YALE CLUB SMOKER

Large Gathering Hear Visiting Speakers

The first meeting of the Yale Club this year, at which several representatives from Yale spoke, was a great success, and it is expected that more such meetings will be held in the course of the year. The speakers who represented the various activities at Yale, were Professor Hollen, A. Farr, Chairman of the Freshman faculty, Chandler Bennitt, President of Phi Beta Kappa and stroke on the 'Varsity four last June, J. W. Hanes, member of the 'Varsity baseball team, and Mr. Frank Quimby, coach of the baseball team. Clifford Rodman, president of the Yale Club, presided at the meeting.

Mr. Farr was the first to address the meeting. He said that his message to Andover men who are going to Yale was to ask them to come to him for any advice that they wished about Yale, and that he would do all in his power to assist these men in their start at Yale. The important thing at college is to enter with the right idea, that is not to expect that life there will be very easy and smooth, but to put in some hard studying the first few weeks. Mr. Farr said that if he could speak to every Freshman for ten minutes he could give him advice that would help him to get a good start in college, but as the freshman class is so large, this is impossible. Mr. Farr closed his talk with another appeal to the fellows to be perfectly free to come to him for advice when at Yale.

Chandler Bennitt was the second speaker. As a representative of Phi Beta Kappa, he said that that society stands first in the honors at Yale in the estimation of the senior class. Very few men take pleasure in studying in itself, if it is compulsory; but that many took pride in doing this unpleasant work well, and that is one of the great values in a society such as Phi Beta Kappa. In behalf of the crew, Mr. Bennitt said that this sport is one of the hardest and most wearisome that there is, but in spite of this fact a squad of more than 150 report every year. In this sport everyone has a chance to race, as in the spring regatta alone there are six or more crews racing. Mr. Bennitt concluded by saying that a fellow can not be mentally fit without being physically strong, and that that is the kind of man that Yale wishes to have.

Mr. Hanes, the next speaker, provided the amusement for the evening, and told some interesting jokes of men at Yale and elsewhere. He concluded by saying that the reason that Andover men take such a prominent part at Yale, is that we lead the right kind of life here.

Mr. Quimby was the last speaker of the evening. He said that the opportunities for men at Andover are very great, because we have a fine faculty here and a fine spirit. The Yale Club at Andover is a great thing, and in the future should keep in touch with the Andover club at Yale, which will endeavor to answer any questions that the fellows here may wish to ask about Yale. He said that the reason that Andover men do so

DARTMOUTH CLUB

Mr. Gray Knapp, Dartmouth '12, present graduate-secretary of Dartmouth, will give an illustrated talk this evening in the lecture room of the Archaeology building, at 6.45 o'clock.

The lecture, although it has been especially arranged for the members of the Dartmouth Club, is open to any students who may care to come. The slides will show the various buildings and views of the campus at Hanover and also scenes of interscholastic activity. Scenes of the ice carnival will be given in full. The lecture will be followed by an informal smoker in the Grill.

The Dartmouth Club has held two meetings so far this year. At the first, in the fall term, steps toward organization were taken while at the second, presided over by Mr. French, the actual organization took place. The club consists of over twenty-five active members. Its officers are as follows:

President, J. Franklin Goddard, Bancroft 5.
Vice-President, W. R. Crumb, Draper 5.
Secretary and Treasurer, E. C. Ingram, 34 Salem St., Andover.

Class Wrestling

Wednesday afternoon an inter-class wrestling meet was held in the gym between the '15 and '18 teams, and the '16 and '17 teams. 1915 defeated 1918, four to three bouts, and '16 defeated '17 by the same score. Although '17 was defeated Wednesday, that team has won enough matches so that the inter-class championship lies between '15 and '17. The meet between these two teams, which will close the series of class wrestling matches, will be held next Wednesday, and it is imperative that all the members of both teams should report, as the winners of the match will be awarded their class wrestling numerals.

The summary of the 1915-1918 meet follows:

115-lb. class—Blank '15, won by default.

125-lb. class—Burton '15, threw Sturgis '18, in 1 minute.

135-lb. class—MacMorran '15, won by default.

175-lb. class—Talmage '18, won by default.

Score: 1915, four bouts; 1918, three bouts.

Summary of 1916-1917 meet:

T. for several years, and, as their team is said to be very skilful, it will be worth while for a large number of fellows to come. This is also the last exhibition that the team will give before the Harvard Interscholastics, March 13, when our team will meet Exeter. The probable entries in that contest will be: Capt. Elwood, Peck, Basso, Farr, and Wilde.

March 17 the GAT meet will be held between the class gym teams. This meet is open to the school. The three men with the highest score will receive their GAT's. Each man is to enter every event doing two combinations on every piece of apparatus.

PHILO MEETING

Last Wednesday evening a regular meeting of Philo was held in the lecture room of the Archaeology building at seven o'clock. Alger Sheldon gave the topics of the week, briefly summarizing the progress of the European war and mentioning the more important events that have taken place in this country during the past week. Next N. Boynton, Jr., gave the select reading, taking one of Alfred Noyes' poems as his selection.

The question for debate was: Resolved, that the study of Latin and Greek is a needless waste of time. The affirmative was represented by Harvey, leader, and J. H. Sharpe, assistant; and Murdock, leader, and Warren, assistant, upheld the negative. Although the question is rather one-sided, especially in a school like Phillips Academy, many interesting facts were discussed concerning the advisability and uselessness of studying the ancient languages under the present system. The negative won the debate, although both sides presented some very lively arguments. In the intermission between the debate and the rebuttal, Heilner delivered an interesting extempore speech on frost-fishing. After the debate the usual business meeting was held, at which several new members were voted into the society, and plans for Mr. Noyes' visit were discussed.

Swimming

Andover will meet the Springfield swimming team this afternoon at four o'clock in the pool. This is the next to the last meet of the year. The Andover entries are as follows:

Relay Race—Bradley, T. Kingsbury, Mayer, Fitzgerald.

Fancy Diving—M. S. Gould, F. Kingsbury.

50-yd. Swim—Tilton, Bradley.

100-yd. Swim—Fitzgerald and Pratt.

200-yd. Swim—Mayer, Searle.

Plunge—Strout, Peters, Bradley.

Speaker at Inquiry

The speaker at the Society of Inquiry tomorrow evening will be Mr. David R. Porter, Y. M. C. A. Secretary of Preparatory Schools. Mr. Porter has taken a prominent part in the work of the Y. M. C. A. and therefore is especially well fitted to speak to the students of Phillips Academy on any topic in connection with this great work. It is hoped that the fellows will take advantage of this opportunity to hear him.

Exeter Trials Held

Two preliminary heats were held Thursday for places on the Exeter relay team that will be sent to the Penn. carnival. No times were taken. The report that Phelan had returned to school is erroneous. The first outdoor practice for the baseball candidates is looked for tomorrow. Relay trials—First heat, K. Atha; second, C. E. Phillips; third, J. P. Shannon. Second heat, G. Bawden; second, L. M. Buxbaum; third, Austin Williams.

MR. FULLERTON TO LECTURE

To Talk Monday on European Situation

On Monday night, William Morton Fullerton, P. A. '84, will deliver a lecture in the chapel. Mr. Fullerton, who has made extensive investigations into the causes of the European trouble, will speak upon that conflict.

Mr. Fullerton has served on the foreign news staff of the London Times for many years, being stationed in Berlin at first and later in Paris. As a result of this, he has been able to secure a view of both sides of the question and so can speak with authority.

His recent book, "Problems in Power," created quite a sensation at the time of its publication. It deals with conditions "behind the scenes" in European politics and tells of the real, underlying causes that engendered the present international strife.

Mr. Fullerton had arranged to deliver his lecture several weeks ago, but was prevented from doing so by business. He is only in this country temporarily and every student should take the opportunity to increase his store of information upon the present noteworthy situation.

Rifle Club Leaders Meet

In the lecture room of the Archaeology building yesterday afternoon, the leaders of the respective divisions of the Rifle Club held their first meeting. A nominating committee, chosen to nominate officers for the association, was appointed, consisting of Bowman, Chisholm, and Gleason. They chose Mr. W. H. Lillard as president, Dr. P. S. Page as secretary, and N. L. Wright as treasurer. George Flynn was appointed captain of the whole club. These were voted upon this morning in chapel.

Entertainment at Abbot

On Tuesday night at Abbot Academy there was held a series of tableaux depicting the paintings of famous artists, as follows:

1. Our Lady of the Rose
2. St. Agnes
3. Bianca Savorza
4. Mary Queen of Scots
5. Mona Lisa
6. Wife of Franz Hals
7. Princess Henrietta de Bourbon
8. Marie Antoinette
9. Madame Lebrun
10. Abigail Bronfield
11. Louise of Prussia
12. A Woman of Thebes
13. Joan of Arc
14. Purity
15. Reverie
16. Judith Shakespeare
17. Sally in Our Alley
18. Luciana and Antopholus

The P. A. school orchestra furnished music throughout and great credit should be given to each member, especially the leader and assistant manager, Heilner, for getting ready on such short notice.

Mr. Douglas Crawford was the herald and announced each picture as it appeared.

Tickets for the Combined Musical Clubs' Concert next Friday night at eight o'clock, are now on sale at the bookstore.

THE ANDOVER PRESS

There has been much said in this column lately about school spirit and how it has been recently manifested in athletics and other school activities. So far this year comparatively few members of the athletic teams have been debarred from playing because of conditions, which in itself shows that the various members of the team take pride in representing the school and will work hard towards this end. The end of the term is fast approaching and with it the examinations, which will largely decide the marks of the term. Conditions for this term will keep men from representing the school on the baseball diamond and on the track. In order that we may turn out successful baseball and track teams this spring, and defeat our rival school, it is necessary for every man on the varsity squads to devote extra time to studying for the few remaining weeks of school, in order that he may be free of conditions, which, at the best, are exceedingly difficult to remove.

Inter-Class Gym Meet

Owing to the fact that the work of the Rifle Club will take up most of the time of the gym classes for the two upper classes, the rest of the fellows are to compose teams from each gym class to compete in a series. o'clock, Tuesday, March 9. All fellows in these classes should refer to the bulletin board in the gym, on which are posted lists of the different teams. The captains for the rope-climb and relay teams are as follows:

The Changsha Yale Hospital

Changsha, China,
25th November, 1914

My dear friends:

One month from today is Christmas, and my greetings to you this year must be more than good wishes. They must share with you some of the reasons for our good cheer.

We are still in our old hospital building, but there are signs of new life inside it. One year ago, this city of 300,000—twice as large as New Haven—had but a couple of Chinese trained nurses. Now, Miss Gage and Miss Farnsworth, our two American supervising nurses, have forty pupils in training. Twenty-five of them are young men (for Chinese social requirements do not yet permit men to be nursed in a public hospital by women), and fifteen are young women. As you might expect, the young women make by far the better nurses, going at their work almost instinctively. Only a very short time ago there were but few individual girls in the entire province of Hunan who could read and write; to-day, with unbound feet and liberated minds, young women, like their brothers, enjoy and excel in every sort of educational activity.

Important as the progress is in connection with the training of nurses, their instruction is but part of a larger educational scheme. Yale in China has come into such close friendship with the local educators and government leaders, that a cooperative association has been formed—a Hunan-Yale Medical Educational Association—that is to develop modern hospital work, train nurses and establish an up-to-date medical school. Yale is to build the new hospital and supply the teaching staff. The Hunanese society has secured from the government a splendid building in the city where teaching will be commenced and hospital work carried on temporarily. Later on, modern buildings will be erected outside the city wall, beside the new Yale Hospital. In addition, the government has promised a large annual grant-in-aid. The first instalment has just been paid, and before you receive this letter, the pre-medical course of the new school will be well under way.

So, step by step, we shall be approaching those ideals which have, from the start, been constantly held up before all the Yale work at Changsha, whether in the Arts College or the Medical Department, namely, the ideal of training Chinese for the service of their own countrymen rather than of constantly introducing foreigners to do the work. Little wonder, then, that the staff has been greatly cheered by the progress of the year and looks longingly forward for those reinforcements that shall make it more possible for each to do his best work.

I am sure you will watch the new medical school and the hospital work with growing interest as, year by year, new teachers join the staff and new equipment makes the work more effective. Before another Christmas we look for at least two more physicians and another graduate nurse. You can scarcely realize how definitely each one who comes out feels himself to be, as the older ones always have been, your representative. Yale is very much alive in Changsha.

Most cordially yours
EDWARD H. HUME (M.D.)

Y. M. C. A. Conference

George D. Randall and Elbridge Adams, 2nd, were the representatives of Andover at the Pawtucket Conference of the Young Men's Christian Associations of Massachusetts and Rhode Island. The Conference meets once a year to discuss the theme, "The Program of Youth," the motto for 1915 being "Live up to your best." The Conference was addressed by several noted representatives of the Y. M. C. A. and kindred organizations who are interested in the work of the Conference. Our delegates arrived in Pawtucket Friday afternoon in time to hear the first address by Rev. W. L. Speery of Boston, Mass., who spoke on "The Place of Prayer in the Program of Youth."

Friday evening the annual banquet was held at which there were many speeches of welcome, made by the Governor of Rhode Island and other prominent men.

Saturday morning many sectional conferences were held to discuss the different phases in "The Program of Youth," at one of which Randall read a paper on "The Northfield Conference" for P. J. McHugh, who was unable to attend the conference because of illness. Saturday evening there was an organ recital and Sunday morning the delegates attended church. Our delegates, Randall and Adams, left Pawtucket Sunday morning and arrived here the same evening, after a very interesting two days at the Conference.

Arleigh D. Richardson, P. A. '13, Yale '17, Clement H. Kreider, and H. D. Ware, both of P. A. '14, and Yale '17S., were among those nominated for assistant crew manager.

O ANDOVER BOYS:

A great many boys are unable to make progress in large classes. This is usually due to the lack of early training which prevents a proper understanding of each day's lesson or to absence from classes because of illness, etc.

For the above reasons a number of boys are compelled to leave Phillips Andover Academy each year. To these boys we offer an opportunity to make up work in which they are deficient and return to Andover. By our methods of private tutoring and small class instruction, such boys can be advanced rapidly. We are well situated at Tarrytown on the Hudson, where we can accommodate twenty-five boys and fifteen masters.

A booklet of Blake Country School will be mailed upon request.

1917 Wins From 1916, 37 to 16

The 1917 swimming team took the lead in the interclass numeral series on Saturday, when it defeated 1916 by a score of 37 to 16. 1917 took first place in every event except the 50-yd. dash, which was won by W. Crane of 1916. In the relay race, which started the meet, the 1917 swimmers won out after a fairly close race. The race was closely contested to the very end, and the 1916 team put up a game fight. Gould, Fullerton, Lunt, and Crane swam for '17, and Truman, Bowman, W. Crane, and Faherty for '16. In the 100-yard race Gould finished several yards ahead of Crane, '16, his nearest rival. Fish took the 200-yd. swim by a narrow margin. In the fancy diving competition P. Crane won out. Wolfe, '17, won the plunge, with 55 feet. Bowman, '16, was second and Mills took third.

Means Prize Speaking

This evening at eight o'clock the forty-eighth annual contest for the Means Prizes of twenty, ten and five dollars will be held in the Chapel. The judges for the competition are among the best authorities in New England on the subject, and they have already read the essays and awarded two-thirds credit on the compositions and will award the other one-third grade to-night. The following men will be on the Committee of Award:

Mr. George R. Browne of the Browne and Nichols School, chairman; Mr. Samuel F. Holmes of Worcester Academy, and Mr. Geo. C. Greener, Director of the North Bennett Street Industrial School, Boston.

The judges, as well as the members of the English Department have declared the essays of this year's competition to be of unusual merit, and the latter have considered them to be the best group of essays in this contest for the past six years. The competition has been arranged to take place at a time convenient for all members of the school, and it is hoped that they will avail themselves of this opportunity, both because the essays themselves are very interesting, and also to help the speakers by giving them the encouragement of speaking before a large group of fellows.

The following are the speakers in their order and the subjects:

- Max Wagner
The Movement for Nationwide Prohibition
- Raymond F. Beardsley
The Poetry of Matthew Arnold
- Robert T. Bushnell
The Inadvisability of the Permanent Retention of the Philippines
- Frederick P. Gelbach, Jr.
