should hand in at the Registrar's office their transfer cards, properly signed, before they leave town for vacation, otherwise the change will not be allowed.

The topic for Mr. Stackpole's discussion group tomorrow morning will be "Journalism." Everybody is cordially invited to be present whether enrolled in this group or not.

ent whether enrolled in this group or not.

Students occupying school dormitories and intending to remain in Andover during the vacation should notify the Treasurer some time today or Monday at the latest, so that the necessary arrangements can be made. It is customary to close all buildings during vacation, unless some provision is made, in advance, for their occupancy.

Special Cars for New York

Arrangements are being made for special cars for Andover fellows going to New York on March 18. These cars will leave Boston at one and three o'clock, arriving at New York at six and 8.30. As only Andover fellows will be in these cars, reservations there will be especially desirable. All fellows who wish seats reserved for them will please apply to Friend, Clement 6, as soon as possible.

Lecture on "Babylonia"

Last Thursday evening Dr. Wm. R. Arnold gave a very instructive lecture on the civilization of the ancient Babylonians, aided by very good pictures of the artistic works of people of that city. The land of Babylonia as Dr. Arnold described it, was formerly the most rich and fertile in the world. Situated between two rivers, the Tigris and Euphrates, a vast system of canals once was employed to irrigate the whole country, and thus was the great productiveness of the soil made possible. The advanced Babylonian civilization was the direct result of the riches and power which came to that nation through the remarkable fertility of its land. It was natural that the people of such a country should be the first to make progress along the road to civilization.

Dr. Arnold went on to tell something of the history of the kingdom of Babylonia; how it was founded, how it grew to the height of its fame, and then gradually declined to the state in which it lies today. Many pictures were shown of the ruins of cities in which explorations are now being made by various American colleges, of the priceless specimens of Babylonian art, and of the inscriptions on stones and in clay written in three different languages, which tell of the history and life of those ancient times. The lecturer showed that the Babylonian sculptors, although they created some remarkable works, were not as accomplished in portraying men as they were in representing animals, and illustrated this point by some excellent pictures. The ideas of justice among the people of ancient Babylonia were very similar to what is considered right today, but some of the laws and customs of those early times were peculiar, to say the least. The Babylonians believed in that old maxim, "An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth," and were remarkably efficient in putting it into practice. For instance, if a carpenter built a house and its roof fell in, causing the death of the son of the owner of the dwelling, it was decreed that the carpenter's son should be killed.

All this land, as Dr. Arnold described it, which was once so very productive, now lies almost entirely untilled and useless. However, plans for reclamation are now under way and it is to be hoped that in the near future, by the use of canals and ditches for irrigation, the land may again be made into the wonderfully fertile country which it was in olden times.

About thirty were present and they showed great pleasure in the school as it now is, as described by Mr. Lillard with the aid of the stereopticon slides. Mr. John Crosby, '86, presided at the dinner, and he is the man to whom most of the great success of the dinner is due. The officers of this association are: President, Mr. F. E. Weyerhouser, '92; Vice-President, Mr. John Crosby, '86; Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. Edwin White, '02.

On Monday, March 10th, Mr. Lillard and Mr. Timbie attended a dinner at the Athletic Club in Cleveland.
