SWIMMING MEET

Andover vs. Harvard Varsity on January 24th

Under the careful and thorough coaching of Mr. Sutherland the Varsity Swimming Team is fast rounding into shape for the first meet of the season on next Saturday afternoon. At present the team is handicapped greatly by men being conditioned, but in another week nearly every man on the squad ought to be clear. The first meet scheduled is with Harvard Varsity. Time trials will be held for all members of the Varsity squad next Wednesday afternoon at 4.15. All men, in order to compete in the Harvard meet, must report at that time.

As announced last term, an interclass series will be held, in which the winning team will receive their swimming numerals. As an incentive to arouse more interest in these interclass meets, David Mayer, Jr., P. A. '11, and now a member of the Yale Varsity swimming team, has most generously offered five medals which will be awarded as follows: Four to the relay team winning the interclass relay championship, and one to that man who wins the greatest number of points on the winning class team. Mayer has also offered a medal to that member of the Varsity team who wins the greatest number of points during the whole season.

The first of these interclass meets will be held next Wednesday at 3.00 o'clock P.M., 1914 vs. 1915, and 1916 vs. 1917. The meet is open to all men in school who are not on the Varsity squad. It is hoped that a large number will turn out for the first meet. Owing to the number of men on the squad having conditions, it may be necessary to draw more men from the class teams to fill the vacancies on the Varsity, and there is a splendid chance for everyone.

In the next issue of the Phillipian a complete schedule of the class meets will be published, and it is hoped by that time that the full Varsity schedule will be complete and ready to be published.

ANDOVER WINS

Cambridge Latin Defeated by Score of 2 to 1

Second game ends with the score 2 to 1.

Last Wednesday Andover won its second hockey game, on Rabbits' pond, defeating Cambridge Latin school by the score of 2 to 1. The ice was good and the game was fair, considering the early season.

In the first half, for a short time, the result seemed doubtful, but Murray playing center for Andover caged two pretty goals, although in the meantime Cambridge succeeded in passing Preston once. At the close of the first half the score stood 2 to 1.

The second half opened with the Cambridge line-up the same, but for Andover B. Paradise went in for Preston at goal, and Cook and Woodward replaced Dwight and Newton respectively at cover-point and point.

At the beginning of the second half Captain Paradise was cut by the puck and Davison took his place, but in a few minutes he returned to the game.

The only goal in the second half was when Ashley received a pass from Murray and shot an easy goal, but this did not count as the whistle had blown before it was shot. Cambridge attempted many long shots in the latter part of the game which proved futile, because of the splendid work of Paradise at goal. The lineup and summary:

ANDOVER	CAMBRIDGE
Appleton, rw.	lw. Mills
Murray, c.	c. Marlow
Ashley, lw.	rw. Hennessey
R. Paradise, r.	r. Coward
Dwight, cp.	cp. H. Mills
Newton, p.	p. Sangerford
Preston, g.	g. Bull

Score: Andover 2, Cambridge 1. Goals: Murray 2, Coward 1. Timer, Lansing; referee, Sands; time, one 15m. and one 20m. period.

Substitutes: B. Paradise for Preston, Cook for Dwight, Woodward for Newton, and Davison for R. Paradise.

Meeting of Student Council

Meeting of the Student Council was called in Pearson Hall January 14, at 7 o'clock, and the following men were present: Daley, Baldrige, Snell, Powers, D. Burnham, E. J. Winters, Woodford, Boynton, C. Rodman, Swett, Murray, J. E. Woolley, Perkins, Ashley, Poole, N. B. Paradise, Weston, and Grant. Grant was elected vice-president. Baldrige was elected chairman of the Grill committee in place of Duby, while Burnham was made a member.

Mr. Stearns explained a few of the reasons for not having the Junior Prom this year; namely, because many of the chaperones find fault with the new style of dancing, and the trustees are opposed to it. Mr. Stearns said, however, that the students should not give up all hopes of having a Prom, as he and the Student Council would try to find a way to have it without incurring any unfavorable comment from outsiders.

There being no further business, the meeting adjourned.

EDWARD J. WINTERS,
Secretary

Donations to Swimming Teams

In order to stimulate the popularity of swimming here in school, David Mayer, Jr., P. A. '11, and at present a member of the Yale Varsity swimming team, has most generously donated six handsome medals in the interest of this sport. The plan adopted for the distribution of these awards is discussed in another column of this paper.

PHILO-FORUM

A combined meeting of Philo and Forum was held last night for the purpose of learning Mr. Stott's plan for combining the two societies. The meeting was called at 7.20 with President Hatch of Forum and Secretary Erving of Philo presiding.

There was no preliminary business and Mr. Stott was called on immediately. He said that debating had greatly fallen off in the last year and that everybody agreed that something must be done to correct this. Mr. Stott continued that he had induced many men to join the societies but that they did not attend the meetings, because not enough interest was shown. He said that he did not think his plan would correct all the faults, but only the majority.

The plan was to have both societies meet together, but to keep their own constitutions. The two societies were to sit on different sides of the room and to conduct matters just as they are conducted in the Legislature. They would have a common set of officers. Of course, Mr. Stott said, the first object of the combined societies would be to have debates, and to select subjects that concern school life so that the members could speak from the floor. He went on to say that as one society, having greater numbers, could run things their own way, it would be an incentive to the weaker one to get more men. Mr. Stott suggested that each society should appoint two men to confer with him and map out a course for a try-out during the coming term. Mr. Stott said that this would not affect the annual Philo-Forum debate at all. He said that if we are going to win from Exeter, it is not a case of the work of two different societies, but one of more fighting for the debating team, as it was now no trouble at all to get on the team.

Haskell proposed that the two societies separate and discuss Mr. Stott's proposal, and the motion was carried. The meeting adjourned for a few minutes and both societies voted to accept Mr. Stott's proposal for the coming term.

Woodford and Hewett were appointed by Philo as its representatives, and Forum chose Haskell and Winters. The meeting adjourned at 8 o'clock.

Inquiry

To-morrow evening, Clyde T. Timbie, P. A. 1912, will be the speaker at the meeting of Inquiry. While at Andover Mr. Timbie was one of the leaders of the school in many branches of undergraduate activity. In his senior year he was undergraduate treasurer, and president of the school for one term. In the religious life he was the special leader, holding at various times the offices of treasurer, vice-president, and president of Inquiry. Last year he conducted the work among the foreigners in Lawrence with great success. This year he is living in Pittsfield, Mass., and is occupying a position in the Pittsfield Y. M. C. A. There are still a great many men in school who know him personally, and not only these, but all men interested in the well-being of the school, should be glad of this chance to see and hear a man who has done so much for Andover.

LECTURE

Mrs. Brewster Delivers Talk on Peru

Last Thursday evening Mrs. Brewster delivered an illustrated lecture in the Archaeology building on Peru and Unknown South America. Mrs. Brewster has personally explored Peru, the home of the ancient Inca race, and all the slides shown were taken either by Mr. Brewster or by the museum authorities for Mrs. Brewster.

Mr. Moorehead introduced Mrs. Brewster, and she began her talk by speaking of the lure of the great unknown, which led men to leave their comfortable homes on the continent, and seek after what, as a rule, were imaginary riches. But it was different in the case of the Incas, the "Children of the Sun," as everything about them was gold, even the floors and ceilings and decorations of their homes.

Their civilization was very far advanced, when one considers the conditions by which they were surrounded and the fact that their race only lasted about 500 years. The chief Inca was the head of their race and was an absolute dictator and made all the laws, even telling them whom they should marry. Their belief was that the chief Inca was a direct descendant of the God of the Sun. The fable runs that the Sun sent two of his children, Manco and his sister, to teach the men of Peru.

The stereopticon slides were very interesting and showed views of the Andes rising out of the sea, with their snowy peaks 20,000 feet above its level. Then the views changed to the city founded by the Incas. This city is Cuzco and is still in existence, containing many palaces, now in ruins, but still very gorgeous. These castles were made of stones nearly as large as those used in making the pyramids of Egypt.

The views then changed to some statues on the plains supposed by the superstitious Incas to be those of men whom the Sun had changed to stone because of their wickedness. Some views were then shown of Lake Titicaca which is 12,000 feet above sea level and is surrounded by mountains 10,000 feet higher. In this beautiful region the Incas raised many temples to the sun and moon and others of their deities; the interior of these temples were very splendid, being made almost entirely out of gold and having in the gardens gold statues of men and beasts, and imitation flowers.

The Incas were a great race for handling stone, and views were shown of a large fortress made out of enormous blocks of stone fitted so closely that a knife blade cannot be inserted between them.

It is interesting to notice that they had game laws, as is shown by the fact that it was a crime punishable by death to kill certain animals.

They had highways nearly as fine as those of ancient Rome, and on these a system of posts was established with swift runners to carry the messages by word of mouth.

They even had a calendar and certain musical instruments and they manufactured very fine cloth out of cotton and hair from the alpaca and the llama.

Their chief pursuit was that of agriculture and it seems strange that a race of such a sort should have lived among the rocky Andes mountains. But all the ground was

NOTICES

Arnold Tew has been forced, because of conditions, to resign the gym team managership, and W. B. Clough, last year's assistant manager, has been selected for his place.

POT-POURRI

Owing to unfortunate scholarship conditions, some contestants in both the competition for Assistant Business Manager, and for Senior Editors, have been forced to drop out and there is now a splendid chance for new men in either competitions. The position of Assistant Business Manager is open to all Middlers, and the position of Associate Editor is open to Seniors. Please see Powers, 15 Phillips Hall, at once.

Track

More men are wanted for the pole vault and high jump. Anyone having had even a very slight experience along these lines should come out on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons at 2.15 o'clock.

Wrestling

Manager Winters makes a call for more men for the wrestling team. If sufficient interest is taken wrestling can be made into a popular sport. Several good meets have been arranged and with proper backing Andover should make an excellent record.

Means Prize Essays

Mr. Leonard has announced that the preliminary contest for the Means' prize will be held on Monday evening, January 19, at 7 o'clock in the chapel. The contestants need not learn their essays but may read them.

Hinkey a P. A. Man

Frank Hinkey, next year's Yale football coach, was a graduate of Andover in '91. He played end on Andover's team for two years, '89 and '90. In '89 there was no game with Exeter, but in '90 the score was, Andover 16, Exeter 0. Mr. Sawyer was manager of the team in '89.

Gym Tests

Next Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Gym a chance will be given to all those not having five A's, and to any new men, to try to pass off their gym tests.

All candidates for boxing and wrestling will be allowed two weeks to get five A's, and after that time, if successful, will have to take boxing or wrestling twice a week.

Inquiry Speakers

Among the Inquiry speakers this term will be the following:
Jan. 18. Clyde T. Timbie of the Pittsfield Y. M. C. A.
Jan. 25. Rev. Albert Parker Fitch of Andover Theological Seminary, Cambridge.
Feb. 1. Open Meeting.
Feb. 8. Rev. R. C. Knox of Columbia University, New York City.
Feb. 15. Rev. Nehemiah Boynton of Brooklyn, N. Y.
Feb. 22. Robert E. Speer of New York City.

Organ Recital

The organ and piano recital on Wednesday afternoon was as usual a great success. In spite of the zero weather a large number of the townspeople attended, and many students also were on hand. However, more of the students of musical tendencies ought to avail themselves of these fine opportunities to hear really good music once a week. Mrs. Angus played the piano with great skill and feeling, while Mr. Pfatteicher gave his usual fine performance on the organ. Next Wednesday Mrs. F. H. Paige and Mr. Pfatteicher will render a recital of the same kind.

The program of Wednesday follows:

1. Triumphal March in E flat
2. Prayer in F Maj.
3. Finale in E flat
4. Andante from Ariadne in D flat
5. Finale alla Schumann in A Maj.

Hockey To-day

This afternoon at 3 o'clock the hockey team will play the Andover A. A. on Rabbit's Pond. The squad has been working hard since the last game and to-day's contest will probably be a good one.

Suffrage League Meeting

The Andover Equal Suffrage League held its second regular meeting at Mrs. James C. Sawyer's on Wednesday, January 14, at 3:30 o'clock. After a short business meeting the following talks were given: A Brief Survey of Woman's Legal and Social Rights under Roman Law, Canon Law and English Law; second, The Political Status of Woman in the United States To-day. After fifteen minutes given to current topics the meeting adjourned.

Any person may become a member of this league by endorsing its object and paying the annual fee of fifty cents to the treasurer, Mrs. Horace M. Poynter, 21 Phillips St.

Dartmouth Hockey Schedule

The Dartmouth hockey schedule, belated by many changes, has been announced as follows:

Jan. 17. Harvard at Boston.
Feb. 2. Yale at New Haven.
Feb. 3. West Point at West Point.
Feb. 4. M. A. C. at Amherst.
Feb. 5. Columbia at Hanover.

Close Track Season February 11

Track coaches at Harvard have arranged to close the outdoor and indoor running for the Crimson track men on February 21 this year, at the regimental meet, in Providence. They will not compete against Columbia in the indoor games at New York, March 7, for this would mean two more weeks of training. Coaches Donovan and Powers feel that this will not be the best thing for the spring track season and are agreed that the Crimson runners will need a substantial rest before spring running.

Harvard's team is fast rounding into shape, with two relay quartets and other runners for the meet next Saturday, at the armory. Both of the relay teams are up to the standard this year. Yesterday, Bill Rand, former track captain and hurdler, was down at Soldiers Field helping "Pooch" Donovan with the hurdle. He was one of the best hurdlers that Harvard ever had. In Freeman, Allen and others, the Crimson coaches are gradually developing a good running mate to Jackson, the crack hurdler of the college.

Yale captured every first place and all but one of the seconds in the opening swimming meet of the season held in New Haven Friday night with the College of the City of New York, finally winning by 46 to 7 points. Yale's relay team led all the way and won by twenty yards.

McAleenan and McGregor displayed almost intercollegiate form in the fancy diving and Marr in the 100 yards, Schlaet in the 50 yards, Gould in the 220 yards and Keyes in the plunge, proved easy Eli winners. Mayer's time of 1 minute, 45 seconds in the 600-foot relaye vent captured the individual prize.
