STRONG P. A. BALL TEAM FACES EXETER IN FINAL ENCOUNTER OF 1943 SEASON

Baseball Very Successful During Entire Season Blue Aggregation Favored Over Red Squad In Tomorrow's Contest

Captain Ben Hammer has led Andover's baseball team through a grand season which will undoubtedly be bettered following tomorrow's game. Coach George Follansbee deserves one of the larger portions of credit for his direction and handling of the Blue. However, when the shouting is over, Dave Toll will be given the merited praise for his valuable work as manager. Between those three and the rest of the players, Exeter will be exceedingly mauled before the end of tomorrow.

Harvard Var. 4, P. A. 1

At the end of the season, it will be found that the only Red team to take over the Blue will be the Harvard Varsity. April 14 saw Brendon Reilly pitching for the Crimson offer a little too much on the ball, striking out 13 and allowing only 3 hits. Phil Kemp, Andover's hurler, pitched a fine game, finishing up with 7 strikeouts and but 9 hits against him. Capt. Ben Hammer marked up Andover's lone run on a sacrifice by Fred Zonino. P. A. was obviously playing a bit out of its class, but turned up with an exceptionally good performance. The scattered bits of ability promised a first-rate team, and that was one promise which hasn't been broken.

P. A. 9, St. Mary's 1

The Blue team broke into the winning column against St. Mary's on April 17. Gene Bierer, pitching for Andover, turned in the first of his wins and proved his worth as a valuable pitcher. He allowed but three scattered singles and only two walks. The opposing pitcher allowed seven singles, and walked seven more men. This comparatively easy game and the one following, supplied much needed experience for the team in playing as a group.

P. A. 12, Marblehead 9

This game was full of errors, as the score would indicate. Bierer pitched a fine game, his second win, with but 4 hits against him. Luck Asbury was the hero of the day with a goodly blow that entitled him to four bases. On the whole, the team looked pretty good for the big game Saturday with Yale.

P. A. 5, Yale J. V. 2

The two Blues clashed at New Haven and for a while the smoke and dust ruled. When it cleared away, Andover had a fat piece of bacon to drag back to the Hill, namely a 5-2 win over the Pale Blue Puppies. It was a tough game, and well contested every moment. Pitcher Gene Bierer came

Dave Lynch Reviews Exeter's '43 Season

DAVE LYNCH, P.E.A., '44

In their initial contest of the season, which had to be called at the completion of five innings to allow the opposition sufficient time to catch a train, Exeter dropped an 11 to 8 decision to Revere High. Bruce Ramage received the hurling assignment, but was sent to the showers in the third, when he was pounded by a barrage of Revere hits. Before the afternoon came to an end, Coach Clark sent in Steve Howe and finally Wally Buell in an effort to smother the visitor's frequent splurges.

On the offensive "Bunts" Marshall was without a doubt the outstanding player, collecting three safeties for a perfect day at the plate. Had the contest been extended over the regular nine frames, the outcome might readily have been reversed.

Although they displayed a great deal of aggressiveness all the way, the Exeter nine again succumbed, this time to a highly potent Harvard Varsity 12 to 5. Over the first six frames the defenders almost kept pace with the Crimson,

Spring "Mirror" On Sale Tomorrow; "Pot Pourri" Will Appear Tuesday

"MIRROR"

The spring issue of the Mirror makes its appearance tomorrow. Besides some good drawings by Stark, Jordan, and Cote, there are many interesting articles and stories. Not only are the old guards of the Mirror present in this issue, but several new writers have contributed, making it probably the best this year.

Stewart, Gilbert, Berghelm, and Cote all have highly interesting stories. Berghelm has managed

"POT POURRI"

On Tuesday evening, June 8, the Pot Pourri will be distributed in each dormitory. The publication will be noted mainly for its 14 pages of candid photos of the Senior class.

The first thing that will meet the eye of the reader is the brand new, striking Royal design on the white cover. Thought of and worked over by Sam Rogers, it goes a great way towards making this year's Pot Pourri one of the best.

Dr. McConaughy Will Be Speaker At Graduation

Class Day Includes Mikado, Wilder Play; Gen. Miles Will Attend

The class-day graduation exercises for this year will be held on next Thursday and Friday. The guest speakers will be General Sherman Miles and Dr. James L. McConaughy.

Class day will be Thursday afternoon. The four traditional elements of the History, the Poem, the Prophecy, and the Oration have been woven into a dramatic sequence which is both humorous and serious. There are also three musical numbers. The program will begin at three o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Class Day Cast

Craig Gilbert is the author of the dramatic skits and will play the part of the Prophet. Bill Jackson will be the Historian for the class and S. D. Herron, the Orator. Alexander Calhoun will take the part of the Class Poet. The double octet under the direction of Sam Rogers will sing. Lou Hudner, president of the Senior class, will begin the program with an address of welcome.

Jack Lemmon wrote the words and music for the three songs and Ben Brewster orchestrated them. Mr. Morgan and the stage crew have constructed a set for the production. Dr. and Mrs. Fuess will give a tea for the graduating class at four in the afternoon.

In the evening, Thursday, the Glee Club will present parts of the Mikado and the Dramatic Club will put on Thornton Wilder's play, "A Happy Journey."

Graduation

The guest speaker at graduation, Friday, will be James L. McConaughy, L.H.D., L.L.D., former president of Wesleyan University and currently head of United China Relief. Dr. Fuess will announce the five major prizes for the year and Col. Stimson will present the diplomas if he can be present. If he is unable to attend, a representative of the trustees will award the diplomas. General Sherman Miles, Commander of the First Corp Area, and his staff will attend graduation.

Deprived of its first game with the Red by rain, tomorrow the Royal Blue nine led by hard-hitting Captain Ben Hammer will meet its traditional Exeter rivals at New Hampshire, determined to smash through to victory. The P. A. team, at top performance of the year, is favored to win.

Coach "Flop" Follansbee has moulded a potentially powerful squad into a near-invincible nine which should vanquish a particularly strong P.E.A. aggregation. With a team batting average of .300, there should be plenty of offensive play while the fast infield and air-tight outfield combined with the fancy pitching of speed-ball Phil Kemp should keep the opposition's score at a modest low.

Captain Hammer at .479

Sparking the team with his errorless play in left field, Captain Ben Hammer has gone on a hitting spree this last week to collect nine hits with 11 times at bat to move his average to a mighty .479. Combining this batting power with the well-deserved title of "poison on the base lines," Ben will be the man to watch tomorrow. During the whole year, he has led the nine with outstanding spirit and has steadied the squad through tight places, setting an example with his record of perfect ball. A P.A. victory against the Red will be due almost entirely to his expert and constant leadership.

Pitcher Phil Kemp, who will start in the hurling slot tomorrow, has a record of five wins to one defeat, the latter at the hands of a strong Harvard Varsity squad. During the season, he has yielded only nine runs, averaged about ten strikeouts per game, and pitched a shutout against Thayer on April 28. Phil's specialty is a speedball, guaranteed to confuse the Red, which he has used with murderous effect against all opposing batters.

Clayton To Catch

On the receiving end of the ball game, football and basketball regular Hal Clayton, who joined the nine this year, will see action behind the plate. Possessing an accurate and swift peg to second, Hal should cut down any one attempting to steal. On the offensive, this versatile catcher has been in a batting streak and will threaten the Red tomorrow with a .314 average. With his chatter to the infield in particular and grandstand in general, Hal has been largely responsible for keeping team spirits up and scores down.

First base will be ably-manned by first-year football and basketball star Clint Vose, who has seen ac-

Good Luck To The Team!

TOMORROW the baseball team will face Exeter for the last athletic contest of the year. The fact that the first Andover-Exeter ball game had to be cancelled will make the result of tomorrow's game less decisive as the breaks may well determine the outcome. But whatever happens P. A. can be proud of this year's team. They go into their last game with a good record for the season.

The schedule this year has included some of the teams we usually play, but many were unable to travel the distance because of transportation difficulties. In their place P. A. has faced such opponents as Harvard Varsity and the Naval Advance Base Depot team. In normal times most of the school would have journeyed up to Exeter to see the contest, but this year only three hundred will carry the Andover spirit to the enemy. However we cannot complain as we are lucky to have so many going.

Captain Hammer and his team have done a splendid job in taking their opponents as they came and defeating most of them. Special credit is due also to the coaching staff, headed by Mr. Follansbee, and to Manager Dave Toll. All in all the licking Exeter will take tomorrow will finish off a very satisfactory season.

Summer Jobs

MANY students are going into the service shortly after they leave school and a large number are staying in Andover to get a start on their next year's work and receive as much education as they can before entering the Armed Forces. However there are still a great many students, especially Lowers and Juniors, who will be staying at home and working at summer jobs.

The problem this year is not so much how to get a job as it is which one to take. The demand for boys to fill summer jobs far exceeds the number of boys who plan to work, and many students have decided that they feel it their duty to get a job this summer, even though they do not have to have the money, in the place they will be most useful to the war effort.

This seems to us a sensible attitude. Things to be taken into consideration when looking for a job now include not only the pay and the hours, but also the usefulness of the job itself.

Students who would ordinarily spend the Summer loafing at country clubs, golf courses, tennis courts, and beaches must certainly, as a patriotic duty, find jobs on farms, in defense factories, or in other fields of occupation where the labor shortage is acute. Many will not be driven to work because of their financial status. However, we urge all to help, whether they need the money or not. Those who work on farms or at defense plants will be giving their country material aid just as important as the contributions made by the men on the fighting fronts.

The call for labor is a challenge to American youths under eighteen years of age. We must not fail to meet this challenge!

Your Help Is Needed

THIS year, as in the past, the Society of Inquiry and Circle A are holding a drive for old clothes and books. The clothing collected will be given to people who need it badly. At this time of year all of us find articles of clothing that are no longer of use to us. If it were not for the Drive they would probably be discarded or lie in a trunk in the attic all summer, only to be thrown out next fall. These articles can be fixed up and given to persons to whom they will mean a great deal. This can be achieved by very little effort or sacrifice on our part.

The books collected will be put into the Loan Library for use by scholarship students next year and in the years to come. There will be opportunities to sell your books but the price paid will be a very small fraction of the actual value, and they will be resold next year for three or four times as much. By selling our old books we help someone to make a profit out of the students next year, while by giving them to the Loan Library we may make a lasting contribution to the school.

Giving your old clothes and books to the Drives may take a few cents out of your pockets but the loss is more than made up by the feeling of having done something worth while.

Movie Preview

Avid followers of Bob Hope will recognize in tomorrow's film a distinct similarity to one of Mr. Hope's earlier cinematic efforts. Tomorrow's picture is "They Got Me Covered", and its predecessor is "My Favorite Blonde".

Both films have Mr. Hope engaged in one of those hectic chases which always result from Mr. Hope's ability to run afoul a bunch of German spies. Both films manage to have Mr. Hope escape after seemingly impossible difficulties have been overcome. And both films find Mr. Hope also involved with an attractive member of the opposite sex.

For our money, "My Favorite Blonde" was much the better of the two movies.

For one thing, our preference runs to Madeleine Carroll rather than Dorothy Lamour. For another, we rather like Mr. Hope as a vaudeville comedian with a pet penguin, and in the present case Mr. Hope is a newspaper man.

That is not to say that "They Got Me Covered" is without its merits. Mr. Hope as the dumb reporter is, as usual, very funny indeed. The situations in which he gets involved are frequently side-splitting. Here are some samples:

1. Mr. Hope is fired because, while a correspondent in Moscow, he had overlooked the little matter of the German invasion.

2. Mr. Hope, hotly pursued by Nazi spies, disguises himself as Veronica Lake.

3. Mr. Hope, again trying a last resort in an escape from the spies, plays the part of a dummy in a shop window.

4. Mr. Hope, temporarily held prisoner by the Nazis, gets shanghaied into a bridal suite with a blonde and rather well-constructed stripteuse.

As mentioned above, Dorothy Lamour (sans sarong) is Mr. Hope's partner in these nonsensical escapades. To help offset her, is a newcomer to Hollywood, a svelte Yugoslavian miss by the name of Lenore Aubert. "They Got Me Covered" has been produced by Samuel Goldwyn, directed by David Butler. But we still liked "My Favorite Blonde" better.

Splatter

A friend of ours has gone into the poultry business. It all began when one night, as he sat at his desk, a bomber squadron of June Bugs dropped their "eggs" in his lap. One of them turned out to be a genuine chicken egg; so he decided to hatch it. For three days he sat on it patiently while his room-mate fed him worms from a nearby Victory Garden, and Miss Whitney went into tantrums counting his cuts. Finally, the chicken hatched. He's been keeping the bird in his closet on a pile of excelsior salvaged from a shipment of T. N. T. that was delivered to him by mistake. He has become quite attached to his "wee itty birdy" (as he calls it), and he sincerely hopes that neither the Bird-Banding Club nor Mr. Leete gets wind of his new possession. Lately he has been trying to teach the fowl how to speak English, but we believe that he has been singularly unsuccessful because in our latest interview with him his only remark was a cheery: "Peep, Peep!"

Sorry, folks, but only 300 copies of the "Mirror" will be available tomorrow. There! If student reaction is the same as it was when it was announced that only 300 tickets to Exeter for tomorrow's baseball game could be had, the "Mirror" will be sold out in less time than it takes to say "Beat Exeter!"

All those who have taken Mr. Morgan's course in Camouflage have been rewarded with gratifying results. To date, all the would-be camoufleurs have been most successful in disguising their crib sheets during exams.

Yesterday's holiday left the campus as deserted as a tennis court in mid-winter. Maybe it was the heat. Or could it have been that Andover men were studying for their exams?

Three Japs killed with one bullet was the score of Marine Pfc. Nicholas Sileo while defending a small village somewhere in the South Pacific. Sileo dropped the trio as they approached Indian file and then bagged two more before the swarming little men's rifle fire put him out of commission and he had to be hospitalized. tion in every game this year. Last Saturday against the Naval Advance Training Base from Davisville, Conn., the "Pointer" hammered through a double and a triple besides making the sack a dangerous place for the opposition. With a special talent for trimming off potential stealers at first, Clint ranges well over his territory and snags everything within reach. The team is especially indebted to him for the inspired jokes with which he keeps the infield alert and ready.

Keystone Combination Fast

Artie Moher at second and Tuck Asbury at shortstop will end their second year together tomorrow and should turn in a couple of double-plays in their usual lightning style against the Red. Artie has been the sparkplug of the infield to a large extent this season with his fast moving play and expert fielding. Behind the plate, as lead-off man, this captain-elect of hockey has a good eye and frequently collects walks from the opposition. Once on base, he usually capitalizes his passes into runs. Artie can bat too as evidenced by his three hits for five tries against Woburn High some weeks ago.

Rounding out the keystone combination, is soccer and basketball standout Tuck Asbury who has been a regular on the team for three years. Covering his territory with amazing speed, Tuck starts many of the double plays which have spelled disaster for the opposition. Consistently in the three hundreds, he is at his best this season with a snappy .322. In the first inning of the Marblehead game, Tuck smashed out what was the only home run of the year until Duden duplicated the feat last Wednesday. Dependable in the pinches, "Red" will be a positive threat to P. E. A.

Duden Now On Third

At the beginning of this season, Dick Duden was transferred from right field, where he played last year, to the third base slot where he has been even more successful. The "Dude" is a powerhouse at bat and has accumulated an average of .396 with many doubles and triples which have sent the outfield scurrying. Climaxing his best season in three years as a regular, Dick scored a tremendous home run against Hyde Park last Wednesday driving in two men ahead of him. Tomorrow he should be particularly murderous against the Red.

Beside Captain Hammer in left field, is pitcher-player Gene Bierer in center. With his confusing speedballs, left-handed Gene limited the Yale J. V. to four hits and two runs for a season average of four wins to one loss. When not pitching, he has covered the center field territory with deadly proficiency pulling down many a potential hit. Topping off this versatility on the mound and in the daisies, Gene has proved to be dangerous at the plate where, he has a fondness for knocking out sizzling doubles.

Zonino In Right Field

Over in right, Fred Zonino is completing his second season as ball-snagger and hitter. "Zo" covers ground with lightning speed and thus far has caught everything that comes within half a mile. So effectively does he do this, that he accounted for all three outs in one inning a few weeks ago making the opposition wonder if there weren't five men instead of one out in right. Fred practically won the Yale J. V. game single-handed when he accounted for four of the five P.A. runs with a smashing single and a long double. Tomorrow he should be at his best.

Other regulars who may well see action against the Red are: "Rennie" Farrington, who has been outstanding in left field; "Bardie" Smith who has likewise done well in center; Mort Dunn n one of the infield positions; Ted Brockie-out in right field; and Rayzo Borse in the catching slot. In pitching relief roles, Cy Brockway, four years a veteran, who sent Woburn High down to defeat; Bob Harvey, a speedball lefty who limited Wakefield to only six hits; and Gene Bierer who might be taken from center in case of difficulties, will all provide plenty of reserve mound talent. Finally, Manager Dave Toll, winter basketball ace, will be at his usual perfect efficiency seeing that no mechanical details of the game go amiss to mar his season's record of expert managing. With such talent, P. A. is bound to triumph.

EXONIANS WIN TENNIS, 7-2, BUT DOWNED BY J. V.'S, 5-4

Kiam Takes Varsity Singles Bout; Rains and Jordan Win In Doubles

Last Saturday morning the Varsity tennis squad lost 7-2 to Exeter in its final match of the year. All members of the squad fought hard, and in most cases played well, but were defeated by a stronger team. At the same time the J. V.'s won their battle against the Red and Gray, 5-4, also playing good tennis for the most part. Those who won for the Varsity were Vic Kiam, playing number six, and the doubles team of Rains and Jordan.

As usual, Bill Schock started in the first position for the Blue and fought out a very close match. However, he tightened up at times, and was unable to recover, losing 4-6, 5-7 to Baker of the Exonians. Captain Frank Strout also started off very well. In fact he won his first set 6-4, against Doherty. But in the third and fourth bouts he just could not get started, being behind 0-5 at one point. Therefore he lost his match 6-4, 2-6, 1-6.

Phil Drake In Close Battle

The real battle of the morning was the one between Phil Drake and Shively of Exeter—"a battle of the giants", for each was over six feet tall. With "no quarters asked and none given," Phil was defeated easily in the first set, 6-1. In the second set things changed for the better, and he won 6-2. But it was in the final bout that the real struggle took place; twice in this round Phil had the score at match point against Shively, but was not quite able to get the winning tally; then Shively came back, and after running the match to eighteen games, he won 10-8.

Neither Jim Rains nor Bob Jordan was up to his usual game, with the result that both were beaten by superior opponents; Rains bowed to Compton, 2-6, 4-6, and Doyle of the visitors downed Jordan, 6-3, 6-4. But in the last singles match of the season P. A. finally came through with a victory. Vic Kiam, who on Thursday was not even expected to start on the Varsity, overcame Moore in three

J. V. TRACKMEN CRUSH EXETER

Roll Up 69-57 Score Taking Nine Firsts

The final curtain dropped on track activities for this year last Wednesday as the Andover J. V.'s defeated the Exeter J. V.'s 76-50. The Royal Blue racked up nine firsts and eight seconds, including a sweep in the discus and the javelin.

No records were set, but some good times were made. A. Hall, of Exeter, ran a very nice 2 minute 9.2, second half mile and Beard's 55.2 second 440 was also very good time.

For Andover the winners were Pabst in the discus, Cote in the high hurdles, Jack Morris in the javelin, Castle in the hammer, C. Davis in the low hurdles, Thurber in the broad jump, Howard in the pole vault, Jenkins in the 220 yard dash, and Beech in the shot.

The summaries:

120 yard high hurdles, won by Cote (A), second Pease (E), third Lotzenheiser (E). Time 17.6 seconds.

100 yard dash, won by Turner (E), second Jenkins (A), third Irwin (A). Time 10.8 seconds.

"MOBILES" SHOW BY ALEX CALDER

Now on exhibition at the Addison Gallery of American Art are a group of "mobiles" or "mobile objects" by the American sculptor, Alexander Calder. They represent a new type of sculpture in which the use of wire is predominant. Mr. Calder has taken the scientific principles of balance, force, and tension, and has attempted to express these elements in an aesthetic sense.

The result of this novel use of scientific laws in artistic achievement is a disjointed piece of "sculpture" made of wire, in which the different parts slowly carve patterns in the space around them. At first these "mobiles" will appear almost ridiculous to the visitor, but gradually they acquire a distinct fascination which broadens into keen interest.

It is quite natural to ask for an explanation of these "mobiles" by Mr. Calder, but the explanation can be found not so much in words, but in listening, feeling, and watching. The "mobiles" are man-made, yet they create themselves and obey in some unfathomable way impellent laws of balance, force, and tension as they slowly carve their fantastic patterns in the air around them.

Mr. Calder's exhibition is being shown at the Gallery in conjunction with a joint husband-and-wife show by Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Morgan. The latter half of the exhibition will be the subject of discussion in the Commencement Issue of "The Phillipian."

flyleaf, an aerial photograph of the school. A frontal piece by Life magazine completes the original beginning of the 1943 edition.

The sections of the Pot Pourri are broken up by six "dividers." That is, each different section has before it a full page drawing typifying the section. These pictures were drawn by Diz Benseley whose hard work has done much for the Pot Pourri. One special "divider" is drawn by Bob Jordan. There is also a picture drawn by Diz Benseley which has a good deal of mystery attached to it. However, you must see the Pot Pourri to find out about it.

Credit for this year's school Year Book should be given to Leon Harris and Chandler Matthews, the co-editors, and to Art Hall, one of the book's hardest workers. The Pot Pourri was seriously hindered by a lack of heelers; but despite obstacles such as paper shortage, printing shortages, etc., this year's Pot Pourri is one of the best yet.

Exeter Rules

In order that there may be no misunderstanding about the special rules which apply for the Exeter baseball game, they are stated herewith:

Each boy, whether he goes to Exeter or not, must check in at George Washington Hall immediately after the arrival of the train returning from Exeter and before dinner. It is important to note that this rule applies not only to those who leave the campus but also to those who remain in Andover. Be sure your name is properly checked. Town boys need not report.

Boys attending the game must travel both ways by train. No boy may go or come by automobile.

Disorder of any kind on the train, going or coming, is strictly forbidden.

The train leaves Andover at 1:13 p. m. and boys must be at the station by 1 p. m. Any boy who is not properly dressed will not be permitted to board the train. Any boy who attempts to board the train without a ticket will render himself liable to special discipline.

After the game, whether the team wins or loses, undergraduates must remain together in the stands under the direction of the cheer leaders and march directly from the field to the station. The train will start back at 5:25 p. m. and all boys must be at the station by 5:10 p. m.

The movies will start at 8 p. m. unless notice to the contrary is announced at dinner in the Commons Saturday.

Failure to comply with these regulations implies special disciplinary action.

No overnight or day excuses will be granted over this weekend. In case of any doubt, consult Mr. Maynard.

HUDNER TRIPLES BUT RED TRIUMPHS IN TRACK MEET

Hall, Gill Lead P. E. A. Cindermen To 69-57 Win In Final Contest

Diz Benseley clearing the bar in last Saturday's Exeter meet to tie with Hardwood (E) for first place at 11 feet, 8 inches.

For the second time within a week, Exeter's tracksters invaded Andover, and for the second consecutive time Exeter took top honors as she defeated Andover 69-57 in the annual dual meet on Brothers Field last Saturday. Exeter took only six firsts and a tie for first in another event, but took enough places including a sweep in the half-mile and a first and second in the low hurdles and high jump to swing the meet in her favor. She also scored second in the hammer when Payson threw it 162 feet, 13 feet more than he ever had before; and placed second in the discus—both of these being in the nature of upsets.

Steve McKee, in winning the discus for Andover, scaled the discus 141 feet or 1 foot 4 inches further than Rendleman's record set in 1937 for Exeter. Miller, Exeter's shotput ace, heaved the 121 lb. weight 52 feet 3/4 inches, or 3 3/4 inches further than the previous record set by R. A. Graham (Andover) in 1933. Exeter's Co-captain Jim Gill tied the 120 yard high hurdle record set jointly by D. Donahue (Andover) in 1937 and C. Elliot (Exeter) in 1924 as he sprang to a 15.4 second victory.

Iron-man Dick Hall, Exeter's other co-captain, entered four events—the 440, 880, mile, and the javelin—placing second in the mile and 440 and third in the 880.

Lou Hudner High Scorer

The real hero of the day was Andover's co-captain, Tom Hudner, who, in winning three events—the 100, 220, and 440—rolled up 15 points or more than one-fourth of Andover's total number of points.

In the elections, following the track meet Jim Hudner, '44, of Fall River, Mass., was elected co-captain for the track events for next year; Bob Hatch, '45, of Fairfield, Conn., was elected co-captain for the field events for next year and John Shepard, '44, of Boston was elected manager for next year.

Philo Prize Won By D. Wallace-R. Baker

The Philomathean Society closed a very successful year last Sunday evening with the finals of the members' tournament for a $10 prize offered jointly by the Society and Dr. Fuess. The prize was won by Don Wallace and Ross Baker, who defended the negative of the question "Resolved: That the United States government should take over the operation of the nation's railroads for the duration of the war." They were opposed by Don Sterling and Heath Allen. At the conclusion of the debate the retiring president, Bill Lancaster, turned over his gavel to his successor, Tom McGowan.

Baseball Review

through in his usual creditable style with a three hitter. Capt. Ben Hammer led the pack by a super-steal from 1st to home, leaving the Bulldogs whirling in his wake. Fred Zonino made a hefty contribution by doubling with the bases loaded.

P. A. 10, Watertown 3

Continuing its streak with undiminished vigor, the team grabbed its sixth straight win against the boys of Watertown High. Bierer pitched for P. A., adding another mark to his plus column. The batting averages grew a little fatter.

P. A. 3, Lynn English 1

Boogie Kemp highlighted this game, startling Lynn English to the extent of 13 strikeouts. Those who managed to see the ball said it was moving rapidly. Keating, the opposing pitcher, hurled good ball, but it was obviously not good enough. Dick Duden socked the ball for a triple. That was the seventh straight win for Andover.

Hebron 5, P. A. 4

Perhaps it was the rain, perhaps a little over-confidence, or maybe both, brought our winning streak to a bitter close. Nothing seemed to click for the big Blue that day, May 13. A belated rally in the eighth nearly turned the tide. Another inning and perhaps the story would have been different. However, the game was called immediately, so the Hebron boys could catch their train. The game was marked by sloppy playing, only Hebron was less sloppy.

P. A. 8, Andover Town Team 2

Starting anew with plenty of fight, P. A. turned loose a flood of power that swamped our downtown neighbors. Phil Kemp once more pitched a fine game for the Blue allowing only five hits. The game looked like a Blue batting practice for a while, as everyone seemed to have his eye on the ball. The team appeared to be in its stride once again.

P. A. 18, Deerfield 4

This game was exactly what the score shows, a frolic. Kemp and Brockway enjoyed 5 and 2 innings respectively at the expense of the Deerfield nine. Captain Ben Hammer romped through in familiar style by two hits, one a triple. P. A. scored at least once in every inning.

P. A. 11, Thayer 1

Boogie Kemp encountered no difficulty in knocking out another win against Thayer. He allowed only one hit during his eight innings. He was ably backed by two hits each from Fred Zonino, Duden, Clayton, and Vose. Second baseman Artie Moher was not outdone either, with 5 walks in a row and a single the sixth time up.

P. A. 5, Wakefield 5

This game was characterized by neglected chances and general sloppy playing on the part of the Blue. Several bunts that might have given us the game went foul and there were costly errors. However it sufficed to make the team mad.

P. A. 18, Advanced Base Depot 2

The Navy team that was supposed to have beaten Harvard went down quickly and never once threatened after the second inning. Phil Kemp starred at pitcher and retired his opponents in quick succession. Altogether the team was clicking beautifully. It is too bad that the whole school cannot watch the humbling of the Red and Gray tomorrow.

Athletic Elections

James Hay Hudner of Fall River, Mass., and Robert Phillips of Fairfield, Conn., were elected co-captains of track. John Field Shepard of Boston, Mass., was elected manager.

Joseph Wells Reisler of New York City was elected captain of lacrosse and Winstanley Crownen Briggs of Lake Forest, Ill., was elected manager.

Varsity Tennis

hard-fought sets, 5-7, 6-3, 7-5. Kiam has been a close contender for a Varsity position all season, and attained it by a late win on Friday.

Rains and Jordan Win Doubles

Little can be said of the doubles matches, which have presented a problem all season. Schock and Drake bowed to Baker and Doherty 6-1, 6-4. Strout and Kiam likewise lost to Shively and Compton, 6-4, 6-0. As Rains and Jordan tied P. Estin and H. Estin 8-6, 1-6 the day before the match, they played third doubles and redeemed their losses in singles, clicking to the tune of 6-4, 6-2 over their opponents. This completed the nine Varsity contests, and left the Royal Blue the loser, 2 to 7.

Said Mr. Kelley about the year: "The team as a whole gave the best it had through the season, and despite poor luck in weather etc., there is no attempt to alibi our losses." The squad had a poor season, winning only from Milton and Winchester, but losing its four major encounters. Of the Varsity, Rains and Kiam are expected to return next year.

Weigold, Lethbridge, Tebbets Win

The J. V's were much more successful in their second match of the year. Though Charlie Arnold, who has been in a slump lately, lost his match 6-4, 4-6, 1-6, and Norm Sper also dropped a tough contest, 6-2, 5-7, 5-7, the Blue nevertheless managed to take three of the singles. Shorty Weigold (whom Mr. Kelley calls laconic) beat Shaughnessy, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4, keeping the battle well in hand at all times. In a manager-vs-manager struggle George Lethbridge conquered Jones of Exeter 6-3, 8-6. Pete Estin was beaten by Mosseri, 4-6, 4-6, but Ed Tebbets won his match against Choate, 7-5, 6-4.

Two of the three doubles fell to Andover. The first was won, 6-3, 6-4, by Pete and Hans Estin, who have all season been contenders for the position of third doubles team on the Varsity. Charlie Arnold redeemed his singles loss as he and Ken Chun won their encounter, 6-3, 6-4. Tebbets and Sper were beaten by Fried and Wilbur, 6-4, 6-3, although they had previously won several matches. This last defeat made no difference, however, for the Blue had already won five of the nine matches played.

Of the J. V's, Norm Sper, Hans Estin, Ken Chun, Heath Allen, Willard Crompton, Dick Abroñs, Ed Madeira, and Fred Pratt are expected to be back next year, and between them and the returning Varsity men a team can be assembled. However, Mr. Kelley said that the continued rain gave him no chance to test the other people out for tennis, many of whom have not lost a match.

Exeter Review

tallying four times in their six. The highlight of the afternoon came in the last of the fifth, when big Frank Todd stepped up with Red Meader on base and smashed a long homer to deep right field. Steve Howe twirled effectively for four stanzas, but was touched for five runs in the fifth and sixth, finally being removed for a pinch runner in the bottom of the latter inning. Following Howe came a long procession of throwers, Bruce, Ramage, Wally Buell, and Chet Dalrymple bringing up the rear.

Exeter 9, Malden 4

Extinguishing to some degree the bad taste of two successive defeats, the Red nine was finally successful in capturing its first triumph when it subdued Malden High by a 9 to 4 count. The Exonians looked in their best form of the season, for they came through in the pinches and played a tight defensive game. Issuing but two free passes and fanning eleven batters, Wally Buell was the first pitcher to go the route. The Red and Gray staged a three run uprising in the third to start the ball rolling. A single by Art Conlon with two men on and a two-run misplay by Malden accounted for the tallies. The climax to the game came when Bunts Marshall hit a zing double to deep left field the sacks full in the sixth.

Perhaps it was from over-confidence gained from the Malden game, perhaps not, at any rate the nine dropped a 3 to 2 heart breaker to an inferior Portsmouth outfit. Bruce Ramage, receiving more than his share of bad luck, carried the load commendably until in the ninth two walks and an error cost him the contest. The batting combination which had clicked so successfully against Malden tightened up and was unable to produce anything more than a pair of markers.

Completely avenging their loss to Portsmouth, a rejuvenated P. E. A. nine swamped a thoroughly bewildered Swampscott team by an overwhelming 15 to 2 margin. It would have taken a far more powerful outfit to crack the defenders that afternoon, for they really cut loose and displayed immense power in every phase of the contest. The big frame for Exeter was the fifth, when they chalked up six runs on five hits, among which were two baggers by Steve Howe and Graham Taylor. John Spence was the leading hitter of the afternoon, collecting three ballknocks, while Eddie Morris was credited with the win.

Arlington 6, Exeter 2

A highly rated Arlington High nine next downed the Exonians, 6 to 2, in a contest that never changed hands. It was the sudden scoring splurges on the part of the opposition and the failure of the boys in Red and Gray to combine their hits.

A grand slam in the fourth inning by Arlington's catcher, Captain Ike Bevins, chased Howe from the mound and put the game on ice for the invaders.

Banging out fifteen base hits, the Red and Gray crushed Rochester High more easily than the 9 to 7 score indicates. Eddie Morris twirled for four innings allowing the enemy five blows and a pair of runs. Although both Bruce Ramage and Steve Howe saw action on the mound, the P. E. A. players were at no time in danger of losing their safe lead. Red Meader hoisted his average over the 500 mark, getting three safe blows for the batting laurels of the afternoon.

Hebron 12, Exeter 11

In the biggest heartbreaker for the Red, so far this season, Hebron Academy nosed out the P. E. A. by the narrow margin of 12 to 11. The contest was packed full of breaks, each side receiving its share, and see-sawed back and forth all afternoon. Going into the fourth frame the Red and Gray held a comfortable 7 to 1 advantage, but relinquished it later as Hebron came up with eleven markers in the following innings. A desperate four run rally in the last of the eighth proved to be one run short of a tie for the Exonians. Ed Morris started on the mound for Exeter, but was relieved by Bruce Ramage. Steve Howe also saw action.
