Wrestler Third Triumph, 25-5, As Tine Scores Fall In First Bout

RED RUNS TOTAL TO 18

Points Scored By Visitors As Day Defaults

Playing the greatest amount of which they have yet shown, Andover varsity wrestlers upped their predictions Saturday afternoon by defeating Milton Academy 25 to 5, for the season's third win. Milton's only points were in the heavyweight division, which, due to illness, Day was to default.

The meet was begun with the first bout, in which Garvan of Andover in the lead by winning a close decision over Crocker. The match started slowly, neither gaining an advantage, and at the end of the first two minutes Garvan, winning the toss, elected the front position. By a series of sit-ups, however, he was quickly able to gain the advantage, which he held for almost two minutes. Crocker got back in shortly after the start of the second period, but was soon under where he was held for the rest of the bout. With about thirty seconds remaining, Garvan almost threw his opponent, but lost the opportunity as the bout ended.

In the 126-pound class, Captain Brook made the score 6 to 0 in Andover's favor as he won a decisive victory over King. Middlebrook, wearing a headgear to protect his injured ear, earned the advantage in one minute and thirty seconds, and, though several times in danger of doing so, never relinquished the top position. At the end of the bout the Andover captain was cheered from a fall victory, but King managed to hold out until time was called.

Event Swept By College Team While Blue Squad Takes Only Foils

A considerable delay due to the absence of the visitors, the meet between the Dartmouth Sword Club and the Andover fencing team took place Saturday. The P. A. team won the nine foil events by a score of 5-4, but after taking time for supper, the Dartmouth team won the remaining epee and sabre events. At the end of the meet, the score stood: Dartmouth 12, Andover 5.

In the foils division the Andover team was composed of Captain Koch, Willets, and Dargan, with Dargan as substitute in one bout. The Dartmouth Sword Club was represented by Deming, Meyer, and Gaus. The first bout was between Captain Koch and Deming. It was won by Captain Koch of Andover by a score of 5-2. In all, Captain Koch won two out of three of the bouts, defeating Strauss of Dartmouth by a score of 5-3, and being beaten by Meyer with a score of 5-3.

Willets, number two man of the Andover team, also won two out of (Continued on Page 4)

"Cock Robin" Scenery Being Built At Graves

Tentative Date Of Production Set For Saturday April 23

Having graduated this year from the bird room in George Washington basement to the regular stage room in Graves Hall, which was last year used for fencing, the stage crew for the Dramatic Club play, "Cock Robin," has just begun the official work of preparing scenery.

The properties used in last year's production were found to be in some disorder, and until recently the crew has occupied itself by putting the stage room in order, and by getting everything in good repair. Now that they are away from the somewhat disturbing presence of Great and Little Auks, Penguins, Pelicans, and Woodpeckers, Thrushes, and Sparrows of every variety, the men on the crew hope that the work will proceed more rapidly. Those who are now working during the afternoons in Graves Hall under the direction of Mr. Hallowell, are Spencer, Ziegler, Rising, and Winternitz. Dearborn, after the hockey season ends with the Exeter clash on Saturday, will take over the duties of manager.

Rehearsals, which have been in progress in George Washington Hall for several weeks, are proceeding more rapidly now that parts have been definitely assigned. Mrs. Hallowell has been instructing those taking female parts in the art of making feminine gestures in a convincing manner, with Lawrence and Viney attempting to learn and at the same time trying to instruct (Continued on Page 4)

Blue Swimmers Drop 37-29 Decision To Yale Freshmen

Metcalf Of Freshman Natators Establishes School Record In Breaststroke

Blue swimmers dropped a 37-29 decision to the Yale Freshmen Saturday, with Paul Metcalf of the Eli team clipping 2-5 of a second off the breaststroke pool record which he had established here last year. He swam the 100 yards in 1 min. 7 2-5 sec.

Perhaps the closest event in the meet was the 200-yard freestyle. Kendall won first place against Sanborn and Wiggins of Yale. All three men were fairly even up to the last stretch when Kendall, with an increase of speed, left both of the Eli mermen to place a sure first for Andover. Hardwicke also gave a stellar performance in the 100-yard backstroke, which he won, beating Shea of Yale, who came in second. Shea was followed by Vreeland, who placed ahead of the other Yale man, Lomas. The time for this 100 was 1 min. 8 1-5 seconds.

Andover Wins 150-yd Medley

Pulleyn, Heidrich, and Hardwicke were victorious in the 150 medley relay over the Freshman trio, composed of Wilson, Larus, and Allen, who is a former Andover graduate. The time for this event was 1 min. 26 sec. The Andover swimmers took their fourth and last first in the 200-yard relay, composed of Hallowell, Island, Gabeler, and Kendall, opposing Cross, Williams, Wilson, and Sheppard of the Eli team. This relay was clocked at 1 min. 42 3-5 seconds. (Continued on Page 4)

Prom Notice

Reservations for rooms for girls coming to the prom may be made at the table in the Commons. Since only ten days are remaining before the prom, it is advised that all reservations be in before the week-end so that an estimation of the number attending the prom may be had.

Reservations will be for Williams Hall instead of Rockwell House as previously determined. All boys who have reserved rooms in Rockwell are requested to check the room of the new assignment.

It is also important that all boys who expect to have dinner at the Inn before the prom reserve tables before next Wednesday. No one may have dinner at the Inn at the lower rate of twenty-five a couple unless tables have been reserved.

Programs will be available in the Commons today.

Contest Against Boston Fresh Postponed Because Of Lack Of Ice

Saturday's game with the Boston University Freshmen being called off because of lack of ice, the hockey team faces a week of no ice before the Exeter game this Saturday. Weather conditions are far from favorable to Dick Knight and his men as far as being able to play the scheduled game with Arlington High School this afternoon. However, the paper reports that there will be ice the latter part of this week which will allow the Blue team to brush up on its skating before the big game.

Saturday there was no ice on the rink or on Rabbits Pond, so the game was cancelled. However, both teams engaged in a short scrimmage on Abbot Pond. The ice was sheltered, and had not melted as had the rink. A brief scrimmage was held between the Blue and the B. U. sextet. No score was kept although the Freshmen had the edge as far as actual goals went. The conditions for playing, however, were far from ideal, as there were no cages or boards, and the ice was very rough. (Continued on Page 4)

Improved Boxers Hold First Of Fight Series

Boxers, who have received their instruction from Dave Williams this winter, began the first of the series of bouts last Friday which are being held to determine improvement and fighting ability of the boxers in the respective weight classes.

Numbers will be given at the end of the series to the three boxers with the most fighting ability, and an improvement prize or trophy is to be given by the school to any boy, without regard to weight, size, or class, who has shown the greatest improvement in this field. There is much competition for these prizes, and the bouts so far have been very hard fought.

In the 135-pound class, Justin Williams defeated B. Allen in a close fight. Perhaps the best bout, from the standpoint of skill and rivalry, was the one in which Whitbeck beat Conant. Both men were (Continued on Page 3)

Third Philo Debate To Be Held Tonight

Abolition Of Present Policy For Rearmament In U. S. To Be Discussed

Opening the discussion at seven o'clock, Philo's third debate of the year will be held tonight in the Bulfinch Hall debating room. The contest will be between Lyford-Mintz, and Broderick-Mayo. This should prove to be an interesting match as Lyford was a member of last year's winning team, and Broderick is a member of this year's squad.

Lyford and Mintz will uphold the affirmative of the question, "Resolved, that the present rearmament policy should be immediately curtailed," while Broderick and Mayo will attempt to prove that the government must continue its proposed policy. The other debate on "Resolved: that the modern generation is degenerate," which was postponed last week, has been defaulted by Gillispie and Young to Donaldson and Sanford.

It is hoped that by beginning the debate promptly at 7:00 o'clock, there will be plenty of time for questions. As has been the case in all the previous debates, George Goethals, president of the club, will preside.

So far Philo has had a very successful year. The first two debates and the Political Union have been handled very well, and a great deal of interesting material has been brought up. By the system of allowing fifteen minutes for questioning, the spectators have a chance to discuss the various arguments with the contestants. This has been very popular and probably accounts in some ways for the large audiences.

Yale Cub Courtmen Edge Blue In Hard-Fought Game

Cobb, Zilly, And Anderson Star For New Haven Quintet Last Saturday

After a close, hard battle, a strong Yale Freshman team defeated the Blue five by a score of 34 to 31 last Saturday. Cobb, Zilly, and Anderson, who, under the tutelage of Mr. Di Clementi, were first moulded into the excellent players that they are now, were the mainstays of the Freshman squad. Captain Cobb of the New Haven quintet chalked up 16 out of the 34 points. Although defeated, the Blue netmen played exceedingly well, as both the offense and the defense were working smoothly.

At the opening whistle Andover, with Dudan, Mayo, Kubie, Hearne, and Smith in the line-up, started fast and took an early 9-14 lead. In this scoring surge Kubie, Mayo, and Dudan were outstanding. However, the Blue tide was not to be stemmed as Cobb, showing great speed, burst through twice to make scores. At the end of the first half Andover was in the lead 14 to 13.

Second Half Close

Dudan opened the second half by scoring on a difficult overhead shot. However, Cobb, Zilly, and Anderson retaliated, and Yale jumped into the lead. From that time on the score teetered back and forth from one team to the other until finally Yale gained possession of the lead at the end of the third quarter. After the brief rest, Smith smashed the ice with a long, spectacular shot from mid-floor. During the next (Continued on Page 4)

PUTTERS MAKE SWEEP

Team Shows Great Improvement In Swamping Rivals

Giving about the best performance this year, Andover's track team defeated New Hampshire '41 last Saturday 43-20. Andover took the lead at the very start of the meet and was thereafter never seriously threatened by their rivals. Pirnie led the Blue scorers with eleven points, while Mather of New Hampshire led his teammates with the same number of points.

Pirnie came through in the first event of the day by winning the 40-yard dash in 4 4-5 seconds. Mather of New Hampshire was second and Bill Coles, third. The Blue hurdlers proved to be just a little too fast for their opponents, because they received first and second place to their rival's third. Murphy won this event in 5 3-5 seconds, while Pirnie came right behind him. The next event, the 300, was run in two heats. Mather barely edged out Pirnie in the first to win in the fast time of 34 4-5 seconds. The second heat was won by Bill Coles, and when they compared times, first place was taken by Mather, New Hampshire's outstanding dashman, while Pirnie was second and Coles, third. Jack Keller won the 600, easily defeating his nearest competitor, Sterner. The 1000, which was won by Jones of New Hampshire, was one of the most exciting races of the afternoon. McDonnell was leading most of the way only to be headed by Jones when he unleashed his final sprint. Another feature of this event was the strong finish by Coughlan at the end of the race. He was running far behind the first three or four men with only three-quarters of a lap to go, but suddenly (Continued on Page 4)

Exhibit Of Portraits At Addison Gallery

Masters Of Phillips Academy Included In Display By Hauschka

Showing through February 20th in the Addison Art Gallery, are portrait drawings by Carola Spaeth Hauschka. Miss Hauschka has included in her exhibit portraits of masters, past and present, of Phillips Academy. There are pictures of Dr. Carl Pfatteicher, Mr. Arthur Leonard, and Mr. Allan V. Heely, formerly an instructor in English at Andover, now headmaster of Lawrenceville Academy. Also included in this exhibition are pencil portraits of Albert Einstein, Peter T. Rowe, Bishop of Alaska, Philip Goepf, as well as several pictures of the artist's mother. Any students wishing to have portraits done should inquire at the gallery office. Miss Hauschka does these very reasonably.

Also on view are posters of skiing scenes from Germany, Norway, Sweden, Austria, Italy, and several other countries, not to mention New England posters, which feature the Dartmouth Carnival. These posters are on sale at moderate prices, and will be here until Monday, February 14.

Does the Music or the Name Count?

During the last year there has been an abundance of notable concerts, and yet George Washington Hall has been filled to capacity only once. This fact points out two things: that the majority of Andover students do not enjoy good music, and that it is necessary for a musician to have a famous name before they are interested.

These points are illustrated the best by the Szigeti, Dupré, Bartlett and Robertson, and the Madrigal concerts. Szigeti, although recognized for his talent in Europe, is just on the road to fame in America. Undoubtedly his name will be written with Spalding's and Kreisler's in a few years, and then if he should return to Andover, the whole student body would turn out to hear him. Marcel Dupré, Bartlett and Robertson, and the Madrigal singers, who are all top-notch performers in their respective fields, played before a mere handful of students, the majority of the audience being from the town.

Some people might say, "Well, look at the audience Richard Crooks had." True, but also look at his famous name. He has made numerous appearances in opera and has sung many times over the radio. His record and the exhortations in chapel proved too much for the Andover student, so he managed to go and hear him. Perhaps he just went to say that he had seen him.

But the large audience at the Crooks concert does strike an encouraging note. Not all the students could have come just to see the man. It proves that the Andover student body does appreciate a good name and will attend the concerts if sufficiently convinced that the musician is good. There has been a number of exceedingly large gifts, given for the sole purpose of supplying Andover with truly great artists. It should be sufficient conviction that with such a heavy endowment and with such careful selection, only the greatest artists are engaged.

Armament Has Never Helped Peace

Mr. Roosevelt's proposal to increase our naval strength is one of the most discouraging notes to pacifism today. He would add almost one hundred ships to our fleet to keep up with the pace set by England and Japan. The arms race between the United States and other leading powers brings back the European situation in 1914 when Germany, Austria, and France took similar steps. War occurred then, will it occur now? What is the reason for the President's demand? He has often stated that he hates war, and this is undoubtedly a step to prevent it.

Could it be that he is proceeding on the assumption that, if a nation is well prepared for war, everyone will hesitate to attack it? When all the leading countries get this idea, there is an armament race. With everyone ready for war, a tiny spark of greed or desire for needed colonies can easily touch off the whole works. The world saw that in 1914. Does Roosevelt think that if he builds up a strong navy everyone will be afraid to attack us? If he does, he is wrong. Other nations will be afraid of us, yes, but they will hurry to build a fleet bigger than ours, and the stage will be set the way it was at the beginning of the last war.

If this is not the answer to the question of how to maintain peace, what is? The underlying cause for almost all of the great wars in recent years has been the need for foreign trade. In the conflict of 1914 Germany wanted routes to the Near East. She had some colonies, but needed more. Italy in Ethiopia and Japan in China are both seeking foreign trade. Germany today, and other European nations which are in a worse financial status than we are, need some sort of foreign exchange in which they profit. It is up to us, the countries fairly well off, to allow, through international co-operation, trade agreements which will relieve the economic suffering of these, so that they will not be forced to go to war.

Common sense tells us that this, not armament is the way to peace. What has happened to our supposedly brilliant President? The only other supposition we could make in regard to his policy is that he is trying to cause an international scare. If he is, his announcement is having the same effect as if it were sincere, since it is driving other nations on to bigger and better navies.

Choosing The College

Before coming to Andover, many students have definitely decided what college they intend to enter. However, many are influenced at Andover who had not so determined before entering, and there may be some who had made up their mind, but at some point in their career at prep school, were induced to change it. All of these cases, we feel, demand a little introspection on the part of the individual as to why he is going to the college that he believes his choice, and if he is best fitted to that college.

Perhaps the greatest factor in choosing a college is prejudice, prejudice not only in not considering others but also in accepting without question the chosen college. Too often one can hear that "that place is just a country club; I wouldn't go there," or expressions of like condemnation. That may point out a fault but it entirely disregards the arguments in favor of such an institution on the part of one who has attended it. But too often words of recommendation are expressed by such careless phrases as "It is a great place and will do you a world of good," or "It is just the place for you." These fail to express the qualifications that the college demands. Yet such emotional phrases are constant catchwords by which many boys have been swayed.

In debating the merits of one institution against another, how easy it is to point out virtues of the place without taking into consideration that it may not be suited to the desires or interests of all boys. It is for this reason that there are so many educational centers flourishing today, so why not consider your choice in the light of your qualifications and ambitions. Some may feel that athletics is their chief interest, although they will fail to admit it; others may really be seeking a place to spend four years, merely to be able to graduate into the world with their scholastic generation. For those persons, suitable universities abound, but many of those persons may attempt some other place quite unsuited to their desires, and the result would probably be bitter disappointment or the uncomfortable feeling of being completely out of place. Before one selects his college, it would be well to analyze himself and his intentions.

A choice of college may be the result of paternal pressure or strong family tradition, all of which is very honorable, but often impractical. Here, again, a boy may find himself in an environment completely incongruous to his character and ambition, but he cannot be wholly to blame, for he may have had plans of his own. For one person to be given the choice of two or more universities but be absolutely forbidden to seriously consider entering a particular prominent university, merely because his father would feel hurt to have his son in the college of which he is a sworn rival, is outright bigotry and an injustice to the welfare of the boy. It may be great college spirit but it is impractical common sense. Yet many such cases, or similar ones, may be found.

Friends and classmates may also have an important bearing on the choice of a university. However, these should and usually do not interfere too much unless it is a close decision between the merit of two institutions. One may hear, "I would go there if I could get some of my friends to go," and on analyzing this statement, it appears as a very insincere expression of one's desire. If such a person actually kept himself from entering a university for lack of friends to accompany him, he could not be in earnest in his desire to get an education. Hence, whatever the influence of friends is, it should not be of great weight in selecting one's college.

Inevitably, there are countless boys who shift along with the crowd, unable to make up their own minds and for whom no university can be a great help. These are the chaff that a year of sifting will, for the most part, have eliminated. These are the ones from whom a university may get a bad reputation for they are rather insincere and happy-go-lucky in their college life. Not an unhappy existence but a rather worthless one.

Hence, applying for admission should consist of more than just that. It should for the most of the students be an examination of one's experience, background, desire, and ambition, as well as an examination of the merits and demerits of the colleges, and of the influences that have decided one in the past. The result should be a selection of a university that best fulfills the needed requirements. If the examination is properly handled, the results should be justifying.

Library Now Showing Stephen Foster Exhibit

Gift Of J. K. Lilly Includes Reproductions Of Songs And Arrangements

Now being exhibited at the library is a collection of songs composed by Stephen Foster, one of America's foremost song writers. Although Foster's tunes were written many years ago, they are still popular today.

Stephen Foster was born in Lawrenceville, now a part of Pittsburgh, Pa., in 1826. He first wrote negro melodies, such as "Old Black Joe" and many others, which immediately gained wide-spread popularity. He composed over 175 songs, many of which were translated into different foreign languages. In 1864 he died in New York.

The library is fortunate in having three folders of the reproductions of Foster's songs, compositions, and arrangements, which were presented by Josiah Kirby Lilly in May 1934. This is an excellent collection of some of the most popular tunes ever to be composed. Some of the better known songs are displayed in the show cases in the library.

The undergraduates of Taft had a pleasant gift recently. For no apparent reason, school was suspended for twenty-four hours. The recess was declared on Monday, January 31, at noon, to last until the following day. Two movies were obtained for entertainment.

However, on the same day it was decided to quarantine the school for an indefinite length of time. This enforced isolation will prevent boys from leaving school grounds without permission and many athletic and social activities, including the

The official source of news in regard to government matters said that high Japanese naval officials conferred recently on the question and decided that none of Japan's building program would be disclosed.

Alarmed by the way British shipping has suffered from rebel vessels. Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Great Britain served notice on Generalissimo Francisco Franco that he would have to contend with the entire power of the British navy which had orders to sink at sight any submerged submarine in the main shipping lanes. English and French allies have put almost seventy destroyers to work patrolling the frequented areas. The boats are equipped with depth charges ready for use on submarines and with anti-aircraft guns as protection against airplanes which have bombed quite a few British ships since the beginning of the revolution.

The dispute in Germany as to whether Hitler or the generals of the army were to have control over military forces ended Saturday with Der Fuehrer taking over the post of Secretary of War and control over the foreign office. His cabinet gave full approval to his drastic reorganization which bestowed upon him these new powers. Various opinions have been advanced concerning the significance of the action. One is that Hitler, invested with these powers will start Germany on conquests similar to those of the other two fascist nations, Italy and Japan. Another was that Germany was about to break her relations with Italy and seek reconciliation with France and England in an attempt to regain some of her colonies. Both ideas were scorned by the Nazi government. German newspapers said that the reorganization was made in view of the huge armament programs of other countries, and to the shake-ups in the high command of the military forces of England and France

Exeter is supporting a favored hockey team Saturday in vastly greater numbers than they did last year. By last Saturday many more than a hundred boys had signed up and six busses had already been reserved.

A certain sports columnist for the Exonian in his semi-weekly sports contribution very forcefully expressed his doubts as to the school spirit of Phillips Exeter. Pony Quintet To Meet St. Paul's Cathedral

Junior Varsity Team Has Lost Four Out Of Five Games; Coach Hopeful

In one of their first home games this year, the Junior Varsity basketball squad will encounter the team from St. Paul's Cathedral in the Gym today.

The pony squad has had a fairly bad season so far, having succeeded in winning only one out of the five games they have played, but, as the next five are all at home, Coach Follansbee says that he expects that, beginning with Saturday's game, the team will chalk up several more victories before the end of the year. The squad has been practicing diligently for this coming encounter, and on Monday they played fairly in a practice game with some members of the varsity squad. The starting line-up has not as yet been announced, but it will include Dickens, Forsythe, or Chafey as guards, with the forward wall being chosen from Castle, Chase, Riege, Liverance, and Gans.

Also on the pony squad's schedule is an engagement next Thursday with the members of last year's J. V. team. Enthusiasm has run high in both squads about this game, which will serve to show how far the members of last year's squad have progressed in their work on the varsity. Mr. Follansbee believes that the team, in spite of its previous record, has a good chance of having a successful season, and says that the squad is doing very well in what is its real purpose, being a training ground for future varsity men.

fairly evenly matched, and both were on the offense trying to repay blow for blow received. Another similar fight was the one in which Cadenas drew with Barsamian. Of the bouts fought so far, J. Williams and Whitbeck are the victors, but there are several who have not yet competed.

In the 150-pound class, Sullivan defeated J. Lee in a very close combat. Falcon out-slugged Nunez, receiving a very bloody nose from the encounter. Brown, displaying much improvement, outboxed Martinez, and Havemeyer, using his long reach to an advantage, overcame Sherwood. This ended the first series of bouts, with Benepe, Steer, H. Webster, and Murray yet to fight.

Dave Williams enforced strict rules in all bouts, watching closely for low blows, slapping with laces of gloves, or clinches, which he quickly broke. In all combats the boxers fought two two-minute rounds.

Andover was once again victorious in the shot put, this time making a clean sweep of all three places. Williams placed first with a toss of 46 ft. 9 in., while Cutler was second and Kausel third. The only other field event of the day was the broad jump. This was the first time in quite a while that the broad jumpers have seen action. Gould won this event with a leap of 20 ft. 7 3-4 in., while Mather once again secured points for New Hampshire by placing second. Gould was in second place until his final leap, which enabled him to clinch first place.

Blue Puckchasers In Battle With Arlington High School

Today the team is scheduled to meet a crack Arlington High aggregation. If there is any ice the line-up will be as usual. The first line will consist of Davis, Pike, and Foster, while Captain Furber and Harrison will start at defense, and Dearborn will guard the net. If there is no ice, the athletic association is trying to engage either the Arena or the Boston Garden to allow the team to hold one good practice before the Exeter game.

Wrestlers Victorious By 25-5; Tine, Middlebrook, Bird Star

Milton and Heywood of Andover was one of the most interesting of the meet, the advantage changing hands several times during the bout. For the last fifteen seconds the wrestlers had each other tied up in holds which neither could break, and which kept the crowd in a continual uproar. Heywood was awarded the decision by Referee Rougeiri.

Lindsay won his first victory of the season in the 145-pound class by winning the decision over Biddle. At the end of the first two-minute period Lindsay elected the bottom position, but was out with the advantage almost immediately. Biddle, on Lindsay's advantage, was out in fifty seconds, but was able to keep on top for only ten seconds, when the Andover grappler gained the advantage, which he held until the end of the bout.

In the 155-pound division, Bird ran his total for the season to eighteen points, throwing Captain Page of Milton in four minutes flat. Bird gained the advantage at one minute and forty-five seconds, almost had a fall at 2:30 and again at 3:30, and finally wore his opponent down until he pinned him with half the time gone. Page was Bird's third victim via the fall route, wrestlers of Haverhill and Tufts having succumbed in like manner.

The 165-pound bout proved to be the sensation of the afternoon, as Hal Tine, making his first appearance as a varsity grappler, threw Brown in two minutes and ten seconds. Tine, who has been on the squad for only two weeks, gained the advantage in fifty seconds, lost it with one minute and fifteen seconds gone, and regained it ten seconds before the fall.

Havoc was wrought among the spectators for the third time this year in the 175-pound class, in which Sherman was awarded the decision over Greely in an overtime period. This fight seemed the most uninteresting of the afternoon, and save for the breaking of one or two chairs near the mat, was rather dull. Neither man held an advantage for more than a few seconds, Sherman's superior aggressiveness giving him the decision.

In the club meets held on Friday, the Gauls and the Romans tied, 9 1/2 to 9 1/2, while the Greeks trounced the Saxons, 15 to 5.

Yale Basketball Team Beats Andover 34-31 Last Saturday

few minutes Cobb and Anderson showed their old form and tallied a number of times, seemingly putting Andover hopelessly behind. Although so far the Andover team had played exceptionally fine ball, all of a sudden at this point in the game they seemed to be inspired and showed even better form. Fate was against them, however, as many times in the closing minutes of play their shots circled the ring but then bounced out. Anderson and Cobb were still busily at work chalking up the scores. Just at the final gun Captain Mayo pushed through a basket and then a foul shot, making the score 34 to 31 in favor of Yale.

Mr. Di Clementi has been brushing up the offense this week and has scheduled a hard scrimmage for today. As the first team has improved a vast amount, Mr. Di Clementi thought that they were entitled to a rest last Monday. The next game will be at Cambridge against the Harvard Freshmen. Judging by their performances in the last two contests, basketball critics believe that it will take a strong quintet to keep the Blue team out of the winning column during the last half of the season.

IN THE warehouses Mr. Pinnix has managed in Georgia, North Carolina, and South Carolina, 46,000,000 pounds of tobacco have been sold. Farmers travel many miles to bring their crops to Mr. Pinnix's warehouse for sale. Reason is that they respect his tobacco experience and business integrity. So surely Mr. Pinnix's views are worth your respect, too.

"At every market I've ever attended," says Mr. Pinnix, "Lucky Strike has bought the ripest, mellowest tobacco offered. That's why I've smoked Luckies ever since I first became a warehouseman 20 years ago."

Mr. Pinnix's statement is borne out by sworn records which show that, among independent tobacco experts—auctioneers, buyers, and warehousemen—Luckies have over twice as many exclusive smokers as have all the other cigarettes combined.
