Circle A To Sell Christmas Seals

Will Be Held At Table In Commons This Week Or Early Next

ALL ARE URGED TO BUY

Proceeds To Go To National Tuberculosis Association

During the latter part of this week and early next week, Circle A will sell the 1937 Christmas seals in the Commons. It is hoped that every one in school will buy some of these seals.

This year the National Tuberculosis Association celebrates its thirtieth year of the sale of Christmas seals. This association gives care to the use of the seals to pay for medical care, and operates an advisory service which will help any one. Last week there were pictures of the various sanitariums scattered about the country, and the way in which they effected cures. Thousands of people who otherwise would have had no chance of recovery are either partially or totally cured each year.

Of course, the expense for this year is high, and the association cannot bear it alone. Therefore, the money brought in by the Christmas seals makes up the deficit. In other words, the seals serve a double purpose: first, they help take care of those suffering from tuberculosis, and secondly, they are useful in sending Christmas gifts and cards. Moreover they emulate the Christmas spirit.

Every one who buys a block of seals is helping some one less fortunate than himself in the cure of disease which took the lives of 100,000 Americans in 1935. At this moment there are over 600,000 people suffering from active cases of the dreaded sickness. Your contribution helps in another way, for one of the proceeds go towards research and experiment of various

Adolf A. Berle, Statesman, Lawyer, Professor, Approached As Prophet Of Political Affairs

Adolf A. Berle, Jr., is well known to most of us as statesman, lawyer, professor, and student of progressive government. It was as political prophet, however, that he was approached by the Princetonian News-Association reporter.

The La Guardia victory," said Berle, "indicated three things to me. First, that the City of New York thought very well of the President and of his progressive policies. Second, that it thought very badly of its local politicians. Third, that the lines in New York City and in New York State mean very little."

The election also indicated, according to Mr. Berle, that the public has begun to think and vote intelligently. The faith that New York placed in Mayor La Guardia and the faith that the nation has shown in President Roosevelt may be relied, he maintains, as mandates of intelligent and progressive government. He considers the greatest element contributing to this

Hockey Handicapped By Usual Lack Of Ice

Shooting Practices And Touch Football Substituted For Regular Work

Owing to the lack of ice, the practice sessions of the hockey team have thus far been limited to shooting off slippery boards at the baseball backstop, and at cages set up on the field behind the track grandstand. Because of the scarcity of cages and goalies, and also of the large turnout for hockey, touch-football has had to be substituted for shooting, with the squad working in relays.

If the weather is favorable for hockey this winter, Andover promises to have a good team. Coach Dick Knight has plenty of experienced material around which to build a capable sextet. With Captain Mort Furber and Al Foster returning from last year's first line, and Bob Davis, Bill Pike, Hovey Seymour, and Parker Blanchard coming back, there seems to be no trouble to pick a center to fill the gap left by the graduation of Captain Roger Hazen and right wing Mike Tenney.

Examination Schedule To Follow Last Year's

In the examination schedule for the fall term, the system adopted last year has been followed out in its entirety. This system was adopted in the hope that most of the boys in school will be equally affected.

In making out the examination schedule, a number of factors must be taken into consideration, and since none of these can be ignored or completely fulfilled, a compromise must be effected. Adequate time for a review for each course, as well as a nearly equal distribution of examinations for each master and boy has been considered.

Of the examination days, Monday is, as it was last year, the heaviest. This has been deemed advisable so that the student may have more time to prepare. As no boy can have 8, 9, and 10 classes in order, these three important hours have been lumped together on the schedule.

Tuesday is devoted to Biology, Elementary Science and History, with the exception of American History, in the hope to avoid conflicts and so the papers may be read in time.

The schedule for Wednesday and Thursday is made by elimination.

Mr. Torbert Lectures To Students Saturday

Colored Movies Accompany Talk On Journey Of "Nomads"

With a highly enthusiastic reception Mr. Willis M. Torbert was received at a talk given Saturday afternoon in Peabody House. Colored movies, portraying some of the most beautiful country of our West, were accompanied by an explanatory narration.

The Nomads, a group of touring adventurers under Mr. Torbert's supervision, set out last summer from New York in three Ford touring cars, aiming for the far-distant west coast. They travelled in a rather roundabout route with the purpose of giving the boys a chance to see some of the more famous natural wonders of the country.

Shots of the Grand Canyon, the Pueblo cliff-dwellings of New Mexico, Yellowstone National Park, the Old Faithful Geyser, the Canadian Rockies, and Puget Sound were only a few of the most interesting ones. It is not to be assumed, however, that this party confined itself to the regular tourist routes; on the contrary, many excursions were made into uncharted deserts, desolate mountain ranges, and land yet unspoiled by the hand of man.

The reel, which was an unusually long one, ended with some pictures

Dancing Class

The regular sessions of the dancing class will be held with Mr. Baptiste on Wednesday afternoon at 4:15 and on Wednesday evening at 6:40. Those who have signed up are asked to be prompt and check as they enter.

Last Night's Speaker

MR. GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

First Cut Of Year Reduces Hoop Squad

Captain Mayo And Dudan Show Last Season's Form In Practice

At the first cut of the season Friday afternoon the varsity basketball squad was reduced to fifty men who are all fighting very hard to remain up there all season. The surprising fact about the cut was that eighteen lower classmen, the largest number in years, remained on the squad along with thirty-two uppers and seniors.

When the next cut falls today, Coach Di Clementi plans to retain thirty men on the first and pony squads. A good omen has already popped up in the fact that Pete Dudan and Dick Mayo are playing up to last year's form and should be going places this year. Encouragement also comes from Al Hearne and Hank Williams who, although not up to the top yet, are coming along fairly fast and should end up in starting berths if they keep up.

George Sokolsky Predicts Unified China As Result Of Present Sino-Japanese War

Mr. George Sokolsky, although somewhat pressed for time after the lecture last evening, kindly consented to answer a few questions for a PHILLIPPIAN reporter.

He predicted that, after the present Sino-Japanese conflict comes to an end, there will arise a smaller, more unified, more efficient China, and a first-class, well-developed Japan; but, however, the most important point is that China and Japan will ultimately become allies, making an extraordinarily powerful combination.

To queries about the 1940 presidential elections his responses were most enlightening. Among the outstanding statements were words to the effect that there is no real Republican party today, since no party can exist without principles, and the Republicans certainly have no principles. But, on the other hand, it was emphasized that by 1940 there will have been formed a new Re-

Present Problems Is Lecture Topic Of G.E. Sokolsky

Speaker Covers Far Eastern Crisis, U. S. Labor And Political Problems

QUESTION FORUM HELD

Mr. Sokolsky Formerly Eastern Press Correspondent

At eight twenty-two, George Sokolsky, famous lecturer and once press-correspondent in the East, opened what proved to be a most interesting talk on the subject of, "Our Confused Generation," to a large assembly gathered in George Washington Hall last night. The lecture included: the crisis in the Far East, U. S. labor, and future political problems as well as a dozen or so questions which brought the address to a close.

Mr. Sokolsky introduced his talk by bringing out the fact that he was not here to solve people's puzzles. He objected to people who attempted to solve puzzles, "over night," so to speak. "I don't find any need to hurry in solving puzzles," he stated.

This was followed by Mr. Sokolsky giving an optimistic view on present-day happenings. He pointed out that newspapers, movies, and other such things more or less gave the public a pessimistic view on affairs at almost all times. "Our generation," he asserted, "is not a particularly bad generation." In the same breath, he brought up the fact that we now live in a comfortable society as compared with other countries.

With this, Mr. Sokolsky shifted his topic of speech to the condition in the Orient. One of the main points brought forth concerning this is contained in a sentence of his: "I think the Japanese have done an inevitable thing. War between China and Japan had been threatened to arrive long before it really came."

publican party, which will play a decisive role in national politics. "Mr. Roosevelt," Mr. Sokolsky declared, "will not be a candidate for reelection to the presidency."

Concerning the labor situation most optimistic predictions were cast. It is felt that a turning-point has been reached in the control of labor over the national realm, that the C. I. O., a distinctly Fascist organization, has attained its zenith of power and has begun to recede, as is indicated by the failure of labor to secure political control in certain highly-industrialized cities where the C. I. O. predominated and where labor was expecting to gain overwhelming victories.

In regard to the position of the United States in the world of today, Mr. Sokolsky advocates a scientific re-adjustment of the tariffs and a policy of strong national defense for the purpose of keeping our boundaries intact.

Schedule of Examinations—Fall Term, 1937

NOTE: Examinations which conflict or which are scheduled on consecutive hours (including 2 hour courses) should be reported immediately to the Recorder's Office. Any student having three or more examinations scheduled on one day should report this fact to the Recorder's Office immediately.

No examinations in the courses listed below will be given from December 6th to December 10th, inclusive. Changes in examination section may be made only with the written permission of the Recorder's Office.

All examinations scheduled for Bulfinch will be held in the Debating Room.

No student will be allowed to change the hour of his last examination.

No boy may leave his last examination before the end of the hour without the express permission of his instructor which must be obtained in advance.

After his last examination every boy must report to the Recorder's Office the time at which he intends to leave Andover. It is important for each boy to recognize that this report ("signing out") does not release him from conforming to the school rules.

Those boys whose last examinations begin at 4:05 Wednesday afternoon may sign out before the examination, but not sooner than 3:30.

Defense A Problem

The defense will probably present the only troubling problem to Coach Knight. All of last year's defense-men have not returned. This leaves only Seymour, of the returning men, who has had any experience on the Blue line. Last year he divided his time between the wings and the defense. A new man who saw considerable action as a member of the St. Paul's team last year, Schwartz, is expected to help out the defense situation. The graduation of Rounds has left a large gap to be filled in the goal. Dearborn, Ritts, Van Arsdale, Lewis, and Dugan have reported this year to fill the goal-tending responsibilities, but none of them have had any experience in guarding the goal at Andover.

This fall quite a bit of time has been spent by the Athletic Association on lengthening the rink, until now it is almost regulation size. Some new boards have been purchased and set up, and everything is ready for the first ice.

r. Folds To Exhibit Cartoon Collection

T GALLERY PLANS WINTER EXHIBITION

Planning a very active season, the Oliver Wendell Holmes Library has announced a program for the winter term. Due to the fact that examinations are being held, there is to be only one exhibition before Christmas time, starting next week, which consists of a small group of cartoons and illustrations collected by Folds, the head of the Exeter Department.

r. Folds, who himself set out to be a cartoonist and many of whose works appeared in the Yale Record
during his undergraduate days, has gathered a very interesting group of original drawings from The New Yorker, Esquire, and other notable magazines. This display, which has contributions from numerous outstanding artists, including Gluyas Sears, Hoff, Gilbert Bundy, and others, will be highly interesting to those who wish to learn something about the structure and development of the present-day cartoon.

In the fall and spring terms some of the best English translations of Virgil. The most famous of these perhaps is Dryden's sumptuous first edition which was printed back in sixteen hundred and ninety-seven. It is a very large folio containing many extraordinarily beautiful full page engravings. One Scottish translation by a man named Douglas is another very interesting and well-known feature of the exhibit.

FEATURED EDITION Is 4th CENTURY WORK

At present, the exhibition of books in the Oliver Wendell Holmes Library is a special collection of Virgil's works, and is, incidentally, one of the finest Virgil collections in the world. It contains some of the rarest and earliest printed books several of which date between fourteen hundred and fifty and fifteen hundred.

Perhaps the most notable book in this very valuable assemblage is The Chentoe. This book is a compilation of verses from Virgil made by Proba Valeria as far back as the fourth century but was not printed until fourteen hundred and ninety-nine. Another less notable edition was made by Anton Koberger of Nuremberg, Germany, and the library is fortunate in also having it in the exhibit. There is, likewise, in the collection a valuable facsimile
of a "Petrarch" manuscript of Virgil, called so because it was once owned by Petrarch. The original of this book lies in the Ambrosian library in Milan, Italy.

The collection is also very rich in

Mr. Torbert Lectures Saturday On Adventures Of "Nomads"

taken on the boat en route for New York City. A highly interesting feature of the journey back was the scenes taken of the passage through the Panama Canal, which showed the Galliard Cut, the electric tow-cars, and the enormous locks. To end the entertainment were views of the Statue of Liberty and of New York harbor.

Mr. Torbert plans to take a group of boys on another similar trip next summer. He states that, as he was handicapped last summer by the fact that there was no time to be spent on photography and that colored films had not yet reached the fine state of perfection in which they now are, his intentions are to secure next year more and better movies.

George Sokolsky Lectures Here On Many Present-Day Problems

The spokesman then mentioned with an optimistic point of view that the war had come at a very fortunate time, a time when the other nations were too involved in their own affairs to intervene. It would have been disastrous if Russia could have intervened. Germany would quite likely take this opportunity to stab Russia in the back. In return France would attack Germany from behind. Italy France, and so on down the line until another great war existed.

China has learned by this war that it can't depend on the countries of the West. For this reason it has become more independent. Despite the apparently pessimistic view in which China appears to exist, Mr. Sokolsky made the following statements with regard to it: "A smaller China will be a more effective China. China will come out a stronger country." Mr. Sokolsky went on to say that the Yellow People were, however, too sure of themselves. He also declared that although a war with Japan was inevitable, and the Chinese knew it, they neglected to prepare for it. Consequently, they will pay the price. No nation has yet raised a finger to save China.

At this point, Mr. Sokolsky turned to the second division of his lecture, having to do with the U. S. labor. "You can measure," he said, "a depression in the United States by the production of steel." As a fine example, he went on to relate that a little over a year ago, steel was at 76% capacity. During the latter part of the summer and the early fall, it rose to 85% capacity. Now it is 27%. In 1931, steel was 19% capacity. He added humorously, "We should be there in about two weeks." "We are in a real depression," he also asserted. He compared it with that of 1931.

Mr. Sokolsky made a humorous yet true statement at this point. It went, "I never disliked depressions. They are good for us because we grow flabby with prosperity." Another very true statement was expressed in these three words, "We resent adjustments."

He brought out the important point that this country has been most prosperous when the Presidents were small men. Most of our Presidents have been small. "When the great men know that they are great, they are likely to attempt to become a despot," was another authentic statement which Mr. Sokolsky made. The speaker then continued to say that great men are not needed in a public office in the United States.

Slightly changing his subject, he next declared that Roosevelt is just as popular now as one or two years ago. He is considered an Average American by the public, an Average American being, as Mr. Sokolsky put it, "One who is right one-half of one-half of the time." He was also so bold as to say that John L. Lewis, as he strongly thought, would be one of the candidates for President in 1940. He would approve of John L. Lewis as president.

There is a large amount of human liberty in the United States in comparison with the other countries of today. He continued that there is the danger of the expanding of despotism of government in this country.

With this Mr. Sokolsky completed his lecture, but kindly offered to answer any question the audience might like to ask. Two of these are well worth mentioning.

In answer to a student's question, the gist of which involved doubt as to the increasing of Vice-President Garner's popularity, Mr. Sokolsky stated that Garner was not unlike the late Will Rogers, that is, he didn't understand the bills, but for some reason he wanted them passed. He has many correct hunches.

Hunches which turn out to be true make the public feel that the possessor of the hunch has a lot of common sense, which sounds very logical. Mr. Sokolsky made himself clear with regard to the last remark by taking for an example Coolidge, "who never said enough to be wrong in his hunches."

Another question also raised by a student went as follows: "Is Japan in the position to become a first-rate power?" Mr. Sokolsky's answer to this was that aside from the fact that the Japanese strongly lacked generosity, it looked quite likely that it might.

The last of the questions was concluded by Mr. Sokolsky in this manner. "I look upon the last war as one of the milestones of evil human history."

Cartoon Collection Is Next Exhibition At Art Gallery

be devoted to a display of pictures, tapestries, and pieces of sculpture owned by the students themselves and now in their rooms. Last year this feature was a great success, and it is expected that it will again turn out well. Collections designed principally for the art students will be exhibited from January 5 to February 13 to stress the theories and principles of design in painting.

A group of the works of Lyonel

Feininger will be shown February 19 to March 20. McKnight Kauffer, a former member of the experimental society of post-war many, known as the Bauhaus, now a professor at Mills College, California, represents the modern coterie of artists.

McKnight Kauffer, an English poster designer, will be represented by a number of specimens of his work, lent by The Museum of Modern Art, New York, during the month beginning January 25.

There will be other small exhibitions in the Gallery from time to time during the winter term, the details of which will be announced later.
