WORK AT LAWRENCE

Under Direction of J. S. Raymond '14

The work among the foreign people, which has been carried on in Lawrence by the students of Phillips Academy for the past six years, will be continued this year. Jack S. Raymond, P. A. '14, will serve as director of the work. The object is to aid the foreign-speaking people of Lawrence, principally by teaching them English. Having come to America, many of them are glad to find friends who are willing to guide them, and to give them a helping hand.

The support of this enterprise places upon the entire student body the responsibility in the first place of contributing an average of ten cents a Sunday. In the second place, the success of the work depends upon the number of men who will volunteer to help in teaching one evening a week. Classes will be held three or four nights a week, thereby making it necessary to organize groups of men who are willing to go over to Lawrence once a week. No experience is necessary in teaching the foreigners, as the lessons are mapped out on charts, according to the Roberts system. The work of teaching English in Lawrence has been popular with the fellows in school, and is very interesting to those who can spare one night a week for it. All who go as teachers must be approved for this purpose by the faculty.

To the new students who are unfamiliar with the work, a short outline will be appreciated. For the first two years only a few fellows took part in the work. "The Phillips Academy Educational Union" was founded, to be conducted by students of Phillips Academy in cooperation with the Lawrence Y. M. C. A. Headquarters were established in two stores in the center of a Lithuanian, Syrian, Polish and Italian quarter. The work for the years 1910-1911 and 1911-1912 was directed by Mr. Charles C. Clough, who died in the early part of the latter year. For the remainder of that year A. Wells, '12, was in charge. In 1912-1913 it was directed by Clyde T. Timbie, '12, and in 1913-1914 by John B. Mackinlay, '14, an undergraduate. Outside of the regular conducted classes, lectures were given by members of the faculty and prominent men in Lawrence. The foreigners were aided by the directors in taking out their "Declaration of Intentions" for citizenship and final naturalization papers.

In this manner the work of this year will be carried on, and within the next few weeks headquarters will be established in Lawrence where the classes will meet. Any man who is interested in the work should see J. S. Raymond or D. Burnham, Carter House, Main street, at once. By volunteering to teach you are teaching men to speak and write English; you are opening up a way to citizenship for them, and giving them the best ideals of American life. This form of Andover effort is one of which every student may be justly proud.

Chinese Boys at Andover-Exeter Academies

Chinese boys at Andover-Exeter Academies. Dr. Stearns sent to Exeter last Saturday afternoon, with an escort, six Chinese boys, of whom four seem qualified to enter school here. The others will be given a trial. They are of a group of one hundred boys sent from China for an education in this country. Dr. Stearns admitted six to Andover.

NEW YEAR AT EXETER

For Exeter the opening of a new year has a special importance. Professor Lewis Perry, formerly of Williams College, will succeed the late Dr. Harlan P. Amen as principal. There will be two changes in the faculty. To take the place of Dr. Samuel H. Newhall, who resigned and went to the Hill School, Mr. John Dean Bickford has been appointed instructor in Latin. He was graduated from Princeton, "magna cum laude" in 1911. A vacancy in the French department has been filled by the appointment of Mr. Eugene Shepard Clark, a graduate of the Academy and Wesleyan University.

The school is as full as last year, when the enrollment was 579 students. Arrangements have been made for supplying assembly and recitation rooms to take the place of those in the main Academy building, which was destroyed by fire on July third. The Phillips Church will be used by the students as the school chapel. A new concrete bridge connecting the Plimpton Playing fields and the Plimpton Field Beyond now being built, will be completed this coming month. The central arch will have a span of a hundred feet.

Of course there will be no Prussian exchange teacher on account of the war. Three members of the faculty, Mr. J. P. Webber, Dr. A. F. Wightman and Mr. E. S. Cook, who are now in Europe, will probably be somewhat late. R. Cleveland, of last year's track team, will also be later in returning.

Academy Church

The Church of Christ in Phillips Academy is an interdenominational religious organization especially adapted to student conditions. It aims to inspire and to conserve loyalty to Christ and to the church during school years. Students share in its offices and responsibilities. Students who are church members at home are asked to bring cards of commendation but they are not expected in any way to sever their connection with the home church. They are received as temporary members and have all the privileges of full membership. Others who are not church members are encouraged to join this church as a step toward permanent church membership in later years. They are asked to make a simple declaration of Christian purpose.

The church was organized two years ago. Sixty-eight students then joined by certificate, twenty-two by declaration, and seven as associate members. Last year fifty joined by certificate and fifteen by declaration. There are at present in school twenty-seven temporary members and ten who have joined by declaration of purpose.

Andover Class Reunion Board

The Andover Class Reunion Board now has a permanent organization, and is in a position to assist the various classes which wish to hold their reunions in June, 1915. The splendid representations present from the class of 1892 in 1912, and the class of 1899 in 1914 show how important are the results of thoroughly canvassing the class with circular letters describing especially the number and names of members of the class who expect to be back. Mr. George X. McLanahan, Union Trust Bldg., Washington, D. C., President of the Board, or Mr. Frederick E. Newton of Andover, the Secretary, will be glad to answer communications.

Leslie P. Grant, P. A. of Stanford, N. Y. was killed in an automobile accident on September 5th at Lexington, New York.

COMMENCEMENT

The following taken from the Bulletin admirably describes the 1914 Commencement:

Possibly the most striking feature of the 136th Commencement at Phillips Academy was the return of Alumni in numbers almost unprecedented. Although no program of speakers had been announced in advance, and no extraordinary effort had been made to induce graduates to come back, over 480 in all sat down to the annual dinner. The oldest alumnus who registered was probably Edward Anderson of Quincy, who left the Academy in 1849. A small delegation represented the class of 1854, which graduated sixty years ago. Larger groups were on hand from the classes of 1864 and 1874; while from more recent classes, notably 1884, 1894, and 1899, the attendance came close to breaking all records.

"The graduating class of 122 men was the second largest in the history of the school, the only one surpassing it being that of 1896 which had 140 members. The growing prosperity of the Academy is indicated by the fact that since 1910 the number in the Senior class has each year been over the hundred mark."

The exercises of the week opened on Sunday, June 7, with the baccalaureate sermon by Rev. Frank Ilsey Paradise, P. A. '84, of Grace Church, Medford. The addresses were given by Professor George F. Moore, President Henry F. Graves, Professor Charles H. Forbes, Professor David Y. Comstock, and Hon. Samuel J. Elder.

Meeting of Athletic Council

A meeting of the Athletic Council will be held Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Advisory Board Room at the gymnasium. The Council consists of the Advisory Board and the captains and managers of the minor sports.

FOOTBALL STARTS

Class Series Starts Saturday

Last Monday Andover football got underway. The fellows who elected it as their fall sport reported to the coaches in their respective classes; 1915 and 1916 football squads on Brothers' Field, 1917 and 1918 on the Old Campus. They were divided into three different teams and put through a few easy signals. There were about two hundred odd men out. The first chance for the coaches to get an opinion of their teams will be on Wednesday, when the first scrimmages are to be held. This coming Saturday the classes will line up against each other, but as yet no schedule has been announced.

At the Advisory Board meeting held last Wednesday, F. B. Avery '15, was appointed as acting captain in place of J. T. Callahan who entered the University of Wisconsin this fall. Manager Chisholm has written to the ten men of last year's team who are not here this year, and the results of the election will probably be announced at the end of the week.

Six "A" men from the 1913 team are now in school. They are: Avery, g.; Ashley, q.; Gould, h.b.; Sanborn, g.; Sheehan, e.; Thompson, e. With the exception of two new men, Messrs. Briggs and Kern, the coaching staff is the same as last year, which was: Lillard (head coach), Dr. Stearns, Messrs. Poynter, Keep, and Boyce.

Manager Chisholm has announced the Andover schedule for 1914. The game this year with Exeter is a week later than usual, made necessary by the Harvard-Princeton game on November 7th, which is to be held at Cambridge. We will play Exeter, here, on November 14th.

This year the season will start with Cushing Academy, on October 17th, at Andover. Exeter also starts her season with the same school on this coming Saturday. The next week we will play the Dartmouth Freshmen here. The Yale Freshmen will meet us on their field at New Haven, October 31st, and we will play the Harvard Freshmen at Cambridge on November 7th. There will be no game played at home from October 24th up to the date of the Exeter game.

The schedule is as follows:

Oct. 17—Cushing Academy at Andover.
Oct. 24—Dartmouth '18 at Andover.
Oct. 31—Yale '18 at New Haven.
Nov. 7—Harvard '18 at Cambridge.
Nov. 14—Exeter at Andover.

Scholarship at Yale

A new scholarship at Yale University has been established by Mrs. John R. Williams of Chicago, the widow of John R. Williams, P. A. '91, Yale '95, in memory of her husband. The income of the fund is to be awarded annually at the close of the Freshman or Sophomore year, under rules prescribed by the Faculty of Yale College, to a member of the college, preferably from Phillips Academy at Andover, who is helping to support himself by his own efforts and has proved himself to be a man of high character and large promise, especially in History or English Literature.

Andover Woman Leaves $5000 to the Academy

In the will of Susan C. Dove of Andover, filed in the Essex County probate court, a public bequest amounting to $5000 was given to the Academy.

The Fear of Sheepskin

Extract from the July Bulletin, on the Library; especially for the benefit of the new men.

"There is a room in every home that no man should be abashed to enter. It is the place which he calls his library. Education has failed if it has not put the student at ease in the presence of books—at least a five-foot shelf of them. To be sure, the profoundest of scholars knows well the despair of impotent human powers as he faces the haughty stacks of an enormous collection; but he knows too that he is overwhelmed merely by force of numbers, and his sweetest revenge comes in adding to their ranks his own bewildering tomes. One thing he has learned, that he can make any of the great army march to his bidding and furnish forth his way. This is the crowning achievement of an education, to place the forces of the world's intellect at one's disposal. The student who leaves school and college without this accomplishment is robbed of a host of friendly helpers whose sole object is to lighten his pathway amongst men. Few things stay by him better than the love of books and an understanding companionship with them.

"The Academy is endeavoring to shake the fear of sheepskin from the student's soul. Every boy must receive instruction in the use of the library before graduation. He is taught how to find material and how to control it. We wish also to forestall any vain passion for the outsides of books by implanting a comprehension of the real worth of the insides of them. Ownership of print is not mastery of books.

"In the chapter 'Of Books' in his 'Holy State', quaint old Thomas Fuller gives the following anecdote. 'Once a dunce void of learning, but full of books, flouted a libraryless scholar with these words: Salve doctor sine libris! But the next day the scholar coming into the jeerer's study, crowded with books: Salvete libri, saith he, sine doctore!'

Mirror Notice

Articles for the October issue of the Mirror—stories, essays, or verse—are solicited from all students. They should be sent to the Editor of the Mirror, 12 Clement House. All fellows wishing to go out for the Assistant Business Managership should see Wentworth Williams, Business Manager, 29 Day Hall, at once.

Big Meeting of Inquiry

On Sunday night the Society of Inquiry held its first meeting of the year. The meeting was very well attended, there being over 125 fellows there. Davison opened the meeting, saying he had been looking forward all summer to that first meeting, and that he had been praying for a successful one. He had prayed that he could make those present realize the earnestness of the moment. He said that if it was his privilege to leave a message he wished it to be this: That all of the fellows there should merely be themselves, that at Northfield Harold Vreeland of Yale had said the same thing. He advised us to keep our eye on our goal, to get the Inquiry spirit and everyone to get into it. If they did, this they would be leaven in the school. Next he stated that Inquiry and Andover were synonymous, that a fellow cannot get a better thing than faith in Jesus. Lastly, he begged that if the fellows could not come they should at least pray for Inquiry.

As the second speaker, Davison introduced Larry Powers, who said that the new men and some old men were inclined to stand aside, believing somebody else would do their part. He told the assembly to get rid of that and their way would be easier. He said that there was something for all fellows, that they should get right in with Inquiry. That Inquiry was going up and everybody should get into this school activity. He closed by advising all that could go to Northfield.

Next Mr. Stackpole spoke. He said he was glad to get back, glad to see such a good meeting, and glad to hear of the good thing which had happened last year. He reminded the gathering that they were in a museum of antiquities, but there was nothing of that nature in them. He mentioned a variety of meetings planned, and that he was only an advisor. He said the fellows there should create and maintain the moral tone of the school, which he compared to the spirit of an army, that they were all together and should work as a unit, helping one another to keep up the moral tone. All should want to do some Christian service, there are lots of chances—Lawrence work, singing in the jail, and numerous other things.

Following Mr. Stackpole, Chisholm, the football manager, was introduced. He said that Inquiry had a good start and would do a great work, that his idea of Christian service was helping those with less advantages. He believed that the Lawrence work, which he said was a good way to help less fortunate people, was one of the greatest works of its kind in the country.

After Chisholm's talk Davison introduced Northam Wright. Wright advised against letting one's work slide until Sunday night, thereby preventing attendance at Inquiry. He said he thought the singing in the jail was a great undertaking, because it encourages the prisoners.

By this time, Mr. Stearns who had been out of town, had arrived and when called on he spoke, saying he supposed all the advice necessary had been given. The number there was a leaven, which would work mightily throughout the entire school. The falling off in attendance, which often occurs later in a term, was, he said, the fellows' fault. When they found a fault instead of trying to remedy it they dropped out. There are a number of ways to be useful, the best is to join the Society of Inquiry and then live up to it. It is not enough merely to come, but one must be a Christian every minute, and stand for the things Christ stood for and gave men. He warned them not to think Faculty will overlook faults because of virtues. Another way to serve, he said, is by identification in one's own life of Christ's ideals and standards. A chap should regard all the fellows he meets as his brothers, and thus avoid knocking. Although all are not prators anybody can make himself felt by conscientiously doing his little daily tasks. Fellows should put their stamp of disapproval on all dirty, unclean things. It is one's privilege and duty to face all such matters. If the fellows there would be sincere, he said, Inquiry would mean more than ever before.

School Opening

Phillips Academy opened last week for the 137th year, with a total enrollment of 575, about the same as last year. The most notable improvement over last year is that an electric lighting plant has been added to the school's already fine equipment.

There have been the following faculty changes: Mr. Farnsworth, Mr. Yost, and Mr. Forrest have left, while Mr. E. E. Kern, A.B., Bowdoin and Oxford; Mr. M.C. Blake, A.B., Dartmouth and Oxford; Mr. S. N. Baker, A.M., Brown and Columbia; Mr. F. C. Bangs, A.M., Yale; Mr. Maurice Briggs, A.B., Ohio State; and Dr. Carl Richter, Ph.D., University of Gottingen, Germany, have been added.

Andover has been very lucky in securing Dr. Richter for the Prussian exchange work, since announcement has been made that there would be no regular Prussian exchange teachers for any universities or schools in the United States. Dr. Richter was here as the exchange instructor a few years ago. At the time that the war broke out, Dr. Richter was visiting in this country, and, as it was impossible for him to return to Germany, he accepted the duties of exchange instructor at Andover.

Faculty House Changes

During the summer several changes in the residence of members of the Faculty have been effected. Mr. W. Houston Lillard, who for some years has been in charge of Williams Hall, will leave it with his family, to occupy the French House on Bartlet street, which is now being remodelled as a Faculty House. In his place, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Phillips have moved into Williams Hall, and have it under their supervision. Mr. Phillip's former home will be taken by Mr. Claude A. Piper and his family. The Tucker House, on the corner of Main and Phillips streets, recently occupied by Professor E. Y. Hincks, has been renovated and is occupied by Dr. Claude M. Fuess. The two suites of apartments for teachers and their wives in the John Phelps Taylor Hall are now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. H. Stott and by Mr. Frederick M. Boyce and his bride. Mr. and Mrs. Guy H. Eaton have charge of Bancroft Hall in the rooms vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Farnsworth.

The Stuart House has been lately repainted and is now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Keep, without being a Faculty House. Taylor Cottage, by a vote of the Trustees, has been renamed Pemberton Cottage, in honor of the second principal of the Academy.

PHILLIPS MEMORIAL GATEWAY

Work Completed at Entrance to Academy Dormitory Grounds.
Appropriate Inscriptions on Tablets.

The work of construction going on since April on the Memorial Gateway has been finished for about six weeks, the lettering being finished a few days later. It is a most pleasing memorial to the Founders of the Academy and one worthy of the name.

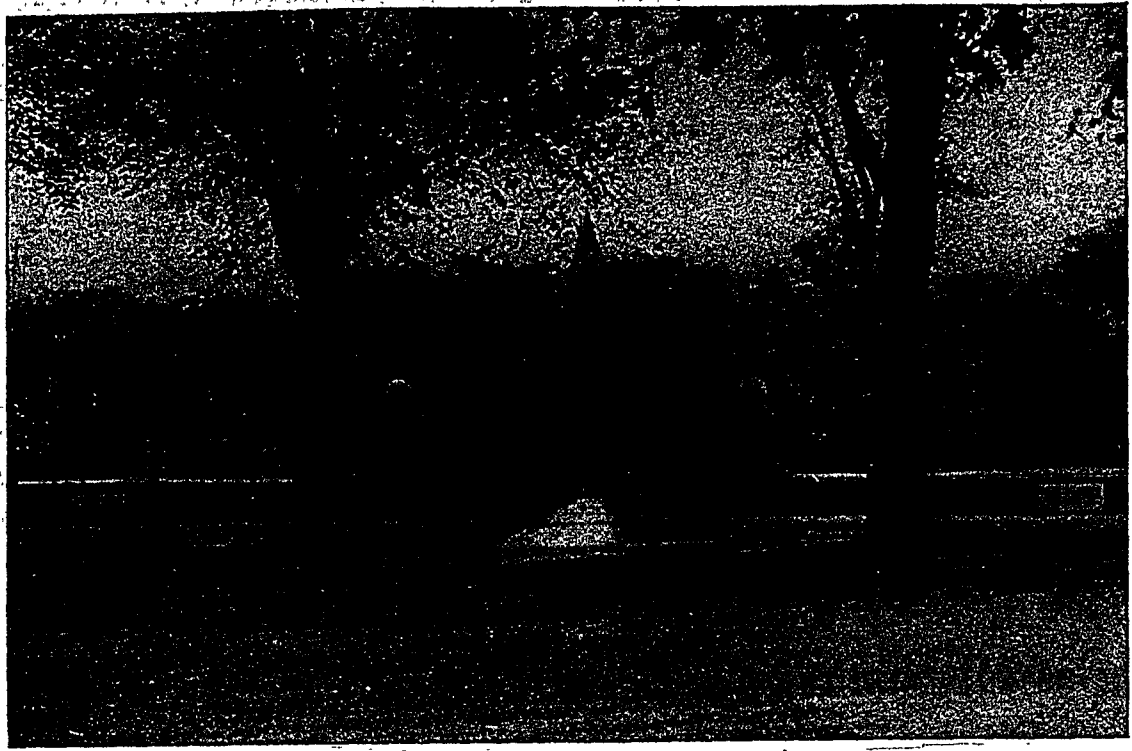

It is a striking and pleasing gateway. Fashioned of brick and granite, each massive pillar surmounted by a large granite ball, it is a memorial worthy of the name.

approved. Plans for the same were prepared by Guy Lowell of Boston and work was started in April, in the hopes of completing the entrance before commencement, but owing to the extreme care needed in laying the brick, this was impossible.

The gateway is fashioned of brick and granite, with two brick pillars surmounted by granite balls. The structure is built in circular form and on either posts.

Mr. Phillips is descended in a direct line from John Phillips (1701-1768), who was a son of Samuel Phillips, the goldsmith of Salem and a brother of Rev. Samuel Phillips (1711-1771), the first minister of the Old South church in Andover. One of his ancestors, Hon. John Phillips (1770-1823), was the first mayor of Boston. His father, the late John C. Phillips, gave to Phillips Acad-

PHILLIPS MEMORIAL GATEWAY

At the first observance of Founders Day at Phillips Academy, last October, announcement was made that the sum of $5000 had been given by the children of the late John Phillips, to the Academy, and in making the announcement, Hon. William Phillips said that he thought it would be a good plan to erect a memorial of some sort to the founders of the school. This was agreed to, and later the erection of a memorial gateway was

Hon. William Phillips, who was the prime mover in the memorial, was born in 1878, the year of the centennial at Phillips Academy. Mr. B. W. Chell, P. A. '09 who for five years has taken charge of our Andover business is for the sixth year displaying our samples in his shop at 127 Main Street. This fact insures you of courteous and efficient service. It is sometimes not understood that we have shoes at $5.00 to $6.50 per pair, but our stock at these prices is most complete and the fact that we specialize only in High Grade Shoes for Men makes it possible for us to develop Footwear at these prices, along the general lines of our higher priced shoes. We guarantee the fit, wear and general satisfaction of every pair of shoes we sell, and trust you will call and give Mr. Chell the pleasure of fitting you to a pair of our boots.

Andover at Northfield

Last June Andover was better represented at the Young Men's Student Conference at East Northfield than it has been in a long time. Our delegation was the next to the largest of the prep. school delegations, Hill only having a larger one. The following represented Andover: Alden, Ames, Baldrige, Brainerd, Crane, Davison, G. M. English, Fitts, Howe, Lee, D. C. Lunt, Mackinlay, McHugh, Moorehead, Powers, Randall, W. P. Rodman, J. L. Ross, Snell, Speer, Thompson, Washburn, E. J. Winters, J. E. Woolley.

All of the fellows thoroughly enjoyed the conference and also received lasting benefits. The daily program was as follows:

7.45—Breakfast.
8.40—Mission study class.
9.40—Bible study class.
11.30—Meeting in Auditorium.
12.45—Dinner.
1.30-6.00—Athletics.
6.00—Supper.
7.00—Meeting on Round Top.
8.00—Meeting in Auditorium.

On several days the morning Auditorium meetings were omitted. After the last Auditorium meeting of the day each delegation met by itself and discussed plans for the coming year, and what each individual had heard that day which was helpful to him. The most interesting and helpful meetings were the Round Top ones, although they were primarily for college men.

One evening our delegation met with the Exeter one in order to get closer together and to get to know better some of our friendly rivals. Another evening our fellows met the Yale men. On still another evening there was an enormous bonfire after certain stunts had been staged.

The Andover delegation's baseball team won the championship of the conference, overwhelming Yale, who led the college teams there. The Andover line-up was as follows:

Baldrige, c.
Thompson, p.
Rodman, 1b
Snell, 2b
Ames, 3b
Woolley, ss.
Ross, rf.
Howe, cf.
English, lf.
