

Soccer Team To Face Exeter At 2:30 Today

Bush Leads Undefeated Team Into Season's Final Game

The Andover soccer team will face the Exeter team today on the Old Campus for the final encounter of the year. So far the team is undefeated in eight contests. Jim Ryley started off the season with only five lettermen returning and gradually worked the team together until now it is the best Andover has had in many years.

Captain Poppy Bush has undoubtedly been the outstanding man on the team. Playing almost every minute of play so far he is by far the highest scorer on the team. His ability to head as well as kick has not only gained Andover many of its goals, but gotten the ball away from Andover's goal.

Team Members

Aside from Bush, Skip McKinley has been very strong in every game at the fullback position. George Havenelle has also been consistent at the wing post. He came into his own in the Yale game in which he scored three of the four goals for the Royal Blue. Tuck Asbury has been playing inside all year and doing an excellent job. He played his best during the Dartmouth game, where he broke up many of the enemy's plays and scored one of our two goals. Dick Webb has been one of the team's steadiest players. He holds down the left halfback and will probably see a lot of action today. Cliff Wright has been the right halfback in almost every game. Vasco Nunez and Rex Twombly have been fighting out for the center half position all year. Twombly has a better header, but Nunez is a better header and a smarter player. Bixby and Sgt Sargent have not been outstanding, but without them the team would not be very potent. Bixby at fullback has a strong kick, uses good judgment. Sargent is one of the strongest headers on the team and is always breaking up plays. Howie Gray, who never played soccer before this year, has done down the right wing for the half of the year and will probably play most of the game today.

Gray Brilliant

The reserve list Stu Butler, John Pley, John "Lana" Turner, Al Nulty, Gene Williams, Jim Watson and Harold Owen are all on forward line ready to go in for the first eleven. The backs on the reserve list are Dick Viney, Amos Scott, Sedge Howard, Phil Stone, and Al Stone.

BLUE GRIDDERS DRILLING DAILY

Light Workouts Mark Practice

With only a very few days remaining before the ancient football rivalry between P. A. and P. E. A. is resumed, Coach Sorota has been putting his undefeated team through fairly light sessions, working up to a climax today with a hard scrimmage and then tapering off the work-outs on Thursday and Friday.

On last Saturday the boys had a bruising scrimmage, in which the offense was stressed, especially passing. If the weather should permit, the Blue will launch a terrific aerial attack, hoping to penetrate the Red-and-Gray's strong defense. The coaches also worked on running plays, with Captain Keuffel, Dick Duden, and Dun Mauran carrying the ball with no little success.

Duden Likely Starter

Barring any last minute shifts that Coach Sorota might make, the regular first team will start against Exeter. There are, however, a few question marks. Dick Duden and Dick O'Leary have been waging a terrific battle for the fullback berth. Duden has been starting most of the games, but in the Tufts game O'Leary edged him out. Now it's a nip-and-tuck affair, but it seems as if Duden will get the nod. Actually it makes little difference, for both are top-notch ball players, and both will see plenty of action Saturday. At left tackle Lem Beardsley and Paul Kohlhaas have been pretty evenly matched all season. On the merit of his season's play, however, it seems as if Lem will be on at the kick-off.

Last Monday the coaches smoothed out several minor details in the Blue's intricate system. Also the backs and ends were given a stiff drill on pass defenses, which

Hockey Election

At a recent meeting of last year's Varsity hockey squad held in Pearson Hall, Sledge Hammer of Lincoln, Mass., was elected captain to succeed Captain William Howe. It was also announced that the manager of this year's team will be David Chaychavadeze of New York City.

BOTH J. V. FOOTBALL TEAMS TO OPPOSE EXETER TODAY

This afternoon both of Andover's Varsity teams will play their historic rival, Exeter. The teams remaining in Andover will have an opportunity to watch the squad play on the "J. V." field, the boys going to Exeter will be the "B" section in action. It will be profitable to look at the records of both contingents. The "A" squad has unfortunately pursued by a streak of ill-luck, from which there has been no escape. They are a good, strong team but unfortunately have had only boys on High School and only first and second teams. The team's record is unimpressive, having lost four games, tied the remaining two. Its defeat was at the hands of the extremely powerful Dean Academy team, who beat the Blue by a overwhelming score of 42-0. The outstanding players on the squad have been Rogoski, Putnam, Bishop, Burkhart, Jelke, Scott, and Rains. This afternoon they will face a team of comparable size, weight, and age, whom, with the combination of their skill, plus the breaks which they have previously been denied, they will very likely defeat.

The record of the "B" squad is much more promising, that eleven having won all its contests with the exception of its opening game with Punchard High School. Sparking the team's attack are its backfield stars, Machaj, Midgley, Schroeder, Upton, and others. In the line are such tacklers and blockers as Captain Ted Escholtz. Their contests have been with high schools, often playing second teams and Junior varsities. They will contend this afternoon with the Exeter "All-Class team," roughly corresponding to our "All-Club" outfit.

Philo Members Hear Dr. Malone Give Address

Lectures On England And Her Probable Next Continent Move

In the Bulfinch debating room, last Monday afternoon, Dr. Miles Malone, Instructor of History at Phillips Academy, delivered a speech on "Should England Invade the Continent at Once"? Dr. Malone frequently referred in his talk to articles by Mr. Max Werner, on the Russo-German war, that are currently appearing in the New Republic magazine. Mr. Werner holds the opinion that unless England promptly invades the European continent, thus diverting Nazi soldiers from Russia, thereby relieving the pressure on the Red armies, Russia will not be able to withstand for long the onslaught of Hitler's legions.

Dr. Malone gave the following ideas as to why Great Britain should not invade German-held Europe. Firstly, the British general staff, which is quite conservative and cautious, fears that if Russia falls while a B. E. F. is in Europe, another Dunkerque may occur, resulting in the wholesale destruction of British material, and leaving the Isles open to invasion. Secondly, Britain does not have the required reserve equipment to open a large-scale offensive, and could only obtain the tanks, guns, planes, etc., by diverting these necessary supplies from her other fronts: the home front, the Iranian and Caucasus front, the Libyan front, and the Far Eastern front. This reduction in the flow of equipment would dangerously jeopardize the British position on the above battle lines. Another drawback is the fact that enormous numbers of ships would be needed on such an enterprise: first, to transport the combatants and their equipment to Europe, and then to keep them supplied with the food and ammunition necessary to wage a war. A few little "pop invasions" would do little toward bolstering Russian morale, or toward relieving the heavy pressure of the German armies on her lines; a full scale

Dramatic Club Plans New Play

The Andover Dramatic Club is planning to present a one-act play entitled "The Valiant." The play concerns a prisoner at a large penitentiary. The trials for the parts were partially held on Monday, so that Mr. Cochran might form his first impression of the men out for the various parts.

The stage hands have begun to plan the set, and undoubtedly within a few days the whole stage will have an appearance approaching that of the required warden's office. The problem of the type of setting is presently vexing the minds of the men in charge of this department, and with chief designer Outerbridge in the infirmary the problem is heightened.

A good number of men turned out Monday for the first selection of players. Many of those on hand for this first reading were veterans of the club's earlier efforts, including Jim Orr and Charles Pinkham. However, even now, nothing definite has been decided, and many small parts, including the female lead, have not been completely, definitely, and finally cast.

Coastal Piloting

A new activity, Coastal Piloting, will meet for the first time on Monday, November 17. This group, under the guidance of Mr. R. W. Sides, will have the opportunity to learn how to read and use charts, plot courses, establish fixed and dead reckoning positions, find danger angles, use a sextant, and perform many other necessary aspects of piloting. There will also be a chance to do some practical seamanship.

In view of limited facilities the group will necessarily be on a restricted basis. All who are interested should come to the Mechanical Drawing room on the top floor of Morse Hall on Monday, November 17, at 1:00. Boys taking the course in Elementary Navigation are not eligible.

MIRROR SETS FALL DEADLINE

Saturday Final Day For Material

Next Saturday, the day of the Exeter game, only three days away, is the day of deadline for the fall term issue of the Mirror. There is not much time left, but there is this afternoon, and for some people, Thursday and Friday afternoon, during which stories, articles, or cartoons for the Mirror can be created. Students are urged to take advantage of this time, which, following immediately after a rating, is not as a rule a time when the piles of work are too high to bother about writing for the Mirror. However, the editors of the Mirror wish to remind the student body once again, that old English themes will do, and any article written for the Mirror can usually be used as a theme later on.

The new, enlarged Mirror is already being shaped up, the results from former appeals having been above expectations. A snappy cover has been chosen, but this is not to be revealed until the distribution of the issue, which will appear in the middle of December.

The magazine this year will strive to eliminate the articles of heavy and serious nature which have in the past appeared in it.

ACADEMY TO INTRODUCE NEW FIRST AID COURSES

Work To Be Under Regulations Of The American Red Cross

Defense work for P. A. students, who are under draft age, might reasonably begin with a First Aid course. Such a course, qualifying its graduates for the Standard Certificate of the American Red Cross, will be opened next week, with registration on Monday and Tuesday, November 17 and 18, and the first meeting during the activities hour on Tuesday, November 25 at the Gymnasium.

A - E GAME RULES

In order that there may be no misunderstanding about the special rules which apply for the Exeter football game, they are stated here-with:

Each boy, whether he goes to Exeter or not, must check in at George Washington Hall immediately after the arrival of the special train returning from Exeter and before dinner. It is important to note that this rule applies not only to those who leave the campus but also to those who remain in Andover. Be sure your name is properly checked. Town boys need not report.

Boys attending the game must travel both ways on the special train. No boy may go or come by automobile.

Disorder of any kind on the train, going or coming, is strictly forbidden.

After the game, whether the team wins or loses, undergraduates must remain together in the stands under the direction of the cheer leaders, and march directly from the field to the station. The special train will start back immediately after the arrival of the student body at the station.

If there is a victory, each boy must check in at George Washington Hall immediately after the celebration. The time will be announced by the cheer leaders. He must then go directly to the movies or else report immediately to his dormitory or house, where he will check the time of his arrival with his Counselor.

Failure to comply with these regulations implies special disciplinary action.

No overnight or day excuses will be granted over this week-end.

In case of any doubt, consult your Counselor, the Recorder, or the Registrar.

8-1 Octet Stages First Concert Amid Great Student Applause

Railroad Club Plans Future Equipment

The Railroad Club, almost finished with the layout table, is already making plans for the future. The fellows plan to install a system whereby two engines on the same track will be able to move at different speeds; the engines will be reversed by changing the polarity of the track. The club's two experts on electrical matters, Nick Reitzel and Bob Garret, will handle the more complicated part of the wiring. While the actual laying of track has not begun yet the members know just what they are going to do as evidenced by the above.

The members are going to solve the rolling stock problem in two ways. Some of the rolling stock will be lent to the club by the members. This will only afford a small amount, however, because some of the members do not own rolling stock and others may not care to lend their equipment.

Last Saturday night, between the Dramatic Club's presentation of "If Men Played Cards as Women Do" and the movies, the 8-1 Octet was heard for the first time this year. Its short but excellent program proved very popular with the student body, and loud applause followed its successful offerings.

The 8-1 Octet was represented by the following vocalists: First tenors, Sam Rogers and Francis Hall; second tenor, Ed Troupin; first basses, Ray Cuthbertson and Jack Carr; second basses, Lucius Bigelow and Bill Coffin. Unfortunately second tenor Dud Wright was unable to sing on Saturday.

On the program were three college songs, the first one, being "Wake, Freshmen, Wake," which was sung in beautiful harmony and was followed by huge applause and shouts of approval from the student body. Next came "Aura Lee." But by far the most popular of the songs was "The Pope," which was cleverly ended by Ray Cuthbertson.

Magazine Drive Declared Success

The magazine drive has turned out to be a big success; although all the magazines have not been turned in yet it is evident from the number already gathered that the student body supports it wholeheartedly. The numerous types of magazines contributed by the student body have afforded the members of Circle A quite a bit of amusement.

Circle A members will start work on toys to be distributed to numerous families in Andover. The toys will be gathered by the children of the faculty. The work will be carried on in the carpenter shop. The toys will be repaired and repainted if necessary, and the fruits of their labor will be used as Christmas presents. The work Circle A is doing on the toys prevents the waste of hundreds of dollars worth of toys. Also slated for the near future is the distribution of Thanksgiving baskets throughout Andover. The baskets will contain food of various kinds for consumption on Thanksgiving.

Andover's Pledge

DURING the whole school year Phillips Academy makes only one charity drive. Unlike other schools that make separate drives, this school raises money for all local and national charities at one time, so that the students need not be bothered throughout the year with other requests for donations to charitable organizations. This is not "just another drive!" This is the only time this year that we will be asked to give to a charity, and we can determine the amount that we wish to donate by considering how much we have given to various organizations in the past and donate that amount at this time.

The student of course will want to know where his money will go, and for what it will be used. The Red Cross, the Community Chest, the Grenville Mission, the Salvation Army, and the Andover Guild all receive a part of the contributions, as well as other causes that need financial assistance from time to time. These are all charities that do work in this country, both of a national and of a social nature, with the single exception of the Grenville Mission, which gives medical help to the Eskimos of Labrador.

Although the British War Relief and other war relief organizations are of importance, and do great work in their fields, still, charities at home should be of prime consideration to all of us for two reasons: the fact that there is a war taking place does not change the fact that the need of those at home is as great as it ever has been, if not greater; and the fact that if we are going to become involved in this war in any way, we must be doubly strong and doubly prepared at home, both in getting rid of some of our weaknesses here and in building up organizations which will be able to administer active aid to those suffering from the war, which can be done by an efficient Red Cross and agencies like it.

The P. A. Charity Drive, which is being sponsored by Circle A, the Society of Inquiry, the Student Council, and the Phillippian, will send out canvassers to all the dormitories on the Hill Friday night, at which time we will be able to make our pledges. These amounts need not be paid until the end of the year, giving us all ample time in which to meet this obligation. No student should decline to give some amount of money, however small it may be. These amounts will vary, but as long as each and every one of us gives as much as he believes he can afford, the drive will be a success.

Sport Shots

There were four outstanding football games last Saturday, two of which were amazing upsets. Most spectacular and thrilling contest of the day was the Notre Dame vs. Navy clash, in which the Irish gained a great triumph, 20-13. As was expected, it was Angelo Bertelli's amazing forward passing that sparked Notre Dame's attack. Leahy is an air-minded coach, and in all his three years as a head coach he has been blessed with a great passer. For his two years at Boston College it was Charley O'Rourke, and now it's Mr. Bertelli. Navy uncovered a new star in the person of Howie Clark, who outshined even Bill Busick. His passing was deadly in the fourth quarter, and around end he was virtually unstoppable. It took two desperate goal-line stands by the Irish in the last period to prevent this rampaging sailor from scoring the tying and winning touchdowns for the Middies. Navy has an open date next week, while the Fighting Irish take on mighty Northwestern in the nation's foremost game.

Two great Titans of football were toppled from the exclusive rank of the undefeated and untied last week in a pair of amazing upsets. The oft-wounded Pitt Panther rose in its wrath and slew the mighty Ram. Pitt clearly outplayed overconfident Fordham, and the great Pitt back Edgar "Special Delivery" Jones flashed All-American form in leading his team to victory. One of Pitt's two touchdowns came on a beautiful 30-yard run by Jones. Imagine how wild this elusive back would run behind a powerhouse line like Minnesota or Northwestern! This loss deals a crushing blow to Fordham's Bowl dreams, but if the Rams, as they most likely will, finish strongly, they might yet wind up in a Bowl. Lowly Baylor held the great Texas Longhorns to a 7-7 tie. A desperate pass gave Baylor its score, while this underdog was holding the Texas juggernaut to one lonely touchdown. Of course, the fact that star passing fullback Pete Layden was sidelined with injuries, undoubtedly hampered the Longhorn attack, but Cowboy Crain was in there, and Texas figured to take this ball game under wraps anyway. It's a simple case of an inspired, hard-fighting eleven catching its superior, but overconfident opponent, napping. Pity poor Texas Christian, which has to tackle the now-ferocious Longhorns on the rebound this week!

There are now four major undefeated and untied teams in the country: Minnesota, Texas A and M, Duke, and Duquesne. The Gophers play Iowa this Saturday and then wind up with Wisconsin. The Badgers might possibly pull an upset, but the chances are that Minnesota will finish the season with a clean slate. Texas A and M has Rice, Texas, and Washington State left on its schedule. Texas is the only one of these three teams comparable to the Aggies. This ought to be one of the great clashes of the year with Texas trying to counterbalance its tie with Baylor by a strong finish and Texas A and M attempting to avenge its 7-0 upset by the Longhorns last year and, at the same time, to remain undefeated and untied. Duke looks like a cinch to keep its record clean, for only North Carolina and North Carolina State remain on the Blue Devils' schedule. Duquesne plays its final game of the year against Mississippi State this Saturday. Mississippi State is undefeated but tied once, by Louisiana State, 0-0; its most impressive victory is a 14-0 triumph over powerful Alabama early in the season. This contest is undoubtedly Duquesne's stiffest test; this observer says the Dukes are finally going to bite the dust.

The Bird Banding Club has received a communication from the British Air Ministry. The message was terse, precise. It read as follows:

1 Messerschmidt 109, color, black.

Banded, October 15, 1941, Andover, Mass.

Brought down in flames, Nov. 10, 1941, London, England.

Said Mr. Shields, faculty adviser of the Banders: "In the light of this event, we are considering the formation of the BBAF, a division of the club devoted exclusively to the banding of military aircraft."

Habitual readers will recall that the Messerschmidt was banded by mistake by a sleepy BB sentry, who mistook it for a large bird.

A week ago one of our promising prep class was inspired by the funnies. He was gripped by the thrilling saga of Dick Tracy, who, if you recall, was strapped to the underside of a table, and some fiend, whose main object was the elimination of Tracy, burnt sulphur in the room to suffocate him.

Well, it seems that this small fiend was inspired to such an extent, that he strapped his roommate to the underside of a table, and began burning sulphur in the room. The sulphur had been sent him by some confederate fiend on the outside, for a birthday present. His roommate was rescued before any serious damage was done, and it didn't take a week as it did in the case of Dick Tracy.

Upon examination of the young fiend's room, the following articles were found:

1 Broomstick.

1 Black Cat.

1 Ouija Board.

Cobwebs.

1 Johnson Smith instruction booklet, entitled "How to break victims on the rack in 5 easy lessons."

1 Cauldron.

The young fiend was taken under observation by Isham's well-equipped psychiatry ward. Discharged after a few days, he chanced to pick up a copy of Life. He is now taking up hypnosis.

Besides Armistice Day, this week sees the first anniversary of the bun-throwing episode of 1940.

To say the least the traditional football game between Rockwell House and Williams Hall was very informal. "Preps" in different colored jerseys scuttled to and fro apparently under no authority. Jokingly we told a Junior friend of ours to replace the tackle on the Williams Hall team. Much to our astonishment he immediately took his place in the line, and his teammate reported to us. At this point we beat a quick retreat to the library.

News has just arrived giving a description of the Archery Club's new uniform—it is composed of an Arrow shirt and a bow tie.

We see by the Phillippian that William A. Stearns began his career thus: "On January 10, 1832, he married Miss Rebecca Alden Frazier of Duxbury. Some people thought he was burying his talents in an insignificant task..." Maybe things have changed since then, but we always looked on marriage as rather pleasant.

We also maintain that Schwarzer must be an old hand at the game if, according to the Phillippian, he got a score of 96 out of a possible 50 in the last rifle team competition.

There was such a thick pea-soup fog on the West Quadrangle yesterday that a new boy with an upset stomach was reported searching for Dr. Gallagher in the left entry of Adams Hall.

We kind of like the new motto of the automobile club; "If Walter Chrysler can put 'em together, so can we." It seems to give us strength to face the impending mid-terms.

This last minute scoring system of the soccer team is gradually breaking down the morale of the undergraduate body. One bewildered boy from New Jersey complained that on bending down to tie his shoelace the score was 1-1. When he straightened up the game was over and Andover had won 2-1. Another bleary-eyed "prep" said that the most recent game with Yale was won during the brief period it took him to blow his nose. This kind of thing can't go on, and in today's game against Exeter we'd prefer a slow, sure victory to being roused from despair with seconds to go.

....Biography

C. F. Bancroft

Cecil Bancroft was born November 25, 1839, in New Ipswich, N. H. His parents were the Deacon James Bancroft and Sarah Kendall Bancroft. He was adopted, not legally, at an early age by Mr. and Mrs. Patch of Ashby, a nearby town, and from them he received the name Franklin Patch, the name of the Patch's deceased child. Through the generosity of his adopted parents, Bancroft was able to attend the common schools of his town, and afterward the Appleton Academy at New Ipswich. In 1856 he entered Dartmouth College and graduated fourth in his class in spite of the fact that he taught at Groton Academy during the winter terms.

Head of Appleton Academy

For the next four years he was principal at Appleton Academy (now called McCullom Institute). One of his pupils at this school was Mt. Vernon, N. H., was Miss Frances A. Kittredge. For the 1864-1865, he took courses at the Union Theological Seminary in New York, and got some war experience while he was with the Christian Commission at the front. However, he then switched schools, taking up at the Andover Theological Seminary, and graduating in 1867.

Bancroft was at once recommended by Dr. Taylor as the ideal man to manage a school for Southern whites—teaching in the New England manner—recently founded by C. R. Robert of New York, who later founded a college in Constantinople. He left immediately after he had been ordained at Mt. Vernon May 1, 1867, and married the five days later. When the school proved to be too great a financial burden for the founder, and he decided to close in 1872, Dr. Bancroft decided to aid his knowledge by teaching abroad.

Appointed For Andover

It was while on this journey, Bancroft learned of his appointment to replace Mr. Frederick Tilton. Arriving in Andover July 31, 1873, he took possession of the "Double Brick" house as residence.

The period when Dr. Bancroft was "reigning" was one of many troubles. The Academy was in need of equipment, and because this was in danger of becoming "second rater." The trustees were always lagging financially, and was at this time that the school first resorted to advertising pupils. The ebb came when there were but 177 boys fewer than the year since 1842! This situation only prevalent for a short time, during the last ten years of service the school had an average of four hundred pupils a year.

Contrary to most of the preps who had come before him, "Banty" did not attempt to enforce the students' religious but rather just tried to influence their moral codes and not entire religious background.

Forms Preparatory Course

During his administration, there were many basic problems that arose, one of which—not the least of them—was the question of compound course which would satisfy entrance into any college, scientific or classical. A solution was made by introducing a new course into the curriculum which was called "Preparatory." He "banished" the oral examination of the time, substituting the familiar written ones.

During the summer of 1893, Bancroft again went abroad, and was exhausted before he left. On his return he rapidly declined. He died on Friday, October 4, 1893. Services were held privately in the brick house where he lived. A public service was held in the stone chapel on Monday, October 9, and he was buried in the cemetery, where—Dr. Taylor—been laid to rest over thirty years earlier. In 1905 a granite monument from the P. A. students was set over his grave.

SPORTS

Varsity Soccer

Following is a resume of the games played by Andover's undefeated team captained by "Poppy" Bush:

Andover 7, New Hampton 0
Andover began the season with a shut-out over New Hampton in the highest scoring game of the year. Bush scored one goal in the first period and then in the second half scored three more in quick succession. Tuck Asbury scored two of the remaining goals and Al Twombly the seventh, to end a perfect day for the Blue.

Andover 2, Governor Dummer 0
In the second game of the season, Andover remained undefeated, undefeated, and unscored-upon as it won Governor Dummer 2-0. Single goals were scored in the second and fourth periods only by Tuck Asbury and Al Twombly, although the forward line broke through the stiff Dummer defense consistently to score tallying by the closest margins.

Andover 1, Deerfield 1
The team then travelled to Deerfield where it engaged in the best game of the season. The Deerfield team scored early in the first period and then both teams were held scoreless until "Poppy" Bush tallied in the closing minutes of the game just as the contest was being up for lost. Thus the game ended in a 1-1 tie.

Andover 1, Worcester Academy 0
Weakened by the sickness of three members of the first team Tuck Asbury, Al Twombly, and George Ravenelle, the Blue eked out a 1-0 victory over Worcester Academy to keep a clean slate. Although Bush made the only score at the end of the first half, the team played a consistently good game of soccer throughout.

Andover 5, Tufts Freshmen 0
Going into the second and most difficult half of its schedule, Andover shut out Tufts '45, 5-0. With a lineup consisting of more members of the second team, P. A. Bush, drove, and headed its way to victory over an inferior Tufts team as "Poppy" Bush scored three of the five goals.

Andover 2, Harvard '45 1
Again Andover emerged the victor, this time over a favored Crimson team to maintain its undefeated record. In this game Harvard scored the second goal to be made against Andover in six games. Harvard led by one goal until the closing minutes of the game, when "Poppy" Bush headed the ball into the net. This tally was followed almost immediately by a second Andover score by Tuck Asbury shortly before the final whistle blew. The team came through in the pinches to overcome an overconfident and almost victorious Harvard Frosh.

Andover 2, Dartmouth Freshmen 1
Andover again repeated its spectacular faculty for scoring goals in the fading minutes of play. This time the final score was made by Bush a few seconds before the close of the second over-time period to win the game. Ravenelle was outstanding as he tied the score near the end of the fourth period. This was one of the most unexpected victories of the year.

Andover 4, Yale '45 0
The Royal Blue accomplished its fifth shut-out of the season as it defeated the Yale Freshmen team in its last pre-Exeter contest on a slippery, muddy, home field while last year's Andover captain and present Yale captain, Don Boynton, watched the game on crutches from the side lines. Ravenelle blazed the way to victory as he scored three of the four goals; the fourth was made by Bush.

Andover faces Exeter Wednesday with a record of eight victories, five shut-outs, one tie, and no defeats. The Royal Blue has scored a total of twenty-four points to its opponent's three throughout the fall soccer season. Of these twenty-four, twelve goals were made by Captain "Poppy" Bush, five by George Ravenelle, three by Tuck Asbury, and one apiece by Butler, Gray, McNulty, and Twombly.

Today will be the big game of the year and every member of the team will be in there fighting for the Royal Blue.

Good luck to the team and Coach Jim Ryley.

ALL-CLUB SOCCER TO PLAY EXETER

The fall term championship games being over, the Saxon nosing over the top in the close race, the All-Club team will today leave to play against Exeter. With the pick of the lot of soccer players, Coach Allis of the victorious team in Orange, has been able to form a strong combination. He has been aided by Mr. Morgan and an other assistant from the "runner-up" teams.

Wednesday morning the boys will leave in a special bus, in company with another bus, which will carry the J. V. squad to the New Hampshire seat of rivalry to Andover. It is hoped and expected by all, of course, that the teams from P. A. will banish the "Red" group from the field with an overwhelming score.

Mr. Allis and Mr. Peck have been able to supply the proper equipment to the needy team members, and this year, as an innovation, the group will go out to win prepared against all of the natural and unnatural phenomenon that it might please nature to spring on the boys.

CLUB FOOTBALL ENDS WITH ROMANS AHEAD

Last week the club football season ended. It was a good season and brought out many promising players. Each team played six regular games, and in the competition the Romans just managed to edge out the Saxons by a half game. The Gauls came in third, just a half game behind the Saxons; and the Greeks, who lost all six of their contests, finished in the cellar.

There was only one tie in the season; this was a scoreless one between the Romans and the Gauls. Among this year's outstanding players were Sleepy Reynolds, Dick Moody, Bob Donworth, Bill Ross, and Francis. It is impossible to say which was the best of these men, as they all played very well, and many appear good material for next year's Varsity and J. V. squads.

The season closed with an all-star game. The best players from the Romans and the Gauls stood the best players from the Saxons and the Greeks. The Roman-Gaul combination triumphed 12-0, Cushing and Dunlap of the Gauls scored the two touchdowns. This was a fast game, in which surprisingly good teamwork was displayed.

The season was a close one all the way, and it was impossible to forecast which team was going to come out on top, right up until the very end. The Saxons played good ball all the way through, but they didn't quite make the grade. The final standing of the clubs was:

	Won	Lost	Tied
Romans	4	1	1
Saxons	4	2	0
Gauls	3	2	1
Greeks	0	6	0

New Cheers

New cheers to be learned by the students for the Exeter game.

- The Pinwheel:
Starting with a low "shsh," the sound works up into a climax when the rotating hand of the cheerleader is up. Then follows a "Boom-A-Team."
 - The Delayed Andover:
The student body spells out A-N-D-O-V-E-R in a slow fashion. Each letter is shouted with the uplift of the cheerleader's arm. The cheer ends with a rapid "fight team fight."
- These cheers can easily be done by paying strict attention to the cheerleaders' actions.

Andover Third In Harrier Meet Mt. Hermon Emerges Annual Race Victor

On an ideal day for such a race, the Harriers of seven schools met here last Saturday to run in the second Interscholastic Cross Country meet, which started near G. Washington Hall at 2:45 and ended up by the Cage.

The schools represented, in order of their placing, were Mt. Hermon, St. John's Prep, Andover, Moses Brown, Cushing Academy, Bridgton Academy, and Hebron. Disnard of Hebron broke the course record in 12 min. 42 2-10 sec. Incidentally, the first eight men to place ran the course faster than anyone had ever done before.

Andover's treksters made a fine showing. Johnny Keltee paced the two and one-half mile course in 12 minutes and 47 seconds to place first for old P. A. and eighth in the group. The next four men to place for Andover were Charley Knapp, Jack White, Jack Lemmon, and Burt Nichols who came in 19th, 22nd, 23rd, and 24th respectively. Out of a starting aggregation of fifty men from the seven schools, forty finished. Jack Corse finished 25th as the sixth Andover man to come in.

Disnard, who finished strong, almost refused to break the tape for some unknown reason as he crossed the last white line. He shattered last year's record of 13:49 set by Cullen of St. John's by more than a full minute. This year Cullen placed second to the Hebron jogger, with a 12:44 timing. Close on his heels came Newcomb of Mt. Hermon, Mendez of Bridgton, Bramhall of Mt. Hermon, and Dutton of Hebron. The first Cushing Academy man to place was W. Billingham, who came in 13th, who was followed by W. O'Brien, the first Moses Brown Harrier to cross the finish line.

At about four o'clock in the Gym, Mr. Peck awarded a plaque to the winning team, Mt. Hermon, and medals to the first ten men to finish. Afterwards, the teams were invited to supper at the Commons and the entertainment that evening in George Washington Hall.

The first five men to finish in each team are as follows:

The final scores were Mt. Hermon 39, St. John's 63, Andover 96, Moses Brown 113, Cushing 132, Bridgton 133. Although runners from Hebron placed first and sixth, Hebron could not compete as a team because of an insufficient number of men. Officials were: Mr. Peck and Mr. Cohen; Judges: Mr. Humphries, Mr. Whitney, Mr. Di Clementi; Scorers: Mr. Watt, Mr. Pieters, and Mr. Follansbee.

TENNIS PLAYERS NOW WORKING ON TRACK

At last the names of the members of the first Gauls' team who have earned their numerals, have been released by Coach Kelley. The following are the members of this victorious team: Captain Gilbert Kittredge, Bill Schock, Bill Saunders, Bitting, Bud Lethbridge, Devendorf, Ettelson, Marshall, Deming, and Slocum.

Fall tennis is now rapidly coming to an end, with a very successful fall season behind it. During this season the players have shown immense progress and are now certainly in good shape.

During the latter part of the season, Coaches Kelley and Hasenclever coached the squad, and were busy picking out the various players who will make up next spring's Varsity.

The honors for the season go to the Gauls, who were the victors in the Intra-Club tournaments.

have been a wee bit wobbly at times. Coach Sorota will probably work on this defense a good deal more because chances are that Exeter will take to the air, if possible.

Brockway Out

Last week Si Brockway chipped a bone in his ankle, and thus he will be out of action Saturday. Si now joins "Moose" Herron, Georgie Warren, and Harry Wieting on the bench. These four men will be sorely missed Saturday up at Exeter.

As we look back on the season so far, P. A.'s record is, to say the least, amazing. On the offense the Blue have averaged three touchdowns a game, rolling up a total of 108 points in six games; but their defensive record is even more remarkable, only two touchdowns against the Blue all season. For this all due credit must be paid to the line coaches—Ed Flanagan and Jack Meany—two men who have made a strong, powerful, well-coordinated forward wall from a few fragments of green and inexperienced material. A great deal of the success of this year's squad is due to these two men.

Tickets for the game are now on sale at the gym office.

The thermometer has been slowly but steadily dropping. This has been stiffening the boys slightly.

This week the boys are being applauded at assembly every morning. "Lou" Hudner seems to be the most affected. By the time he reaches his seat he is redder than a tomato—murmuring "Shucks, Fellas."

Spot Light

Always out front when it comes to producing good musicals, Twentieth-Century Fox again hits the bullseye with a bright, fast-moving tropical tale entitled "Week-end in Havana," with Carmen Miranda, Alice Faye, Cesar Romero, and John Payne.

Alice Faye, an employee in a New York department store, is en route for Havana to spend her brief vacation, when her boat is grounded on a sand bar. The only way the company can make up Miss Faye's loss is by having their insurance man (John Payne) take her to Havana, treat her to a good time, and pay all the bills. In the beginning, John proves too studious for Alice's liking, but after various complications which we won't bother to reveal here, they are both seeing eye to eye at the end of the film.

Needless to say the best parts of the film are the songs and the dance routine. Miss Faye has a pleasing voice, and she puts over "Tropical Magic" and "Romance and Rhumba" to such good advantage that they are bound to be on the hit parade in a very few weeks. Carmen Miranda of the infectious smile and swinging hips sings "When I Love I Love" with an admirable gusto.

Our nomination for the picture of the week is Columbia's presentation of "Ladies in Retirement," starring husband and wife, Ida Lupino and Louis Hayward.

Saxons Lead In Touch Football

With plenty of spirit and pep backing them, the newly formed touch-football teams out on the track have been playing games every afternoon, weather permitting. It is two weeks now since Coach Boyle has converted fall track into a touch-football league. A first and second squad have been chosen from each club, and the boys are getting some real exercise. The new sport has proved immensely popular.

Since the cold weather was beginning to set in, this plan was adopted to pass the last two weeks of the fall season. A regular system of recording the scores was adopted. At the close of each afternoon the winning team reports the score of its game to Mr. Boyle. At this writing the Saxons are undefeated. Although under the new order the exercise period is considerably longer—nobody is allowed to leave until 3:45—the boys are having a real good time out there and don't seem to mind the extended period very much.

ARCHERY CLUB MEMBERS NOW PRACTICE DAILY

The Andover Archery club has been shooting regularly every afternoon on its archery field. The members have shown considerable improvement, and have been shooting hundred-yard distances as well as shorter ones.

Many students have lately expressed their interest in this newly established organization, and have expressed their desire to join. Yet since then none of them have shown up at the archery practices. There has, however, been a group of members that has nearly always shown up, including Curt Lewis, Don Herbst, and Ben Morse.

The club has now purchased most of its equipment, and nearly all the boys are now equipped with a bow and arrows.

Arguments for Affirmative

During the oration, the following points were brought out in favor of the affirmative. To begin with, there is no immediate prospect of Russia's collapse, and therefore the need of a second Dunkerque is very remote. Secondly, the British have very nearly obtained air superiority in the West, and if another military evacuation were necessary, it could easily be accomplished, as the Royal Air Force could keep the sky free from German aircraft. At present Mr. Churchill is being subjected to heavy pressure from the British Labor party, which wishes an immediate invasion undertaken, since this would not only help the Soviet directly, but also indirectly by raising its morale. Thirdly, many people believe that the inhabitants of the occupied countries would greatly aid an allied invasion by blowing up bridges, supplying information, and also by acting as "Fifth Columnists" and sabotaging the Reich's industries. Another indication of Germany's present weakness is the fact that in Russia the Red armies captured from the Nazis many obsolete guns, tanks, and other pieces of equipment which Hitler had taken from the occupied countries. Coupled with the fact that Germany is believed to have withdrawn reserve troops

Cross-Country Election

At the recent meeting of the cross-country squad, held following the annual Interscholastics last Saturday, John Keltee was elected captain of next year's team.

from western Europe to serve on the Russian front, this shows that the Reich's supplies of reserve equipment are dwindling, and that her armies are no longer superior in material to those of England.

Many high ranking military men, among them General Sir Archibald P. Wavell, Britain's commander in India, believe that Hitler can be defeated only with a B. E. F., and only on German soil. Many think that a good preparation for such an undertaking would be the conquest of the Axis' weak link, Italy. From there Britain could cross the Adriatic and attack the Reich through the Balkans, or even through France. An unusual idea was advanced by the afore-mentioned Mr. Werner, who suggests that Britain might invade Spain, a country openly favoring the Axis. This would start another peninsular war as was done by the Duke of Wellington during the Napoleonic Wars, thus forcing Germany to remove larger forces from the East to Spain. If such an invasion were successful, Britain could then invade France and Germany by crossing into France's back door, the Pyrenees. However, this enterprise could not feasibly be accomplished without American naval aid, and would depend to some extent on the pending repeal of the Neutrality Act by Congress. Because of the mud and condition of the territory on the French side of the English channel, no British invasion could be easily made there before spring. Another danger is the fact that if trouble between the Japanese and the United States should arise in the Pacific, the fleet will have to remain in the ocean, and will not be able to reach England. At this point the speech was concluded, and the remainder of the period was spent by Dr. Y. lone in answering the questions of his much interested listeners.
