ANDOVER CHORAL SOCIETY

Program Given in Chapel Last Night

The Andover Choral Society and the school choir deserve commendation for their excellent rendition of "The Seven Last Words of Christ" last night in the chapel. The cantata of Dubois is very vigorous and strong, consisting for the most part of duets and trios, but at times reinforced by a chorus. The tenor, baritone and leading soprano were the most enjoyable singers. It was evident that the town choral society has aroused much interest among the townspeople as there were over two-hundred of the latter present. The collection taken at the door for the benefit of the society amounted to a large sum.

The members of the choral society follow:

Sopranos—Mrs. T. E. Allen, Mrs. J. C. Angus, Miss Mabel Carter, Miss Helen Eaton, Mrs. V. D. Harrington, Mrs. F. G. Moore, Mrs. F. G. Peck, Mrs. F. H. Paige, Miss Mary Richards, Miss Ruth K. Whiting, Miss Edna G. Chapin, Miss Mary Erving, Mrs. Harry A. Wright, Miss Mary L. Smith.

Altos—Mrs. J. V. Holt, Mrs. F. A. Wallace, Miss Emily Richards, Miss M. Eleanor Holt, Mrs. C. W. Scott, Mrs. Theo. L. Dodge, Miss Ada Sanborn, Miss Delight W. Hall, Mrs. Wm. T. Jackson.

Tenors—Mr. A. N. Alexander, Mr. V. D. Harrington, Mr. F. G. Moore, Dr. Karl Richter, Mr. Wm. McEwan.

Basses—Dr. A. E. Hulme, Mr. J. V. Holt, Mr. E. M. Weeks, Mr. Wm. Hodge, Mr. H. E. Liversidge, Mr. T. L. Dodge.

The members of the school choir who participated are as follows: N. T. Macfarlane, E. E. Schofield, R. H. Goldsmith, J. P. Orendorf, E. Flynt, J. S. Pickering, L. M. Brown, J. W. Wilder, E. O. Richards.

Out-door Baseball Practice Started

This week the out-door practice of the baseball squad has commenced. During this term the battery candidates have been practicing in the gym Wednesday and Friday afternoons. Although there are only three men left from last year's team, who are Butterfield, pitcher, Sheehan, catcher, and Faherty, fielder, many promising men have shown up, an especially large number for pitcher. As the practice for the entire squad has only been held for a short time, it is hard to determine how good the material is, but there seems to be several candidates out who will develop into good players. As practically all the team will have to be picked from new men, only those who are free of conditions will be considered at the beginning of the spring term, so everybody on the squad should devote all their spare time during these last few days to bring their marks to a passing grade.

A. D. Sturtevant, P. A. '12, '15 Sheffield, has been elected captain of the Yale crew to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of T. B. Denegre, '13. Sturtevant rowed on his Freshman crew two years ago and on the Varsity crew last year.

SWIMMING INSIGNIA

Twelve men were voted their insignia for work on the swimming team during the past season. This year's team has equalled the successful record made by last year's, —the reward is well merited. The men awarded SAT insignia are as follows:

Thomas Acton Fitzgerald, '16, captain. Fitzgerald swam on the relay team as anchorman, and was a consistent point winner in the 50 and 100 yd. dashes. In the latter, he lowered his own tank record to one minute flat.

John Ellis Emerson, '15, manager. Emerson was assistant manager last year, and is responsible for this schedule, the best in years.

Charles Edward Bradley, Jr., '15. Bradley swam on the relay and also in the 50 yd. dash, in which he generally finished first or second. He also placed in the plunge in several meets, taking first in one.

Stewart Augustus Searle, '16. Searle swam in the 200 yd. swim throughout the season, dividing honors in this event with Mayer.

Richard Blum Mayer, '16. Swam on the relay team as third man and also in the 200 yd. swim. He also swam the dashes in several times.

Frederick MacDonald Kingsbury, '15, has competed regularly in the dive, winning many decisive points for the team in that event.

Thayer Kingsbury, '15. A member of the relay team, swimming second. His time has been regularly fast.

Maurice Stephenson Gould, '16. Gould shared honors with Kingsbury during the winter. In several meets he lost first on technicalities, but his showing was uniformly good.

Clarence Henry Peters, '16. Peters competed in the plunge, averaging nearly 57 feet.

Frank Stuart Strout, '16. Strout also was one of the entries in the plunge. He placed first in many meets, several times going over 60 feet.

Hazen Curtis Pratt, '15. Pratt placed in the 100 yd. dash in several meets.

Gardner Tilton, '16. Tilton was a substitute on the relay team and in the fifty. When entered, he invariably secured a place in his event.

Of the above men, Gould, Mayer, Searle, Strout, Peters and Tilton are in the class of 1916 and will return.

Library Notice

Library books, whether taken from the Circulating or Loan Departments, should be returned to the Library on, or before, Thursday, March 25th. If any book returned to the Loan Library is desired for next term's work it will be reserved upon application. The students who are to remain in town for the vacation may borrow books from the Circulating Department.

Honor Students

Additional days of vacation at Easter will be given to those students making the first and second Honor Roll. Those who make the first honor list may extend their holidays until 8 p.m. Thursday, April 8th, while those who make the second list are allowed until 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 7th.

NEW GRILL BUILDING

Work on New Building Already Begun

The Late R. SINGLETON PEABODY
Donor of the New Grill

The work on the new grill and students building has commenced, and the building will be completed and ready for occupancy next fall. This building is the gift of the late Dr. R. Singleton Peabody, who also is the donor of the Archaeology building and the founder of the Archaeology department in Phillips Academy. This donation of Dr. Peabody's deserves the appreciation of the entire student body as he is giving them a building for their own use.

The exterior of the new grill will be of brick and stone, which will correspond with the style of architecture of the Archaeology building and the new dormitories. The situation is on Phillips street directly behind the Archaeology building. The basement, which will extend under the entire building, whose dimensions are thirty by forty feet, will be entirely given over to the kitchen, dining room, etc. The large grill room will be much the same as the present one, with stalls and there will also be a private dining room for special dinners and banquets.

The first floor will be used for a lounge room, which will correspond to the present reading section of the grill, except that it will be on a larger and better scale. A large fire-place at the west end of the room will make the lounge cheerful and comfortable and also the fine wood panelling will add to the general appearances. Another attractive feature will be large French windows opening on the street.

The second floor will be a large room with a fire-place at one end, much the same as the first floor in panelling and general appearances. There will be a space for Mr. Peabody's books and pictures and also there will be a large portrait of him. This room will be at the disposal of the various student clubs, such as the Philomathean society, the college and musical clubs, etc. This room will also be suitable for large student assemblies, special banquets, etc. The building will be primarily for the use of the students, and for this reason they should feel great appreciation to the donor and the Trustees for erecting it.

There is still time to get tickets and parlor car seats on the special train which will run to New York and intermediate points next Friday. All fellows wishing to secure these reservations should see Avery or Miner immediately.

TENNIS SCHEDULE

Manager W. N. Boylston has announced the tennis schedule for the coming season as follows:

May 1—Yale Freshmen at New Haven.

May 8—Harvard Interscholastics at Cambridge.

May 12—Harvard Freshmen at Andover.

May 29—Newton High at Andover.

June 2—Exeter at Exeter.

Of the six games scheduled, three are away, including the Exeter match, which will conclude the season. Although Thayer is the only member of last year's team in school the prospects for a successful season seem very bright; as the fall tournament brought out many excellent players, who will make good material for the team. The courts will probably be in shape by the first part of next term.

Five men will probably be taken to New Haven and to Cambridge to the interscholastics. A squad of ten or fifteen will be selected during the early part of next term, based mainly on the results shown last fall. An elimination tournament will then be held between the members of the squad. The five making the best showing in this will then be sent to New Haven.

Philo Meeting

With the business meeting this evening, Philo will close one of the most successful terms it has had in recent years. Both in the quality of the debates, speeches from the floor, select readings, etc., and in the number of members and visitors who have attended the meetings, a decided improvement has been shown. On an average, two members have been added each Wednesday, and the total enrollment of the Society is now nearly half again as numerous.

At the meeting this evening the question of dropping members for inattendance, the reading of the officers' reports, and general routine business will be attended to. In addition officers for the spring term will be elected. Those who have not attended regularly should be sure to be present, so that they may vote on the officers for next term. The officers for this term are: President, H. R. Seward; secretary, R. T. Bushnell; treasurer, G. P. Murdock.

Rifle Club Practice Omitted

The work of the Rifle club has been omitted this week to give more time for preparation for the examinations and also because many of the members have not yet obtained written permission from their parents or guardian to use a rifle. This permission will be absolutely necessary before anybody can use a rifle at gallery practice. It can readily be seen that this rule must be strictly enforced to avoid all possible errors that might arise from the fellows using guns without the knowledge or consent of their parents. The rifles furnished the school by the government at a minimum price will be on hand at the beginning of next term, when the work at the galleries will commence. Qualification tests will also be held, which will be made sufficiently simple for everybody to pass, who knows how to handle a gun properly.

DR. BOYNTON AT INQUIRY

A Large Number Hear Interesting Talk on the War

Dr. Boynton was given an enthusiastic reception at the meeting of the Society of Inquiry last Sunday evening. In introducing the speaker, Gleason remarked that we, like Oliver Twist, desired more of Dr. Boynton. The substance of his speech was somewhat as follows:

We are at present in the best part of life. The youth of the present day are to be congratulated for the experience they are sure to enjoy and at the same time cautioned lest they enter life too heedlessly. We are soon to see a revolution of the world, a revolution of the church, of the school and of the state. In all probability these changes will take place during the next twenty-five years. We have witnessed a revolution of thought which was characterized by two dominating ideas, one, the old idea, that truth is static, the other, the new thought that truth is dynamic, that truth is not motionless but spreads through all and gives the world higher understandings.

In the interests of universal peace I and several other gentlemen started to Lake Constance this summer. We supposed that our influence would bring about the desired condition of affairs. We supposed that we had only to issue a pronouncement and the quarreling nations would put away their accoutrements of war. While riding to Paris in the day coaches, for there were no sleepers, we saw on each station platform great rows of straw. We could not at first imagine what they were for but as the sun arose we made them out to be men, sleeping. As we progressed, we saw that each bridge and every switch was guarded by a soldier. We realized that the order for mobilization had been given during the night. At Paris we found no cabs as all the horses had been commandeered for the war. The streets were full of young men singing and cheering and Sunday as we came out of church we saw a large company of cuirassiers drawn up. At that point money gave out and we were compelled to fall back upon non-negotiable checks. My friends and I left Paris with but a small amount of cash in our pockets and took a steamer at Havre for home. That was my first introduction to war and it has made me very much interested in the war and some of its outcomes.

At almost every dinner in New York there is one type of speaker who arises. He says that the war will be over inside of a year and that America will then hold its strongest commercial position. This sort of speaker always is loudly applauded. Is it the last thing to be said about us that we are going to have business prosperity? When peace has at last been declared, there will inevitably arise situations which will prevent commercial supremacy from occupying our thoughts. There is going to be a sea-power at the close of this war. There is a sea-power now but it is a sea-power which has always worked fraternally with us. If England is victorious we will have a strained situation in regard to

THE ANDOVER PRESS

With this issue the Senior Board of Editors resign from their duties as members of the Phillipian staff, and the 1916 men take charge.

The year has been a difficult one in many respects, and, although the editors realize that many errors of various types have occurred, they hope and believe that the paper has bettered materially and has been of greater service to the student body than in previous years.

Never before have so many communications from the students and graduates of Andover been received and printed as during the past year. This is because the editors have sought to make the paper one in which school matters could be discussed by all interested. In this at least, promoting school discussion of school topics, the editors think they have succeeded.

And now the present management turn over their charge to the 1916 Board, fully confident that the latter will perform their duties as faithfully and as well.

It is well for the serious-minded students to keep in mind the fact that this June the annual preparatory school conference will be held at Northfield, Mass. The Andover delegation increased last year to twenty members as opposed to the six who attended the conference in 1913. This conference is not a conference devoted wholly to the discussion of the Bible. It is all comprehensive. Besides the deep religious note which is at the bottom, there is a serious, healthy, normal mode of life. The mornings are devoted to the discussions of questions which are fundamental and absorbing. The afternoons are spent in sport or in various other forms of enjoyment. The evenings are given over to the real appreciation of religion and to the consecration of self to tasks which need our aid.

For men who are about to enter college the experience which Northfield gives is invaluable. College men from the entire East are present at the conference. They do not keep their own exclusive company but encourage the various preparatory school delegations to mingle with them. The men from the colleges who go there are the leaders. They are the ones who have realized that, after all, the basic principles of life cannot be neglected. It is well to get in touch with such men.

For men who are to return to school the lesson which Northfield teaches, is as great. The great truths which are discussed, the fine tone of fellowship which obtains, make a man feel petty and small to return to school and not take part in the reform of matters which need subversion.

There are those who maintain that the time spent at Northfield would keep them from the pleasures which they expect to derive from their home vacation. The ten days spent in that place would more than atone for the few extra days of idleness, with no result or benefit. We must realize, sooner or later, that we cannot drift along in the way of trivial, selfish enjoyment. The sooner we come to meet the big men who assemble at Northfield, the bigger and more sweeping will be the effect upon our life.

Communication

It was my good fortune to be present at the last Sunday morning service in the Phillips Chapel. As I listened to the fine singing, by the choir, of the Gloria in Excelsis, I wondered if the students realized how much their singing added to the impressiveness and enjoyment of the service.

The congregational singing of the hymns, led by the choir, was truly inspiring. Appreciative thanks are extended through the Phillipian, both to Mr. Pfatfeicher for his unflagging interest, and marked success as Musical Director, and to the boys—especially those of the choir—who bear such fine testimony to the worth of the musical training they are receiving.

PRIZES

The following prizes are offered annually for proficiency in the work of the several departments. It would be a good plan for students to keep these prizes in mind and plan their studying accordingly.

IN ENGLISH

The Draper Prizes for Selected Declamations, founded in 1866 by the late Warren F. Draper, of the class of 1843, of Andover. Prizes of twenty dollars, of twelve dollars, and of eight dollars are awarded. The competition is open to all students. A preliminary trial before a committee is held early in May, the final competitors being chosen on the basis of the best rendered selections. The forty-seventh competition occurred June 11, 1913.

The Means Prizes for Original Declamations, founded in 1867 by the late William G. Means, of Boston. Prizes of twenty dollars, of twelve dollars, and of eight dollars are awarded. Students in any class may compete. Ten are selected for the final competition by the judges who later act as a committee of award, the prizes being given on the merits of both composition and delivery. The forty-sixth competition was held May 1, 1913.

The Harvard-Andover Prizes, sustained since 1889 by the Harvard-Andover Club. Two prizes are offered, one of fifteen dollars and one of ten dollars, for excellence in English literature and composition, including the more practical topics of Elementary Rhetoric. The competition is open to members of the Senior and Middle classes.

The Robinson Prizes for Debate, founded in 1896 by Mr. H. S. Robinson, of Andover, are open to members of the two debating societies, Philo and Forum. A prize of thirty dollars is awarded to the representatives of the society presenting the better argument, irrespective of the merits of the question. Each society selects three men to represent it in the debate. The eighteenth competition occurred April 7, 1913.

The John Aiken Prizes in German will be awarded this year to the Senior or Middler of either Classical or Scientific department, passing the best examination based upon the following requirements:

1. Questions on that period of German History from 1865 to the death of Bismarck in 1898.
2. Questions on the geography of Germany.
3. Questions upon the Life and Works of Lessing.
4. A passage of German prose or poetry for translation into English.

The requirements for these prizes vary each year. The winner of the first prize will receive thirty dollars, while the winner of second prize will receive twenty dollars. A member of the class of 1873 sustains these prizes in memory of John Aiken, a member of the board of trustees from 1845-1863.

South America, a situation which will demand a large navy, larger than we have in sight for many years to come. For if that sea-power should wish to expand our problem would be great. After all the South American republics are not so sure that they want to be defended. They have lately desired to manage their extra sea matters themselves. Our intimate relationships are not in South America. They are bound closely to the old world. If we make the choice of having our fundamental interest in South America, we are going to make that choice between a crude situation and a crude population and refined situation and a refined population.

The years to come will be full of difficulties, difficulties which will knit us together by the common bond of national loyalty as we have never joined together before. It was a remark of Walt Whitman's that shows our real nation. He said, "America is in danger of developing a very large body and a very small soul." It was also a remark of Whitman's which brought forth this reply from Sidney Lanier, the southern poet, "You cannot make a republic out of muscles, prairies and mountains, republics are made of spirit."

The days before us are full of interest and full of interrogation as well. We won't be saved by business prosperity. We must give ourselves to the service of our country with a new, brave, Christian loyalty. You, the students, must be blamed if America is lost, but we all think that it will not be lost. For you have the greatest time to deliberate whether America should develop ideals or whether America should develop her commerce alone. The keynote to this whole situation which looms up before us is the fact that republics are saved by spirit, that republics can't be built out of plains, rocks, and iron.

Captain Radford of the Exeter track team has left school. Potter will captain the team in his place.

O ANDOVER BOYS:

A great many boys are unable to make progress in large classes. This is usually due to the lack of early training which prevents a proper understanding of each day's lesson or to absence from classes because of illness, etc.

For the above reasons a number of boys are compelled to leave Phillips Andover Academy each year. To these boys we offer an opportunity to make up work in which they are deficient and return to Andover. By our methods of private tutoring and small class instruction, such boys can be advanced rapidly. We are well situated at Tarrytown on the Hudson, where we can accommodate twenty-five boys and fifteen masters. A booklet of Blake Country School will be mailed upon request.
