RIFLE CLUB

The Last Members' Match of the Term Will be Held This Afternoon and Evening

Below are printed the scores of the different members of the Rifle Club for the past week. On the whole, the averages are practically the same as those of last week. The Rifle range will be open this afternoon and to-night for the last time this term as the rifles will be sent Monday to the Winchester Arms Company for repairs.

A successful winter shooting season is hoped for, there probably being a good many matches with outside clubs. The team will be changed weekly according to how the different scores range, the ten men who get the highest targets making up the team for the next week.

MEANS SPEAKERS

Seventeen Men Chosen to Compete on Annual Declamation Contest

The following have been chosen to compete in the Means Contest in original declamation:—

Stevens	Lumpkin
O'Connell	Briggs
Holden	Rich
Green	Clark
Cohen	Smith
Hapgood	Knox
Noyes	Lewis
Pickering	Penfield

In preparing manuscripts to be submitted to the judges of the final contest, the contestants are required to observe the following directions:—

1. All manuscripts must be typewritten.
 2. Each manuscript must be signed with an assumed name, and must be accompanied by a sealed envelope, containing the writer's real name and assumed name, and having the assumed name written on the outside.
- Manuscripts must be left with, or sent to, one of the instructors in English, not later than December 24.

West Elected Colgate Captain

At a meeting of the members of this year's Colgate team, David B. West, P. A. ex-'15, was elected captain for next year. He played a sterling game at tackle this year, being chosen by many for the All-American.

At Andover, West played half-back on John Gault's team, while only sixteen years of age. He had great abilities in forward passing but his defensive work was his main asset. Because of this he played tackle at Colgate.

Football is not his only sport; he is a star basketball player and a pitcher on the baseball team.

Table Board Transfers

All table board transfers must be filed at the Registrar's office before the close of the term. This is imperative as it will be impossible to change after the vacation without considerable confusion.

Philo Officers for Winter Term

At a business meeting held by Philo last Wednesday evening in the Peabody House the following officers were elected:

President, A. D. Harvey; vice-president, A. C. Townley; secretary, A. Piazza; treasurer, H. S. McKee. The reports of the secretary and treasurer were read and accepted. The coming of Mr. Gibson the poet, to read his poems on January 11 was also discussed before the meeting was adjourned.

Tickets for the New York special train will go on sale for the last time to-day from 1 to 2:30 and 6 to 8, at the Grill.

THE ANDOVER PRESS

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1916

This issue is in charge of L. G. Neville, Jr., '18.

On Saturday, January 6, the second competition open to all members of the school for position on the Editorial Board of the Phillipian will be started. As a result of the winter term's period of heeling either two or three men will be chosen as associate editors at the end of that time.

To those who have no special talent along athletic or musical lines, Phillipian work offers an excellent opportunity for service to the School. No previous experience is necessary. Neither is any phenomenal literary prowess required. The only prerequisites for this work are that a man be willing to work conscientiously; and that he be anxious to learn work of this kind, which may help him later, from being thrown in contact with those who are connected with the paper.

Personal benefits derived from Phillipian work are many. One is taught to think quickly and to set his thoughts down in written form, to work systematically and under pressure. Worth a great deal, of course, is the fact that one is doing something for the community in which he lives.

Those who desire to "heel" the Phillipian are requested to hand in names to H. W. Cooley, Bartlett 13, as soon as possible.

Dr. Stearns' and Mr. Quinby's Proposed Trip

Dr. Stearns and Mr. Quinby are arranging plans for a trip to several cities during the latter part of January and the early part of February. It is their intention to speak at alumni smokers along their route and in this way to keep up the spirit of the alumni and tell them about the school. Plans are being made to arrive in Buffalo on January 26, where the first smoker will be held. From there Dr. Stearns and Mr. Quinby will probably go to Detroit, Chicago, St. Paul, St. Louis, Kansas City, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia.

Inquiry Schedule

Following is the probable program for the Society of Inquiry meetings for next term as given out by W. E. Stevenson:

January 7—A Yale delegation composed of Baldrige, P. A. '14, and Campbell.

January 14—Hampton Institute, Quartet in Stone Chapel.

January 28—Dartmouth delegation.

February 4—Rev. Brewer Eddy, of Boston.

February 11—A Lecture on Palestine, by Mr. Stackpole.

February 18—Open and semi-annual business meeting.

February 25—Williams delegation.

March 4—Exeter delegation.

March 11—Faculty reception.

March 18—Open Meeting.

There will be no meeting of Inquiry to-morrow.

Position—Prone.

Shots—20.

Time—1 per minute.

Targets—2 Official.

Rifles—Any.

Sights—Any.

This match will be the last Members' Match. Next term will be confined to competition with other clubs. The Andover Rifle Club will enter in the Annual Winter Tournament of the Massachusetts Association of N. R. A. Clubs. The ten highest men of each week will compose the team for the following week. The team for the first match will be composed of the men whose names appear on the blackboard at the Pearson Hall Range. This is the last chance to try this term to make the team for the first match.

The Range will be open Saturday afternoon as usual to anyone in school. If you have never shot before, come to the Range and try it once. Instructions will be given. Saturday will be the last day of shooting. Monday the rifles are to be sent to the Winchester Repeating Arms Co., to be repaired and new barrels fitted. Two new rifles will also be purchased next term.

The dues are now 75 cents per term or $1.25 for the rest of the school year.

Special Christmas Music at Chapel

There will be special Christmas music at both services in the chapel of Phillips Academy this coming Sunday. At the morning service the prelude will be an Offertory on the hymn "Adeste Fideles," by Guilmant. The choir will sing the ancient "Lo, how a rose e'er blooming" and Cornelius' "Three Kings have journeyed from the eastern land."

Before Vespers there will be a special Christmas organ recital beginning promptly at 4:30, the program being as follows:

Silent night, holy night, Goller; Lo, how a rose e'er blooming, Brahms; Aus meines Herzens grunde, Karg-Elert; In dulci jubilo, Karg-Elert; and an organ duett with double pedal entitled "The life of Christ," by Dr. Vollkmar, played by Mr. Hudson and Mr. Pfatteicher.

The choir will sing the carols "Silent night, holy night," "The First Nowell," "A virgin unspotted," and "God rest you merry gentlemen."

Calendar Notice

The Calendars will go on Sale at the Grill to-day from 1 to 2 p.m. and from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Junior Prom Chairman

At a meeting of the class of '18 held yesterday morning, John C. Converse of Andover was elected chairman of the Junior Prom. Committee. Converse has not yet chosen his committee which will probably consist of five men. Last year the Prom. was held in the middle of February, which is the probable time for this year's Prom.

Reading by Wilfred Wilson Gibson

Andover people have a genuine treat in store for them in the appearance of Wilfred Wilson Gibson, the English poet, in the Stone Chapel on the evening of Thursday, January 11. Mr. Gibson who is to make a short tour of the United States, will give his first reading in New England in Andover.

Mr. Gibson, like Alfred Noyes, who has twice been heard in Andover, is one of the younger English poets, and has already been hailed by critics as in the forefront of contemporary versifiers. His manner is quite original, and his themes, dealing usually with the daily lives of toilers and the sorrows of the poor and oppressed, are handled in a most effective and artistic fashion. His most recent volume, Battle and other Poems is said by the London Athenaeum to contain "the only English poems about the war—so far—for which anyone would venture to predict a future on their own merits." Mr. Gibson's personality is exceedingly attractive, and it is expected that his trip will be fully as successful as that of Mr. Noyes three years ago. Mr. Gibson's reading in Andover will be in charge of the Philomathean Society of Phillips Academy. An admission fee of fifty cents will be charged, and tickets will be placed on sale at the Bookstore.

Yale's Winter Athletic Prospects

Yale's winter athletic program will open at New Haven, on December 20, when the hockey team plays Montreal in the arena. Yale will start the season with one of the biggest hockey squads in years, 74 men having reported to Captain Murray. The Christmas trip, as usual will be taken this year. Of last year's team there are Murray, Bierworth, York, Gould, Armour and Jacobs, who are available this season.

A successful swimming season is also expected. Captain L. A. Ferguson, the highest point winner in the intercollegiate league last winter, will be one of the mainstays of the team. He is very fast in the relay and sprints. Of last year's team, A. C. Rosener, P. A. '14, R. B. Mayer, P. A. '15, and J. F. Jenks in the relay and 50-yard; M. C. Benjamin and W. Scobe in the fancy dive, S. C. Badger, F. L. Adams and D. S. Bright in the plunge are out for this season's team.

For the first time a freshman swimming team has been organized at Yale, a meet having already been scheduled.

Captain "Charlie" Taft of the basketball team, expects Yale to have one of the best teams in recent years. The news that Harry LeGore will try for the team is very encouraging, for he is rated one of the best players in Yale. He did not go out for the team last year, but this year he will play to keep in condition for baseball. Newell, Mallon, Garfield, Rhett, Kinney, P. A. '14, Baker and Holden form a nucleus around which a fine team should be developed.

Exeter's New Gym

The plans of the new Gymnasium and swimming pool, given to Exeter by William B. Thompson of the class of 1890, equal fully the expectations of Principal Perry and the Faculty. For months Frank A. Colby of New York, the architect has been busy on the model, which is said by experts to be perfect in efficiency and structure.

The building, made up of a main part and two wings, will have a frontage of 235 feet and a depth of 80 feet. The architecture harmonizes in every respect with the recent additions to the school. The entire ground floor of the main building will be devoted to a gymnasium, which Mr. Thompson will equip with the best apparatus procurable. In the basement there will be a large, well lighted baseball cage, a locker-room with a capacity for 600 men, bowling alleys, a faculty room and a room for visiting teams.

The swimming pool will occupy one wing, with ample room for spectators. In the other wing, there will be three standard sized squash courts and rooms for fencing, wrestling and boxing.

It will also have steam heat and a system of hot air ventilation, which will free the swimming pool from humid air. There will be three front entrances, one for the faculty, one for the students, and one for special occasions.

Harvard's Football Schedule for 1917

September 22, Bates.
September 29, Bowdoin.
October 6, Boston College.
October 13, Colby.
October 20, Tufts.
October 27, Brown.
November 3, Springfield.
November 10, Princeton at Princeton.
November 17, Carlisle Indians.
November 24, Yale.

Harvard's 1917 football schedule, tentatively announced by the Harvard Athletic Association yesterday reveals the fact that Cornell, Virginia, North Carolina and Massachusetts Agricultural have been dropped while Bowdoin, Charley Brickley's Boston College eleven, Springfield Y. M. C. A. College and the Carlisle Indians have been substituted.

Bates and Colby are first and second game attractions, while Bowdoin gets a place on the schedule for the first time in several years. The Carlisle Indians have the place between the big games with Princeton and Yale, while Brown, which has held this place a number of years, is scheduled to come to Cambridge October 27, the Saturday after the Tufts contest.

Harvard will take on two rugged teams on consecutive Saturdays in Brown and Tufts, but the game between the two big matches will probably be light unless the Carlisle Redskins spring a surprise.

Fred W. Moore, graduate treasurer, announces that final arrangements are yet to be carried through with Boston College, Tufts and Brown, but the dates are entirely satisfactory to all concerned and contracts will be completed in a short time.

Mr. Moore explains the dropping of Cornell because Harvard has in Princeton and Yale two big rivals and a continuance of Cornell on the schedule would mean that Harvard would play Cornell for the third successive year in a game which had all the aspects of a Yale or Princeton struggle and a three big-game policy is not to be continued.

Lack of interest in the North Carolina and Virginia games, accompanied by deficit in receipts, made further athletic relations with these colleges inadvisable.

1917 Calendar

The new 1917 Calendar, which has recently come out, easily comes up to the expectations of the student body. The cover is of black leather with a light blue circle in the middle, containing the letter 'A', and "Phillips Academy, Andover." The year, "1917" is also printed on the leather. The calendar for each month is placed on a separate page, each of which contains pictures of the various student organizations. Besides the pictures of Principal Stearns, Treasurer Sawyer and the faculty group, there are those of the Athletic Advisory Board, Athletic and Student Councils, all athletic teams, the combined Musical Clubs, most of the dormitories and the Peabody House, the Phillipian, Pot Pourri, Mirror and Calendar Boards, and different school views. The Calendar Board is composed of E. Adams, D. McLanahan, H. Buckley and R. Hull.

Dr. Graves Addresses Members of Faculty

Last Thursday evening, in the Peabody House, Dr. William P. Graves of Boston, P. A. 1887 read a very interesting paper before the members of the Phillips Club and invited guests. His subject was "Some Theories of Dreams." Dr. Graves was a prominent athlete, both here and at Yale, and is the son of Professor Graves, who was for so many years the head of the Science Department in school.
