TRACK VICTORY

Andover Wins Harvard Interscholastic Meet with 50 2-3 Points. Volkmann is Second with 21 1-3

Andover won the twenty-sixth annual Harvard interscholastic track meet, held last Saturday afternoon in the Stadium at Cambridge. The team of twenty two men scored 50 2-3 points, with five firsts, two ties for first, three seconds, three thirds, and four fourths. Volkmann School of Boston won second place with 21 1-3 points; Exeter, third, with 16 1-3 points; and Worcester Academy, fourth, with 14 1-6 points. Nine other schools secured scattered points in various events, Boston Latin, Newton High, and Stone School, among them, winning places in the order named. This is the second year that Andover has won the meet successively, and so will have possession of the cup, given by Harvard undergraduates, for another year. The following men won their first track "A" by securing one of the first three places in an event: Clough, Cooke, and Gardner.

Andover was able to enter more weight men in the Harvard meet than in the Yale meet on May 4th, and so proved exceptionally strong in the field events, scoring here 26 of the total points, and winning all places in the hammer throw, a fourth in the shot put, first and second in the broad jump, and two ties for first in the pole vault.

Hart of Exeter broke the Harvard interscholastic shot put record with a put of 43 feet, 3 1-2 inches. Captain Kilpatrick of Andover was again the individual star of the meet, capturing four firsts and one fourth, a total of 21 points, equal to the total number of points won by Volkmann School, which won second place in the meet. Kilpatrick secured first place in both hurdle races, broad jump, hammer throw, and fourth in the shot put.

The team, left Andover at 11.48, reaching the Stadium at one-thirty. The men taken on the trip were: Captain Kilpatrick, Hopkins, Rosendale, Patton, Lewis, Brainard, Clough, Dowling, Greenough, Gardner, Knox, Dain, Cooke, McCreadie, Morrison,

MAY MIRROR

Contents of First Number of Spring Term Given Below. New Cover to be Inaugurated

The May Mirror will be issued this evening and will have among its contents a number of contributions usual to the first issue of the Spring term. Its cover design, a splendid drawing, is the work of R. C. Hallowell, '06. This design will be the regular cover from now on.

The issue opens with an essay, "May Days Like These," which is atmospheric in tone and which tells of the activities to be noted and the pleasures to be gained by a visitor upon the hill-top this season.

This is followed by "To—" an eight line poem very well written.

The next story, "The Second Violin," has a musical setting and groups its several incidents about two very well handled climaxes.

A sketch, "On a Moonlight Evening," changes to the seashore and has for its main character a member of the Yale eight-oar crew.

"Maiwanderlust" is a fine stanza piece of verse, speaking of what its name implies.

It is followed by "The Medicine Bottle" an Alaska story, which recounts in an entertaining manner a method one bold man took to outwit two would-be bandits.

Then follows four very clever lines of verse entitled "Life."

The "Leaves from Phillips Ivy" and editorial complete an issue tending as a whole to convey the present Spring-time feeling.

BASEBALL DEFEAT

Villanova Team Wins From Andover Yesterday on Brothers Field. Score, 4 to 1

Andover narrowly escaped a shut-out yesterday afternoon at the hands of Villanova, the final score being 4 to 1. Until the ninth, the playing of the home team was good, but in that inning three scores were added to the visitors' tally. Andover, however, frequently changed her battery men. Belford started the game with Pfau behind the bat. He held the opposing batsmen to but one hit in the entire six innings that he pitched. In the sixth, Burdett went in in place of Pfau and in the seventh, Thompson succeeded Belford. McKay took Thompson's place in the eighth. Villanova's line-up remained unchanged throughout the game.

The game in detail:—

Andover took the field promptly at 4.15. McEhrlan, heading Villanova's batting list, was given his base on balls and stole second. Lavage struck out and on Daniel's grounder to Belford, McEhrlan took third, but was left there as Nichols fled out to Badger.

In the last half of the first, with one out, Merritt was given a base on balls, and took second on Badger's hit to left, which the fielder misjudged. Reilly reached first on the fumble of his grounder by the third baseman. With men on first and second McIntyre hit to short, who threw to second, forcing Reilly, the second baseman, getting the ball to first in time to retire. McIntyre also, making a pretty double play.

Villanova scored her first run in the second. Murray reached first on Shannon's error and was advanced to third by Moore, who hit to short. Then with one out, Casey hit to Shannon, who touched first instead of throwing home, Murray scoring. Barr struck out, retiring the side. Score: Andover 0, Villanova 1.

After that both sides went out in order until the fifth. Moore started that inning with a two-base hit to deep centre, but a moment later was thrown out by Belford, who fielded Casey's bunt remarkably fast. Almost immedi-

THE ANDOVER PRESS

Wednesday, May 15, 1907.

Andover plays Princeton on Brothers' field Friday and everyone who has the success of the baseball season at heart should attend, to give the team his support. Princeton has the strongest college team of the season so far. On account of the unusually small attendance at past games many feel that the team has not been encouraged to do its best. Cheering is by no means an unknown quantity and time and again a defeat has been turned into a victory with the right kind of enthusiasm and interest.

Baseball Subscriptions

It would greatly convenience the management if fellows would hand in their baseball subscriptions, all of which are overdue at present. The time is very short now and on account of the many other duties of the managers, it is urged that every fellow turn in his money as soon as possible.

MANAGER.

Spring Tennis Tournament

The regular spring tennis tournament in doubles and singles will commence next Wednesday. The winners will represent Andover in the annual match with Exeter. An entrance fee of twenty-five cents for singles and fifty cents for doubles will be charged. Further details will be printed in next issue of the PHILLIPIAN. All entries must be in before 7 o'clock Tuesday evening, May 21st.

That's what the new man entering college 'll most likely hear when he starts buying college-life needs. The fitting up of study and sleeping room is naturally easiest here. College ideas are studied in everything from the floor covering to the decorative flag. Most cost is spared in the best. Always glad to show sketches and plans for original decorative treatment.

Young Men's Haberdashery, smart ideas always a-plenty and underpriced.

The "Bookery" is the home of, just out, copyright Fiction. This among the late comers:—"The Port of Missing Men," $1.08. The reader will be most attracted to it by the fact that it comes from the pen of the now famous author of the "House of a Thousand Candles." "The Port of Missing Men" deals with certain romantic incidents, duly Americanized, in the careers of Austria's Archdukes. The scenes are laid alternately in Switzerland, Washington and fair Virginia. The characters are strongly drawn and the plot closely woven, leading finally to a thrilling and generally unexpected climax.

ately afterwards Belford caught Casey off base with another quick throw. Then for the second time Barr ended Villanova's half by striking out.

At the beginning of the sixth Burdett took Pfau's place behind the bat. No runs were scored on either side. In the seventh Thompson replaced Belford in the box, but, in the following inning, he in turn gave way to McKay, who finished the game.

Villanova made sure of the game in the first half of the ninth. Lavage, first up, singled to centre, and Daniels walked. Nichols flied out to McKay. Murray was hit by a pitched ball, filling the bases. With one out, Moore doubled to left, scoring Lavage and Daniels. Casey hit to centre, bringing in Murray, Moore reaching third. Barr hit to Shannon, who threw home in time to catch Moore. Sullivan flied out to Reilly, making the third out.

In the last half, Andover scored her only run. Badger knocked a grounder to the third baseman, took second on that player's wild throw, went to third on a passed ball, and scored on Reilly's fly to the left fielder. After McIntyre had grounded to second, Daly made a hit to right field and Martin, who ran for him, stole second; but Shannon ended all chance of further scoring by striking out. Final score: Andover 1, Villanova 4.
