FIRST SWIMMING MEET vs. BOSTON BOYS' CLUB

ONE WIN FOR EACH TEAM IN PAST TWO CONTESTS

When the swimming team faces the Boston Boys' Club this afternoon, a close, interesting meet is certain. Two years ago this same aggregation swam against the Blue in the first meet of the season and brought a technical victory back with them by virtue of winning the relay, although the actual meet was a tie. Last year, Andover won by a close margin. As almost the same array of stars is swimming for the Boys' Club this year, today's meet will decide a question of final supremacy in two out of three meets. In the relay Coach Dake will try to match a veteran team of Lynch, Skinney, Lee, and Hughes with a quartet composed of King, Jameson, Jones and Westfall. This race should be the most interesting of the day as Lynch, Skinney and Lee are all known to have broken 27 seconds in the fifty, while three men on the Andover team have done likewise. For the same reason the 50-yard dash should be a fine race, with Lee and Lynch of the Boys' Club competing against Jones and King of Andover. It is an almost impossible task to predict the winner from this group. It is uncertain who will dive for the Boys' Club, but McCloy should give Andover five points. In the backstroke the Boston entries are little known and the Blue should pick up some more points with Anderson and Willey. Skinney of the Boys' Club will undoubtedly beat anyone Andover has to offer in the two hundred, as he has beaten the latter's entries for the last two years, and has surpassed the pool record by two seconds. Fry, who is Andover's best bet in this event, ought to come in a good second. Lynch and Carr will swim against Phillips and Tatlock in the breaststroke. This race will probably be close, with the Boys' Club getting the majority of points. The last event of the day will be the 100-yard dash in which Captain Westfall and Mooney will oppose Lee and Skinney. If the latter is not too tired from the two hundred, he ought to give Westfall one of the hardest races in the latter's career.

The line-up:
ANDOVER- King, Jones, Lee, Lynch

MME. SCHUMANN-HEINK TO SING HERE THURSDAY

ON HER FAREWELL TOUR THRU
AMERICA AND CANADA

Culminating fifty-one years on the world's greatest opera and concert platforms, Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink is making her Farewell Tour during the present season and will appear in the George Washington Auditorium for her last local recital on Thursday Evening, Jan. 24 at 8.15 o'clock.

This gigantic tour will forever be a milestone in music history. It will take the great contralto from coast to coast through seventy-five leading cities of the United States and Canada, and will include her return to the Metropolitan Opera Company in New York to sing again the great Wagnerian roles on the stage where she made her first great American successes.

Schumann-Heink made her American debut on January 9, 1899 when she sang the role of "Ortrud" at a Metropolitan Opera Company performance of "Lohengrin" in Chicago. She was recalled twenty times in this sensational debut. Four weeks later her eighth and only American-born child was born in a New York hotel and was christened George Washington Schumann-Heink. Five weeks after this event, Schumann-Heink sang for the first time in the Metropolitan Opera House, scoring a triumph as complete as her debut in Chicago. Since then, she has become virtually an American institution.

Last season was her Golden Jubilee of song. In celebration she sang seventy concerts to packed houses, and was honored by twelve governors, fifty-seven mayors and city officials, fraternal organizations, colleges and audiences who contributed in making it an outstanding year.

At the initial concert of her Farewell Tour, Mme. Schumann-Heink was given an unprecedented honor when she was welcomed to New Jersey by Governor A. Harry Moore and a committee of twelve New Jersey mayors representing the leading municipalities of the state.

Refreshed by an extended rest and prepared fully for this historically significant tour, the great singer returns to her public in the vigor of health and art which seems destined to carry her to a greater peak than any reached before in her great career.

NOTICES

UPPER MIDDLE ELECTION

In the Upper Middle Class election held last week Walter S. Kimball and Leeds Mitchell, Jr., were re-elected President and Vice-President, respectively, and F. C. Stebbins was elected Secretary on a re-vote following a tie between F. C. Stebbins and his brother A. R. Stebbins, the former Secretary.

SENIOR PROM ELECTION

The members of the Senior Prom Committee are: LeRoy B. Pitkin, James W. Bannon, James Q. Newton, and John M. McGauley.

TRACK NOTICE

In the last issue of the Phillipian, Saturday, March ninth, was put as an open day for the track team. However, it is scheduled for a meet with the Dartmouth Freshmen at Dartmouth. There is also a second team meet with Lawrence High School on February thirteenth and a second team meet with Newton High School on February twentieth.

BASKETBALL

After their triumph of a week ago Andover's basketball team hopes to keep their slate clean thru the game with Tufts Freshmen today. Little is known concerning the ability of the opponents, but if past games indicate anything Andover should prove the victor.

During the past week Coach Blackmer has been drilling his squad hard in an endeavor to iron out the rough spots that were apparent in last week's game. He has tried many different combinations in an attempt to find one that will work smoothly. It seems highly improbable, however, that his starting line-up will be different from last week's. This line-up had Chaffee and Huppuch at the guard positions, Drick at center, and Mettler and Ederheimer at the forward berths. These men worked very well together last week and will no doubt give a creditable account of themselves today. I. Kettle, a man who played a fine game in the few minutes he was in last week, should see some service before the final whistle. Kellogg and Howard will also probably play a part of the game.

MOVIE CLUBS IN THE COLLEGES

College men and women have come to the point where taking moving pictures at big games and winter sports festivals is the mode. In the East, where football originated, the students are going in for moving picture photography with the same amount of interest and enthusiasm that they show for archery, hockey and soccer. Movie clubs are next, for in this day and age of simple movie cameras, which now even take color pictures and which are being shown in all attractive colors, it is possible to get a permanent record of your college days. And now one can even secure an f. 4.5 lens to give telefoto effects, and objects will be larger and nearer when shown on the screen.

CAPT. KNIGHT GIVES AMUSING ENTERTAINMENT

ILLUSTRATED TALK ON TAMING
THE GOLDEN EAGLE

At eight o'clock on Wednesday evening, Jan. 16, Captain C. W. R. Knight, well-known English nature photographer, gave a very interesting and amusing lecture on "Taming the Golden Eagle." The talk was wholly accompanied by lantern slides and moving pictures made by the author himself.

Immediately after his introduction by Dr. Stearns, the lecturer put on a film in the form of a prologue, which took place on the author's estate in England and showed how he first received news of a photographable eagle's nest. Consequently on May 18, 1926, he set out for Scotland, his ultimate destination being a storker's lodge in the mountain country. Making this his headquarters, he and his companion, whom he referred to as Mr. Blackburn, finally discovered a nest which measured more than six feet long and about five across. The inhabitants of this were a female eagle with a wingspread of seven feet, and two newly hatched eaglets. Captain Knight was fortunate in obtaining a picture of the murder of the male eaglet by the female, which according to theory always took place. Two other nests were also found in the surrounding country, one of which contained both a male and a female eagle already half grown, thus disproving the above theory. Some wonderful slow motion pictures of flight, taken back in England, of a golden eagle sent from Scotland in a hamper, closed the lecture.

Captain Knight presented a most enjoyable talk, holding his audience's attention by his wit and his very English accent. Another feature of the lecture was the addition of cartoons, decorating the moving pictures.

HOCKEY REVIEW

Hockey Team to play Worcester today

In view of the recent defeats in Hockey at the hands of Arlington and M. I. T. Freshmen, the outlook for today is not very bright. However, since last Wednesday, Coach Vaughan has rounded the team into better shape, and if they play intelligently, victory should be theirs.

One factor that has been lacking in the two previous games is the help of those watching. The few that were there did not seem to show the true Blue spirit. A large attendance would be a great advantage and would give considerable help. It really should not be necessary to press that. Andover has got good material, if a bit lacking in experience.

The probable line-up will be:

ANDOVER

 Jackson, rd.
 MacDougall, ld.

HOCKEY TEAM LOSES TO M.I.T. AGGREGATION

BOTH TEAMS INEXPERIENCED
AND FAIRLY WELL MATCHED

On Wednesday afternoon the Andover hockey team was defeated, 3-0, by the M. I. T. Freshmen in a game that was filled with excitement. Two of the goals came in rapid succession in the second period, while the third goal came near the close of the final period.

Andover continually threatened the opponent's goal, but was unsuccessful in its attempts to score. The freshmen had few chances to try at the Blue net, but they played the puck so well that three times they tallied.

The game started with Andover getting the jump and pushing the play. All the Blue men shot at the goal, but failed to score. The Andover line seemed to show good teamwork in this period and continually kept the play down around the M. I. T. goal.

The second period, although neither team showed as good combination play as before, proved to be more exciting. The puck was driven from one end of the ice to the other, until finally Regan, M. I. T. left wing, received it right in front of Neill and shot it past him as the latter came out to protect. This came after eight minutes of play and was soon followed by the second goal. Peterson, the opponent's right defense, sneaked up the left center ice and sank the puck in the net with a long shot, catching Neill off his guard. During the remainder of the time, the Andover team tried hard to even the count.

The third period consisted for the most part of a fast rally by Andover, but the two goal lead was too much for them to overcome. Here the Blue did not exhibit as good teamwork as in the first period. With five minutes more to play, Regan again drew Neill out in front of the goal, and the goalie was forced to his knees in a desperate attempt to save, which did not succeed, thus giving M. I. T. their final score.

The M. I. T. Freshmen deserve credit for their victory as they have only been together on the ice a few days. Their best players were Regan, Peterson, and Ward. Fawcett, with his poke-checking, and Jackson were the outstanding players for Andover.

THE NEW HEATING PLANT

The first unit of the new heating plant will be put in operation in about four weeks. This, coupled with the two others to be completed later, will greatly relieve the strain on the present plant. A new smoke stack, much higher than the old one has been erected. The fire-proof building, in which the three new units will be placed, is almost finished. The necessity for this plant was brought about by the huge building program of late years.

SATURDAY NIGHT BASKETBALL

Last Saturday night we played a basketball game with the Huntington School, that was possibly not as interesting as usual because of the unevenness of the contest. There was one thing, however, that did mar the game very much, the fact that so many of the students got up to leave the gymnasium before the last period had been finished. This action was doubtless the result of the fellows' eagerness to see the picture show that is provided every Saturday night in the auditorium of George Washington Hall. The matter was called to the attention of the Senior Council members, who immediately set about to remedy the action. An arrangement has now been made so that the picture show will not start until the game has been finished, in order that everyone will be able to remain through the entire game. It is just another little side-light of school spirit that we must bolster up a bit.

One other thing was noticeable at the game, and that was the absence of the customary cheer leaders. It adds a lot to the spirit of a team to have some good, organized cheering supporting it, and, in case we are not so fortunate in our next game, it is certainly desirable to have some men leading cheers for the team.

The school has just acquired a beautiful copy by the well known artist, Alexander James, of a portrait of John Hancock by Copley in the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. This portrait is of interest because John Hancock, as speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, signed the act of incorporation of Phillips Academy, October 4th, 1780. Mr. James is shortly to go to Washington to make for Phillips Academy a copy of a portrait of Abiel Holmes of the supreme court of the United States. Abiel Holmes was one of the original trustees of Phillips Academy, and father of the distinguished poet and essayist, Oliver Wendell Holmes, who graduated from Andover in 1825.

EXETER NOTES

Wednesday Exeter's new cage was opened to the students for the first time. The building, the gift of Col. William B. Thompson, is much the same as ours. It is made of red brick and its two tracks measure ten laps to the mile. The opening of this building will permit Exeter to compete on an even basis with Andover in the future.

HONOR AT ANDOVER

The "cribbing" question is, of course, a perennial thorn in the flesh of the faculty of any school, and there are always theorists who have their pet solutions of the problem. In this connection the decision of Amherst College to abolish the Honor System is of some significance. Experience showed that most boys would not carry tales regarding their fellows; and, if infractions were not reported, the system was bound to break down. Indeed there were many perfectly honest undergraduates who preferred to revert to the old plan of organized proctoring, on the ground that it relieved them of any responsibility. It would be hypocritical to assert that there is not "cribbing" in Phillips Academy. As President Pease has pointed out, there are, in any body of young men, three groups: one which includes those virtuous citizens who would be ashamed to "crib"; another made up of the unregenerate, who will always "crib" when they can do so without being caught, and a third composed of those who will not cheat unless greatly tempted by fear or opportunity. A policy of thorough policing will prevent a large part of the "cribbing" which might otherwise occur among this last group. It must be remembered that "cribbing" is not universally regarded as a heinous offense. Often, in a well-ordered school, it is possible to create among the leaders a sentiment which makes it unfashionable to cheat. When the news is spread abroad that "cribbing" simply isn't done by the best fellows, then the situation is bound to clear up. But when the leaders themselves, as has sometimes been the case, have no scruples, the problem is a serious one. After all the wisest procedure in a school like Phillips Academy is to remove temptation as far as possible, to take every legitimate precaution, and to impose severe punishment on those who are not law-abiding.

FORUM OF CURRENT EVENTS

Last night on the upper floor of Peabody House, a group of students met under the guidance of Mr. Roth for a very informal and interesting discussion group. There were about twenty-five fellows present, who partook equally in the arguments. The question discussed was: "Will Aviation be of Real Benefit to Mankind?" The subject was contested in respect to its practicality in a commercial sense and in respect to the pleasure that flying would produce. At the end of the meeting those present voted that Hathaway had been the man with the best arguments to substantiate his beliefs.

Another such forum will be held next Friday evening, and all students are very cordially invited to be present.

W. T. Adams, P. A '28, scored the goal which enabled the Dartmouth Freshmen to beat the Cushing hockey team 1-0 in an overtime period January 12.

THE FLYING DUTCHMAN PROVES VERY INTERESTING

Wednesday afternoon Dr. Pfatteicher gave the second of his series of lectures on Wagner. The lecture was devoted to a discussion of the opera, "The Flying Dutchman". This opera is of an entirely different type from that discussed last week, "Rienzi", though both were composed within a few months of each other. The "Flying Dutchman" has often been called the first milestone of Wagner's music and marks the change from the stiff music of its predecessors to the romantic strain of those that followed.

The theme of the opera is an old Norwegian legend which Wagner had heard. The theme became more vivid to him while taking a rough voyage to London, and he wrote the opera soon afterward in a suburb of Paris. It was first produced in Dresden on January 2, 1843. After a few performances it was withdrawn from the stage not to be seen again for twenty-two years.

In the first act we find "The Dutchman", who is under a strange curse, the terms of which are that he must stay at sea until he induces a woman to become his wife and may only use one year in every seven to accomplish this end. We see him in a voyage meeting with Daland, the father of a beautiful girl. After the Hollander has acquainted Daland with the curse that hangs over his actions the latter grants him permission to marry his daughter.

The second act pictures the meeting of Senta, Daland's daughter, and the Dutchman and their subsequent engagement much to the dissatisfaction of Erick, Senta's old lover. The Dutchman learns of his fiancée's former engagement and after a violent scene in the third act sets sail in dismay. Senta tries to call him back, but finding her cries in vain she leaps into the sea after him. Thus the curse is broken and Senta and the Hollander arise into heaven together.

Dr. Pfatteicher accompanied his very interesting talk by playing parts of the opera on the piano, victrola and organ. Due to requests the lecture next Wednesday afternoon, which will be on Tannhauser, will begin at 4.15 instead of 4.30 as heretofore. The privilege of attending these fine lectures should be snatched by every boy in school.

HOCKEY MOST DANGEROUS SPORT IN COLLEGE

Hockey, as played by the colleges, is more dangerous than football or any other sport, is a fact that is brought out by Joseph Stubbs, Harvard Hockey Coach, whose article, "Intercollegiate Hockey in the East", appears in the February issue of College Humor.

"A doctor is in attendance at all practices and games," says Coach Stubbs, "and he has a most complete equipment of medical supplies. It might be noted that we had two very severe injuries from skate cuts last season, both of which required prompt needlework. One of the visiting players dislocated his shoulder in a game, was etherized, his shoulder reset, and strapped up without leaving the building. There are very few practices or games where the doctor leaves without having a call for his services. Hockey is a dangerous game."

AVIATION IN THE COLLEGES

"Aviation in the colleges has been progressing with leaps and bounds," says Joe Godfrey, Jr., in the February College Humor. "The Harvard Flying Club at Cambridge has its own plane and is used daily by its student members. Each year a new plane is purchased by the club members and so successful has been the operation of the club itself that its members now offer to help the students at other universities to form a similar organization. At Yale the Flying Club will undoubtedly buy a plane this year, and other schools soon to follow are: New York University, Massachusetts Tech, Georgia Tech, Stanford, California, Michigan, Illinois and Minnesota. Wherever there are courses in aeronautics and there are about seventy large institutions now offering such courses aero and flying clubs are being formed.

The great interest now shown in aviation in the colleges is resulting in the taking of special courses in flying by students who wish to become pilots. Students will soon fly their own planes.

HE NEVER USED OLEAQUA. DON'T LET THIS HAPPEN TO "U"

Oleaqua is both tonic and dressing, keeps the hair smoothly brushed all day long. Used only two or three times for this purpose. Oleaqua is at the same time exceedingly beneficial. Its properties as dandruff remover are exceptional. Full directions accompany each bottle.
