ANDOVER MUSICAL CLUBS PRESENT EXCELLENT PRO- GRAM AT ROGER'S HALL

Annual Concert Directed By Dr.
Pfatteicher Attains Unusual Success

DOUBLE QUARTET IS FEATURE

Excellent Performance by Glee Club and Orchestra Supplemented by Covell on Violin

The Rogers Hall Concert, long considered the crowning event of the musical season, took place Saturday night, Jan. 18th. Some eighty members of the combined musical clubs, together with Dr. Pfatteicher, the musical director, Mr. Guy Eaton, Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Basford, made the trip to Lowell. Dvorak's "Slavonic Dance" was the first selection of the evening. The orchestra under Dr. Pfatteicher rendered this number very creditably.

The Glee Club followed with an equally good performance of Handel's "Round About the Starry Throne" and Schumann's stirring "Two Grenadiers".

Robert Covell then played "Air on the G String" by Bach and "La Folicchon" by Barbella Moffat. Covell's violin playing exhibited both talent and technique.

The orchestra returned with a Grieg Suite which consisted of "The Patriotic Song", "The Watchman's Song", Solvegg's Song" and "The Sailor's Song".

THIRD ORGAN RECITAL TO BE GIVEN TODAY

Many Interesting Numbers
In Auditorium

The third of the Wednesday afternoon musical recitals will take place today in George Washington Hall, at 4.30 o'clock. The soloist will be Mr. Francis W. Snow, organist of Trinity Church, Boston, who is considered perhaps the finest organist in that city. The program for Mr. Snow's first appearance at Andover includes many interesting numbers ranging from the classical flavor of a Prelude and Fugue in G by Bach, and Canon by Schumann, to the more recent compositions of such composers as Yon, whose Humoresque will be played.

BOOKS OF WORLD WAR PHOTOS PRESENTED BY MR. SULLIVAN

One of the finest gifts the school has received in some time is the set of four volumes of official government photographs taken during the World War. The generous donor of this rare collection of books was Mr. Boetius Sullivan, P. A. '05, of Chicago. These books are presented in memory of the Andover men who gave their lives in the war, and contain a special dedication page to that effect, giving also the date of the presentation of the set to Phillips Academy.

The books are compiled by the Pictorial Bureau in Washington, and belong to a limited edition of only a few thousand copies. The photographs themselves are in rotogravure, and the volumes are bound in three-quarters morocco leather. The scenes pictured are those taken at crucial times in all

BLUE SEXTET FAVORED OVER CUSHING TODAY

Team Approaches Mid-season
Form During Recent Cold Spell

This afternoon the Andover hockey team will meet Cushing Academy on the home rink. Although not much is known about the visiting team the game is sure to prove close and interesting. Cushing is usually represented by a fine hockey team and this year's sextet is no exception.

Since the opening victory over the M. I. T. Freshmen, the Blue team has not had much opportunity to practice because of the adverse weather conditions. However, during the last few days of good weather the squad has rounded into almost mid-season form and do not in the least bit show the effects of the brief layoff. The forward line

Savell and Williamson Also Capture
Their Events—Four Pool
Records Broken

Four pool records were broken in last Saturday's swimming meet with the Yale freshmen. The Yale relay team took the first event in 1 minute 40 2-5 seconds, making a record pool time. Anderson came in in 1 minute 6 2-5 seconds, bettering considerably the backstroke mark he set last year while swimming for Andover. Hapke, a very promising sprint man from New Haven, jumped ahead from a neck-and-neck pace with King, which had lasted for the first two laps, to win the 100-yard freestyle in another record-breaking time of 56 4-5 seconds. After keeping a short lead all through the 200-yard race Mundy made a quick finish, with a time of 2 minutes 14 1-5 seconds, completing the fourth record of the day.

Despite the fact that it was beaten by a score of 37-25, the Andover swimming team is to be proud of the showing it made in the first meet of the 1930 season. The Yale team Andover met Saturday was a stronger one than that college has had in some time, and the individual times of Coach Daké's men were exceptionally good.

The relay was a close race, but the accumulated leads of the first three freshmen made it impossible for Andover's anchor man, Kahanamoku, to make it up, although he cut down to a few yards a lead of

A wide and diversified program of entertainments is to be offered to students at Andover throughout the winter term. With recitals every Wednesday afternoon and lectures and concerts on Friday evenings, the Academy will have more first-class entertainments than most cities. Already in the two weeks since school started, such a great artist as Roland Hayes has been brought here, to say nothing of the many lectures and organ recitals, and the marvelous Vox Theramin.

On Friday evening the distinguished lecturer, Mr. Leon M. Pearson, of Haverford, Penn., will give his talk, Tales of the Sea, in the auditorium of George Wash-

November Club Possibly Scene of Coming Tea Dance

The floor used for the tea dance of February first may be the November Club, whose advantages over the Peabody House are numerous. The gymnasium cannot be used on account of basketball. The floor of the November Club is larger than Peabody House and a stage provides an efficient platform for the orchestra. Of course, the distance of the Club, which is on Locke Street, is an argument against it, but it is felt that so manifold are the advantages there that everyone who intends to go to the dance will find the short walk worthwhile. Hal-Hemp's DETROITERS are a band whose music may well be guaranteed, at least by anyone who has had the pleasure of hearing them. They played two engagements on the hill last spring and met with incredible success, considering that their appointments came just after Red Nichols and his Five Pennies had created atmosphere exceedingly difficult for an unknown orchestra to invade.

On February 14th in George Washington auditorium, Count Felix von Luckner will continue his famous lecture, "Sea Raids of a Friendly Enemy", which he began last year. At the outbreak of the world war he fitted out an old ship, disguised it as a Norwegian windjammer, and ran it through the British blockade. During the war he sank a half-million tons of allied shipping and never through all his adventures did he take a human life. He always treated his prisoners as guests and put them safely on shore as soon as possible.

FOURTH FLOOR OF ABBOT HOUSE CONDEMNED BY PUBLIC OFFICIAL

It is of interest to hear that the top story of Abbot House has been condemned recently by public officials on the grounds that it is a fire-trap. There are only a few rooms on this floor with apparently no ready exit in case of fire.

In connection with this act, it is of historical interest to say that Abbot House, with the exception of Foxcroft and Bartlet, is one of the oldest brick dormitories on Andover

The latest building the school has completed erecting is the new dining hall, which is in the last stages of development and will be finished in the spring, although it will not be put in use until next fall. The architect for this fine piece of work is Charles A. Platt. When the building is completed it will be one of the finest school or college dining halls in America. Chief among its many attractions will be the faculty room, the furniture of which will be of the early Sheraton and Duncan Phyfe periods. The room will be noted for its fine rural landscape decorations.

All private eating houses will be discontinued, and it is planned to have each class eat in a separate hall, of which there are four. Two are done in oak, and two in walnut, both panelled to the ceiling, having been built in the manner of the college dining halls at Oxford and Cambridge and various of the English lower schools. The four halls will be decorated with oil portraits

SECOND PHILO DEBATE TO BE HELD TONIGHT

Desirability Of Longer Exams
Subject Of Interest
To Students

The Philomathean Society will hold its second debate of the season on the second floor of Peabody House tonight at 6.45 p. m. The subject will be, "Resolved that three-hour term examinations are preferable to the present one-hour". Wolcott, J. Cates, and Angell will speak for the affirmative, while Atherton, Goodrich, and Nichols will uphold the cause of the negative. The spirited debate held last week was very successful, a good number turning out for it. It is hoped, moreover, that its success will act as a magnet and draw an even greater crowd tonight.

"The Picton" Explained

Mr. Frederic B. Malim's article on English schools, which we printed last term, created some curiosity as to the meaning of a certain phrase. Mr. Malim wrote, speaking of the difference between English and American schools, "One of your alumni would say 'I was at Andover, in the class of 1921': an old Wellington would say 'I was at Wellington in the Picton. Your divisions are horizontal, our are vertical.'"

This sentence puzzled several of the faculty members here, and of course puzzled the Phillipian board. We therefore wrote to Mr. Malim, headmaster of Wellington College, England, and were told that all the dormitories at Wellington are named after great soldiers of Wellington's time. One of these was Sir Thomas Picton, who fought with Wellington at Waterloo. In other words, as we interpret it, a Wellingtonian's allegiance is not to his class, but to his dormitory. The "class", as the original article explained, is scattered on the day the school meets "the cream is perpetually being skimmed off", and thus a boy may easily not remain in the class. But the "house" is a four-year refuge about which his life centers; it is his ambition to play for his house cricket or football team, his tutor lives there and is always able to give him personal advice; and so he remains true to the Picton, rather than to the class of '21.

More On Dramatics

Fifty years ago the spirit of anarchy was evidently rife in the ranks of the school when the subject of the Dramatic Club was mentioned. We can just see the pessimist who wrote the following editorial predicting football defeat because Exeter had won one more game than Andover in her preliminary season, or proclaiming that the country was going to the dogs.

At any rate this editorial, which appeared just fifty years ago, advises, apropos of the communication in Saturday's issue, that it would be better not to have any Dramatic Club at all.

"Of all forms of school enterprise, the support of a Dramatic Club is the most expensive, the most troublesome, and in the end the most unsatisfactory. Supposing even that there could be found in the school, ten or a dozen men capable of acting tolerably well, and supposing that a manager should arise in our midst willing to devote unlimited time and attention to the subject and thoroughly able to quell the storms of jealousy and personal pride to which the members of a Dramatic Association take as naturally as a duck to water, the difficulties and obstacles in the way of success have only begun. The simplest drawing-room comedy or farce cannot be presented without some attempt at scenes, decorations, and a considerable importation of costumes, wigs, etc. The horrible expensiveness of these articles is a subject for the veracious school journalist to weep over, but it is not a subject for the bestowal of the infrequent dimes and quarters of the school pocketbook."

ington Hall. Mr. Pearson, a graduate of Phillips Exeter and of Swarthmore College, has had much experience in dramatic work and is now on the faculty of Haverford School. In his lecture he recites poems, including John Masefield's Salt Water Ballads, and tells many stories of adventure on ocean trips he has taken. Mr. Pearson comes strongly recommended, and his talk should interest all who like tales of adventure. The general public is cordially invited to attend; there will be no admission fee.

During the following three weeks there will be a recital given every Wednesday afternoon. The first, on January 29th, will be an organ recital by Mr. Walter Howe, for eleven years director of music at Abbot Academy. He is also the organist of a Boston church. One of the features in his recital will be Afternoon of a Faun, Debussy's finest orchestral composition. February 5th, Mrs. L. C. Angus, a well known local pianist will give, with Dr. Pfatteicher, Wagner's Parsifal arranged for piano and organ. This will be followed on February 12th by a recital on the Viola d' Amore by Mr. Paul Shirley of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. The Viola d' Amore is a musical instrument, similar to a violin, with seven stopped strings, and is no longer in general use. Mr. Shirley is universally conceded to be the best living player on this instrument.

And all these brilliant concerts, lectures, and entertainments are but a few of the many that are to come here this year. And among others, we must not forget that our own Dramatic Club plans to present a play of some sort sometime in March. These plays have always been perhaps, the most enjoyed entertainments during the year, and we trust that they will continue to be so.

has been greatly improved and the whole team has been strengthened defensively.

The men who will start today's game will probably be the same as those who began the M. I. T. game. Fawcett will play his usual brilliant game at center and will be aided by Rolfe and Bryant on the wings.

Gardner and Rugg will be at the defense positions and Bryant at center. Captain Neill who was slightly injured in the last game will be back on the ice at the goal. Sumner has also progressed fast and is capable of replacing Neill at any moment. Considering the speed, passing ability, and defense work which the Blue team has developed, they will go on the ice a decided favorite today.

The probable lineup will be:

EXETER QUINTET FALLS BEFORE CUSHING TEAM

Only Team Representing Red and Gray Loses in Slow Game

(Special to THE PHILLIPIAN)

Last Saturday night the Exeter basketball team lost to Cushing Academy by a 23-20 score. The game was rather slow in the first half and neither team played well. The passing was very poor. The score at the end of the half was 12-10 in favor of the Red and Gray. The second half disclosed far fewer errors for either team. The passing was better, and the shooting more accurate. Exeter led until late in the third period when Cushing got ahead. The visitors were not sure of their victory until the final whistle, however. Merchant and Dickson played best for Exeter, while Crofts starred for Cushing.

The hockey game with Hebron had to be cancelled Saturday because of the heavy rain which flooded the rink just before the game was to have been played. The swimmers from the M. I. T. freshman class missed their train in Boston. As a result of this the swimming meet also had to be postponed.

HUNTINGTON FIVE ARE BASKETBALL OPPONENTS

Captain Kellogg Still Out—Blue Appears to Have Edge

The results of the basketball game with Lowell High School indicate that the coaches will have a good team to put up against Huntington this afternoon. The Boston team is not noted for its scoring ability, and if Saturday's marvelous show of fast passing keeps up this afternoon Andover ought not to have any difficulty in winning the game. However, the basket shooting will have to improve if the men are to avoid the loss of numerous close shots through poor hoop-work. Kettle and Broaca have been the outstanding floor men so far, and with the team following the ball closely the Blue quintet should prove itself a fast-moving unit. Drick continues to show his steady game which helped bring Andover through last year victorious. Brown and Mayer also did some excellent playing, and have shown themselves valuable assets to Andover's representatives.

The Huntington team is strengthened by two good centers, Anderson and Rohan, besides two other reserve men for this position. The stars for the Boston team this year are, however, Freitas and Velho, who were leaders in their recent game with Bridgton Academy. Although there will be plenty more than enough fast playing to make the game exciting for both sides, there is little doubt that the superior Blue combination will take the contest.

LOWELL HIGH DEFEATS
BLUE IN BASKETBALL

Last Minute Goal By Athanas
From Midfloor Changes
Victory to Defeat

The Andover basketball team received an unexpected upset last Saturday when it ran into a tartar in the person of Lowell High School. Since this was the first game of the season, however, many of the faults of the team can be excused. Poor shooting on the part of our team and uncanny shooting by the Lowell right forward, Athanas, caused our downfall. This star by his weaving in and out of the Andover defense was a constant worry and alone accounted for 14 of his team's points. His basket from mid-floor in the last eight seconds of play won the game for Lowell. Kettle, the ubiquitous Andover right forward was easily head and shoulders above his teammates. His shooting accounted for 14 Andover points and his fast floorwork assisted many others. Broaca was probably next in value to his team's score.

At the outset, Andover took the ball from Lowell and with good pass-work scored on a pass from Mayer to Kettle. Here Lowell's passing attack failed, but Jarek was fouled and made both his tries good to even the score. Andover then got the ball and Mayer sank a beautiful long shot from almost mid-floor. Another Andover goal was which Athanas, the wily forward seemed to emerge from nowhere and sink a nice shot. Andover's passing attack began to function but many scores were prevented by poor shooting. The team had innumerable tries at the basket but failed. When this sort of offensive failed, Kettle took a hand and dribbled almost the length of the floor to score. Following this, Lowell took time out. Andover's team play was far superior to Lowell's but her shooting was very mediocre. Athanas opened the play with a fast goal. Redman shot a foul. Kettle again scored following another spectacular dribble. Andover kept missing her chances to score by poor shooting. Jarek rimmed one to put Lowell ahead as the period ended, the score being 9-8.

Beginning the second period, Athanas scored with a beautiful long shot. After Mayer had barely missed a long one, Athanas sank one of his two fouls. Lowell kept forcing the play and there were many scrimmages under the Andover basket.

At this point Broaca replaced Mayer who was moved to Neff's position at forward. Drick made a foul as did Athanas for Lowell. Kettle made one of his usual dashes down the floor and scored a goal. Andover was having difficulty stopping Athanas who slipped away for a score. Following a rough scrimmage under the Andover goal, Drick missed a foul which Kettle tipped in for a nice goal. Pigeon then scored for Lowell after a brisk scrimmage. Soon after Broaca broke into the scoring column with a basket from near midfloor. Andover was near a score at half time at which the count stood 17-15 in Lowell's favor.

Opening the half, Lowell scored on Pigeon's shot after he had missed several. Kettle retaliated for the Blue. Poor shooting by both teams blotted out many opportunities for scores. Andover seemed to be watching Athanas more closely following the rest period. Mayer tied the score. Captain Chapman of Lowell put his team ahead again with an accurate shot. He then missed a foul which his teammate Pigeon converted into a score. Broaca came through with a foul shot to bring the score to 20-23. Drick converted both ends of a foul into scores to make it 22-23. Kettle dropped one in to put Andover ahead 24-23. Pigeon tied the score with his foul shot. Athanas broke loose again to make it 24-26 for Lowell. Beautiful passing failed to make up for poor shooting. Andover missed seven short shots in succession. Kettle converted both chances of a foul to even the count again at 26-26. Kidston replaced Brown. As Lowell forced the play, there was a continuous scrimmage under the Andover basket. Neff replaced Mayer. Drick dashed the length of the floor to put Andover ahead 28-26. Lowell began shooting frantically. Kettle's goal was disallowed. Lowell took time out. When the play was resumed, with eight seconds to go, Chapman got the ball, passed to Redman who passed to Athanas who, after dribbling a few steps, shot the most perfect goal of the day to the welcome accompaniment of the gun, leaving the score, Lowell 29, Andover 28.

Last Saturday in the cage the P. A. Fencers won a close bout from the Lynn General Electric team. Greenway, with lightning precision, won all his three matches. The final score was 5 to 4. The most outstanding bout of the day occurred when Greenway of Andover came from behind to score four successive touches against Young of Lynn. W. S. Murray fenced well for the blue but was defeated in his final bout by a very close score. At the conclusion he was unanimously elected captain for the coming season. E. World War Photos the important battles of the World War, besides supplementary photographs of all the famous men connected with this eminent aspect of recent history. Pictures of embarkation points and camouflaged transports, together with airplane observers' photographs of the enemy trenches, and other valuable data, without which the Allies could not have won the war, are collected into four of the most thrilling books the library now possesses. Touching scenes in the tent hospitals at the front, and close-ups of the cross-examination of prisoners, with intimate scenes in the front-line dug-outs, make a stirring impression of the war in all its grim phases which no one in the school can afford to miss, and which all will leave with a feeling of deep appreciation for those who served in the cause of democracy during the Great War.

Yale-Andover Swimming

almost a lap. The swimmers for Yale were Mundy, Phelps, Lee, and Hapke; for Andover, King, Young, Wilson, and Kahanamoku. Kahanamoku won the 50-yard freestyle in a time one-fifth of a second over the pool record, which was fine work, considering the short time he has had to train and work with the team since his arrival here at the beginning of the winter term, and it is almost a certainty that before the season closes his name will be added to the list of record-holders.

Anderson sprinted to nearly a one-half lap lead at the commencement of the backstroke contest and by the end Breed had narrowed the margin down till the race for second place was quite close. The breast stroke race was noticeable for its strenuous competition, and the three placers swam close all the way; by a good sprint at the end Savell got first place for Andover in 1 minute 16 seconds. Lapham and Church taking second and third places for the Freshmen. At the end of the second lap of the 100-yard free style King and Hapke were well ahead, and the latter won, with King second and Mooney of Yale third. Mundy who helped win the relay for Yale, was also of great assistance in netting points in the 200-yard free style. In this event he took first, Burson of Yale came second, and third place went to Andover, being won by Captain Fry. Mundy took a good lead at the start, and continued lengthening the margin throughout the swim, and this with Burson's second place netted Yale the winning points of the meet. Andover's divers helped her score along greatly, Williamson and McCloy getting first and second places respectively, with Lippincott of Yale only one point behind. Much applause was evoked at Lippincott's fine performance of the running flying dutchman, and both Andover men acquitted themselves well in the front jackknife.

Andover's stiffest opponent of the year is now passed, and after the wonderful showings of last week everyone is expectant of a victorious season.

New Dining Hall

of Andover's distinguished alumni. All cooking will be done in the basement of the building, and by a series of dumb-waiters will be conveyed to the serving rooms on the different floors. There will be space for a grill in the basement, but no plans have as yet been made to transfer the present grill to the new building. Bulfinch Hall, which has served as the school dining hall for over one hundred years will not be torn down when it is superseded by the newer hall, for it was built in the early 1800's, and architecturally is perhaps the finest structure the school now possesses.

Count von Luckner

Throughout his whole life he has enjoyed one adventure after another. As a boy of thirteen he ran away from home with a vow that he would never return until he had met Buffalo Bill and had gotten a commission in the Kaiser's navy. Finally after many years of adventure before the mast he returned home as an officer. The Kaiser was attracted by his personality and the fact that he was the only man in the German navy who had come up from the ranks.

In every part of the world he has received honor after honor never before known to a single man. He is a marvelous lecturer, a statement that will be verified by all those who had the pleasure of hearing him last year.

Andover Musical Clubs

The final number was presented by the Glee Club; they sang the finale of Wagner's "Die Meistersinger" and the "Hallelujah Chorus" by Handel. Then came the zero hour, the introduction of the fellows to their ladies of the evening. In the course of this process it was discovered that Rogers Hall could only provide about sixty girls, a situation which left twenty or more stags.

Refreshments were served at 10.30 after which the dancing was resumed for another hour.

All the members of the musical clubs are grateful to Miss Parsons, the Headmistress of Rogers Hall, for a most delightful time and only hope that the same invitation may be extended next year.

FOUND

After Rogers Hall Dance, one pair of galoshes; one pair of spectacles.

These can be obtained at 12 Highland Road, from Mr. G. H. Eaton.

CLASS ELECTIONS

In the Upper Middle Class elections held last Thursday, John Day Hegeman was elected President, Norman Varona King, Vice-President, and James Barton Elliott, Secretary. These men will hold office throughout the Winter Term.
