The Societies.

PHILO.

As in every large school there are several societies among the students for the purpose of creating and developing an interest in religious, literary, athletic and other pursuits; the oldest of these in the Philomathæan Society founded in 1825, its early existence was full of the trials that usually accompany the formation of new societies but it has out-lived them all and now after a life of over sixty years its meetings are regularly attended by a fair sized number of members and at times when subjects of interest come up for discussion the hall is filled. As its name implies it is solely literary in its character but in the debates which are carried on there is a strong tendency to give it a political cast and it is more than probable that during the coming term the discussions will be of a particularly warm and interesting nature. This society is a great help to any one who wishes to cultivate his knowledge of English and practice speaking before an audience and is looked on by the faculty as a substantial adjunct to the educational department of the school, its success largely depends on the spirit of the men who join it and it is hoped that a large number of the new fellows in school this year will enter it.

INQUIRY.

The Society of Inquiry is for the promotion of religious interests in the school and it is a remarkable testimony to the character of the students who come here that its Sunday night meetings are always crowded and the Wednesday night meetings are well attended. It opened up the year last Wednesday evening with a spirited and exceedingly pleasant service and without a doubt its prosperity this year will be as great as ever. The Sunday evening meeting was the largest ever seen in the hall within the memory of present members. One hundred and thirty-five fellows were there and the interest was kept up without flagging all the time.

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. is an infant of tender age in the school. It was organised last spring by a number of fellows who thought that there was not sufficient opportunity for religious work under the old Society of Inquiry. Several efforts had been previously made at different times to change Inquiry bodily into a branch of the Y. M. C. A. but these had all proved futile and ended in the foundation of a second religious association.

OTHER ASSOCIATIONS.

Of the different athletic organizations notice will be taken as they come up. At present all minds are intent on the prospects of our foot ball team and from now until the middle of November every effort must be made to increase the strength and efficiency of our eleven.

Improvements in the School Buildings.

Among the improvements which have been made about the school property during the summer are several substantial ones in the Academy building. The entire wood-work in all the hall-ways, front and back, including the stairs and banisters, has been thoroughly sand-papered and varnished.

New maple-wood floors have been laid in the halls on the first and second floors and parties engaged from Lawrence have replaced the old stairway leading from the upper hall to the chapel with a new one. This is made of oak with banister and newel posts neatly finished and is an evident improvement upon the former one. Also the space beneath the stone railing at the outside of the front landing has been filled with solid brick masonry in place of the iron bars which formerly stood there.

Improvements on the Campus.

The method now on trial for draining the campus looks as though it would be successful. Along the east side of the field a drain, five feet wide and three feet deep has been dug and filled with stones over which is laid a plank walk which will prove, next winter, a great convenience to Latin Commons men. Another trench three feet wide and the same in depth has been extended through the south end and likewise filled with stones, but covered with dirt so as to take up no part of the play-ground. It is probable that the water from the springs, in the south-east corner, will follow these channels away, and cause no more trouble. During the summer months a short growth of grass has covered a large part of the campus but the ground is too rough yet for playing foot ball. Work however is still going on to get it ready and if it can possibly be brought to a fit condition it will greatly help the practice of the team.

Depredations in Commons.

A number of the fellows who left their effects in their rooms in Commons during the summer vacation, returned, this term, to find that their apartments had been broken into, and completely ransacked, and pillaged of anything of value which they contained. English Commons suffered the worst from these burglaries, some roomers there losing as high as fifty dollars worth of articles of furniture, winter clothing, books and bric-a-brac. It is a misfortune that a man who rooms in the dormitories must either be encumbered with the expense and trouble of transporting his goods every vacation, or run the risk of having everything stolen in his absence, the exposed condition however of the different houses and their general character, offer a standing invitation to all marauders to go through them. The long time that has transpired since the deed was committed has almost destroyed all chances of finding the offenders, search however is being made for them and it is barely possible that they may be discovered. Among the heaviest losers are Ballantine and Jacobson, but nearly every one has suffered to a greater or less extent.

Class Meeting.

At a meeting of P. A. and P. S. '89 on Saturday morning the following were appointed as a committee on the class photographer, Messrs. Bishop, Barbour and Cameron.

THE ANDOVER PRESS. PRINTERS.

Last Wednesday Phillips Academy started on her one hundred and eleventh year; beginning with three hundred and twenty students, the largest number ever enrolled at the opening of the fall term.

To the old boy as he came up "the hill" the places seemed in one sense familiar, but he missed the faces of the '88 men and saw in the well-known halls and door-ways the forms of new men who have come to fill up the ranks.

In speaking of the new members of the school we will say but little.

They probably knew before they came or at any rate have learned during their short stay among us, the school customs and traditions. They are summed up in the motto on the seal "non sibi." Every true graduate has gone out of Phillips feeling stronger, and better fitted to serve his God and his country. He has learned to put in good, solid work, to have respect for every honest man and to scorn dishonest practices.

But before he comes to "Class Day" there are many long hard hours of work before him: at times he will be discouraged, but the thought of what others have done, and the example which he will receive from his teachers will in the end, take him through all trials and put him on the right road. And right here we want to emphasize the words of Dr. Bancroft last Saturday morning: the teachers are not school-masters but instructors and friends, ready and willing to help a pupil out of any difficulties into which he may have fallen. There is not a more false or antiquated idea than that a teacher is a boys natural enemy. Where one man has fifty boys under him he must work for the advantage of all and not for one particular fellow, so we advise the new men to put in good honest work and we predict that they will have no troubles which will not vanish at the end of the year.

The old men have come back to profit by last year's experience and both old and new we wish to impress the import ance of the foot ball team,—we do not mean to the exclusion of studies, but there is a time for all things. Last year we were badly beaten by Exeter. Where the fault was, is now too late to discuss, but the fact is before us that we have only two men back of last year's team. From the one hundred and fifty new men there ought and from what we have seen we think there is material enough to eventually put in the field a team fully as good as last year's. But unless the fellows contribute both time and money we shall never obtain the success we wish for. So in our sermon we would advise the fellows to bear in mind in foot ball as well as other things "not for ourselves" but for the honor of the school.

In asking the new men, and as for that the old ones as well, to come forward and do all they possibly can to help insure the prosperity of school projects, it seems hardly necessary to point out the fact that a school like this is a community in itself. The principle object in coming here is to study but outside of that there is a wide field of work that has gradually come to be recognized as a part of school and college life. Athletic, musical, literary and religious interests all are dependent on the fellows for management and there are very few who will find themselves unable to take a part in one or more of the things. But there is always danger that a kind of false modesty will hold back the fellows and prevent the free and keen competition that alone insures a healthy and desirable state of affairs and it is with the intention of removing this feeling that we beg everyone to come forward and do his best in whatever he thinks he is adapted to enter. The athletic men in school deserve just credit for the way in which they have commenced work this fall and the spirit shown bids well for future success. It has been said that nothing is done well without enthusiasm and it is very certain that enthusiasm greatly helps in carrying things along, therefore we repeat if you can play foot ball come out and play, if you can debate, read, recite or speak, come to Philo, if you want to learn either of these things come out and join in with the rest, and if you don't care for any one of them look around and see what else you can do for the general good.

Dr. Joshua Bates, the honored and esteemed teacher of Boston who died at Beverly Farms, June 25, was an old Phillips boy and one of Boston's most distinguished instructors. After graduating at Middleboro College he taught in towns of Vermont and Massachusetts till 1844 when he was elected Master of the Brimmer School in Boston which position he held till 1876 when he retired with a record of 45 years of service.

Mr. Draper is now having printed at the Andover Press office the complete commentaries of Bishop Ellicot of England, Paul's first Epistle to the Corinthians. It is a work of much labor and is thought to be the only edition issued in America. This will be an authorized edition, Mr. Draper having communicated in regard to the work with Bishop Ellicot who not only gives his permission but also added some corrections of mistakes found in the volumes now extant. It is very probable that Bishop Ellicot will not write any commentary on the second Epistle as he is now well advanced in years; if he should however it would complete a set of commentaries written by him on every one of Paul's Epistles.

Distinguished Alumni who have recently Died.

Among the more brilliant of the younger alumni, none have won greater respect and honor from their friends and classmates than the late George H. Hotelling.

Coming to Andover in the fall of '82 he entered enthusiastically into the school work and gained an enviable reputation among his classmates. In '83 he took the first Draper, in '85 the second Means, winning the first in the next year again, in '86 he won the first Dove and finally at his graduation had the first Greek essay.

Entering Yale in '86 he took many honors in his freshman and sophomore years; at the end of his second year he returned to his home in San Francisco when he was suddenly attacked with typhoid fever brought on by too close application to his studies. After a short illness he died on the 29th of July.

By his death the school loses one of her most faithful and kind hearted Christian alumni and one whom all will sincerely mourn.

William Hyde who died June 24 was one of the Academy's most devoted friends. Graduating from Williams in '26 he took up first the law and then journalism being for two years editor of the Springfield Gazette. In 1865 he was made President of the Ware National Bank. After one term in the State Senate in 1851 he declined re-election and retired to private life. He was the overseer of the charity fund in Amherst fifteen years, and Trustee of Williston Seminary seventeen years, of Williams eighteen and of Andover six years. He and his wife celebrated their golden wedding July 4, 1884, and she with a son and daughter still survive him.

Abbot Academy has, at last, a prospect of a new building and the changes of the summer vacation and those now going on, make the old familiar place look quite strange. Mr. W. F. Draper's recent gift of $25,000 will help in pushing the new building which will cost about $80,000 and will be known as Draper Hall.

Foot Ball Meetings.

On Thursday noon, in Society Hall, a meeting of all men desiring to play foot ball was held. Capt. Bliss after calling the meeting to order, told the fellows to report on the campus every afternoon at 4.30 until further notice.

On account of the roughness of the campus a meeting was called on Saturday morning, and the fellows were instructed to report at the Mansion House campus, that afternoon, at 3.30, and at the Niotus Club grounds on Monday and Tuesday. By Wednesday afternoon the campus was expected to be in good condition.

Tennis Meeting.

A meeting of the Tennis Association at which there was a large attendance was held in Society Hall, at noon on Saturday, for the purpose of electing officers for the present term.

Nominations for president being called for, Bishop proposed the name of Moore for this office and he was elected by acclamation. The names of Hollister and Spaulding were proposed for vice president, and after a ballot had been taken the vote was found to be a tie. The president cast the deciding vote in favor of Hollister. Stearns was nominated for treasurer but declined. Orvis then nominated Stanley, and he was elected without any opposition. Parsons and Mowry were nominated for secretary but both declined. Moore then proposed Holbrook, who was elected by acclamation. The meeting then adjourned.

It is a good sign to see such early action taken by the Association, in getting into working order, for hard work is all that will enable us to make a fair showing in this branch of athletics. By selling the courts at auction, the Association has obtained a respectable sum of money, and steps ought to be taken at once towards laying out one or more "dirt" courts. The courts that we have hitherto used are a disgrace to the school. And not only this, but they do not give the majority of the fellows who enter the tournament a chance to do themselves justice. If a fellow comes here who has always been in the habit of playing on a dirt court, he enters the tournament and is put against a fellow who is thoroughly at home on a turf court and though the former may be the better player, nine chances out of ten he will get beaten. This matter ought to be attended to at once. Simple justice demands, that fellows who enter the tournament should at least have a decent court to play on, and our poor showing in past years ought to be in itself proof enough that the change is absolutely necessary.

Sale of Tennis Courts.

The annual sale of the Tennis Association was held in the chapel on Tuesday noon at half past twelve o'clock. The attendance was rather slim but nevertheless good prices were obtained for the courts. The first one sold was the one reserved last year for the school champions, it runs parallel to the school and is nearest the fence. Decker, '90 being the highest bidder, got it for $35. The next sold was the one opposite the school offices with the blue posts. Spaulding bought it for $30.50. Rowley, '89 bought the one by the oak tree, paying $16 for it. The court adjoining the Laboratory building was sold to Smith, '91 for $15. Duly, '91 bought the corner court for $10.

School Meetings.

SEPT. 15.—Addis gave notice that on Monday the 17th the foot ball committee for the fall term would be elected.

SEPT. 17.—On motion of Stetson, seconded by Bishop, W. W. Higgins was appointed Secretary of the School for the ensuing year.

On motion of Addis seconded by Cartwright, E. B. Bishop, S. E. Farwell and E. A. Bird were elected as the foot ball committee for the fall term of '88.

The following men on motion of Morgan seconded by Torbert were appointed to act as reading room committee: F. W. Moore, E. C. Moody, O. B. Brown, T. C. Grant and W. E. Duley.

W. W. HIGGINS, Secretary.

To our Readers.

For the benefit of those who are new members of the school it does not seem out of place to state that the PHILLIPIAN is intended to be solely a school organ and to become effective as such must receive the hearty support of all the students as far as it is possible for them to give it. This support may be given in various ways but first of all we ask you to subscribe for the paper. Last year the PHILLIPIAN was issued twice a week instead of once as it had been for several years previous to that time and its size was also doubled. These changes were brought about by the feeling that as a newspaper a single sheet published once a week was almost useless and as a literary paper it was not a success in any sense of the word. Recognizing that we are only holding a public trust and not managing a private business for the pecuniary benefit of any particular person, it is our object to put the subscription price of the PHILLIPIAN within the means of all and to that purpose shall reduce it from $2.50 per year to $2.00 if we can secure three hundred subscribers but unless we obtain that number we shall have to keep it at the same price as it was last year. Another way in which we ask you to help us is to patronize the firms who advertise with us. Without our advertisers it would be impossible to meet the expenses of printing, etc., and the men who are accustomed to advertise with us will not do so unless they perceive they are deriving some benefit from it. The firms who are in the PHILLIPIAN are all reliable and conscientious houses, and students will find it to their advantage to trade with them; it would also be a great help to us if students who trade out of town would mention the PHILLIPIAN when buying or else the effects of the advertisement are lost to us and we may suffer from it.

Our financial affairs being placed on a firm footing the next thing is for each one to contribute such articles as he thinks proper whenever he can. Anything of public interest or any new suggestion as to school matters will be thankfully received and while the editors reserve the right of suppressing any communication that may be sent to the PHILLIPIAN they will publish all that they think are of sufficient merit.

It may be as well to state here that as the PHILLIPIAN is a newspaper, articles that are written for it must be on matters of general interest to the school and must be treated in as practical a form as can be. Items for the Phillippiana column will always be made use of if possible and it will be in the power of every one to furnish some occasionally.
