MR. GUNTHER RAMIN WELL KNOWN ORGANIST TO PRESENT RECITAL

Famous Artist Will Perform
In New Academy Chapel
Tuesday Evening

GREAT MUSICAL EVENT

Student Of Straube, Teichmüller,
And Krehl Has Succeeded
In Attaining Heights

Mr. Gunther Ramin, noted German organist, will present a recital in the Chapel on Tuesday evening, Oct. 1. Mr. Ramin is one of the most distinguished organists living, and it is a privilege for Andover audiences to hear him play.

This exceptional artist holds what is decidedly the most historical appointment in Europe; he is organist of St. Thomas's Church, Leipzig, where the great John Sebastian Bach was organist and cantor two centuries ago.

Gunther Ramin, the son of a clergyman, was born at Karlsruhe on October 15th, 1898. Some time later the family moved to Schkeuditz near Leipzig. At the age of eleven the boy entered the choir at St. Thomas's, Leipzig, where at the time Professor Dr. Earl Straube was organist and cantor. Ramin's musical talent appeared at an early age; but, save for some years' instruction at the Leipzig Conserva-

And Glee Club

MR. NOSS URGENTLY REQUESTS FIDDLERS

The combined Musical Clubs, which includes the Choir, the Glee Club, and Orchestra, again resumes another active year with Andrew Wingate, president; Robert Reigeluth, vice-president; David Williams, secretary; and Donald Timbrie, treasurer. Mr. Guy H. Eaton is Faculty Treasurer and adviser.

The Choir and Glee Club, a combined organization, is under the direction of Dr. Carl Pfatteicher. There are twenty returning members and, at a recent tryout, about sixty new men were added. The Choir now consists of approximately eighty-two members.

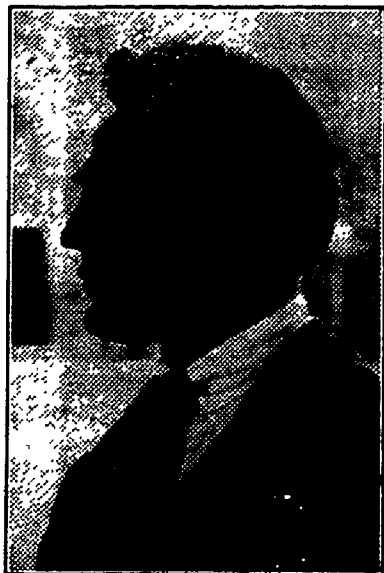

During the year a number of trips are taken to various schools; namely, Rogers Hall, Bradford Academy, and Exeter. This year

MOVIE PRE-VIEW

Viva Villa, M. G. M.'s epic drama, will be shown tonight at George Washington Hall. Villa, the man whom the United States vainly pursued at the cost of one hundred and thirty million dollars, comes to life again, but this time as the genial and dynamic redeemer of Mexico. Wallace Beery as Villa; Leo Carillo as Sierra, his chief of staff; and Stuart Erwin as the reporter, turn in stellar performances. Critics everywhere have acclaimed this superbly mounted spectacle as the best of its type within recent years. In movie circles this picture was regarded as linked because of the trouble that followed it; that part is overruled, however, by its worth and merit. Villa, like some Horatio Alger hero, rises from comparative obscurity to the leadership of all the peons in Mexico. His sensational attack against the upper classes to freedom for the peons is the theme of the story. His hasty, his exile, and subsequent return to the attack are the highlights of the film.

MR. NOSS ADDED TO MUSICAL DEPARTMENT

Took Active Part In Vienna
Fighting Last Year:
Attended Yale

HAS VISITED MANY EUROPEAN COUNTRIES

Mr. Luther Noss joined the Phillips Academy faculty this year as assistant in the music department under Dr. Pfatteicher. He is eminently fitted for this position, for he has had wide experience in music both as a study and as a profession. He has also had an eventful career.

In his chosen field Mr. Noss's crowning achievement, though he has written two symphonies in addition to his shorter compositions, is perhaps his winning of the European scholarship at Yale. This enabled him to study for two years abroad, and he accordingly worked at organ with Dupré in Paris and at composition with Alban Berg in Vienna for two years.

In Vienna last year Mr. Noss took active part in the fighting and was under fire. Another of his European accomplishments was a 3000 mile motorcycle journey from Vienna to Oslo. In the course of this jaunt he drove his machine over Austrian, German, Czechoslovakian, Danish, Swedish, and Norwegian soil.

Mr. Noss, in the professional line, traveled this country from coast to coast as pianist with a male

ACADEMY CAMERA CLUB MEETS FOR OPENING

Members To Conduct Competition; Lectures To Be Given;
New Men Welcomed

The Phillips Academy Camera Club assembled for its first meeting this term at the Addison Gallery of Art Wednesday. President H. Cross presided. New men who were interested in the club were welcomed at the meeting. Additional equipment is to be purchased and will be at the disposal of all members.

A splendid opportunity is open to those who wish to learn amateur photography. Lectures will be given during the term. At the end of the school year a prize is given to the member who displays the best and most original picture. Competition in this contest ought to be keen because of the many interesting features in Andover life. W. Snell was the winner of the award last year. His picture was a scene taken in the kitchen of the Commons. It showed varied reflections of the kitchen floor and part of the equipment. The Camera Club, under the direction of Mr. Benedict, will meet from six-thirty until seven P. M. every Saturday night in the basement of the Archaeology building.

NEW ADMINISTRATION BEGINS IN COMMONS

WAITERS' WORK HARDER

Variety, Taste, And Healthfulness
Aims Of New Dictators
In Dining Hall

This year is one of revolutionary change in both the staff and the policy of the Commons, colloquially known as the "Beanery." The general effect has admittedly been to render it less of a "beanery" and more of a dining hall.

The new staff, headed by Mrs. Cleveland, mother of two Andover graduates, is composed of men seasoned in all sorts of hotel work. Mr. Frazer, the present manager, has been doing hotel and restaurant work for many years, while his brother, now head chef in the Commons, has spent the last four years in the same position at Dartmouth College, and so has had a great deal of practical experience in feeding boys. Mr. Frazer has for the first two months two assistants under him, Mr. Paynton and Mr. Miller, who will help in the organization of the student and outside service, and of the other details of getting a new regime under way. The two special dietitians employed last year have not been

CLUB FOOTBALL TEAMS BEGIN FALL PRACTICE

Games To Begin On Wednesday;
Over 150 Candidates
Have Reported

After a day's delay due to rain, club football practice got under way with about one hundred and sixty-five players, who are fairly evenly scattered among the four clubs. As the first games will probably be on Wednesday the third, hard and intensive work on the part of both players and coaches is necessary.

Mr. Paradise, assisted by Mr. Gray, will coach the Saxons, who are captained by Reese. This team has a considerable number of last year's men, around whom the team will probably be built. These include DeWitt, Hamilton, Wing, Hazen, Adams, and others.

Last year's victors, the Greeks, are coached by Mr. Jackson, who is assisted by Mr. Maynard. Captain Browning will probably have the key position at center. The Greek backfield shows much promise, although the line presents somewhat of a problem. Old men include Hamilton, Kellogg, Wolfe, Knapp, Brenner, and Davis.

The Gauls are being coached by Mr. Benedict, Mr. Baldwin and Mr. Blackmer acting as temporary assistant coaches. No captain has been elected as yet. Last season's veterans are A. Murphy, Stevens, Dimock, and Jacobson.

Dr. Eccles and Mr. Dudley are coaching the Romans, who have not elected a captain. Van Horne, Ginsberg, Clark, Cates, Masback, Miller, and Uranus are members of last year's first and second teams who ought to be outstanding.

Blue Poloists To Meet Dedham Again Today

The Andover polo team will engage the Dedham Country Club poloists this afternoon at 3:30 on the opponent's field. The Blue malletmen held the Dedham aggregation to a 7-7 tie last week, but it is reported that the enemy will put a stronger force on the field today. The men who will probably see action in the game are: Captain Woolley, Manager Copley, W. F. Poor, R. Poor, N. Brown, and Lothrop.

VETERAN P. A. TEAM OPENS YEAR WITH NEW HAMPTON

Sears, Burdick, Cates, Bird On Senior Council

At a recent meeting of all the old men in the Senior class, the following men were elected to fill the four Senior Council vacancies: James McKenna Bird of Bradford, Pa., Winfield Newton Burdick, Jr., of South Orange, N. J., Wirt Randall Cates of New Haven, Conn., and Robert Alexander Sears of Grand Rapids, Mich.

SOCCER TEAM MEETS M. I. T. FRESH TODAY

Capt. Bagg, Haseltine, Swihart,
Hughes, And Chakraband
Showing Up Well

SQUAD PUT THROUGH STRENUOUS PRACTICE

The soccer team is gradually rounding into shape, and, on the whole, it shows great strength, with the exception of the fullbacks. This position seems to be the one weak point of an otherwise strong team, which has an abundance of capable reserves.

Coach Ryley is having long, hard scrimmages every day in preparation for the M. I. T. Fresh game which is only a week away. Team A is the usual victor, but on Tuesday Team B made a good showing, holding the first-stringers to a 4-1 count. The team seems to have a good scoring punch, and the wings, Mendel and Chakraband, are sending in good shots, which Swihart and Hughes are consistently putting away. The halfbacks, Bagg, Haseltine, and Rosenfeld, have been playing a steady brand of soccer, and their passes have enabled the forward line to do much scoring.

Several of last year's club and All-Club men are showing up well, including Clifford, Richardson, Roosevelt, and Speers. These men with such excellent coaching and hard practices soon ought to be valuable assets to the team.

Coach Ryley has given out uniforms to the following men: Bagg, Chakraband, J. Clifford, Cross.

FUNDS FOR NEW YEAR NEEDED BY SANCTUARY

Log Cabin Provides Food And Fun; Winged Boarders Fed
By Mr. Hoyer

The Cochran Bird Sanctuary has found no extra funds to spend this year on the construction of new roads and paths. The Log Cabin, however, is still there at the far corner of this fenced-in territory of Phillips Academy, wherein, every Wednesday and Saturday afternoon, students may purchase a variety of foods at the counter and eat them at the rustic tables and chairs provided for the purpose.

At one end of the cabin there is a fireplace that will hold entire logs, which will produce heat in great quantities on cold winter afternoons and evenings.

The delightful setting of the Log Cabin with its putting green nearby is enough to make a walk out there worth the while of anyone. This is by far not all that is of interest in the sanctuary. There are the birds who live in their own homes, have electric lights to work by at night, and a headwaiter, Mr. Hoyer, to feed them at meal hours. Mr. Hoyer, who lives in a white house in the sanctuary, has a number of different types of boarders, including, as last year, quails, ducks, pheasants, and numerous other

Blue Team Prepares To Face

OPPONENTS TO BE STRONG

Chaney, Viena, Sharrette, Burdick
Will Probably Hold
Backfield Berths

Resulting from the hard practice grinds of the past few days under the direction of Coach Shepard and his staff of Messrs. Benton, Hagenbuckle, Dake, Billhardt, and Flanagan: the Andover Varsity has now been shaped into what appears to be a fine team of veteran players. Some men have been regulars for the last couple of years, and others have played the greater part of the '33 season. Practically every player has experienced defeat while in action against Exeter and knows what it will mean to Andover to give them a good licking this year.

Captain Robert Sears will lead the Blue team from his guard position. The outstanding attributes of some of the players are

MR. A. LAWREN BROWN TO LECTURE OCTOBER 5

Will Discuss Need Of Sane
Monetary Management
For Individual

DEPLORES FAILURE OF BUDGET TRAINING

Our forefathers sacrificed everything but life to combatting ignorance by establishing public schools. More than three billions of dollars are now being spent on education each year, and as a result 95.7% of the people of the United States can read and write. Yet eminent authorities say that not two per cent of the population knows how to handle money—knows how to manage a dollar. It is in this connection that Mr. A. Lawren Brown will speak in the Meeting Room, at 8:15 P. M., on October 5th. His subject will be "The Blind Spot of Science," and his argument is that, while science has been applied to all of our other daily activities, it has not been applied to the management of our incomes. We are never taught how to make a budget, how to distribute our allowances, how to handle our checking accounts, or how to plan definitely for financial security in the future. It is this situation which has helped

A Senior Privilege?

A proposal of some import has recently been brought to our attention, that permission be granted to Seniors to stay out until ten or ten-thirty on Saturday evenings after the movies. Marked interest in this idea has been evident on the part of all the Seniors since last year, and a greater and greater desire for this change has been evinced this fall. This extra time would be pleasant especially for men who are not in fraternities. It would give them a quiet interval in which to sit and talk and smoke together. Of course, in the Winter such a period would be of practically no use, but in the spring and fall this half-hour or so of quiet relaxation could prove to be an exceedingly enjoyable and much coveted liberty. We hope that the faculty will consider this matter.

A Plea To Preps

It seems a pity that of late one of the oldest and most revered traditions of Andover hill is being violated continually. The tradition in question is the one in which all new men are expected to wear prep hats and to obey in general all the other prep rules.

For a prep to plead ignorance of these requirements is of course absurd. They were printed so that all newcomers could see definitely what this ancient custom includes. And yet the preps are continually breaking these age-old rules. Not more than half of the new men are wearing their caps constantly, and one can find preps on the forbidden section of Main Street at almost any hour of the day.

But the sorriest part of the situation is that when reminded that they are violating these rules, many of the preps openly disregard requests. It is with distaste that "old" Seniors enforce these traditions. But it is pretty unsportsmanlike of the preps to take advantage of the unwillingness of the "old" men to speak about this matter.

If the really "big" men among the preps were the offenders, something might be said for the abolition of the system. But the "big" men see the value of this tradition and are most scrupulous in their observance of it. It is only the "second rate, no-account" boys who think it is smart and sophisticated to disobey. And an "old" man can often easily tell who among the preps is going to succeed here merely by his attitude toward the prep rules.

For all these reasons, we hope that there will be a more rigid observance of the custom on the part of the preps from now on. Whether they agree that prep rules have any real value and significance or not is beside the point. The rules are here and those affected by them should comply with the requirements. Otherwise a concerted attack of all old Seniors will have to be called forth and the rules enforced by the strong arm rather than by sane reasoning.

New Administration Begins In Commons

kept, on the reasoning that boys of prep-school age are neither young enough nor old enough to require diets in which the calories are closely counted. The things any mother knows about a balanced diet and making food tasteful are sufficient.

The problems confronting the staff of the Commons are terrific, and according to the head chef, his job is even more difficult here than it was at Dartmouth, for there the fellows came in over a period of time, not all in a group, to be given an entire meal in the space of fifteen minutes. As far as possible, he tries to have the food ready as it is called for, but it would be impossible with the available space and help. Therefore some of the food is prepared beforehand, but is kept warm until it is called for, to prevent a "rewarmed" taste. Other measures have been taken to insure freshness and warmth in the food as it is served, namely keeping the cereal in boxes, and not allowing the waiters to put soup on the tables before the fellows come in. Nothing can be done about parents' complaints that their sons eat too fast, for if the waiters were ordered to serve more slowly, their lives would immediately become unbearable.

It has been found that to get the work done almost entirely with student labor requires a full hour's work per meal from each boy, but since waiting jobs are the only ones providing a certain income, Mr. Boyce has co-operated in trying to arrange schedules so that the fellows will have the time to give. Also, instead of picking up their food when they could, in the small dark rooms between floors, the waiters now eat either before or after their work, at the tables at one end of Sawyer Hall, the former Junior dining room. Apropos of Sawyer Hall, Mrs. Cleveland announces that later in the season when the weather is less fine, arrangements will be made for serving coffee for Seniors in that room after meals. Certain points have still not been arranged, among them the granting of weekly off-days for student as well as outside help, a complicated matter when a complete group must be on hand for every day and every meal.

Mrs. Cleveland, on hearing of the public approval of the food

Mirror Poster Contest To Begin Immediately

A contest for posters advertising The Mirror is to start immediately. These posters should consist of a design suggesting The Mirror and beneath it some slogan. The winner will be elected to the art board.

A. Adams, the editor, wishes all contestants to inform him of their intentions. Room, Foxcroft 4.

voiced to her by the reporter, said that as the fellows became accustomed to the limited variety of food, and as the newness wore off, it would perhaps begin to be boring, as does any prolonged diet, but that the staff was trying, as far as the means would permit, to provide a continuous variety of tasteful and healthful food.

As for physical changes in the building itself, Mr. Frazer is moving his office away from the front, where it used to be, out into the back, so that he will be in the midst of things, can see the food as it is brought up, can see personally any salesmen who may come, and can in general keep check on what is going on. Besides this, Mr. Sawyer, the school treasurer, who traveled over all England seeing dining rooms in order that he might help Mr. Platt, the architect, in planning the building, expects to make a colorful and interesting addition to its physiography. It is a very large Natural History map of some sort which will occupy a great part of the wall facing the entrance.

Sears To Lead Squad From Guard Position

as follows. Among the backfield men Viens is outstanding as a passer and punter and is carrying the ball better than he did last year. As field-general he is calling the plays. Chaney interferes well, runs hard, and is a conscientious defensive man. Sharretts is an excellent punter, is shifty, and consequently a fine broken field runner. Burdick, who calls the signals, is fast, shifty, and a good receiver of passes. Chase is a fair kicker and much improved back. Kellogg passes, kicks, runs, and receives well. Henry interferes well and is a hard tackler. In the line, which has a hard offensive drive throughout—Graham is a fine defensive player and good center. Moody receives passes well and is also an excellent defensive man. Cahners is an outstanding tackler and pass receiver. Hite is a very hard tackler, and good defensive man too. Miller has shown good work in his new position and is an all-around fighter. Poynter shows up fairly well on the defense. A leg injury has forced Gammons, a promising backfield candidate, to withdraw from workouts for the time being.

The squad has been practicing on the regular field so that they will not feel strange when the time comes to play. The veterans show in their present playing the benefits and results of the pre-season practice. When the kickoff signal blows this afternoon, and the game with New Hampton Prep is on, the Varsity will have its first chance to test its strength and show what it can do.

The following men will probably comprise the starting line-up: Ends: Moody and Cahners
Tackles: Poynter and Hite
Guards: Capt. Sears and Miller
Center: Graham
Backs: Chaney, Viens, Kellogg, Chase

Well Known Organist
To Present Recital

trium of Music, he is self-taught. Entering the conservatorium at Easter, 1914, his professors were Straube (organ), Teichmuller (piano), and Krehl (theory and composition). He also became assistant organist to Straube at St. Thomas's. In 1916 Ramin was called up for military service, but obtained special leave to return to the Conservatorium for his "finals." Subsequently he went back to the army, and was actually in the field when he received notice of his appointment to the coveted post of organist of St. Thomas's Church in succession to Straube, who had resigned.

In December, 1918, at the conclusion of the war, Ramin entered on his organist duties at St. Thomas's. He was then only nineteen years old. He very quickly began to acquire fame as an organist in Leipzig. At the Bach Festival at Leipzig in 1920, his performance of Bach organ works placed him in the front rank of German organists. His reputation since that festival has spread throughout Germany. In 1920 he was appointed teacher of the organ and theory at the Conservatorium and organist at the Gewandhaus concerts. Two years later he was appointed conductor of the Leipziger Lehrergesangverein as successor to Professor Sitts. In Germany Ramin is regarded as an approved and appropriate musician to carry on the great tradition at St. Thomas's. This has been acknowledged by his recent appointment as Professor of ancient instruments at the Conservatorium. Another Professorship at the National Academie for Church Music in Berlin was declined.

He has an especial regard for Reger, whose organ works found an early champion in Straube, and through whose constant performances Reger's works became known and appreciated in Germany.

It is hoped that Mr. Ramin may be persuaded to play Reger's colossal Fantasie and Fugere on the name of Bach, in which he mounts to his highest pinnacles of feeling and perfection.

THIRTY-TWO RETAINED
FOR TENNIS LINE-UP

Mr. Blackmer And Mr. Patton
Coaching Club Teams;
Appoint Captains

As the matches for supremacy in club tennis have been going on only for a short time, Mr. Patton has not had a chance to form any very definite opinions as to the relative merit of the candidates.

About one hundred men have reported, of which 32 are now left; and courts have been assigned to each club. Outside of a certain few men in each club who have been seeded and therefore do not have to defend their positions on the teams, the rest of the members of the club squads are battling it out with each other for the right to remain in the line-up. Captains, Reigeluth of the Greeks, Estes of the Romans, Curtis of the Saxons, and Barnes of the Gauls, were appointed from the seeded men.

Mr. Blackmer, the coach, has been kept from practice for these first few days by a cold, from which he has by now practically recovered; within a short time he will be with the squads to get things straightened out.

AFTER "LAB"...

RICHARD WHITNEY, '35—Majoring in chemistry. "A Camel tastes simply swell," he says, "and what is more important, it refreshes my energy."

GET A LIFT
WITH A CAMEL!

A PLEASURE that drives away fatigue and listlessness!

"I'm specializing in chemistry, which means a large amount of 'lab' work," says Richard Whitney, '35. "It's interesting—but a tough grind. After a long, hard session, a Camel tastes simply swell—and what is more important, it refreshes my energy and I feel 'fit as a fiddle' in short order. I've smoked a lot of Camels and never yet have they ruffled my nerves."

Everyone is subject to strain—whether physical, mental, or emotional. So it's important to know that Camels do release your stored-up energy.

The findings of a famous scientific laboratory have confirmed Camel's "energizing effect." So begin today to enjoy Camels. Enjoy their wholesome and delightful "lift." Enjoy their mildness and rich, good taste. Enjoy them often! Camel pays millions more for finer, more expensive tobaccos, and the costlier tobaccos in Camels never jangle the nerves.

● SPORTSWOMAN PILOT. Mrs. Cecil Kenyon, of Waban, Mass., says: "Speaking of cigarettes, Camels are the mildest cigarette I know. Morning, noon, and night I can smoke them steadily—without a touch of upset nerves."

ALL TOBACCO
MEN KNOW:

"Camels are made from finer, More Expensive Tobaccos—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand."

the concert with Exeter is to be held here.

Every member of the Choir is entitled to a choice of compensations. He may receive either one chapel cut a week, or fifty cents a week, or he may count this activity as one hour on his scholastic schedule.

Rehearsals are held every week in the basement of the chapel, the first and second tenors on Monday evenings, the first and second basses on Thursday evenings, and the full Choir on Friday evenings.

As a result of the call for candidates for the orchestra only fifteen men showed up. Mr. Noss urgently requests all old men and all new men who are able to play some musical instrument to report at once. Mr. Niccoli, who has for years taught violin lessons at Andover, will be here next Tuesday to interview string players. In about six weeks the orchestra will be expected to make its first public appearance.

to bring it about that 5,700,000 people in the United States are now being supported by private charity. It has been said that "Thousands upon thousands of high school and college students are being graduated year after year, and millions of dollars are being spent to equip them with funds of knowledge about mathematics, classic and modern languages, history and civics, principles of government, science (social and otherwise), commercial and allied subjects, health and arts, while they are left in total ignorance of the subject that underlies their whole life and living—Personal Money Management." It is on this vital subject that Mr. Brown will speak.

quartet, and while carrying both his academic and musical work at Northwestern, acted as musical director and pianist of the Chicago radio station WLS.

After taking an academic degree at Northwestern in two years (he had already had three years of college at St. Olaf famed for its choir, in Minnesota), Mr. Noss attended the Yale graduate school for two more years, taking a professional and a graduate degree before he left for Europe.

Music has interested Mr. Noss since he can remember. He is interested in every phase of it: in the orchestra, the glee club, the band, and the choir, his principal concerns here. He will have charge of the orchestra, glee club and band, Dr. Pfatteicher taking the choir and organ. In addition to his regular duties, Mr. Noss is still working at composition, and the student body will hear him occasionally in chapel at the organ.
