LAWRENCEVILLE LETTER.

Base Ball News. Tennis Tournament.

Lawrenceville, N. J., May 13, 1895.

The absorbing topics of interest here for the last two weeks have been the base-ball games and the tennis tournament. The scores of the games have been: Princeton Consolidated 10, Lawrenceville 2; Lawrenceville 9, Princeton Consolidated 5; On Wednesday we are scheduled to play the Princeton Freshmen and a good game is expected.

Last week a tournament was started by the Tennis Association to determine who should represent Lawrenceville in the coming Interscholastic Tournament, which is to be held at Princeton in a few days. The cup which is offered to the winning school has been won by Lawrenceville for the last two years and if we win it another year, it will come into our possession. Richards, '97, who won the School championship last fall will go as one representative, Beaman, '95, will go as another, but the third man has not yet been chosen.

The Head Master has secured some excellent speakers and lecturers to address the school. On Sunday, May 5th, President Patton of Princeton preached and on May 4th Hon. L. W. Hall of Harrisburg, Pa., gave an interesting lecture on "Napoleon and Lincoln." On Sunday afternoon President Harfield of Lafayette College gave an excellent address.

The Public Speaking on Saturday was about the best of the year, all of the declamations receiving rounds of applause. These exercises have done a great deal to further the elocution work in the school and they have given excellent practice to all who have taken part.—The Lawrence.

Class Base Ball.

Ninety-six has beaten Morton St. 26-4 and the Theologues 11-3.

Senior Class Meeting.

The Senior class held a meeting Friday at which Hine resigned from the office of statistician, but as there was not a quorum present no one was elected to fill the vacancy.

The meeting of the Senior class held Monday was adjourned, as a quorum was not present.

Andover 24; Vespers 10.

The Lowell Vespers Boat Club brought a nine to the campus Saturday, with Paige and Ranney as battery. The game was a victory for the home team. Batting was the only feature of the game, Paige receiving the worst pounding he ever experienced. The home team was changed by Edwards replacing Davis at short-stop. He played a fair game, accepting eight of eleven chances. Most of the Andover nine played a slow game in the field. Harker was lame and couldn't get around, and Sedgwick spared his arm by tossing underhand straight balls over the plate. If there isn't a decided brace in clean fielding, we may well dread June 12. The men have made thirty-six errors in the last four games. Dayton's and Ranney's batting and Thorpe's fielding were especially noticeable.

The tabulated score follows:

'97 Suits.

Wentworth, Macfarlane, G. L. White, W. H. White, Cropley, Mintun, Mullings, Kinne, Wakefield, Pingree, Burns and Wentz were measured for suits for the ninety-seven team Monday. Out of these only the nine men who play in the championship game will receive suits. The stockings, jerseys, sweaters and caps will be blue with white figures.

Last Night's Concert.

The annual concert by the Glee, Banjo and Mandolin Clubs was given last night at the Town Hall, and fully justified the expectations of its friends. All the clubs showed careful, conscientious preparation and the large audience seemed to appreciate the effort which had been made to please them. "Ben Bolt," was rendered very well by the Glee Club in the first half of the programme and "The Man in the Moon's Ball," in the second, while the "Topical Song" received the usual applause. All the work of the Banjo Club was very fine, "Invincible Guard March" and "Kentucky Smile" being exceptionally good. The Mandolin Club is the best Phillips has ever had and deserves the highest praise, as the selections were difficult and almost perfectly executed.

The May Mirror.

How much improvement can be made by a little extra effort in the way of preparation is well shown in the anniversary number of the Mirror, for this is by far the best issue that has appeared this year. We refer not alone to the illustrations and the fifteen extra pages, but also to the real literary value of the larger number of the contributions.

"The Ballad of the Black Douglas" has a very smooth poetical structure, and "Thoughts of the Night" appeals immediately to the reader's love for the classics. "Looking Forward" is based on the novel idea of an ancient Roman's being placed all at once in a modern city. "How the Fastest Train in the World is Run," and "Pomp," do not from their nature admit of originality, but the writers have handled their subjects well. The best plots are found in "Pierre" and "The Coward."

The editorial upon "Our New Gymnasium" deserves reading for the information it contains on the condition of the Gymnasium Fund, and that upon "Membership in School Organizations" for a very clear statement of the case. In the editorial entitled, "Criticism," the attempt is made to hide the general tenor of the piece by a few well sounding phrases at the close. We are not willing to enter the lists with our contemporary, nor do we present "the proverbial newspaper squib of denial," but we do make these assertions: That, granting the word "entirely" should have been omitted from the sentence quoted in the article, the editors thought they saw behind the veil and said what they in no way regret; that "a most cursory glance" was sufficient to digest the contents of the magazines which have been offered for general consideration; that we in no way "hinted at a spirit to fill up the pages of the monthly at any cost and with any material." but that we said, "if contributed matter is unsatisfactory, there is no reason why increased aggressiveness could not bring about a better condition of things;" that it is extremely unfortunate to distinguish, at this late day, between the means used by the literary magazine and by the newspaper for the accomplishment of their ends; that "criticism" supposes the existence of matter for critical examination; that even in our pessimism we have distinctly acknowledged what we all know, "that some of the articles that have appeared in the Mirror this year have been deserving of praise;" that it is not praise to specify that certain of "the stories were fairly well written but had no originality," but that it may be very true; that it has been the aim of this paper throughout the year, in its reviews (we use the word in its broad sense as it was used in the article which proved so offensive) to point out the strong portions and readable parts of the magazine and also to brand, for the benefit of its readers and with no personal feeling, whatever was faulty or worthless, and that, while our warm regard for our sister publication was only increased by the increased attractiveness of her anniversary number, we believe such an article stands in the way of the best literary life of the school. The Mirror has completed her third year; may she live long and flourish. Let the matter submitted for the June number be of extraordinary merit.

Batting Order for Game To-day.

Drew, catch; Barton, 1 base; Greenway, pitch; Sedgwick, left field; Elliott, 3d base; Dayton, cen. field; Waddell, r. field; Edwards, short; Harker, 2nd.

College Track Games.

The University of California beat Princeton in track athletic games Saturday 61 points to 51. Pennsylvania defeated Cornell 95 to 31.

The Andover Press.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 15, 1895.

A school secretary is an office Phillips Academy has always lacked. It would be well to create such an office that business which affects the Academy may be properly disposed of. As it is, there is no necessarily authentic record of what the school has done or resolved. The wording in the school newspaper, of what has been voted in past years, may, or may not be correct. There is no reason to believe it is not, but no proof that it is. Perhaps the record is not complete. We are wholly in the dark. Our eligibility rule, the athletic constitution, and the resolutions passed of late, and in relation to the Exeter difficulty, should be officially preserved. We suggest, that the two middle classes, at the beginning of each spring term, elect a school secretary, to hold office for one year, those classes to jointly bear the expense connected with the office. In this way a competent man would be chosen who could keep a record, from school year to school year, of that which those who come after us, should know. As there is no school treasury, the classes, which become leaders in school affairs, would naturally meet the very slight expense to be incurred.

Worcester Debate.

The wording of the question for the Worcester Debate has been slightly changed so as to read,—“Resolved, That the United States Government should construct, own, and operate the Nicaragua Canal.” As is known, the debate will take place Friday night at Worcester and there will be no decision of judges.

The party which leaves Andover for Worcester Friday afternoon will consist of a member of the Faculty, the three speakers, the presidents of the two societies and the chairman of the committee from each society. A member of the PHILLIPIAN Board will accompany the party to furnish a report of the debate for Saturday's issue.

President Bumstead to Lecture at Phillips Academy.

President Bumstead of Atlanta, University will deliver his address, illustrated with stereoptican views, on the work of Atlanta University in the elevation of the Negro, in the Hall, on Thursday, at 7.45 o'clock. There is no fee but a collection will be taken. The public is cordially invited. The lantern slides are used—to assist in imparting clear and accurate knowledge of the subject.

They picture the condition of the Negro in his degradation, the facilities afforded by Atlanta University for his elevation, and the results of the work in his subsequently improved condition.—Townsman.

College Notes.

William R. Lyon, P. S. '90, graduated at the Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia, May 15. He is 2d Vice-President of the class.

Mr. Harlan Page Amen, one of the Principals of the Riverview Academy, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., visited the Academy Monday.

G. W. Orton, University of Pennsylvania's crack mile runner, has accepted the challenge of Corneff, the champion at that distance, to race at the New Jersey Athletic Club games on Decoration Day. Walsh, an English runner, will probably take part in this special race.

At the meeting of Forum, Friday evening, Mandeville was appointed secretary pro tem, in the absence of Hinkle. The first number of the literary program was a speech by Christie on "The Fall of Hassan." Pierson then gave a declamation and Carberry an extemporaneous speech on the "Railroads of Austria," and also Patterson an extemporaneous speech on the subject "Should City Clubs be Introduced into Andover." "Resolved, That the Members of the Cabinet should have a Seat in Congress," was the subject for debate. The speakers were W. R. Clarke and Harrington against Symonds and Woodbine. Carberry, Christie and Pierson spoke from the house. The decision of the house and chair was for the negative.

Schrieber then gave a critique on the meeting. After honorable dismissal had been granted to E. F. Aldrich and G. B. Elliott had been elected to membership the meeting was adjourned.
