

NESCA Delegation Finds P. A. Interest In Asian Studies Late

By William A. Drayton

(The writer of this article is the president of P.A.'s newly formed Asia Society.)

"Our modern American education is subversive." With this remark Edwin O. Reischauer, Director of the Center of East Asian Studies at Harvard and foremost American expert on Japan, began his colloquy at the Spring NECAS (New England Conference for Asian Studies) last Saturday. Andover was represented at this conference by a five man delegation of the Asia Society, which, although Andover was the only school present without an official faculty delegation, proved to be the largest single group at the conference.

Dr. Reischauer's talk was preceded by a short business meeting. Of particular local interest was the election of Abbot and Exeter representatives to various committees. Moreover, the prominent roles of Lawrenceville, Choate, Dana Hall, Darrow, Williston, and Roxbury Latin also made a pointed impression on the new Andover delegation.

That informal advanced placing in Asian Studies is being carried on by Exeter; that some of the schools present are expanding their Asian program to languages; that Abbot is planning to institute Asian Studies in the near future; that Darrow has had an ever expanding Asian Program for over fifteen years; and that Pomfret and Choate have organized summer trips to Asia to supplement their Asian course raised the eyebrows of Andover's delegates.

After lunch and a period of unorganized but enjoyable "mixing" with the other representatives, Dr.

Reischauer, the main "feature" of the conference, spoke. As an introduction he explained what he meant by calling our "good, red-blooded American education" subversive. Our educators are blindly stumbling on with an outmoded approach and curriculum. As a nation we have of necessity committed ourselves to the world; we have realized that we cannot stand alone. Our education, however, is almost totally self-centered and exclusive of the world. The most striking example of this "subversive" blindness is our exclusion of Asian Studies—culturally, linguistically, historically, economically, and politically. When we think of "the East", we think of a single civilization different from our own. Actually, however, it is composed of many divers and rich civilizations, each just as great as our "Western" civilization and with a vast amount to give it. This basic misunderstanding is only one example of our profound ignorance of this area.

After this introduction Dr. Reischauer plunged into his main topic, "Interpretations of Japan's Modern Century." He explained Japan's sudden and much remarked rise to the fifth most powerful country in the world politically and economically. This spectacular rise was not brought about so much by any particular national wealth or skill, nor by the much-credited machine, as by Japanese attitudes towards education and economic initiative, both of which they respect and encourage. Furthermore, rather than adopting a hostile attitude towards foreign innovations,

Callie Adams, James Field Star In Successful 'Finian's Rainbow'

By John W. Ewell, Jr.

The vivacious acting of Carolyn Adams, Megan Yost, James Field, and Gerald Shea highlighted last week's performances of Finian's Rainbow, a light musical satire on America by E. Y. Harburg and Fred Saidy. Under the expert direction of Harold H. Owen, Jr., and with the assistance of musical director William B. Clift, Jr. and the brilliant choreography of Miss Yost, the production was a lively success.

This play is especially well adapted for school productions because of the unusually large cast it involves (about 100, including 12 children). There are many group scenes, most of which were smoothly handled.

Particularly refreshing was Miss Adams' portrayal of Sharon McLonergan, a young Irish girl immigrating to Rainbow Valley, Mississippi, with her father. Making full use of her fine, rich singing voice, the acting experience gained from her roles in Carousel (1958) and Kiss Me Kate (1959), she carried off her part with grace and vigor.

James O. Field '61, a newcomer to the G.W. stage, gave a heartwarming and convincing performance in the part of Finian McLonergan, Sharon's eccentric Irish father who develops the "McLonergan Theory of Economics," relating all America's prosperity to the interaction between buried gold and the soil around Fort Knox.

Edward Leavitt '60 was fully adequate in his role as Woody Mahoney, the guitar-toting young union organizer who falls in love with Sharon, but his singing and acting lacked the polish that characterized some of the other leads.

Perhaps the best performer of all was Gerald Shea '60, playing the demanding part of Og, the leprechaun. Never self-conscious, always bright and amusing, he captured his audience's fancy from his first entrance.

Another delightful interpretation was Megan Yost's bewitching portrayal of Susan Mahoney, a girl born deaf and dumb who communicates by dancing. Miss Yost, who is Mr. Owen's sister, also did a remarkable job arranging and coordinating the many scenes where group dancing was involved.

Paul Courtneil, Jr., who received wide acclaim for his ham acting in Kiss Me Kate, was quite disappointing this year in the part of Senator Rawkins. He strained so hard for effects in portraying the bigoted, bombastic old lawmaker that much of his impact was lost.

A-E Night At Pops

The annual Andover - Exeter Night at the Pops was held last Thursday in Symphony Hall, Boston. The evening was sponsored by the New England Alumni Association headed by Dexter Newton '31 for the benefit of the Andover-Exeter Scholarship Fund. 800 alumni and faculty attended the affair including Headmasters Kemper and Saltonstall. The Pops Orchestra was under the direction of Arthur Fiedler.

Senior Escapade Gets Fake Bulletin & Prankster Posted

At 11:20 AM last Friday the final copies of the "Daily Bulletin" were rolling off the Service Department mimeograph machine in the basement of George Washington Hall. Everything was going according to schedule. The long, blue sheets were handed over to a squad of waiting scholarship boys, who left to distribute them to Commons, the Library, the Art Gallery, the Infirmary, and every classroom building on campus.

Minutes later, an anguished call emanated from the Office of the Dean of Students, as Assistant Dean William R. Bennet, Jr. read the second Official Notice, "Faculty meeting today at 1:30." No such meeting had been scheduled. In fact, the whole Bulletin was a fake.

Some of the items were: "All Students: Assembly tomorrow morning at 7:55 for Junior, Lower, and Upper classes only." (The Alumni Director was planning to inform the seniors of certain factual errors in last week's letter to THE PHILLIPIAN in this period.)

"All Students: Will the boy who reportedly 'borrowed' the gum machine from Benner House please see me without fail. W.R.B."

"Mr. Dodge's Eng. 4s: No class this afternoon. Continue reading in Drew, chapter X and study collateral poems for Monday." (The class had not been called off—only two boys showed up.)

"Club Baseball, J.V. Lacrosse: No practice today." (Practice was scheduled—everybody showed up.)

"Asia Society: Terribly sorry, but we seem to have lost our dues and membership list once more. There will be a chance to pay your dues again in Commons this week."

"All Students: Mr. Gunther Bidoo of the Alaskan Information Service and his eskimo friend Malwon Nanuck will give a talk with slides tonight on "Alaska: Our Brand New State" in the reading room of Abbot Stevens House at 6:35. Refreshments will be served. All welcome."

"Seniors: The yo-yo contest scheduled for next Tues. eve has been called off because of inclement weather. Keep your eye on the bulletin."

"Found: Identification bracelet with no name. See Dickie Thiras at the information desk."

"Lost: Pair of dice. See John Milton, box 867."

Interspersed among these entries were six important official notices from the real Bulletin. This is one of the reasons why the substitution was not discovered until too late.

Within minutes of the Bulletin's distribution, another group of scho-

Rounding Out The News

Movie On Ghandi

Ninety-two members of the Asia Society attended one of the newly-formed group's most successful ventures Sunday night, a movie about Ghandi.

The 30-minute, black and white film was composed of sections of on-the-spot news reels dealing with the spiritual leader's life. It illustrated particularly well India's use of passive resistance against the British. Ghandi's assassination, the accompanying funeral march, and the India-Pakistan border disputes were also depicted.

Fifteen boys followed up their interest in Ghandi with a meeting with Mr. Royce yesterday.

Stevenson Elected

By George N. Budd

Adlai E. Stevenson was voted the best suited for the presidency by the International Committee at its meeting Wednesday night.

Two test votes were held. The first, for the "man who should be president" showed a majority for Stevenson with Nelson A. Rockefeller as second choice, and Richard M. Nixon in third place.

The second poll was to determine "who will be elected." Stevenson, Nixon, John F. Kennedy, and Lyndon B. Johnson were voted equal chances. But most of the students attending were undecided about the results of the November elections.

The test votes were part of the International Committee's program "Candidates 1960." Frederic A. Gordon '60, Stevan B. Goldin '60, Richard L. Goldstein '60, John W. Ewell '61, Frederick H. Dulles '60, Peter W. Lee '60, and John D. Marks '61, presented biographical and political sketches of Kennedy, Hubert Humphrey, Johnson, Stevenson, Nixon, Stuart Symington, and Rockefeller, respectively. Much of the speakers' material was based on the recently published book Candidates 1960 by Eric Sevareid.

Senior Assembly

By Daniel V. McNamee

A diversified senior panel presented its impressions of Phillips Academy and suggested some radical improvements for the school in assembly Wednesday.

The group, presided over by James B. Turchik president of the student council, consisted of Michael H. Bassett, William E. Dubocq, III, Robert A. Hetherington, Jr., Charles C. Kessler, Thomas H. Whitesides, and Woodward A. Wickham, Jr., representing many different student factions: athletes, intelligentsia, day students, five-year men, senior-preps, and members of varied extra-curricular activities.

Although all the seniors were quite enthusiastic about Andover in general, many felt that the rules are too strict and traditions (required daily chapel, for instance) too strong, and that therefore students are irresponsible and never learn how to plan for themselves. Whitesides especially felt that because there are so many restrictions, the responsibility of the student is not cultivated.

This assembly was the last of three presented this year by the senior class.

Spanish Club Vote

Donald B. Davis '61, of Waco, Texas, was elected successor to R. Taft Albright Jr., '60, as president of the Spanish Club last Tuesday at Cooley House.

Lower Jorge R. Gonzalez, '62 of Saranac Lake, N.Y., succeeds James H. Bierman '60 as vice president. Alexander R.N. Walling '61, of Bogota, Colombia, and Francisco R.R. de Sola '62, of San Salvador, El Salvador, were elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Faculty advisor James H. Couch stated at the meeting that the Spanish Club has enjoyed one of the most successful years in its existence at Andover. The Club has sponsored two tea dances, several talks on different Latin American countries, and occasional movies.

Dartmouth Freshmen Squeak Past Track; Ashworth Sparks Green Sweep In Sprints

By Michael Kaiser

Saturday, April 30th — Dartmouth edged Andover 64-62, in one of the most exciting track meets ever witnessed by PA students. The fastest college freshmen team in New England was pressed by Andover from the first event on.

The meet was deadlocked twice in the period of three events. The Blue were in an excellent position to go into the last event.

But Dartmouth's John Holzel pipped over six feet in the high jump to place second behind John Hartnett and clinch the meet for the Green and White.

The Blue had the same trouble with the Dartmouth sprinters as they did in the winter, failing to win any of the short races. Tommy Ashworth's winning time of ten at in the 100 would have been good enough for second place in Saturday's Penn Relays at Franklin Field. Ashworth also won the 220 in a blistering 21.6; Olympic qualifying time for 200 meters is 21.3. Andover's main strength is usually thought to lie in the weight events, but the best they could do was a split, as Dave Grant won the shot with a heave of 50' 8 1/2" and Dartmouth's Jenkes took the weight with a throw of 181'.

Dartmouth had to settle for a split in the two distance races, as Tony Acceta's time of 4:34.1 in the mile proved to be too strong for the speedy freshmen. Dartmouth's Weidenmayer lowered the track record in the 880 with a time of 1:58.9.

Andover swept top honors in all the jumping events. Sammy Edwards neared the 12 foot barrier in the pole vault in winning the event with a leap of 11' 6". Tom DuHamel turned in the best of his career in winning the broad jump, hurling himself 21' 9 1/2" through the air. As previously mentioned, Hartnett edged out Holzel in the high jump with an effort of 6' 1". Neither team managed to sweep an event again illustrating how evenly matched the two squads were.

Deerfield Capitalizes On Third Period Lapse In Win Over Lax

By Benjamin W. White

Saturday, April 30th — Varsity lacrosse suffered its first loss of the season at the hands of Deerfield, 11-5. Try as they might, the Blue could not score a goal in the second half.

Deerfield scored first after winning the face-off and playing offensively until their tally before the minute mark. Soon afterward, Denny Gallaudet broke away from his man to catch Joe Prah's pass and quick-stick for the point. Each team scored again before the period ended. Mike Mayers, praised by Coach Hulburd as "one of the most outstanding players of the game," got the ball on a clear and scored from the midfield to open the second quarter. With the Blue leading the Green by one point, Jim Okie tallied with the most incredible play of the game. Standing with his back turned to the cage, Captain Okie took the ball from Prah and, without looking, whipped it backhanded into the net. The half ended in a five-up tie.

Then the Deerfield attackers began to find holes in the P.A. defense. Several times, when their defenders played too close, they evaded them and scored. They did not remain in Blue territory for long, preferring to shoot often and risk losing the ball.

The Andover attackers controlled the ball on the offensive. They were kept away from the scoring positions by the Deerfield defense.

Saturday, April 30 — Bill Dubocq fired a two-hitter at the Yale Frosh to notch a 3-1 victory on the Yale campus for the baseball team's fifth straight win. Lone Andover tallies in the third, fourth, and fifth innings overcame the run Yale pushed over in the first frame and gave Dubocq his third triumph of the year.

The Bullpups struck for their early score when Slack walked, took second on an infield out, stole third, and rode home on O'Connell's single. Pitcher Clark fanned to bring the first inning and Yale's scoring to an end. The freshmen were able to push runners as far as second base only twice more during the ball game.

P.A. tied the contest in the third round. Dubocq drew a walk but was forced at second by Ken Garni. Jim Turchik took first when the catcher interfered with his swing, and he and Garni pulled off a double steal. Webb Harrison's grounder to third was deep enough to let the run come home.

Andover moved ahead in the next frame. Bumstead Browne whacked out the second of his two singles to lead off. Mike Moonves brought the rally to a temporary halt by striking out, but Bob Leroy followed with a single to left and Browne scored all the way from first when the left fielder let the ball get by him. Dick Leete grounded out, and Dubocq looked at a third strike to end the inning.

Garni walked to open the fifth, but was cut down trying to steal second. Turchik popped out, but Harrison was hit by a pitch, stole second and took third on a passed ball. Rog Hardy brought him home with a base hit to complete the scoring for the day.

Dubocq meanwhile set down batter after batter, retiring the side in order in five of the last eight innings. He ran into a little trouble in the fifth when he walked Whelan and allowed Slack a single after Cressy had flied out, but settled down to get Hildebrand on a fly to third. The Andover moundsman has now permitted three earned runs in 24 innings for a spectacular 1:12 E.R.A.

Varsity Shell Wins By Over 1 Length In Race With Yale

Saturday, April 30 — The Andover varsity crew evened its record at 2-2 as it defeated the Yale Freshmen second heavies by 1 1/4 lengths in a mile-long race at Yale.

An east wind was blowing up against the current on the Housatonic river, raising a chop, and making conditions difficult for the rowers.

Because Andover was given the outside lane around a long bend in the river, they received an initial advantage by way of a staggered start. P.A. added to this advantage by pulling quickly away from Yale at a 38 and adding another 1/4 length.

At the crucial point in the race, the bend in the river, where Yale was supposed to catch up, P.A. cox Ned Cabot steered an excellent course and the varsity oarsmen refused to surrender their lead. Rowing at a 32 to the Eli's 30 or 31, Andover continued to forge ahead.

With a 1/4 mile to go P.A. upped the stroke to a 35. Yale also put on a sprint, but their stroke was neither as high nor as effective. Andover crossed the finish line 1 1/4 lengths in the lead.

Coach William H. Brown commended Cabot for his steering, and the oarsmen for their blade-work and the way they handled the rough water.

On The Sidelines

All-America Swimmers

by RED SMITH

Dave Kennedy, swift swimmer from Tampa, Florida, is first man in the All-America prep school swimming team in the 100-yd. butterfly and 200-yd. individual medley. Since the selections for this year are based on the unemotional criterion of time, it is not surprising that Kennedy, whose national prep records set last winter in the two events mentioned above have recently been made official, was picked by the committee.

Team captain Elliot Miller is fourth in the country in the 50-yd. freestyle and eighth in the 100 free. Miller holds the Andover record for the 100 and often came within 0.1 second of the 50-yd. mark.

Upper Dan Mahoney gained a place among the ten divers with highest average scores. All-America divers are listed alphabetically.

The last Andover selection was the medley relay team of Cy Hornsby, Kennedy, Dave Hackett, and Miller. Coach Reagh C. Wetmore commented that this year was only an average one as far as number of All-America choices from P.A. concerned, and that Andover actually contributed to one more event last year, the freestyle relay.

Many of the performances which put Blue swimmers on the team came on the memorable day last February when six records were shattered, including the national butterfly mark which the school had waited through the better part of two swimming seasons for Kennedy to break.

The Exeter baseball team took gas at the hands of the Harvard frosh Saturday, 13 - 3. Jack Fitzpatrick, who held the Blue to a 1-1 tie last spring, remained on the pitcher's mound exactly 2/3 of an inning before being sent to the outfield to brood for the rest of the afternoon. Bruce Nowak and Pony Fraker in relief also were cuffed up a bit.

Andover fans were originally to have seen the freshmen last Wednesday, but the game was washed out by a morning of heavy rainfall. If any of Harvard's contests next week should be called because of rain, the P.A.—Harvard meeting will be played next Friday.

Webb Harrison has a knack for hitting important ground balls down the third-base line against Yale. His dribbler in the bottom of the ninth sent home the winning run in last year's 6-5 Andover victory. Saturday he tied the ball game with a similar hit.

Blue speed on the basepaths also paid off against the Bullpups. Jim Turchik and Ken Garni set up the first tally with a double steal and Harrison pilfered second to pave the way for the final run. Led by Dick Leete's six stolen sacks, Andover runners have gotten away with 22 steals in five games.

Fake Bulletin

larship boys was sent out to collect and destroy all copies that were still on display (not very many, thanks to eager souvenir-hunters).

After a short investigation, the administration learned that the student who was supposed to have delivered the typed stencils from the Dean of Students Office to the Service Department had been intercepted in the mail room by a boy who normally works there but who was not on duty at the time. He offered to take the stencils the rest of the way. But before the prankster, who was later identified as Andrew W. Teuber '60, reached the Service Department, he substituted a phoney stencil of unknown origin for the official one, leaving the latter on an inconspicuous table.

With these facts in hand Mr. Bennet, after quickly consulting with four members of the Discipline Committee, decided to place Teuber on Posting. The official reasons for this action are:

- 1) "He had been the instrument by which stencils of an official notice issued by one of the school offices had been taken and ultimately destroyed.
- 2) "In so doing, he had

- a) nullified the work of an employee of the school, which had taken up at least 45 minutes of her time,

- b) prevented certain notices from appearing in the Bulletin, notices of importance to those who had made out slips for this purpose,
- c) put many faculty members to considerable inconvenience in that they had to make special trips to G.W. Hall to find out what was going on."

Finian Review

The play's scenery, dominated by a huge tree in the center of the stage against a painted backdrop of Southern tobacco fields, proved a flexible and artistic arrangement, thanks to the designing of Virginia Powell, and its execution by Hart Leavitt, Ruth Roehrig, Mrs. Powell, and the stage crew.

This year's innovation of a powerful spotlight in the balcony was a great help, allowing actors to come right out to the edge of the stage, and facilitating many special effects. It is unfortunate that some way could not be devised to soften the harsh shadows cast on the backdrop during the "Old Devil Moon" scene.

The musical side of the production, directed by Mr. Clift and Louis G. Davis, including orchestration and choral singing, was generally well handled. One exception was the "Necessity" scene, which was plagued by the loss of a soloist to laryngitis. Some out-

After Dr. Reischauer ended his formal talk, the meeting was opened to informal discussion and questions. Questions varied from the inevitable "What do you think of the recognition of Red China?" (at which Dr. Reischauer groaned) to the more interesting "What was General MacArthur's place in history?"

After about half an hour of this discussion, the conference was adjourned until next fall. The Andover delegation, after having arranged through Dr. Reischauer for a speaker for one of the May meetings of the Society, left the conference and returned to the Hill.

Week-End Movies

The Friday Flick —
The formula for the story "Perfect Furlough," said Time, (G.I. + idn)x(WAC+sex) = B Office TNT. 104 men in uniform and psychiatrist of the opposite gender are alone in the Arctic. Cliché is piled upon cliché, but the movie survives through good direction. Tony Curtis, Janet Leigh, and Keenan Wynn star.

The Saturday Flick —
The grim battle of Pork Chop Hill in central Korea is the subject of this straightforward, unhampered war film. The Thermopylae battle is an important moral issue for Americans as a test of the strength of the "soft" soldier of Uncle Sam. Gregory Peck stars.

De gustibus
