VICTORY!

ANDOVER IN TRIUMPH.

June 7. Beacons 4; Andover 11.
May 30. Beacons 4; Exeter 2.

The Nine in Glory.

Without doubt the greatest game of ball that has been played on our campus for several years took place on Saturday between Phillips and the Beacons of Boston. Every man on the team acquitted himself nobly, and caused Andover still to maintain her pre-eminence in base-ball, and prove conclusively what the result would be if Andover should cross bats with Exeter. The men seemed to be in their element, and put up an exhibition of ball-playing which is seldom seen even on a college campus. Although every man played at his best, yet the individual work of the men cannot pass unnoticed. Cheney covered his position in most superb style, and lined out a hit at the most opportune time. Capt. Stearns played his usual game, and although McCormick had no opportunities on flies his fielding of ground balls was perfect. Case also played at his best, and made his hit at the right time as usual. Anderson was always on hand at second, and got in his customary double play, assisted by Rustin, who also made a great record. Bliss played great ball, and accepted his many chances in handsome shape, stopping hot grounders and saving doubles. Brown never played better behind the bat, and his throws to bases were simply wonderful. Dalzell's record can best be seen by a glance at the official score. He pitched a great game, and his work with the ash was marvellous. He lined out the ball for four hits with a total of seven, and held down the visitors, who were very strong at the bat, to only five hits, and these were so sparingly given that the Beacons could accomplish but little.

The Beacons on the other hand also played a magnificent games. Soutter was more effective against the home nine than any pitcher has been during the season, striking out fifteen men.

The fielding of the visiting team was also clean and almost errorless. The make-up of the team was much stronger than that of the one which played Exeter on Decoration Day as in that game Soutter was not in the box, and it was the first game of the season for the Beacons. Under such circumstances Andover has reason to congratulate herself on her great victory over one of the finest teams in the state. The following is a brief account of the game in detail:

Play was called promptly at 3.50. In the first three innings Andover failed to score, while an error by Case, Rustin's over-throw, and a wild pitch netted the Beacons two runs. In the fourth Andover was quickly retired.—For the Beacons Tenney hit to left, but was doubled with Noyes on a fine double play by Rustin, Anderson, and Case. Bliss then threw Foster out in fine style.

Fifth inning. Rustin and Brown were presented with bases on balls, and both ran home on a wild pitch. Bliss fanned the air three times unsuccessfully. Dalzell now makes a beautiful drive to centre for three bases. Case flies to Noyes. Smith now fumbles Stearns' hot grounder, and Dalzell scores. Stearns steals 2d, and scores on Anderson's single. Cheney strikes out.—The Beacons fail to see 2d.

Sixth inning. McCormick strikes out. Rustin and Brown are again presented with bases on balls. Bliss flies to Smith. Dalzell and Case now get in two timely hits, and three Phillips boys cross the plate. Stearns and Anderson get to 1st on balls, but Cheney retires at 1st.—McAloon is at 1st on Case's error, and goes to 2d on Bliss' fumble of Ayer's grounder, but is forced out at home on Tenney's hit to Rustin. Brown unfortunately has a passed ball, and the Beacons score their last two runs. In the seventh inning neither side scored.

Eighth inning. Bliss struck out. Dalzell hit to centre for two bases, went to 3rd on Case's sacrifice. McAloon fumbled Stearns' grounder and Dalzell scored. Stearns stole 2d, moved up to 3rd on Anderson's single, and scored on Cheney's fine drive to right, Anderson going to 3rd. McCormick goes to 1st by grace of Soutter, and Rustin's nice hit sends him to 3rd, and also scores Cheney and Anderson. McCormick ends the running by being caught napping at 3rd, Ayer to McAloon. The Beacons retire in 1, 2, 3, order, as do also both teams in the ninth. The score:

The Celebration.

After the victory over the Beacons last Saturday the enthusiasm of the students was intense and it was not long before everyone had procured for himself some instrument for the service of the evening. Everything was soon arranged requisite for a successful celebration, and shortly after eight the procession started from the Academy, led by the drum corps and a coach with the victorious team, which was followed by an enthusiastic but orderly line of students, four deep. Every member of the Faculty was called upon and the customary speeches were made. Dr. Bancroft was the first to congratulate the team on the success of the afternoon, and Mr. McCurdy then addressed the boys. As Prof. Churchill was not at home, the next halt was made at Prof. Harris' and he proved by proportion that our team would have beaten Exeter by 5 1-2 runs to 1 had there been a game. Calls were then made upon the remaining members of the Faculty and then French and Smith Halls were cheered, and in return the customary tokens of congratulation were received. The cheer which was used during the evening had been gotten up for the occasion, and was as follows:

Oh what was the score?
Oh what was the score?
Andover eleven; the Beacons four.
Exeter tried what she could do,
But she was beaten four to two.
After leaving the Fem. Sem., the drum corps led the way to the campus where a huge bonfire had been put in readiness. After carrying the members of the team around the fire on their shoulders, the fellows procured a table and listened to speeches from those of the nine whom they could find. Stearns expressed his regret that we were unable to meet Exeter this year as he had high hopes of success, and he wished us success in all our future games. Dalzell thought that the speech-making was the hardest part of the day's work, but gave us a good one, nevertheless. Cheney Rustin, McCormick, and Walcott all spoke briefly, and Addis managed to get in a little hint about unpaid subscriptions. The other members of the team could not be found, and so shortly after the crowd dispersed. All regret that we cannot play Exeter, but hope for success next year under the new rules.

Communications.

Editors of Phillipian:

Through your columns I wish to express to the school my thanks and sincere appreciation for the elegant gift which I have received from the hands of the committee appointed by the school at the close of last term.

Sincerely yours,

RALPH W. HOLMES.

Lecture.

The third and by far the most interesting of the lectures given thus far in the course on Rome and its environs was given by Prof. Comstock on Monday evening. The lecture was confined chiefly to the "works of art left by the Romans" as shown in the various galleries and churches of Rome. Views of the statues and busts of Augustus, Michael Angelo, and the statue of "The Athlete." Several views of Tivoli and the Appian Way were also cast upon the screen. The last lecture of the course will be given next Tuesday at 8 o'clock, on the subject Pompeii and Vesuvius.

THE ANDOVER PRESS, PRINTERS.

Saturday's game with the Beacons was a splendid exhibition of fine ball playing, and the excellent work was by no means confined to individuals or to either team. Such a game is seldom seen on our campus, excepting the annual contest with Exeter, and Andover may well feel proud over the work of her nine, not only in the victory on Saturday over a remarkably strong team, but also in the record of the entire season. The Beacons played a strong game, but lost because they were unable to hit safely and hold down our men at the most critical points; while Andover proved her ability to hit the ball, and this, aided by good fielding and steady work at a critical moment, won the game. The splendid work of Dalzell cannot be overlooked. Great praise is due to him for being so effective in the box and for the way in which he lined out the ball when a hit was most needed. Every man on the team acquitted himself in a way which is creditable both to himself and his school.

The last game of the season, which takes place this afternoon, is of great importance and it is very necessary that the result should be favorable for Andover. Although the men have gone out of training we would urge upon them the importance of the result of this game. It is unnecessary to state that the Stars intend to win this afternoon, since we know that Andover has never been able to defeat the Stars twice in succession, however, we believe that if the men play their usual game, the result will be another great victory. We must be prepared for defeat or victory, as the result is by no means certain, but we hope that the team will take its place on the diamond intending to win even if another fourteen-inning game is necessary to announce the victorious team. Every man should realize how important it is that the last game of one of Andover's most successful base-ball seasons should result as favorably as the ones which have preceded it. We congratulate the nine on the success of Saturday's game, and wish it as great success in the game this afternoon.

Phillips Base-Ball Players.

It is with pleasure that Andover welcomes back her old base-ball players, and takes note of the success which they have met after entering college. Some of the most prominent names appear in the following, and it will be seen that they represent the best college players. Bremner, Hickock, Owsley, Poole, Noyes, and Stewart have all been on the Yale 'Varsity, and Stewart and Noyes have been captains. Bliss, Dickerman, Fox, W. Graves, H. Graves, and Preston have played on Yale Freshman teams. Harvard has had Nichols, Knowlton, and Upton. Harris, King, and L. Mowry have played on Princeton. A. F. Stearns, Cutler, and Boutwell have played on the Amherst 'Varsity, and Jackson is playing on the Freshman team at present. Luce and Hotchkiss are playing on the Williams team, and J. C. Campbell was captain of his Freshman team these.

Class Meeting.

A class meeting of P.A. and P.S. '92 was held on Monday in Society Hall to take some action in regard to a class base-ball team. J. N. Anderson was chosen captain and Neale manager, and it was voted to impose a tax of twenty-five cents upon each member of the class after which the meeting adjourned.

Phillips vs. Stars of Lawrence to-day.

Morton Street nine were defeated by '93 last Monday on the Theologue's campus.

The Theologue nine would like to hear from any of the street teams in regard to a game.

The school is congratulated on the orderly and strong cheering at the Beacon game, and it is hoped that the same will be repeated at to-day's game.

The cup which the Exonian board offered at the beginning of the base-ball season for the member of the nine who proved himself to be the best all around player has been awarded to Stephenson, 1b. As the competition was so close a second cup was presented to Saunders, ss.

Morrison, P.A. '92, expects to enter Trinity next fall.

Quite a party came from Boston with the Beacons on Saturday.

The team has won thirteen and lost seven games this season. Let the men then play good ball to-day so as to have a two-third percentage.

Latin Commons by defeating Salem St. last Monday assured itself of first place in the street team league.

Willets, P.S. '92, is visiting in New York for a few days.

Knapp, P.S. '91, has left school and gone to his home in Louisville, Ky.

The Latin Commons team had its picture taken on Monday.

Robbins, P.A. '83, witnessed the Beacon game.

Profs. Churchill and Gile were out of town on Saturday night, much to the disappointment of the celebrators.

Soutter, who pitched for the Beacons on Saturday, pitched on the Boston Athletic Club when they beat Harvard this spring; only five hits being made off his delivery.

Mills, ex-P.S. '91, was in town last Saturday. He has just returned from an extended trip through the south and west.

Most of the fellows who took the Tech. examination in Boston last week have left school for the summer.

The winners in the spring tournament were photographed on Monday.

Pond, ex-P.S. '90, is on the Yale Freshmen crew, and Gould, of the same class, is substitute.

Prof. Taylor preached the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of the Seminary on Sunday last.

G. R. King, '91, had his "New Mail Safety" bicycle, which was left in front of the Academy, stolen Saturday evening during the celebration. Any person returning the same or giving information as to where it may be found will be rewarded.

McLanahan, '92, has purchased a Hawk Eye detective camera.

Day, '93, has returned to school.

Dr. Bancroft addressed the fellows Saturday night, preparatory to the communion service of Sunday.

McCarthy leads the Exeter nine in batting and base running.

Murray, P.A. '92, died Monday morning, June 9, in Boston. Every one in the Academy sends his sincerest sympathy to the bereaved family.

As to-day's game is the last of the season, let every one come out and cheer with a will, and show the Stars the improvement that has been made since their last game here on our own grounds.

Beacon Game.

Listen good people, and you shall hear

A story good and true,
Of how the Beacon light grew dim
At the hands of the white and blue.
The light gleamed bright on that day in June
But soon it ceased to shine,
Though the Beacons thought at first they'd
sport
With our famous base-ball nine.

The campus was the conflict scene
The time was half-past three,
And the Beacons who thought the game was
sport

Found a Ste(a)rn reality.
The Da(h)zell-ing curves came in like the wind,
And hard they struck for a base;
But with Sunshine behind, the bag they couldn't find,
Which had something to do with the Case.

The Bliss-ful game went on and on,
Our score still in ad-Vance.
Cheers rose on high from the grand-stand near by,
While feet began to dance.
Old mother Phillips with honor was crowned,
And (h)er son on our diamond throne.
While Her man gathered flies from the left field-skies,
And the victory great was won.

Now our team's success we cannot doubt,
Ever our captain trusting,
For he makes them work like the barbarous Turk
To keep them all from Rustin(g).
Yes, our team is made, as W(e)alco(uld)tt see,
Of men as honest as light,
And not like the pills from the Hampshire
hills,
Where they can't tell black from White.

The season's end is drawing near,
The games are almost o'er.
But you can bet we'll ne'er forget
That game eleven to four.
We'll ne'er forget that Beacon light,
And how soon dim it grew.
While in the north we know it burst forth
To the tune of four to two.

Now this result must clearly prove
On a mathematical ground
That if we played the Exeter boys
We'd be sure to do them Brown.
But the game we can't play till some other day,
And though they might hope to win it,
Like the man in the balloon who fell out too
soon
We're sure they wouldn't be in it.
