CORRECT DRESSING.

Gentlemen often hesitate about patronizing the highest class of tailors on account of the price; but the extra charge over ordinary tailors is not profit, or a tax for reputation; but represents actual value received. Many garments are out of style when new, simply because ill proportioned and not correctly cut; the wearer does not know what the matter is, but is conscious of a difference between his own clothes and those of others he meets in society. Men who can afford it make a great mistake in not wearing the best designed clothes, as the result represents the best selection of London materials, and the finest workmanship, combined with artistic cutting. We make a specialty of strictly fine tailoring, and every one of our workmen is a skilled mechanic, capable of producing artistic results. We have nothing but the best foreign woolsens, and in exclusive patterns shown only to the few high-class houses; all gentlemen of taste are invited to call, as goods will be cheerfully shown.

Philo.

The fifth regular meeting was called to order promptly at 7.30 o'clock by President Cameron. After an opening prayer had been offered by Beard, and the roll had been called by the secretary, Mr. Williams spoke extemporaneously on "The Influence of Athletics on College Life." He thought that athletics had a good influence on the lives of the students. Mr. Duley then read an essay on the "Present Jury System," reviewing it from its earliest adoption. He was followed by Mr. Mayers, who delivered a select reading.

The debate on the question, "Resolved, That nine on a jury should convict, instead of twelve," was next on the programme, and was opened on the affirmative by Wilkinson, who spoke of the ease with which a man under the present system might impede a jury. Parker, on the negative, argued that in gaining justice, we ought not to hesitate at the use of either time or expense.

The president had appointed Messrs. Clark, Duley and Bartlett to assist the affirmative, and Messrs. Cummings, Atha and Bailey the negative. Clark did not see how the present jury system could bring any better decision than the new system would. Cummings said he would much prefer to have the unanimous vote, especially in a murder trial. Duley repeated and emphasized the remarks of his leader. Atha, on the negative, also clung to what had been said by the leader of his side. Bartlett thought that the negative had confined themselves too closely to cases of a criminal order. Bailey held strongly to the negative. There spoke from the house Messrs. Addis, Clark and Moore, the latter making by far the best argument for the negative.

Harvard, 9; Princeton, 6.

The college championship game held at Princeton last Saturday, and won by Harvard, was the most exciting of the intercollegiate series so far. The day was a desirable one for base-ball, and the ground was in good condition. Much credit is due to the Harvard team for the way in which it played, in consideration of the fact that it was supported by only two men from the college,—a Crimson representative and one '90 man,—while Princeton had the encouragement of the whole college at its back. The game was a batting game, both Ames and Downer being hit quite frequently. The third and fourth innings were Harvard's innings, in which she scored, in all, six runs, three of them being earned. The umpiring of Upton, our catcher, is spoken of favorably in several papers.

Second Nine vs. Niotus.

The second nine and the Niotus played a game of ball last Saturday on the Niotus Club's field. The Academy team made costly errors at short and third base at critical times which gave the game to Niotus by a score of 10-7. Cheney and Townsend distinguished themselves, and Baldwin pitched a good game. Baldwin and Farnam were the battery for the second nine.

Harvard Bicycle Races.

The Harvard Bicycle Club held its race meeting on Saturday last at Holmes Field, under very favorable conditions as regards weather and the condition of the track. The races were, as a rule, very close, and afforded considerable excitement to those who witnessed them. The shortness of the Harvard track, and the fact that many of the riders were not in good racing trim so early in the season, prevented the breaking of any records. The one-mile scratch for safety bicycles was won by R. H. Davis of Harvard in 2 min. 53 3-5 sec. The quarter-mile scratch for ordinary machines was run in heats. The first heat was won by Brown of the New York Athletic Club in 41 2-5 sec., which was the best time made. In the one-mile scratch for students of any preparatory school in Massachusetts, which was run in two heats, Davis of Brown won the first heat in 3 min. 13 1-5 sec.; and Kimball of the Cambridge Latin School the second, in 3 min. 41 1-5 sec. Davis of Harvard won the one-mile handicap for safeties in 2 min. 42 4-5 sec. The other events were the two-mile handicap for ordinary machines, won by Schaefer in 5 min. 52 2-5 sec.; the one-mile race for the 3.50 class of the Harvard Club, won by Banon in 3 min. 9 3-5 sec.; and the two-mile tandem safety, won by Bailey in 6 min. 4-6 sec.

THE ANDOVER PRESS, PRINTERS.

In the last issue of the PHILLIPIAN appeared a communication calling to notice the fact that the Senior class had not yet elected the Class Day committees. Apparently no suitable reason can be given for such slackness, since it is an obvious fact that the duties of some of the committees are of such a nature as as to demand more or less time for preparation and completion. Besides this, the committees should be elected immediately, in order that those constituting them shall know what lies before them, and not be rushed and crowded for time at the last by having their election thrust upon them at the last moment. The latter part of the spring term is a busy time for many, without taking into consideration Class Day duties, and for this reason alone those who have extra duties imposed upon them should be enabled to plan their work ahead. It is to be hoped '89 will delay no longer in this matter, but will overcome the spirit of class disinterestedness that seems to be prevalent at present.

When it was suggested last fall that the reading room committee should keep the reading room open on Sundays as well as week days, it was feared by some that it would form a loafing place, and be the cause of trouble. With the consent of the Faculty, however, the experiment was tried; and now, at the close of the year, it must be admitted to be a success. By the change the reading room has become available for many who are unable to frequent it as much as they would wish during the week, and at no time has any complaint been heard from either those who go there or others. The conclusion to be drawn from this is, that it is not so dangerous to make a change from the settled order of things as is feared by many who lean to the side of the old maxim, "Let well enough alone." There is an element of safety that is not to be despised in adhering to that which has been in use, year in and year out, for two or three generations; but the same condition of affairs does not suit all people at all times, and the opening of the reading room on Sundays is one of those changes regarding the Sunday here that will inevitably come with the lapse of time.

Communications.

To Editors of Phillipian:

As regards the general interest taken in Philo, it would voice the opinions of many to say that the subjects for debate are, on an average, uninteresting, and neither in keeping with the taste nor the knowledge of many who would prove efficient members were the subjects of a different nature. It cannot be that the society was designed to discuss for the most part political topics. To some extent, they are good in themselves and as a variety. But that they should monopolize the thought is hardly fitting. In political argument, mere facts form a basis for discussion. There are subjects that are of a practical interest, and at the same time employ the higher reasoning faculties, and are of a more direct literary nature. That an all-sided benefit might come from the work of Philo, it would not be unwise to diversify and extend the range of subject matter, and so bring the advantages of the society within the reach of a larger number.

VOX POPULI.

Meeting of the Contestants for the Coming Tournament.

Tuesday noon the majority of those who intend to contest in the coming tournaments here and at Exeter met in Society Hall, and chose a captain to conduct the practice and training of the men on nights when Mr. Pettee cannot be on hand. The choice of captainship, after several nominations, finally rested upon Mr. A. Johnson, P.A. '90. Mr. Pettee then addressed a few words to the men concerning diet, practice and exercise. There were a good number of fellows present, and the outlook for an interesting tournament here on May 30 is to some degree promising.

The election of the captain is not final for the Exeter tournament, unless he win some event here that puts him on the Exeter team; but he is chosen to conduct the training, and is expected to be present every day at practice.

College Items.

Candidates for the Harvard lacrosse team are in full training.

The Yale University Boat Club held a meeting on Wednesday evening of last week, and elected the following officers for the ensuing year, one of whom is an old P.A. man: Pres. C. A. Sheldon, '90; Vice-Pres., Simms, '90 S.; Sec., W. S. G. Noyes, '91; Academic Sub. Treas., J. B. Townsend, '91; Auditing Com., Professors E. L. Richards and W. H. Brown, and Mr. Fairfax Harrison.

Haskell, '91 S., has left college. — Yale News.

About eight hundred and fifty men are expected by Mr. Moody to represent about one hundred and fifty colleges at his Northfield Summer School, during the coming summer.

The Harvard Varsity tug-of-war team has been selected as follows: Grew, No. 1; Ewald, No. 2; Anderson, No. 3; and Higgins, anchor.

The Cornell crew intends soon to row on Sundays. — Crimson.

Andover vs. Boston Blues.

Andover defeated the Boston Blues last Saturday afternoon, by a score of 10 to 9. The latter part of the game was of greater interest than the first, as both teams started out by playing a very loose game, all the runs being made on errors. The principal feature of the game was the terrible hitting. Stearns fielded his position at 2d without an error, as also did Owsley, who led the team at the bat by making four singles and one two-bagger. Leland, with the exception of a few costly passed balls, gave Haley fine support, who was wild for the first two innings. The fielding of the home team was almost faultless; while Dickermann, in the critical moment of the last inning, distinguished himself by capturing Davis's fly, after a long run, thus making a double play, and perhaps saving defeat. There was a marked improvement in the coaching, which always keeps alive the interest and contributes largely towards winning the game. The umpire, although making several poor decisions, tried to be impartial.

Dickerman led off with a base hit, stole 2d, got 3d on Haley's sacrifice, and scored on McNamara's fumble of Stearns's grounder. Owsley then sent a tremendous drive along left foul line for a base, advancing Stearns to 2d. Leland followed with another base hit, allowing both Dickerman and Owsley a base, thus filling the bags only to wait for Lansing and McCormick to strike out. It took Haley some time to gauge the ball, and his first nine attempts gave Davis and McNamara 1st, the former scoring on a wild pitch, the latter out, caught napping at 1st. Haley to Pond. White struck out. Borland waited for and got 1st on balls, stole 2d, and was advanced to 3d by Leland's wild throw to Stearns. Mc

Avoy made a base hit, sending in Borland; but he himself was left at 1st, as Murray fanned the plate.

Second inning. Brown struck out. Pond made a pretty hit, stole 2d, and crossed home plate on McAvoy's error. A fumble by McNamara gave Dickerman 1st, who was retired at 2d. Murray to McAvoy, while Haley struck out. Cassidy hit for a base, stole 2d, 3d on Daley's sacrifice, and scored on Davis's hit, which brought in Radford, who had taken 1st on base, and 2d on Daley's sacrifice; but his run was void, as he interfered at the home plate with Davis, who was running in on a passed ball. McNamara made a clean hit, but was left at 1st as White fied to Dickerman. Score 2 to 4 in favor of the Blues.

Third inning. Stearns made a hit to left field, 2d on Radford's fumble, and scored on Owsley's drive for two bases. One passed ball advanced him a base, and another tied the score, 4 to 4. Leland fied to Davis. Lansing first on an error by McAvoy, who had the ball waiting for him in his attempt to steal 2d. McCormick out. McAvoy to Davis. Borland led off with a two bagger. McAvoy was missed, as he fied to Dickerman. Brown's error gave Murray 1st and advanced Borland a peg, after Murray stole 2d, both scored on a passed ball. Cassidy fied to Pond, while Radford struck out.

Fourth inning. Brown hit for a base, stole 2d, and scored on a passed ball. Pond struck out, while Dickerman fied to Davis. Haley 1st on Cassidy's error, but forced at 2d by Stearns' hit. Cassidy to McAvoy. Daley again struck out. Davis made a base hit, 2d on passed ball, and a wild pitch allowed him to score. McNamara struck out, and White retired. Stearns to Pond.

Fifth inning. Owsley again drove the ball for a base, but was retired at 2d. Murray to McAvoy. Leland sent an easy fly to Davis, who muffed it, but was retired at 1st by Radford's double play in catching Lansing's fly. Borland 1st on balls, 3d on McAvoy's hit, who stole 2d, and after Murray struck both scored on Cassidy's hit, who took 2d on the throw in, and stole 3d, where he was left, as Radford fied to McCormick. Although Daley and Davis were given 1st on balls, the former stealing 2d, both failed to score, as McNamara went out. Owsley to Pond.

Sixth inning. Andover soon took her position in the field again, for McCormick, after making a base hit, stealing 2d and reaching 3d on passed ball, was left, as Brown, Pond and Dickerman retired in quick order. Although for the Blues Borland made a base hit and McAvoy a drive along right foul line for three bases, the side failed to add to its score.

Seventh inning. Haley out. McAvoy to Davis. Stearns reached 3d on a wild throw by Cassidy to 1st, and scored on Owsley's hit. Owsley stole 2d, advanced to 3d on Lansing's out, and scored on McAvoy's error. The same error giving Leland 1st, who was advanced a base on Lansing's hit, went to 3d on another error by McAvoy, but failed to score, being forced at the plate. The same error let McCormick reach 1st and Lansing 2d, Brown's sacrifice added another, thus filling bases, but no runs were made, as Pond fouled to Murray. This inning also resulted in a blank for the visiting team.

Eighth inning. Good work was done during the remainder of the game, Kelleker taking McAvoy's position. Dickerman led off with a hot liner only a few feet over 2d baseman's head, stole 2d. Haley 1st on Cassidy's error. Stearns's hit advanced Haley a base, but forced Dickerman out at 3d. Owsley's hit sent forward Haley and Stearns a peg. Kelleker's error allowed Haley to score. Leland 1st, Owsley 2d and Stearns 3d. A passed ball gave each two bases, bringing in Owsley and Stearns, making the score 10 to 9. Leland was left on 3d, as Lansing and McCormick were easy outs. Again the opposing team failed to score.

Ninth inning. Andover went out in quick order. Brown fied to Borland, Pond struck out, while Dickerman fouled to Murray. Now every eye was fastened upon the game. Radford was missed on an easy fly to Owsley. Daley got 1st on balls, while Davis sent a terrific drive to centre, which "Dick" disposed of by a fine running catch, also retiring Daley and making a double play.

The Run of the Bicycle Club.

In response to the notice on the bulletin board, there met at the depot, in time for the 12.29 train, the following members of the Bicycle Club, with their wheels: Hallock, Burr, Sydam, Gilmour, King and Wheeler. Since the road between here and Reading is so bad, the start was made from the latter place at one o'clock. With the exception of one or two places, the road was in good condition, and fair time was made, the first man reaching Cambridge in one hour and five minutes. The main part did not arrive there until half past two, having been put off the direct road through Somerville on account of incorrect information. The only accident was Hallock's jump from his wheel, which saved his being thrown upon his head, and perhaps seriously injured. As it was, the only harm was a torn coat and a twist to the backbone of his machine. Some of the fellows went on from Cambridge to Boston, while the rest waited to see the races on Holmes Field. All enjoyed the trip.

Tennis Tournament.

The finals, both double and single, of the tennis tournament, have been played off, the singles being finished yesterday afternoon by Day and Eaton in a game which resulted in favor of Day with a score of 6-0, 6-2. The finals in the doubles were contested by Spaulding and Moore vs. Farnam and Day, and resulted in favor of Spaulding and Moore with the score 6-0, 6-3. This determines who shall contest with Exeter in the doubles, and in the singles also, provided Stearns does not play. In case Stearns plays, he and Day will contest for the single championship.

It is marvellous how much of unalloyed happiness there is in a five-pound cane, a puff-necktie, a three-inch collar, patent leather shoes, a five-cent cigar and a distant Fem. Sem. to the average Academy boy.

DOUBT.

If the lesson is hard, and you know you're up next,
 And think you know nothing about it,
 Will you not look ahead a few lines in the text?
 Well, maybe you won't—but I doubt it.

If some day a difficult word is found, and
 There's a mystery hanging about it,
 If it's cribbed in your book, won't you hold up your hand?
 Well, maybe you won't—but I doubt it.

If by measures like these a high mark you should take,
 And your grade would be lowered without it,
 Will you tell the professor it's all a mistake?
 Well, maybe you will—but I doubt it.

—Brunonian.
