BLUE RUNNERS 2ND IN N. E. PREP MEET

Mount Hermon Wins; Hugh Sprague Places Third To Get Faculty Cup

A powerful Mount Hermon team won the New England Prep School meet last Saturday, for the second straight year. This year's meet was held at Andover on the new 2.4 mile course, which is both longer and tougher than the old one. The winning team got only 43 points, trailed by Andover with 55, Exeter was third with 67, followed by Dean with 72. Moses Brown took fifth with 118, Worcester was sixth with 144, and Monson seventh with 183.

Exeter Man Wins

Adams, the Exeter captain, won the race, setting a new course record of 12.5. Pestana of Dean was second, and Sprague of Andover was third, followed closely by White of Mount Hermon. As this was the race for the faculty cup, Hugh Sprague, who had the best time for Andover, 13:06.1, will win it. Bruce Banta, running surprisingly well, came in tenth, with Bob Weber right on his heels taking eleventh. Johnnie Kimball ran fourteenth, Spencer MacCallum and Bill Flanders placed eighteenth and nineteenth respectively. Six of the seven Andover entries placed in the first ten, and six of the first twenty. Artie Doran, who finished fortieth, was ill before the race, but showed a lot of spirit in running in spite of his condition.

Winner Took 4th, 7th, 8th, 9th
The winning team, Mt. Hermon took fourth, seventh, eighth, and ninth, placing six men in the first twenty. Exeter took first, twelfth, thirteenth, and sixteenth, placing four in the first twenty. Dean Academy took second and twenty-first. Moses Brown took a fifth place, Worcester Academy took sixth and seventeenth. There were seven schools represented and twenty seven entries.

Kimball Starts Fast

Jayvee Bees Play Exeter; 3-1 Record

Much Improved Squad Triumphs Again Over Lawrence J.V.'s 38-0

The J. V. B. football team will enter the Exeter contest with a three and one record to work on. The last victory was racked up against the Lawrence J. V.'s by a 38-0 count in a very one-sided game. The Central Catholic, Lawrence J. V.'s, and Punched squads have all suffered defeats at the hands of the B's, while the Wilmington High varsity romped over them by the slashing score of 31-0. The probable starting eleven against Exeter is Frank Logan at center, Maxwell and Dibbins at guards Cutting and Jackson playing tackle, Stoddart and Sutherland at the ends in the line, with Weaver, Wennik, Tyson, and Anderson in the backfield.

Coaches Peterson and Follansbee have decided to award fifteen to twenty triple "A's" this year. The starting team against Exeter will receive them, and from there they will be awarded to the main men on the second team; in general the men who are thought to have contributed to the team the most in playing time and ability. All in all, the team has come a long way during the season, and several of the squad ought to see action on the varsity within the next two years.

Co-Captains Polk and Collins who will lead team against Exeter.

Blue Squelches Tufts Frosh For Sixth Win

Team Looks Good; Passes Click; Andover Conquerors In 48-0 Rout

The Andover powerhouse overwhelmed a bewildered Tufts Freshman football team last Saturday, 48-0, for its sixth straight victory of the season. The entire squad saw action, and many Lowers and Uppers showed really promising form. The line charged hard, never giving the Tufts runners a chance to get away.

J.V. "A's" WIN THIRD GAME

Howe High Beaten As Team Awaits Exeter

Last Wednesday the Andover J. V. "A's" trounced a smaller team from Howe High in Billerica, 20-0. Andover played well throughout the game and had little trouble in racking up their third victory against two setbacks.

Andover's offense, which has improved steadily throughout the season, was effective, and many long runs were made. Bruce Wallace accounted for two of the three touchdowns with end runs. Paul Cleveland smashed off-tackle for the third. On the defense the tackling was good, but pass defense was poor.

In the backfield Bruce Wallace and Dick Bell played their usual good game. Also, the whole first line played well, especially the two first-string guards, John Cross and Dave Harrison.

The rest of the first line, which will probably start against Exeter, was made up of Sagebiel and Swenson on the ends, Hollman and Berkstresser at the tackles, and Johnson at center. In the backfield Arnold and Bell at quarter, Wallace and Cleveland at half, and Williamson at full saw most of the action.

With much experience behind them and with their hopes high, the squad enters the Exeter game next Wednesday looking for the first J.V.A victory over Exeter in many a year.

Coaches Weaver, McKee, and Lister agree that the team has improved greatly in the last few games but are not optimistic as to the outcome of the coming game with Exeter, which they say will probably be the toughest game the J. V.'s will have played this year.

Gardere Runs 85 Yards

The rout began from the first Andover play scrimmage. Pete Gardere took the pass from center and loped around right end for 85 yards and a touchdown. Toole converted, and the mood of the afternoon was set. The second touchdown came on a series of short passes by Gil O'Neil and Gardere to Co-Captain Bo Polk and Al Toole, the latter both scoring and converting. Two of O'Neil's passes to Augie Johnson and Toole's conversion made it 21-0. So it went most of the day. The Andover passing attack brought the ball again down the field on passes to Buzz Tilton and Dick Collins, Gardere carried over from the 12, the kick was blocked, and it was 27-0 at the half.

Passes Click Steadily

The third quarter saw three more Andover touchdowns and a safety. An O'Neil to Polk pass was good for 20 yards and the first touchdown. Two passes of Gardere's, the first to Lower Bob Kimball for 22 yards, and the second an underhand screen pass to Dick Collins for 14 yards and the tally, scored the second touchdown of the quarter. Gambill's recovery of a Tufts fumble of the ensuing kickoff on their 21 yard line set up the next score. Mike Rayder dashing off right tackle into the end zone. The last points of the game came after the Andover line pushed the helpless Tufts backfield by degrees into the end zone for a safety. The first and second teams repaired to the bench, the day's scoring was finished, and the Lowers and Uppers went out to practice during the remaining quarter for next year's game with Exeter.

Tomorrow Will Tell

WHEN a baseball game has gone for several innings in which one of the pitchers has not given up any hits, no player ever mentions the word "no-hitter." For among baseball players there is an old superstition that if the word is mentioned, it will put a jinx on the pitcher's chance of getting that no-hitter.

To date Andover has won six out of six games, with the final contest to be played against Exeter tomorrow.

We are not quite so superstitious, however, as to refrain from mentioning the word "undefeated," even in the face of an Andover-Exeter game. It has been used all season in spite of the jinx and will be used a lot more tomorrow afternoon if the string continues.

Anyway, Good Luck to Coach Sorota, Co-Captains Collins and Polk, and the whole team. It is a good team now. If they win decisively tomorrow, it will be a great team.

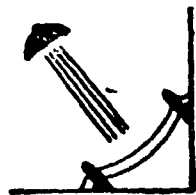

On Exhibition

APPROXIMATELY 5,000 guests will be present when Andover faces Exeter tomorrow. As spectators they will be primarily interested in watching the game, but they will also be looking over the school. Actually, with so many guests present, the school will be more or less on exhibition, and the students will have many chances to make an impression, good or bad, on the visitors.

The easiest way for the students to make a good impression is to treat the guests as such. A little courtesy goes a long way. Finally, what no Andover man needs to be told, it is not good sportsmanship to boo either Exeter or the referee.

This Andover

"Hey, Joe, game time's in twenty minutes. Lets go over and get our togs on." "O.K.," I said, "but I don't see why I bother. The bench doesn't care whether I've got my stuff on or not."

"Someday you'll get in," my pal replied, and grabbing me by the arm, he pulled me away from my earnest studying of linguistic naivete and headed me for the gym.

I sat on the bench in front of my locker. "Why don't I ever get in?" I said to myself. "I know the plays backwards." And believe me, that had taken a lot of real concentration.

"Hey, Shmo, snap out of it," my pal's voice said. "We're late as it is."

He was right. Get dressed quick... knee pads, thigh pads, hip pads, rib pads, shoulder pads, head pads. I was all set—except for my ankle wraps. The game was about to start; I didn't have time to put them on. But what had Trainer John told us all the first day of practice? "Always wear ankle wraps. In the end they'll help you. My conscience bothered me. But the game, yes, the game's the thing, and pulling on my shoes, I ran out of the gym and took my place on the bench.

The game was close and tough, 0-0. Our men were getting injured; our reserves wilted. It looked as if I might get in. I was worried and scared. My ankles weren't wrapped. What would happen to me?

The opposing team was on our goal line. Things were tense; minutes remained. Then another of our men went down. Groans echoed from the stands. I could feel the coach's eyes looking dejectedly at his last reserve.

"Shmo," he shouted, "go in and back up the line!"

I swallowed hard. "My, my ankles aren't wrapped..." I tried to say, but before I knew it, I was on the field. The ball was snapped. The play was coming around my side, fast and furious. (I was petrified). Then, before I knew it, someone shouted "Fumble!" I looked around. There bounced the ball ahead of me. I picked it up and started to run. A clear field was in view. I heard people scream and shout. I could feel hot breath on my neck. I moved my legs faster and faster, but as I ran, I thought of only one thing—my ankles. I prayed my ankles would be all right. Why hadn't I wrapped them? Would they hold out? My mind was fogged with pictures of unwrapped ankles. Then I crossed the goal. The gun went off.

"Three cheers for Shmo," they all shouted. "Three cheers for Joe Shmo!"

Again I sat in front of my locker. The game was over, and we had won. But before I took off my shoes, I turned around to make sure Trainer John was not in sight. I often wonder what he would have said had he found out.

Saturday's Film

Fury At Furnace Creek, starring Victor Mature, Glenn Langan, and Coleen Gray, is a better-than-average western, and thus a better-than-average movie.

Victor Mature plays a gunman and retired card shark who is trying to clear his father, a cavalry general, from charges of responsibility for the massacre of some cavalymen by Apaches. Mature suspects his boss, a silver-mining tycoon, and runs around incognito to gather evidence. His ineffectual brother (Glenn Langan), hot on the same vengeful trail, is a headache, he nearly bungles everything.

Throughout the movie, enough people die for being slow on the draw to maintain an impressive hell-for-leather tempo. One interesting character is "Peaceful Jones," a refreshing anomaly from the tired list of western old-timers and dry-tongued farmers. After each Saturday night drunk, he is chained to a tremendous log (Furnace Creek has not got around to building a jail) which he cheerfully heaves up and goes along with him, back to the bar.

"C'mon, Let's yell for the team!"

Student Council Minutes

November 5, 1948 Blue Room, Commons
The meeting was opened at 12:45 by President Quint Anderson.

Final arrangements were made for the Exeter Weekend Tea Dance. The members of the Council were to invite various members of the Faculty and their wives to be in the receiving line at the Tea and to be chaperons at the Dance. Anderson announced that permission had been granted the Abbot girls who had Tea Dance dates to sit with their dates at the football game. Don Sutherland reported that the ticket sales were slow, and it was decided that if there were less than 100 tickets sold, the dance would be held in Peabody.

Dud Shepard was appointed to the Dawn Patrol for the following week.

Al Flynn reported that the Seniors were responding well to the call for talent to be displayed at the "Senior Amateur Nite" show to be held in George Washington, December 4.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned at 1:30 by President Anderson.

Respectfully submitted, BRUCE WALLACE, Secretary.

MUSIC ORGANIZATIONS TO HAVE MOST ACTIVE YEAR IN HISTORY

Glee Club, Brass Choir and Band Are Planning To Participate Jointly in Concert at Rogers Hall

In deciding what Phillips Academy was to establish as its main objective, Samuel Phillips stated that music was to be emphasized among the most important courses and activities in the school. The result is that the music department under the direction of Mr. Howe and Mr. Freeman in staging one of the most active years in the history of the school.

The major attraction of the fall term, a concert with Rogers Hall, will take place on December fourth. Participating in this program at Rogers Hall will be the Glee Club, the Brass Choir, and the Band. Because the Brass Choir and the Band, which is headed by Win Jordan, have shown such steady improvement, this will be the first time that all three of the organizations will participate in the annual Rogers Hall concert. The Glee Club will reciprocate in the winter term by having the Rogers Hall Glee Club up to Andover for a concert.

On November twenty-seventh, fifteen members of the Glee Club are going to take part in the musical comedy, "Of Thee I Sing." They will form the male chorus, again working jointly with the Rogers Hall Glee Club which will form the female chorus. Although the club, which is to be cut to one hundred members, has no other engagements for the term, there will be many concerts given in the winter and spring terms with neighboring girls' schools. After he had cut the squad to a working size, Mr. Freeman, whose extreme interest in the Glee Club is producing some very fine singing, plans to divide it into double quartets for the singing of Shenandoah.

There are also numerous other musical organizations which are an active part of school life. Rod Rhodes, who gave a violin recital in George Washington Hall a few weeks ago, will head a violin quartet. A woodwind ensemble consisting of flutes and clarinets is already formed and plans to give some concerts during the winter term. Campus Playboys, a small orchestra organized by the students, is to be revived. For those who are music lovers, a music club is to be formed. Its purpose is to give those who want to listen to good music a chance. They plan to make more use of the thousand records in the Chapel.

On the instructive side, Mr. Howe has revised his Musical Appreciation course so that the students will have a chance to hear more live music. He plans to give organ recitals of the music being studied and to supplement the playing of records with a professional violin quartet. For those who are musically inclined, there are free lessons given on any instrument that is used in the band, provided the student will play in the band. The practice which was started last year has greatly augmented the size and quality of the band.

was still in first place going through the Sanctuary gate. At that point Sprague was fifth, McCallum was ninth. Weber twelfth and Banta seventeenth. As the race progressed Kimball's terrific pace became too much for him and he began to falter. Despite his weakened condition he finished the race but collapsed at the finish line and had to be taken to the infirmary. The grueling course, with its numerous hills, had its effect on many of the runners. Considering the fact that there were no varsity runners returning from last year's team, Coach Hollowell and his team should be congratulated for the fine showing they made.

DEKEMEN DOWNED BY RED IN SOCCER

Exeter Beats Blue Booters 2-0 As Lachelier, Dwight Score Goals

Despite a valiant battle, the visiting Blue soccer team met defeat Wednesday at the hands of a surprisingly strong Exeter eleven. Midway through the first period, the Red scored their first goal. At the half they still held their 1-0 advantage, and in the third quarter they made another score.

Weary but game, Captain Ev Rose and his teammates kept up the fight until the end, but Exeter, now cocky, continued to outplay them for the most part in the final period.

Mud and Wind Hamper Players

Shortly before game time, the rizzling rain which had begun around noon let up, and a strong southwest wind sprang up, partially clearing the sky. Nevertheless, the players were hampered both by the wind which blew across the field and by the extremely muddy condition of the ground. Andover kicked off, but the Red gained control of the ball and worked their way into Blue territory, where goalie Sam O'Shea blocked a shot at the goal. Early in the game, fullback Toro of Exeter exhibited his prowess at making long-distance boots. With about five minutes elapsed, Pat Chakkaphak of P.A. crossed the ball through the legs of the Exeter left half, and his teammate, left inside Frank Capra, came close to scoring with a kick which unfortunately went over the top of the goal. A powerful Exeter kick bounced off the right post of the Blue goal, and right wing Art Lachelier booted across the first Red score, eight and a half minutes after the game had started. Later on, left wing Billy Rose of Andover shot at the Red goal, but the goalie deflected it over the top.

Dwight Makes Second Red Goal In the second half, the Red seemed to be outplaying Andover good part of the time. On several occasions they came dangerously close to scoring, and only one beautiful saves by O'Shea prevented goals. With about ten minutes gone in the third quarter, however, the Exeter left wing, Harry Dwight, booted one on the ground at the left side of the goal which Sam just couldn't reach.

Lachelier, Andover's Steve Joyce had a free kick at the Red goal which the goalie stopped, and a shot by Ev Rose from far out was also saved. In the last period, Andover tired. Exeter sent in numerous reserves, and the Blue, though battling desperately, could not make a comeback.

S. of I. Nets $3,859 Total For Charity

With one hundred percent of all students approached subscribing, the P. A. Charities Drive, sponsored by the Society of Inquiry, scored a smashing success in netting a total of $3,859 as compared with the goal of $3,600.

The Seniors led the way, topping their quota by over one hundred dollars. All students on the Hill have been approached except those in the infirmary.

The goal of $3600 is attained by a contribution of about five dollars per man. This goal was split up into class divisions with a $575.00 quota for the Juniors, $750.00 for the Lower, $1125.00 for the Uppers and a Senior quota of $1150. Since there are a few boys in the infirmary and several day students who have not been approached, the total amount received is still climbing.

Credit to S. of I.

Credit for the success of the drive belongs mainly to the Society of Inquiry. With the aid of Mr. George Follansbee, the S. of I. has conducted the planning and direction of this drive. The canvassers, were composed of the S. of I. board members, the Student Council, and the cheerleaders and other uppers and seniors.

The canvassers gathered at the Commons before the drive and at ten o'clock reported back to their headquarters. Here refreshments were served while the cash and pledges were counted up.

Actually only a small percentage of the total was received in cash. However, this will help in laying the foundation. Students are requested to pay up their pledges as fully as possible before December 17, and to manage this, the Treasurer's office will take in all pledges.

J.V. Soccer Squad Vs. Red Wednesday

Follansbee Prepares Team For Title Bout

Coach Harper Follansbee's J.V. soccermen will be making history when they take the field against Exeter here this coming Wednesday. It will be the first time a J.V. team has ever met the Red in this sport. They will be playing Exeter's All-Class Squad, as Exeter has no J.V.

The team's record this year, far from spectacular, does not tell the whole story. After beating the Governor Dummer J.V.'s 1-0, they tied the Groton Varsity 2-2, and lost to the Deerfield J.V. and New Hampton Varsity by scores of 2-0 and 3-0. Wentworth scored in the first game, and Shaifer and Carroll made the goals against Groton. Although the team showed a definite lack of a scoring punch, scrimmages with the

P.A. All-Clubbers this week and on Monday and Tuesday should give Coach Follansbee a chance to straighten out this difficulty, as eager to avenge a 0-0 tie with the All-Club earlier in the season, the J.V.'s will be driving hard for pay dirt.

Starting Lineup
The starting lineup will probably be: Captain Dick Suisman in the goal, Hogan and Terry as full-backs, Levenson, Neelands, and Stearns at the halves, and on the line, Gonzalez, Conover, Carroll, Wentworth, and Rush from l. to r.

With The Clubs

Due to rain and wet grounds, the club football teams were unable to practice last week but managed to get in all scheduled games. In the first the Saxons beat the Greeks by a decisive score of 28-7, they featured a hard attack sparked by Dewey Reynolds' ground running and Fred Burrell's passes. The Romans also beat the Greeks on Friday by a score of 36-0. A bigger Roman team outplayed the Greeks throughout, with Brown, Sykes, and Van Cleves starring.

On the other side of the ledger, the Gauls went down to defeat at the hands of both the Romans and Saxons by decisive scores. As was the case with the Greeks, they were badly outplayed by bigger and heavier teams. Up to date the standings have shown the Romans in first place with a six win and no loss record followed by the Saxons with four and two. The Greeks and Gauls bring up the rear with one and five and none and six records respectively.

Gauls Near Soccer Title

In the club soccer league the Gauls have all but clinched the title with a record of four wins, two ties, and no losses. They have only one more game to play, one with the last place Saxons. The Andover 26, Brewster 0. Dick Collins sparked the Blue to their third victory, scoring two touchdowns in the first quarter on running plays and one late in the game on a long pass from Gardere, who scored the other tally. The only Brewster threat, late in the final period, was stopped by the Andover line on their own 12.

Andover 35, Springfield Frosh 7. Dick Collins and Pete Gardere each scored two touchdowns as Andover took its fourth straight victory. Quarterback Gil O'Neil scored the other touchdown, and sparked the team with his outstanding blocking and tackling. Springfield's only tally came in the third quarter after a long kickoff runback.

Andover 38, Tilton 6. Andover took the season's fifth straight victory in a walkaway. Dick Collins and Howie Finney led the scoring parade, Collins with three and Finney with two touchdowns. Doug Graham added the final tally near the end of the game. Tilton's only score came on a spectacular 22 yard pass in the second quarter. Highlight of the game was Collins' 45 yard run for the fourth Andover touchdown.

With The Clubs

Greeks are the only club with chance to tie for the champions as their 3 wins, one loss, and ties record shows. In third place are the Romans with a two win, a loss, and a two tie record. Individual stars for club soccer have been: Jones, Daseola, and Wey for the Gauls; Kitchell for the Greeks; Lebet and Salkeld for the Saxons, and George Abrams of the Romans. An all-club team has been picked which will probably play several outside games in addition to matches with the juniors.

Dance To Be Held In Peabody House

Weigel of Lawrence To Cater For Buffet

Don Sutherland, chairman of the Tea Dance Committee, announced a big change in plans. The tea dance will be held in Peabody House instead of in the Gym as was originally planned. The light buffet supper will also be held in Peabody. It will begin right after the game and will be followed by the dance. Weigel of Lawrence will cater.

A large crowd is expected to attend. By Monday noon ninety-seven tickets had been sold. There was a marked absence of buyers of 'stag' tickets.

Additional information regarding the tea dance may be obtained from Don Sutherland or Quintus Anderson.
