LOWELL DEFEATED

Andover Wins From Lowell Textile in Close Game—Score 5-3.

Last Wednesday afternoon, the Varsity Baseball Team scored its second straight victory, this time the Lowell Textile school being defeated 5 to 3. The game was close and exciting throughout, the Lowell team fighting hard all the time.

Again Wilson's pitching was one of the features of the game, he striking out four men although he pitched only the last two innings. Davis, the Lowell pitcher, showed very good form also, and would have won most games with the pitching he turned in. But for a couple of untimely errors on the part of the Lowell men the game would undoubtedly have gone into extra innings as after the sixth inning, the Lowell pitcher settled down and held the academy nine safe in the last two innings. Boyd and Gordon were the only Andover men to hit Davis consistently, each of them getting a pair of singles, while Hazard and Wanamaker each got one hit.

Andover did not wait long after Lowell's start in the first, before getting busy herself; Wanamaker opened the third by getting to first on an error. He moved up one on Tracy's infield hit which which was fumbled and after advancing to third while Robinson and Allen were going out, scored on a hit by Captain Faherty. Boyd then came through with a hit scoring Tracy; but the inning was ended when Faherty was caught stealing. Andover scored again in the fourth when on Hazard's triple, followed by a single by Gordon, and an error on Tracy's hard grounder, they got two more men around. One more run was added in the sixth, but that ended the scoring for the afternoon.

Davis, Morrill and Hart starred for the visitors, each of the latter two getting a hit, and putting up good game in the field.

CLASS BASEBALL

In a rather loosely played game, the seniors defeated 1918 by the score of 8 to 6. The lead changed hands several times during the game and when the seniors came to bat in the last half of the last inning the score stood 6 to 6. Horgan led off with a two-bagger and Thomas, pinch hitting for Falvey, landed on the ball for a home-run, winning the game for the seniors and placing them in first place.

Last Thursday afternoon on the Old Campus the 1917 baseball team won a complete victory over the 1919 team, by the score of 10 to 0. The losers were greatly handicapped by the loss of Gowans, Stover, Rubsamen, Field, and Braden, who were taken back onto the varsity squad.

Fourteen hits and ten runs were made by 1917 off Tuggle, the '19 pitcher. Few errors were made by either side but those made by '19 were very costly, letting in several runs. The best hits in the game were two-base hits made by Stohn '17 and Havey '17. The only hit made by '19 was a single by Quong in the third inning.

GAME TODAY

Andover Plays Princeton Fresh in Third Game of Season.

The Princeton 1919 baseball team will be the Varsity's opponent in the third game of the season, to be played on Brothers Field at 3 o'clock this afternoon, weather permitting.

The Andover lineup will be the same as in last Wednesday's game with the exception that Crane will be back in center field, and that either Wilson or Murphy will pitch. The return of Crane to the lineup will strengthen the team greatly, both in batting and fielding. Captain Faherty will again take care of third base, Boyd short-stop, Allen second base and Hazard first. Gordon, Crane, and either Robinson or Davis will play in the outfield. Tracy will again do the catching.

As Exeter defeated Princeton yesterday afternoon, 10 to 2, it is hoped that Andover can do as well against them to-day.

The lineup follows:

ANDOVER		PRINCETON FRESH
Allen, 2b	3b., Bade
Faherty, 3b.	c.f., Page
Crane, c.f.	r.f., Russel

Tech Club Takes Trip

Last Wednesday afternoon about fifteen members of the Andover Tech Club went to Boston to see the Technique Rush and inspect the new Tech buildings on the Charles River basin.

A procession of Tech students, headed by a band and an auto truck marched from the Rogers Building on Boylston Street to the scene of the "Rush" back of the Copley Plaza Hotel. Here at a given signal, a fierce scramble ensued for the possession of the first twenty "books" which were thrust through a slot in the top of a very substantial block-house which was securely anchored on piles. The "books" consisted of numbered slabs of board, which could be later exchanged for the corresponding copy of the "Technique."

From the rush, the Andover men went to the new buildings on the Cambridge side of the Charles. They were escorted by five Tech undergraduates headed by Thomas D. Brophy, who has charge of the undergraduate part in the great celebration which is to be held on June 12 to 14, 1916, when the new buildings are to be dedicated.

Although the new building consists of many wings, they are all connected and under one roof. Built of gray limestone and located on a magnificent site on the banks of the Charles, looking across the river to Boston, the building is one of the most impressive in America. It is hard to realize its size until one has actually walked about in it. The wings, which look rather low from a distance, in reality extend four stories above ground and at least one below ground. In regard to length, after walking down a seemingly interminable corridor, one may come to another corridor at right angles to the first

MIRROR REVIEW

At last the long deferred April Mirror is to appear. As regards this issue several things may be fittingly said. There are several good features—also several not so good. By far the best individual piece is the poem by H. S. Fay, entitled Miracles. In it the writer seems to show a real feeling for rhythm, a rather uncommon thing for a contribution to a prep school publication. The theme is light and humorously treated. The words are fairly well chosen. All in all it is a very creditable piece of work.

Two more poems from the same pen that wrote Miracles appear in this issue. One is called Stars and Astronomers, the other bears the title, The Dead. Both are well handled and show marked promise.

R. H. Bassett contributes a narrative of somewhat greater length and burden than usual. The plot is fairly original, and tolerably well developed. But its length is too great, and this must stand against its other good points. F. H. Dowd is the author of two brief poems of average merit.

H. J. Hamerslag, a new aspirant to literary fame, contributes a cleverly written sketch entitled For France. P. K. Thomas writes another war story of the usual character. The plot is not striking in itself but it is well written and deserves as much praise as his former contributions. The editorials of the issue are timely and that is all. Their criticism should be left to those who care to read them.

On the whole the issue is a good one, but we may hope for better in the future.

A new rule has been made by the Faculty regarding smoking in the grill. Boys under sixteen years of age may not smoke there at all, and cigarettes are not to be sold to those under eighteen. This rule is one that has long been forthcoming, and will bring about a much-needed change. One of the things which has made the grill much criticised is the fact that one can see there at any time of the day students who have not yet attained the age and size when smoking is not harmful, smoking pipes and cigarettes. A rule like this, strictly enforced, is an improvement which is undoubtedly one that all right-thinking men and boys will believe in and help along.

With the formation of an undergraduate committee to encourage enlistments, the plan for the naval cruise has been formally launched, at Harvard. The scheme has of necessity been late in getting started and is handicapped by the short time left in which to interest college men. The naval cruise is as important as the Plattsburg camps, for the navy is almost entirely lacking in a reserve force. From the personal side, the war games, the participation in manoeuvres with the battleships, and the cruise along the New England coast make the scheme exceedingly attractive.

Mirror Prize Awarded

The judges in the George X. McLanahan prize contest, have, after careful deliberation, decided to award the prize of fifteen dollars to Hurxthal F. Frease. Mr. McLanahan has been accustomed in the past to offer generously money awards in behalf of the Mirror. During the last few years he had discontinued the custom on account of the somewhat poor standard of the publication, but now that the Mirror has risen he has renewed his generosity and offered the prizes as before.

The competition was open to members of the entire school. The stories submitted were not to exceed two thousand words in length, and great emphasis was laid on the originality of the plot. Mr. Arthur W. Leonard and Mr. Claude M. Fuess of the faculty acted as judges. The story entitled Hard Copper by Ezra Applesed, alias H. F. Frease, was finally awarded the first prize. Of the fairness of the judges' choice the student body may judge in the May issue of the Mirror where the story will appear.

The Mirror Board wishes to take this occasion to tender its appreciation of the kind services of Mr. Leonard and Mr. Fuess, whose faithful work was carried on under trying conditions.

Brown Night

This evening at seven thirty o'clock, representatives of Brown University will give an entertainment at the Peabody House. It will be in the form of vaudeville, and several performers will take part. There will be a ventriloquist, a magician, and a male quartet will render several selections. Mr. Taber, who holds the world's record for the mile run, amateur, and late Rhodes scholar at Oxford will speak. Several interesting stereopticon views will be shown by Mr. McLoughlin. The admission is free, and all students are cordially invited. The Brown members of the Faculty will also be present. It will be a very interesting evening, and it is hoped that many of the fellows will attend. While Brown University is not very well known at this school, and the Andover men there are few, this entertainment affords an excellent chance for the students here to learn more of Brown, and also to see a fine entertainment.

Music Notes

The prelude to-morrow at the morning service will consist of variations on St. Theodulph. The anthem will be "Rejoice in the Lord" by Novello.

At the vesper service the preludes will be by Max Reger, and "The Voice of Rejoicing and Thanksgiving" is to be the anthem.

Phillipiana

John Franklin Hager, Jr., ex-'16, is now pitching for the University of Virginia. He played first base on the Andover team for two years. Two Andover men, Cummings and Flynn, both '15, were with the Harvard Freshman track team. Ludwig Moorehead, '14, Harvard '18, was also up from Harvard to watch the meet. He made his "A" in track at Andover. William Ryan, '15, was in town Saturday. James Hardy Ropes, '85, Harvard '89, Hollis Professor of Divinity and Dean in charge of the University Extension Association at Harvard, presided at the last session of the conference of the National University Extension Association which was held in Chicago on April 14. Mr. Ropes is one of the trustees of Phillips Academy. Marlborough Churchill, '96, Harvard '00, captain in the U. S. Army, has resigned from the position of secretary and treasurer of the "Field Artilleryman Journal," which he has filled for the last year and a half. Since his resignation he has been an observer with the French army.

Exeter Notes

Last Saturday on Plimpton Field Exeter defeated the Yale Freshman baseball team, 5 to 4. The Exeter team got an early start, scoring two runs in the second inning on singles by O'Doherty and Hester and a triple by Dana. In the seventh Yale scored four runs on four errors, a hit, and a base on balls. In the eighth inning Exeter scored two runs when Captain Martin led off with a single, and Greene and Coll also singled, Mc-Namara sending in two men by a double to right. DeVitalis pitched well throughout the game, striking out ten men. Captain Martin and White played well for Exeter, while Lynch starred for the Freshmen.

The Exeter Rifle Club held its first match last Saturday under the direction of Mr. Crosbie. The scores were low, but the marksmanship will probably improve with practice. Rifles were furnished, but all who shot had to furnish themselves with cartridges. A meeting for the election of officers is to be held soon. The club is in possession of two ranges at present. The rules are quite similar to those of the Andover club. Only low-power rifles of twenty-two calibre are allowed.

Last Saturday Exeter's relay team lost the one-mile preparatory school relay championship of America, finishing third to Mercersberg and St. Albans Academy of Washington. St. Albans came within a second and a fifth of the world's record established four years ago by Exeter.

Exeter lost its first crew race Saturday on the Salt River to Huntington School. Although defeated, the Exeter crew showed up very well, considering the small amount of practice, the men having Hard luck seems to be following around the teams at Exeter this spring. Capt. Martin was kept out of the Princeton Freshman game, and Capt. Wakem will be unable to run against the Harvard Freshman this afternoon and possibly will be unable to run in the Harvard Interscholastic next Saturday on account of water on the knee.

Cut in Baseball Squad

Coach Quinby has again altered the baseball squad, taking on several men who have improved their scholarship standing and who were on the squad at the beginning of the year. Dean was also taken on to the squad from the 1916 class team. The following now compose the squad:

- | | |
|---------|----------|
| Tracey | Crane |
| Wilson | Murphy |
| Boyd | Faherty |
| Hazard | Munger |
| Brennan | Allen |
| Gordon | Warren |
| Davis | Cooley |
| Sherman | Robinson |
| Ashley | Stover |
| Gowans | Rubsamen |
| Braden | Dean |

Quarter-mile Trials

Yesterday afternoon trials were held for those who were out for class track and desired to try out for the quarter-mile, as the varsity is greatly in need of quarter-milers. About twenty candidates competed and some did very well. As a result of the trials, Cook, Williams, and Stevenson were chosen to work with the varsity for the present.

Military Notice

There are perhaps many men who are intending to go to the military training camps next summer who have not as yet signed up for the drills which are held in the gymnasium every Wednesday evening. To join this company is not compulsory nor is any attendance taken. However, a great opportunity is offered through them to learn the fundamentals of drilling before arriving at camp, and by knowing this there is a chance that some non-commissioned officer's position might be secured by Andover men. This afternoon after the baseball game those who are interested in taking a hike will leave for a long tramp through the neighboring country. All who are going to participate in this hike are asked to bring their own supplies and to have secured excuses before their departure.

Lacrosse Notice

Captain Dean of the lacrosse team wants a few more men to come out for lacrosse for the rest of the term. The team is much handicapped by the ineligibility of several of its players. There is plenty of time to learn the game before the close of the season, and it is hoped that more men will report for this sport Monday.

Princeton Notes

At a meeting of Princeton's aquatic athletes last Wednesday at Princeton, C. H. Burchenal, 1917, of Cincinnati, was elected captain of the swimming team for the following year, and C. H. Latrobe, 1917, was elected captain of the water polo team.

Dartmouth Football Practice

Capt. B. O. Gerrish '17 of the Dartmouth football team, met about thirty men on Wednesday at Alumni Oval for the first spring practice. It is expected that the squad will be augmented to fifty before next Monday, when Head Coach Frank M. Cavanaugh will arrive to take charge. The candidates Wednesday spent the afternoon in passing and kicking the ball.

Military Instruction

By making military instruction a part of its regular curriculum, counting with other studies toward a degree, Princeton has sufficiently answered the disquieting rumors in circulation of late among the uninformed that it, as a university, was antagonistic to adequate national preparation for meeting the possibility of war. In harmonious action, too with several other colleges the course of instruction in this highly important subject has now been standardized, a fact which will be of material assistance to the remaining educational institutions that can confidently be expected to join the movement.

and running as far in both directions, and from these, still others lead off. The difficulty in realizing the size of the building is due in part at least to the lack of nearby objects of familiar size with which it may be contrasted.

The classrooms, of which there seem to be an enormous number, are excellently lighted by very large windows extending the entire length of the room on one side. Large black boards extend around the other three sides as a rule. In a single one of these rooms, twelve men were at work, and in almost every part of the building were groups of from three to a dozen workmen, so that the total number employed must be very large. The way in which every part of the building seems to be reaching completion at about the same time, is a fine tribute to the executive ability of the contractors, Stone & Webster, both M.I.T. '88.

Besides the classrooms, of course there are numerous laboratories of all sorts, lecture rooms of the latest type etc. The central library, under the great dome, is the central feature about which the rest of the building is grouped.

Chapel

The preacher at chapel next Sunday morning will be Rev. D. Brewer Eddy of Boston. Mr. Eddy graduated here in '94 and is active as an alumnus. His Yale class was '98. For some time he was engaged in Y.M.C.A. and pastoral work and for the past ten years he has served as associate secretary of the American Board of Foreign Missions. Two years ago, in Mr. Stackpole's absence, Mr. Eddy was Acting School Minister.

The speaker at the vesper service will be Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham, D.D., minister of Arlington Street church, near the Public Garden in Boston. Dr. Frothingham is a Harvard man and is at present a member of the Board of Preachers at Harvard. He has preached several times here in recent years.

Harvard Track

Nine trials were held at Harvard by Coach Donovan in the half-mile, mile, and two-mile events Tuesday. In the half, Biddle came in first, followed by Donahue. Campbell took the mile easily, Townsend and Hollis being second and third respectively. The two-mile race was won by Davison with Whitehouse second and King third.

It looks as if Harvard would be represented by a championship team this spring on the diamond. With the third base position filled well, there is not another place which is weak with the possible exception of the catching position. Harte has been performing very well here, but there is not a single capable substitute to fill his position should he be forced to retire.

Harvard Second Tennis Team Schedule
