FOOTBALL TEAM LOSES TO HARVARD FRESHMEN

Andover, Although Outweighed, By Opponents Puts Up a Good Fight

CAPTAIN BRADEN AND BAILEY STAR—TEAM SHOWS IMPROVEMENT OVER CUSHING GAME

The Harvard Freshman football team defeated Andover last Saturday on Soldiers Field, by the score of 16 to 0. The Crimson's faultless interference and superior punting were the deciding factors of the game. In the first half the contest became a kicking duel, the Freshmen having slightly the better of it. In spite of this, the score represents a slip-up in the defense of one or two spots in the Blue line, as time after time Lothrop, last year's Groton star, was sent through for big gains.

The team put up a splendid fight and held the Harvard team several times for downs. During the first half, as Andover seemed willing to play a defensive game, punting was the general feature, although Andover tried several forward passes. Captain Braden, Avery, and Bailey starred for Andover, while the Freshman attack seemed centered around Lothrop, Jenny, and Humphrey. Apart from line rushing, Harvard showed greatest skill in their interference on end runs. The scores were made on touchdowns in the first and second halves and by a drop-kick in the third quarter. The team was weakened by the absence of Morgan, who was prevented from playing by a slight injury.

The game in detail is as follows:

FIRST QUARTER

Harvard kicked off and Fairbairn ran the ball back 20 yards to Andover's 45-yard line. Bailey failed to gain. Fairbairn made 3 yards. Gratwick got off a beautiful punt, the ball rolling over Harvard's goal line. The ball was put in play on the 20-yard line. Andover held and Harvard kicked on the second down. Bailey fumbled the ball and

LANCE CORPORAL GALLISHAW TO SPEAK SATURDAY

On Saturday night, October 20, at 7 o'clock, in the Peabody House, A. J. Gallishaw, a lance corporal of the First Newfoundland Regiment, will speak on his experiences at Gallipoli, where, having served for three months, he was wounded and sent home. Mr. Gallishaw is a Newfoundlander by birth but is a well-traveled man. He is now at Harvard, where he was a student previous to his enlistment.

This is to be the first of the "wood-fire" talks and it should prove to be one of the most interesting of the series of lectures which will be given. Mr. Gallishaw has seen a great deal of the Gallipoli expedition not only from a common soldier's point of view but also from the point of view of a highly educated man and thinker; therefore he will be able to give the student body some interesting opinions along with some first-hand information.

It is hoped that this talk will be well attended, as the interest shown by the student body will determine whether these talks will be continued.

MARSHALL AND WHEELER WIN IN TENNIS DOUBLE FINALS

The winners of the annual doubles tournament this year, were Wheeler '18, and H. W. Marshall '18. Although a good many of the best players gave up tennis, after the singles were over, to play football or some other major sport, there were still enough left to make some very close and interesting matches.

The results were as follows:

FIRST ROUND

Coffin and Cummings defeated Chin and Yu, 6-0, 6-1.

Hills and Dayton defeated Bolton and Nichols, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Sharretts and Hubbard defeated Rose and Newkirk, 8-6, 6-3.

Seniors and Lower Middlers Win Soccer Game

Wednesday afternoon the 1918 soccer team defeated 1921 with a score of 2 to 1. The Juniors held the lead in the first half, but in the second the superior weight and skill of the Seniors showed itself and two goals were scored, winning the game. The line-up:—

The speed and skill of the 1920 team triumphed over 1919's heavier backs to a score of 2 to 0: 1919 was seldom dangerous and threatened the Lower Middlers' goal very little. The line-up was as follows:

SOCCER TEAM DEFEATS DARTMOUTH VARSITY

Humbles Green Team in First Game of the Season by the Close Score of 2 to 1

Andover started off her soccer season last Saturday with a victory of 2 to 1 over the Dartmouth Varsity. It was quite a feat to overcome the varsity, but from the form shown by the team it appears as if this will not be an unusual affair this year. The game was one in which much speed was exhibited,

CAPTAIN COBURN, WHO STARRED

and the ball was kept going from one end of the field to the other. There were no goals kicked in the first half. Both of the forward lines, however, were working well and it was only the lack of a final punch which prevented scores. Andover took the ball to within

CLOSE CONTESTS MARK CLASS FOOTBALL GAMES

The first class games of the series were played off last Wednesday afternoon. The games were all very close and an exciting series is expected.

1919-1920

The 1919 and 1920 teams played to a scoreless tie, neither team being able to gain much advantage over the other. In the first quarter, the Lower Middlers had the ball in their possession for the greater part of the period and finally worked it down to their opponents' 20-yard line, where Gallagher made an unsuccessful attempt at a drop kick.

In the next period the play was more even and the teams see-sawed up and down the field.

The Upper Middlers came back strong in the third period, Serven breaking away for several good gains, while in the last quarter Newbold went through 1920's team for 50 yards, being finally tackled on the Middlers' 10-yard line. Three plays failed to gain any ground and the whistle blew before another play could be executed.

TWO NEW OPPONENTS SEEN ON FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

The following is the football schedule to date as given out by Manager Neville:

Oct. 20—Bumpkin Island Naval Reserve Station.

Oct. 27—Harvard Radio School.

Nov. 3—Worcester Academy.

All these games will be played on Brothers Field. The Bumpkin Island Naval team was defeated Saturday, 36 to 0, by the Harvard Varsity. It is hoped that the "jackies" will be accompanied by their band, as all who attended the Andover-Harvard 1921 game last Saturday can bear witness to the statement that the band is excellent.

Dr. Fuess to Speak on School's History

Dr. C. M. Fuess will speak on Saturday, October 27, in the Peabody House, at 7:15 o'clock. His subject will be the History of the School and will follow the lines of Dr. Fuess's book, An Old New England School. This talk is to be illustrated with slides and ought to prove especially interesting. It is hoped that the talk will be well attended, for interest in the school's history ought to be very strong.

Students obtaining excuses will be allowed to remain after eight o'clock.

Y.M.C.A. MEN FROM INDIA ADDRESS INQUIRY

At the meeting of the Society of Inquiry held last Sunday evening, the speakers were Mr. Shedden and Mr. Stanchfield, who have been extensively engaged in Y.M.C.A. work among the people of India.

Mr. Shedden, who is the architect of the latest Y. M. C. A. buildings in India, was the first speaker. He said that there are three kinds of missionary work which a young man may take up in India: first, educational missionary work; second, medical missionary work; and third, Y. M. C. A. work.

The Y. M. C. A. is teaching the people of India the honor of hard labor and that a man must be honest and trustworthy in order to be a true Christian. The Y.M.C.A. is endeavoring to teach the young men not only how to be good Christians but also how to develop their bodies so that they may become physically fit to lead Christian lives. In order to do this the buildings are located near a good field, and baseball and football games are encouraged.

Mr. Shedden also stated that the Y.M.C.A. work in India offers a fine opportunity to any young man who wants to enter upon this work not to make money, but to help the country and develop his own resources.

Mr. Stanchfield, who is the Y.M.C.A. secretary in charge of all the rural work, next addressed the Society. Mr. Stanchfield said that in as much as ninety per cent of the entire population of India depends upon agriculture for their living, the greater part of the Indians live in small villages. In these villages the sanitary conditions are terrible; therefore the first thing the Y.M.C.A. workers do is to make the people adopt a cleaner mode of living. If there is a small pond near the village, it is used for bathing,

RUSSIANS VICTORIOUS IN NAVAL BATTLE

Sink Two German Torpedo Boats and Damage Several Cruisers

LA FOLLETTE REFUSES TO TESTIFY—LIBERTY LOAN PASSES BILLION MARK

The German plans of seizing the entire island of Oesel at the head of the Gulf of Finland, have been meeting with great resistance at the hands of the Russian fleet. Although the Germans have already seized part of the island, the aid they had expected from their fleet in putting down Russian opposition in adjacent waters, has not been forthcoming, due to the Russians' activity.

The Russians seemed disinclined to throw all their naval vessels into a general engagement with the Germans for fear that the acknowledged superiority of the enemy would result in great losses and an open path throughout the Gulf of Finland to Petrograd. But in a small battle with torpedo boats and light cruisers, the Russians have sunk two German torpedo boats and seriously damaged two others, losing a torpedo boat themselves in the conflict.

The German land forces are now driving hard against the Svord Peninsula to the southwestern portion of the Island of Oesel with the object of capturing the batteries of Seul, which dominate the eastern entrance to the Gulf of Riga.

The Senate inquiry into the alleged seditious speech of Senator La Follette at St. Paul, was brought to an abrupt conclusion yesterday, when the Wisconsin Senator, appearing before the committee, submitted a statement calling its method of procedure "an insult" and declined to take any part whatever in the inquiry. He then strode out of the room smiling. The members of the committee have decided that La Follette's attitude yesterday should give further cause for an inquiry of the most searching nature, and accordingly, have planned to call in as witnesses, several officials of the State Department, including ex-Secretary of State Bryan.

It was estimated last night that the total Liberty Loan subscriptions had now reached the billion mark. Whether the remaining four billion is to be raised in eleven days, the treasury officials rather doubted, if the sales continue at the present slow rate.

New England has already raised $100,000,000 which is one-fifth of the quota allotted it.

The totals of some of the large cities are as follows:

Boston, $68,300,000; New York, $307,770,000; Philadelphia, $19,441,000; Cleveland, $2,090,000; Richmond, $24,659,600; St. Louis, $4,351,800; Kansas City, $3,025,000; San Francisco, $31,554,950.

The Liberty Loan

Now that the second Liberty Loan drive is in full sway, it seems as if it would be fitting for Andover men to help along the worthy campaign. The country needs the money, and, rather than inflict exorbitant taxes on the population, the administration chose to allow the people to invest their money in the government. Unless the specified amount can be raised before October 24, it will probably mean that a heavy tax law will go into effect. This latter reason has a more practical value, but there is another, a deeper lying argument. Every man wants to do his "bit," this is the great opportunity to do it.

A good many men in school have quite liberal allowances. To take a dollar out of these each week for a fifty dollar bond would mean but little. There would be interest of four per cent and no taxes to pay because of it. Besides this there would be the satisfaction in later life to know that they had done something to help their country in this great crisis. Therefore, let us first congratulate those who have bought bonds and then buy one ourselves.

Trustees Hold Regular Meeting

At the regular meeting of the Academy Trustees, held last evening, the following officers were elected: President, Alfred L. Ripley; treasurer, James C. Sawyer; clerk, Alfred E. Stearns, executive committee: A. L. Ripley, chairman, Elias B. Bishop, James H. Ropes, Clifford H. Moore, Fred G. Crane, James C. Sawyer, and A. E. Stearns.

The question of an Exeter game was brought up and it was decided that the best course would be to wait until the arrival of Major Davie, which will be sometime this week, to hear his plans in regard to the quantity and quality of military training advisable.

Over Fifty Men Sign Up for School Rifle Club

On the other nights ammunition will be five cents a block for members and ten cents for non-members. The range will be open for practice this afternoon.

It is hoped that more men will take advantage of this excellent opportunity to become acquainted with firearms, as it is a very imperative thing to know in these crucial times

Historical Exhibition

The attention of the students is called to an exhibition of historical articles and documents relating to the history of Andover. The exhibition started at the beginning of this week and is in the library under the supervision, of Miss Frost.

There are many interesting objects and photographs in the collection, among them being the autograph copy of America, an autographed letter of General George Washington, Squire Farrar's tinder-box, photographs of different phases of the history of the Academy, including one of the winning baseball team of 1888 on which Doctor Stearns himself pitched, and many other historical exhibits. There are also in this exhibition a few copies of Andover publications and periodicals which ought to prove interesting as a contrast to those of the present day.

As Phillips Andover Academy has probably the most entertaining history of any school in the United States, an exhibition of this sort should prove to be very instructive and profitable not only from a historical standpoint but also from an educational view. Benefactions of this kind have been on view in the library almost every year, but of late years sufficient interest has not been shown in the history of the Academy to necessitate an exhibition; this year, however, Miss Frost has put on view a fine display of interesting objects, and it is hoped that the student body will take some interest in it.

Communications

To the Editor of the PHILLIPIAN:—Much has been said about not taking short cuts across the campus so as to avoid wearing paths where they do not belong, but very little has been said about enlarging the regularly laid out paths. It seems as though a good many fellows in school, either consciously or unconsciously, make it a point to walk just on the edge of the path. In this way the grass is killed and gradually the paths become wider and wider; and so, instead of having a neat appearance, their edges are uneven and the grass is dead, or else there is the main walk with a small path on either side. Remember that the footing is just as easy in the middle of the path.

To the Editor of the PHILLIPIAN:—Phillips Academy has, without question, one of the most beautiful campuses of any college or "prep" school in the country. In as much as this is the case, every fellow in school should take an individual pride in keeping the school grounds as free as possible from candy wrappers or paper of any kind. It is hard to break a habit when it has been once established, so let us all make a special effort not to get into the habit of throwing paper about the campus. If you see a fellow open a letter and throw the envelope on the ground, go up and speak to him about it, but first make sure that you don't do the same thing yourself. Let's not only refrain from throwing paper around in the future, but let us also pick up what we see lying about. If everyone does this, we may be justly proud of the beauty of the school's grounds.

After the drill, a football game was held between the Pynchard High School of Andover and the Methuen High School. The heavier Pynchard team won by the score of 36 to 0.

1918-1921

The game between the Seniors and Juniors, resulted in a 7 to 6 victory for 1918. It was featured by the spectacular forward passing of the "prep" team, resulting in a touchdown in the last minute of play.

In the first quarter the Juniors gained a little more ground than the Seniors, being due to the fact that 1918 played a kicking game throughout the entire period.

In the second quarter Townsend intercepted a forward pass and ran 30 yards for a touchdown. Keith kicked the goal, and the half ended with the score 7 to 0 in favor of 1918.

The third period saw the play about even. However, in the last quarter, with but four minutes to play, the Juniors got possession of the ball in mid-field, and by means of a series of beautiful forward passes and some good runs by Ross, succeeded in scoring a touchdown. The attempt at goal failed.

Lawrence Work

The Lawrence work will start on Tuesday, the 30th of October. The classes will be held in the Sunday School rooms of the Holy Cross Lithuanian Catholic Church, which rooms provide for about seventy-five Lithuanians. To handle such a large number Mr. Quinby needs about twenty-five men to draw from, as ten men are needed to work on Tuesday and ten on Friday. These men must be up in their studies and they must be prepared to work as much as they can. All men wishing to do this work should see Mr. Quinby at once.

watering cattle, and for supplying drinking-water to the inhabitants of the place.

The houses are very small and dirty. There are no windows at all and the doors are shut tight at night, for the people are very much afraid of the night air. A house consists of but one small room which serves as kitchen, bedroom, store-room and stable. Mr. Stanchfield said that he found a family of eight people with two water buffaloes, several goats, a cow and a dozen chickens all living in a house not over ten feet square. When the people live under such conditions it is not hard to believe the statement that two hundred and forty-two out of every thousand babies die before they are six months old.

The people, Mr. Stanchfield said, are very stingy with their money, and indeed this can scarcely cause surprise, for the man who works twelve hours a day gets but $1.00 to $1.50 a month. The women work even harder than the men but only get half as much pay.

Mr. Stanchfield mentioned an incident when he wanted a piano moved to a place, four and one-half miles away. He asked an Indian to see to it that the piano was moved. The man sent four women to the Y.M.C.A. building, and, after placing some sackcloth on the heads the four women hoisted the piano on their heads. They carried it all the way in this fashion. When asked how much they wanted for the job, they said that ten cents apiece would be a fair price.

Mr. Stanchfield said it was cheaper to hire a woman to spend the day in the fields acting the part of a scarecrow, than to get some old rags and set them up on a pole.

The first thing that the Y.M.C.A.'s do is to establish a bank. It seems strange that in a country where wages are so low a bank should be needed. The reason is that every girl must be married between the ages of eleven and thirteen. A dowry of about twelve rupees or four dollars is given and the money usually has to be borrowed at an interest of 75%. At the wage-earning rate of one dollar a month, it would take a man three months hard work to pay off the interest alone, so the Y.M.C.A.'s, in order to help the people get out of debt, give them a nine-cent rate of interest, and increase their income by urging every farmer to raise larger crops.

The greatest evils in India are dirt, debt, drunkenness, disease, and the demon worship. When the Y.M.C.A. workers go into a new village they tell the inhabitants that they will establish a Y.M.C.A. if they will swear to cut out liquor, to introduce local option, to send their boys and girls to school, and to clean up the village. The people always agree to these terms for they have heard how the Y.M.C.A. has helped other villages.

Mr. Stanchfield ended his talk by telling the story of Daniel Swamidis, a native, who is now the head of the Y.M.C.A. secretaries in India. When Daniel was a baby his mother pledged his life to Christ if certain men would spare his life. By hard work Daniel managed to go through school, and finally got his A.B. degree at one of the missionary universities. The government offered him a fine position and a large salary, but he turned this down and took up the Y.M.C.A. work.

Harvard gained 7 yards on an end run and made it first down on the next play. Another play netted 8 yards. Andover held, but then Harvard made first down on a fake kick. A center smash netted a yard and the next play put the ball on Andover's 40-yard line. The next two plays were good for 5 yards. Two forward passes failed and Andover took the ball on downs. Andover held on the next play. Harvard kicked and Bailey made a beautiful 35-yard run to Harvard's 38-yard line. Three plays netted but 5 yards, and Harvard blocked Baker's placekick, but Fairbairn recovered the ball on his 45-yard line. Andover made 5 yards in two plays. The Harvard line broke through and spoiled Baker's pass. Baker kicked, and the Harvard runner went out of bounds on the 20-yard line. Gratwick was again hurt and Abbott replaced him. Harvard made 5 yards and then punted to Bailey, who returned the ball to the center of the field. Braden gained a yard and Fairbairn added 4 more on a fake kick. Harvard intercepted Andover's pass on the Crimson's 40-yard line. A Harvard back broke away for a 20-yard run but was finally stopped by Bailey. Harvard made first down on three plays. Andover held and then a forward pass netted the Crimson team 7 yards. The quarter ended with the ball on Andover's 20-yard line. Score: Harvard 12, Andover 0.

FOURTH QUARTER

The Harvard team was practically changed by this time. Harvard made first down on four plays, placing the ball on the 7-yard line. A plunge through center took the ball to the 2-yard line. Another buck netted half a yard more and then Lothrop took it over. Harvard failed at the goal.

Adams replaced Fairbairn. Abbott returned Harvard's kickoff to his 30-yard line. Abbott punted to Harvard's 28-yard line. Gibson went in at fullback for Bailey. Harvard made 12 yards around end. Three more plays netted only a scant 5 yards. Harvard made 4 yards on the next two plays. Andover held and took the ball on downs. Abbott punted. Harvard failed to gain and then punted to Gibson, who was downed on his 35-yard line. Abbott lost 2 yards on a delayed pass. Braden made 3 yards and a forward pass was unsuccessful. Abbott kicked and Harvard was downed on her 42-yard line. Harvard lost a yard and then kicked. Gibson returned the ball 5 yards. Andover "A", Hats

Many of the student body, especially the new men, have wondered why some of the students wear the numeral or letter hats, which they have won, with the insignia facing to the rear. This custom has a very curious origin.

Some time ago only those who were members of a winning team against Exeter in a major sport could wear their letter facing to the rear. Therefore, it was a great honor to have the privilege of having the letter side of the hat turned backwards. For many years after the origin of this custom, Andover defeated Exeter so regularly that all "A" men had this privilege. In this way the custom developed for men who have won their "A" or even their numerals to wear the insignia facing the rear.

College Notes

Over one thousand men have enlisted in the Reserve Officers Training Corps at Harvard. The Corps is in charge of Major Flynn who was the commander of the "Iron Battalion", as the men of the Harvard camp, under French instructors called themselves. Class work and drills began last Monday.

It is still possible that Princeton may have a varsity football team. Trainer Fitzpatrick is in favor of such a team, as he says that interest in interclass athletics has decreased this year and he thinks that the lack of a varsity team to arouse interest in the game is to blame.

The Terrace Council has granted the Sophomore class of Union College permission to shave the heads of all Freshmen seen in public without their Freshman caps. The Sophomores attend chapel armed with clippers for the purpose.

Recently five hundred students at Columbia met to protest against the actions of the trustees when they expelled Professors Dana and Cattell, and in causing the resignation of Professor Beard because of the free speech agitation at Columbia.

The corner stone of the new Harkness Quadrangle at Yale was laid by President Arthur T. Hadley last week. The building of the quadrangle will represent the expenditure of over a million dollars.

ten yards of Dartmouth's goal two or three times; but by good work of their goal-keeper a tally was prevented. In the first half the wind was against Andover and the sun was also unfavorable. Regardless of this fact, Dartmouth could not take advantage of their opportunities.

The second half started off as the first one ended, with the ball going back and forth. In one of Dartmouth's advances Aldrich put the ball past Cheney for Dartmouth's only score. This seemed to make Andover more determined, for a little while later when Andover's forwards had taken the ball up the field, Mok passed to Laing, who shot Andover's first goal. The game then continued in an exciting manner with Andover having a few close calls. Cheney handled his chances at goal with much efficiency. It was not until the last minute of play that Andover shot the winning goal. Paxton opened the way by placing a corner kick right in front of the goal, Hulburt, Dartmouth's goal-tender, made a fine stop, but Mok stopped his throw-out and shot the ball into the net.

There were several old Andover men on Dartmouth's team: Tracy, Noyes, Pearce and Hulburt, their captain.

The lineup was as follows:—

ANDOVER	DARTMOUTH
Cheney, g.	g. Capt. Hulburt
Dodd, l.f.b.	l.f.b. Sackett
