BLUE SWIMMERS LOSE TO HUNTINGTON TEAM 31-34 IN FAST MEET

Pool Record In Breaststroke Broken By Heyward Of Invaders

EXETER MEET NEXT WEEK

Competition With Worcester Today; Conflict Away From School; Line-up Slightly Changed

The Andover swimming team lost its meet here Wednesday to the Huntington School, 34-31. The competition was closely contested, with the results hinging on the final event, the 200-yd. relay. The Blue aggregation was disqualified when one of its members jumped the start, and both that event and the whole meet went to the invaders.

One of the more exciting moments of the afternoon was the 50-yd. freestyle. Connelly of Huntington was slated to win without much difficulty, and although he did take first, Griffin was close behind all the way, allowing him only a foot or so at the finish. Heyward of Huntington broke the pool record in the 100-yd. breaststroke after a spectacular swim, two-thirds of which was under water. His time was 1 minute 9 3-5 seconds against the old pool record of 1 minute 11 1-5 seconds. In the 200-yard freestyle the tables were turned around with Connelly giving Rafferty of Andover a run for his money and finally losing the race by a very short distance. In the 100-yard freestyle Cushman of Andover fought neck and neck with Heyward and finally nosed him out for second place, Wingate having taken first.

The Blue mermen will meet the Worcester team at Worcester this afternoon for the seventh and last meet before the Exeter contest

W. O. Davis, acting president, says that the club lacks practice, but nevertheless prospects against Exeter look fairly bright. There has

REV. THEODORE SPEARS WILL PREACH SUNDAY

One Of Principal Speakers At Blairstown Conference Last Summer

TO SPEAK TO S. OF I. TOMORROW EVENING

Rev. Theodore C. Spears, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Utica, N. Y., will be the preacher at the chapel service tomorrow morning. Mr. Spears, a graduate of Union Theological Seminary, has been very popular as a speaker at various preparatory schools. He gave three addresses at the Blairstown Conference last summer. He is planning to meet a group tonight at the Log Cabin after the movies and is to talk before the Society of Inquiry tomorrow evening.

BOOKS ON FINE ARTS IN LIBRARY DISPLAY

Varied Volumes Comprise Gift From Carnegie Corporation Of New York

On exhibition in the library are many art books, the gift of the Carnegie Corporation of New York. There are some 140 volumes in this set, and they are intended to be used by secondary schools for all sorts of research in the fine arts. They are not too technical, so that even the novice can read them profitably. These books include every sort of art imaginable, from painting, sculpture, and design, to costumes, drama, textiles, and ornamentation. In addition to the books themselves, many reproductions of famous works of art were donated, which at present are in the Addison Gallery.

In the first two cases which are seen when first entering the library, are volumes dealing with tapestries, Greek sculpture, and Mediaeval art in general. These books are all profusely illustrated with splendid plates.

In the remaining two cases at the back of the room are examples of woodcutting, with an especially fine volume, The Modern Woodcut, renaissance paintings, and modern art. Only a few of the many volumes are on exhibition, but the re-

A large gathering of Andover alumni, in honor of Dr. Claude M. Fuess, Headmaster, will be held on Wednesday evening, March 7th, 1934, at the University Club, 40 Trinity Place, Boston. This dinner is being held as a result of widespread interest on the part of Andover men throughout the United States in Dr. Fuess's administration on Andover Hill. Enthusiastic dinners have already been held in Minneapolis and Chicago. The New York dinner will take place on March 16th, and there are other prospects in cities of the Middle West.

The Toastmaster at the Boston Dinner will be Professor James P. Baxter, 3rd, P. A. 1910, Master of Adams House, Harvard College, and the guests of honor will be, besides Dr. Fuess, Mr. Delmar Leighton, Dean of Freshmen at Harvard College, and Professor Alan Valentine, Master of Pierson College and Chairman of the Board of Admission at Yale University. Little Women, the greatest screen success of last year, will be shown in George Washington Hall tonight. Louisa May Alcott's famous story has lost none of its sincerity and genuineness in being cinematized; it has, on the contrary, been called by critics one of the best movies yet produced. It is the story about four sisters, Beth, Meg, Amy, and Jo March, played by Jean Parker, Frances Dee, Joan Bennett, and Katherine Hepburn, respectively. Beth's passing away is the cause of a very touching scene, marvelously acted. All the parts are excellently cast, though Douglas Montgomery as Laurie is not quite as good as the rest of the players.

P. A. FENCERS LOSE TO GOVERNOR DUMMER

Morgan, Jones, Dimock Win; Final Score 6-3; Held Away From School

TEAM MEETS LOOMIS IN CONTEST TODAY

The Andover thrust and parry men lost a match six to three to the Governor Dummer team at South Byfield Wednesday. Hinckman, Hall, and King assured the victors of the necessary five bouts to win the match as Morgan, Dimock, Guerin, Randell, and Jones tried vainly to stave off defeat.

It was not until after Andover had taken two matches rather easily that the Governor Dummer landslide took place. Then the P. A. men dropped five matches in succession to lose all hope of winning or tying. At this point substitutions were made by both sides, and

BLUE WRESTLERS FACE NORTH QUINCY HIGH

Year Record Favors Opponents In First Meet To Include Nine Classes

The final wrestling meet before the Exeter contest will take place with North Quincy High School in the gymnasium at about three-thirty this afternoon after the basketball game.

Despite the fact that Quincy scored 14 points against Milton Academy and Andover scored only eight points, Coach Carlson and his team are not at all the under-dogs. The team has been rapidly improving and has two more weeks in which to prepare properly to meet the Red and Gray. In the meet this afternoon there will be nine classes for the first time this year. Ely will wrestle in the 105-lb. class. He has been wrestling on the class teams and has not been defeated in any of the inter-class meets. The Andover line-up will be as follows: 105-lb. class—Ely; 115-lb. class—Haverfield; 126-lb. class—Lederer; 135-lb. class—Stratton; 145-lb. class—Gosline; 155-lb. class—Bird (acting captain); 165-lb. class—Porter; 175-lb. class—Fletcher; and unlimited—Murray. There is a three-pound weight allowance. It is this fact that enables Fletcher to wrestle in the 175-lb. class.

HARVARD J. V'S LOSE TO BASKETBALL TEAM

Blue Scores Decisive Victory In Wednesday's Game With Crimson

NORTHEASTERN TODAY

Peel and Viens Star Offensively As Captain Kellogg Shines On Defense

Andover had little trouble on Wednesday in downing the Harvard Jayvee basketball team by the decisive score of 33-23. After the first period Andover was never behind, and its margin was increased steadily. Peel and Viens led the team offensively while Captain Kellogg was the bulwark on defense.

McLean started off the scoring by sinking a difficult side shot. Harvard retaliated immediately, and after an evenly fought first canto the Crimson led 6-5. During this period Andover was clearly out-passing its opponents but its shooting was inaccurate.

C. Kellogg gained the lead for Andover at the start of the second period, and from that point on, the Crimson never threatened. R. Peel entered the game mid-way through the half, and he made a very creditable showing, sinking three baskets out of his first three tries. Due to this remarkable shooting coupled with Andover's strong defense, the Blue were leading 16-8 at the half.

The last two periods served only to give Andover's reserves a chance to show their ability. They all exhibited great promise, and Moody, especially, played a fine game. Harvard was completely outclassed even in these last two quarters, and the game ended with them hopelessly behind 33-23.

Today Andover meets Northeastern. Grondahl who has been out for the past few games may see action this afternoon, but it is

ANDOVER TRACK TEAM OPPOSES ST. JOHN'S

Next To Last Meet Before Exeter Begins At 2:15 O'clock At The Cage

The Andover first track team will try its mettle against St. John's in the cage this afternoon at 2:15 o'clock. This is the next to the last track meet before the Exeter contest.

The Blue entries run as follows: 40-yd. dash: Fullan, Knapp, York, Kiley, Wolf, Olds; 40-yd. low hurdles: York, Rafferty, Kitchel; 300: Wolf, Kiley, Hay; 600: Furse, Stevens, Brayton, Hubbard; 1000: Horne, Watson, Fox, Robinson; Shot put: Wilder, Hite, Graham. Off: high jump: Hall, Sharretts, Hadley.

Andover Student Body Gains 2,543 Pounds Since Official Weighing In September

Strange as it may seem, the Andover student body has gained almost exactly a ton and a quarter since October. To be exact, two thousand five hundred and forty-three pounds of flesh and muscle have been gained by the school at large, in spite of the fact that as a group, eighty-two of the fellows, or about twelve per cent of the school, have lost two hundred and eighty-three pounds.

More men have gained seven pounds officially than any other weight, sixty having done that, but the two and four-pound gainers tie for second with fifty-nine apiece gaining that weight. Then come the five-pound gainers with fifty-four, the one-pound gainers with fifty, the six-pound gainers with forty-eight, the three-pound gainers with forty-six, the nine-pound gainers with twenty-five, and the ten-pound gainers with twenty-four.

Thirty kept their neutrality, neither gaining nor losing. Twenty-eight lost a pound, fifteen lost two pounds, and so on down until the champion weight-loser is reached, who achieved the feat of losing sixteen pounds, as opposed to the champion gainer, who took on twenty pounds, closely followed by a nineteen-pound gainer.

All this raving means that the average gain in weight of the An-

44% Of All P. A. Alumni Going To College Attend Yale University, Survey Shows

More graduates of Phillips Academy attend Yale University than any other college; Harvard and Princeton are next in order. This fact has long been known, but there have been no exact figures till now. Accordingly, the ten year period, 1923-1932, was studied, and averages taken. On this basis, out of a total of 1960 graduates, 1790 attended college; this figure amounts to slightly more than 91 per cent. Out of these, 44 per cent attended Yale, 16 per cent went to Harvard, 9 per cent to Princeton, and 6 per cent each to Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Dartmouth. The remainder were split up as follows: 3 per cent to Williams' and Amherst, about 1 per cent each to Brown, Cornell, and Michigan, and 11 per cent to all others. In other words, out of an average graduating class of 196 students, 77 go to Yale, 28 to Harvard, 16 to Princeton, 10 to Dartmouth and M. I. T., 6 to Williams, 5 to Amherst, 2 1-2 to Brown and Cornell, and 2 to Michigan. It must be remembered that these figures are merely averages, and vary greatly from year to year.

There is a noticeable trend toward the larger colleges. In the last few years the number choosing Yale and Harvard exceed the ten year averages, but on the other hand the smaller colleges seem to

Commoners

One of the most useful and pleasant suggestions of the year has been the transformation of the Junior Dining Hall from an empty, useless room into a common room for the use of the Seniors after meals. Now this hall is filled not at the Prom and tea dance times only, but continually by socially-minded undergraduates who wish to have a cup of coffee, a smoke, or a chat after their hasty lunch or dinner.

The "opening night" was a success, inasmuch as there were several present. During the last few times, however, there has been a noticeable decrease in attendance. To remedy this, we suggest that a radio, victrolas, sofas, and magazines be placed in the room for the Seniors' use and enjoyment.

We hope that this innovation will remain a success, for it will undoubtedly help to unify and make pleasant the life of the Senior class.

We Timidly Suggest

With the readers' kind permission THE PHILLIPIAN makes the following suggestions:

1. That the students arrive at chapel on time.
2. That those watching the Saturday night movies kindly refrain from unnecessary noise.
3. That the plumbing facilities in the gymnasium be improved.
4. That the present method for electing the soccer manager be changed.
5. That more board walks be placed on the campus.
6. That the readers of THE PHILLIPIAN patronize the advertisers.
7. That more athletic contests be arranged with prep schools rather than with college freshmen.
8. That those who carry books to Sunday chapel and read them during the service kindly have the courtesy to stop these indecencies.
9. That the Phillips Inn lower its prices.
10. That the administration arrange the excusing system so that it will not be necessary to hunt over the entire campus for a faculty member on concert and lecture nights in the absence of one's own house master.
11. That the Easter vacation be extended until a few days after Easter.
12. That a debate be held with Abbot.
13. That the grades of students in honor divisions be made, not according to the standing in the division, but according to the standing in the class.

Where's Oscar?

Mr. Shields has been kind enough to allow his much-applauded chapel speech to be published in THE PHILLIPIAN. Here are the experiences of Oscar:

"There are three small dormitories on the other side of Main Street: Andover, Eaton, and Pemberton. I live in Eaton, the middle one. The Infirmary is close by. I have a little friend who lives very near me: his name is Oscar. Oscar is decidedly nutty; not altogether because of the fact that he lives so close to me, but partly because he dwells in a tree and sometimes plays with the other squirrels.

"Just a trifle over a year ago Oscar opened his eyes for the first time in a nice, warm, fur-lined nest, but soon a very wicked northeaster came along, and Oscar was thrown to the ground, where he was found the next morning in a big puddle of rain water, so paralyzed from cold and hunger that he could hardly lift his head. A kind-hearted boy came along and took him in and fed him and looked after him until he became big and strong. We all got to know Oscar and he to know us, and he used to play about our rooms and eat out of our hands. When summer came along, we let him go, and he went to live in the grove with the other squirrels, and when we came back last autumn he hadn't forgotten us and he comes over to be fed and to call on us very often.

"But his life is not all a bed of roses, as the Williams Hall boys come up past where he lives and he lets them get so close to him that they feel very brave indeed and try to hit him with sticks. But despite the fact that all Williams Hall boys are most brave, their aim is not very good, so Oscar just scampers up into a tree and there he sits and tells them in squirrel language exactly what he thinks of them and all the other little hound dogs.

"Oscar is a very intelligent and inquisitive little squirrel and runs up and down the ivy on Andover, Eaton, Pemberton, and the Infirmary and peeks into the windows and rummages around the rooms if the windows are open: he says that there are not many radios in that end of the campus. Oscar learns very quickly, but he doesn't tell me much: he says I'm goofy because I'm a school teacher. He really knows a lot, that little friend of mine. He knows what time each boy gets up and which boys keep neat rooms and which are messy and careless. He knows just which rooms have good drafts in the fireplaces, and which boys break furniture and knock in the doors and destroy property just because it does not belong to them. Oscar can't understand this. He told me that the boys in one of the dormitories, broke a lot of windows with snow balls the other day and that they thought that it was very funny, but he didn't tell me who they were. He said that some of the boys down there swear terribly, but he just attributes that to poor taste and lack of intelligence.

"Oscar is quite a philosopher, but he does not understand a lot of things, so he comes up and sits on my window sill and curls his long, bushy tail back over his head and asks a lot of questions.

"He is very much interested in the poor sick boys in the infirmary and tells me that he goes up and peeks in the windows at them often and feels sorry for them. Oscar said that one day one of the boys in there, who didn't look very sick to him, just winked at him when he peeked, and a few minutes later another fellow came in and said, 'That old buzzard certainly gave a "wow" of an examination today,' and the fellow who had winked at my friend Oscar said, 'Oh, Boy, I certainly used my head that time!' Oscar couldn't understand that, and he wonders why there are seldom any boys in the Infirmary on Saturdays and holidays, and yet on Mondays and on the days of examinations there are so many that they have to put them on the third floor, because they can't smoke up there at least, so Oscar says.

"He did tell me that there was a boy down there who must be very bright because he has a lot of time to play and gets his studying done quickly. He just opens a book and

After its many years of existence, it is interesting to note that THE PHILLIPIAN has been officially recognized by the library. For the word, "Phillipian" was recently painted in large black letters on the office door in the basement. We sincerely hope that the other publications do not interpret this as an "unfriendly act."

Dancers at the Prom, while enjoying themselves to the fullest extent, were occasionally disconcerted by the great flares of light and the tinkling of broken light bulbs. The chances are good that it was only a Film Fun photographer.

A strange coincidence is the fact that the Andover Guild held a dance on Washington's birthday for English veterans.

The publishers of this year's Pot Pourri ballots made the most simplest mistake imaginable. They asked the most intelligentest people, Andover students, the most assinine question, who is the most wittiest teacher in the school.

The Hotchkiss Record published recently the results of ballots cast, which asked the students of that school what academy they would prefer to go to other than Hotchkiss. Andover should take pride in the fact that it was voted the favorite.

The psychology of the younger "townies" appears to be very poor. When a student is going down town, the "townies" throw snowballs at him with evil intentions. Yet, when the same person is returning, they ask him for a penny.

On humanitarian principles there should not be so much divulging of Oscar, the squirrel's, secrets. Some fine day on account of his revelations, he is likely to come to an untimely end.

In view of the recent interest in Esperanto, it is interesting to know that this international language received its name when its inventor, the Russian physician, Dr. Zamenhof, published a treatise on the subject and signed it "Dr. Esperanto," meaning "hopeful."

A number of days ago a steep, difficult hill was being used by only one skier. This person took a bad spill and seriously cut his head. In a very few moments a large crowd was doing its best to do the same.

One often reads how during a sand storm the tiny particles find their way through the smallest of cracks, but it is seldom that one hears of such a thing occurring during a snow storm. However, in the last storm little piles of snow collected on the inside of a number of tightly-closed windows in Samuel Phillips Hall.

The following is a quotation from a heeler's preview of the movie, Little Women: "Little Women is the story of four sisters of Civil War time, of their development and experiences. Meg determines not to marry, changes her mind and has twins."

writes some words from another book between the lines in the first book and then, after his room-mate has spent an hour figuring out something on a piece of paper, this boy writes down the same thing and then he is all through for the evening and starts to make a noise. Oscar wondered why it was, if he was so bright, that he was not allowed to go out in the evening, except once to the library. Oscar did say that about three o'clock one very windy morning he looked sleepily out of the hole in the big tree in which he lives and thought he saw the boy climbing into a window, and he felt very sorry for him indeed and hoped that he had not been hurt the way he had when the wind blew him out of his home. "Oscar is really a nice little squirrel, and I do hope that the Williams Hall boys will not throw any more sticks at him."

COMMUNICATIONS

To the Editor of THE PHILLIPIAN:

It seems to me that the poor unfortunate who reviewed the Averino concert is not getting a square deal. The indignant senior who was prompted to write a flaming communication proved nothing except his own musical ignorance. For although it cannot be denied that both Brahms and Liszt have produced some of the greatest music of all time, they have composed much that is definitely not first-rate. Also, let this same person remember that the "depth" of any piece of music depends as much upon the way it is rendered as the way it is written.

I wonder if the correspondent actually attended this concert. If he did, he would realize that although Mme. Averino's program was most enjoyable, as was asserted again and again in the review, it certainly was not a high point of music. I recently had the good fortune to attend an opera at the Metropolitan in New York, sung by truly great artists, and the comparison between them and Mme. Averino—well! there was no comparison.

What is to become of the freedom of the press? Is every performance, mediocre or excellent, to be "the most thrilling and inspiring concert that Andover has ever been privileged to witness?" Certainly such could hardly be called criticism.

As I see it, the review of the Averino concert seemed to be an attempt to render the impartial feelings of the reporter towards her singing. While admitting that the reporter was certainly no music critic, nevertheless I believe that such criticism is of more value than the type mentioned above.

Perhaps it might be a good plan to abolish all criticism. As it is, except for this one review, there has never been any indication that any performance was only fair. Certainly not all performances at Andover are letter perfect. Are we to tolerate columns and columns of meaningless praise? Certainly we must all agree that sincere criticism, even though it is harsh, is better.

P. A. '35

To the Editor of THE PHILLIPIAN:

There is certainly a great amount of letters sent and received on Andover Hill, and the method of delivery is a very good one. How much more pleasant it is to have one's mail placed in the entry of the dormitory than to have to collect it from a central office. However, the facilities for the sending out of letters seem to me to be rather small, and in one case the receptacle is poorly placed. I refer to the mail-box at the southeast corner of the west quadrangle. Just what the reason for its being so stationed is, I don't know; but it would seem to me that if its position were changed to a place near where the "Roaming Spa" used to stand, it would be much more accessible to the students. On the main part of the campus there are about four different mail-boxes. In view of the fact that there are some six hundred and fifty boys in this school, another box placed, perhaps, in the Commons would not be an extravagance.

P. A. '36

To the Editor of THE PHILLIPIAN:

THE PHILLIPIAN, as the school newspaper, is a means of expression for the student body. Its purpose is not only to give an account of events that have happened or that are about to happen, but also to represent and convey opinions, and to make constructive criticism or suggestions concerning school matters. Perhaps it is not known by the general run of students that anyone who wishes, whether he is heeling for THE PHILLIPIAN or not, may write a communication or editorial to be printed. All he has to do is to address his article to the Editor of THE PHILLIPIAN and hand it to some board member. If the opinions or suggestions are good and logical, his communication will find a place in some edition. It seems to me that it were much better for students to enter some complaint about the present conditions in this manner than to grumble and start a wave of discontent beneath the surface. Then, too, if a person knew his complaint was going to be put in print, he would be far more careful not to start a silly, groundless dissatisfaction.

P. A. '36

To the Editor of THE PHILLIPIAN:

In a recent issue of THE PHILLIPIAN appeared a communication urging that Honor Roll students be granted unlimited cuts as their Honor Roll privilege. May I inquire of the author of this letter whether he believes that Honor Roll students would be on the Honor Roll if they frequently cut classes?

Such a privilege as this would be of almost no use to the Honor Roll students. The majority of them, it is safe to say, would never take advantage of it at all.

It would seem apparent that other possibilities must be considered before a satisfactory solution is reached.

P. A. '35

To the Editor of THE PHILLIPIAN:

The move for better and newer movies for the school has been very keen during the term. Many suggestions have been made to improve the Saturday night movies. It has been suggested that they have a double feature, or at least obtain a film before it has circled the entire globe. However, the school's contract with its movie agent does not permit it to receive either of these two suggestions for the improvement of the movies.

I suggest that, since the school is unable to procure better movies at earlier dates, it will make Saturday evening a little more entertaining by providing good added attractions. The students greatly enjoy a Grantland Rice sport review and also a Mickey Mouse. Since enough Mickey Mouse films to supply the school every Saturday evening the whole year through are not made, an effort to get other comedies should be made. Even an occasional slap-stick comedy would be better than Betty Boop when Mickey Mouse isn't available. A Laurel and Hardy wouldn't be bad for a change.

Floating University To Sail On "Volendam" For 225-Day World Cruise To 60 Ports

With the whole world for a campus, the Floating University will set sail on October 4th next for its 1934-35 college year on a 225-day world cruise. Sixty-ports in thirty-four countries will be visited by the students.

Standard courses of university and preparatory grade will be conducted on shipboard in connection with the directed trips ashore. The curriculum will also include a course in navigation in co-operation with the officers of the Holland-America Liner Volendam, on which the university will sail. The educational features of the Floating University will be under the direction of Dean James E. Lough, former Dean of Men at New York University, who has been the leader in this field of education for the past eight years. The faculty will be composed of eminent professors from colleges and universities throughout the United States, and the student body will be enrolled from undergraduates in all parts of the country. A full year's college credit will be given for students taking the courses and passing the examinations.

The Board of Advisers includes Dr. Robert B. von KleinSmid, President of the University of Southern California; Charles F. Thwing, President Emeritus of Western Reserve University; Charles G. Maphis, Dean of the University of Virginia; George E. Howes, Dean Emeritus of Williams College; Elmore Petersen, Dean of the University of Colorado; and Ray B. Westerfield, Professor of Economics at Yale University.

As in all universities, athletics will play an important part in student life. The ship will be equipped with a gymnasium and swimming pool, and contests in various sports will be scheduled with college teams of Hawaii, China, Japan and other countries visited.

The usual college Christmas vacation period will find the Floating University in the East Indies after a fall term in the Philippines, Japan, China and the Strait Settlements. The second semester opens in India and continues as the ship sails on to the Mediterranean and Scandinavian countries before returning to New York in May.

Mr. Buck, Headmaster Of Berkshire School, Favors New Plan In Exclusive Article

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Seaver B. Buck, Headmaster of Berkshire School, has written this article for THE PHILLIPIAN in a series of articles on the College Boards by various headmasters.)

It is my belief that no system of examinations can ever be adequate as a test for the fitness of anyone to do anything. I frequently observe boys who do conspicuously good work in their college entrance examinations conspicuously failing to carry on successfully in college. This, of course, suggests the fundamental fact that the acquisition of certain knowledge which may prepare a boy to pass an examination does not mean that he has really learned how to work—which, after all, should be the chief end and aim of any so-called system of education. I consider of far greater value than any examination result the statement of a sound teacher that a boy knows how to apply his training to a new task.

As between the "Old" and "New Plan," I am all "for" the "New" for the following reasons: The removal, under the "New Plan," of all the examination pressure during the last three years of college preparation invites teaching rather than cramming. The distribution of evidence which results in the acceptance or rejection of a candidate among written examinations, school record, and recommendation of the Headmaster seems wholly sensible when compared with a system which leaves the determination very largely to examinations alone. A letter from Dr. Fuess or Dr. Perry, assuring me that I would be justified in receiving a certain boy into my school would carry much more weight than any examinations which the candidate might have passed. In other words, the testimony gained through examinations is often tricky and uncertain. The testimony of a sound educator is unequivocal.

Team B has proved to be the stronger of the two club teams. Yesterday the fifth meet took place, and as in the other four meets Team B won by an extremely one-sided score, this time 25 to 8.

The match results were as follows: 105-lb. class, Lardner (A) threw Tucker in 5.10; 115-lb. class, Bosler (B) threw Masback in 35 seconds; 125-lb. class, Clucas (B) threw Rounds in 2.28; 135-lb. class, Spitzer gained a time advantage over Wallace (Capt. B); 145-lb. class, Boswell (B) threw Bishop in 3.29; 155-lb. class, Rheinfrank (B) threw Perkins in three minutes; 165-lb. class, Wing (B) threw Sullivan in 2.13.

been started a round robin match between all the members, as yet unfinished, but the greater part of the players' practice comes from matching their wits against members of the faculty: Mr. van der Stucken, Dr. Eccles, Mr. Poynter, and Mr. Baldwin.

The Andover line-up is unchanged except for Cushman who will swim in place of Perry in the 200-yd. freestyle, DeWitt taking the former's place in the 100. Pringle of the opposing team is strong in both the 50 and 100-yard freestyle, having done them in 25 1-5 seconds and 57 seconds respectively. Rugen is an excellent diver and will give Kelley close competition.

The results of Wednesday's meet were as follows:

50-yd. freestyle: Won by Connelly (H); second, Griffin (A); third, Bowers (A). Time 25 seconds.

100-yd. breaststroke: Won by Heyward (H); second, Thomson (H); third, Campion (A). Time, 1 min. 9.3-5 sec.

200-yd. freestyle: Won by Rafferty (A); second, Connelly (A); third, Perry (A). Time, 2 min. 12.2-5 sec.

100-yd. backstroke: Won by Friel (H); second, Hurlbutt (A); third, McManus (A). Time, 1 min. 11.3-5 sec.

100-yd. freestyle: Won by Wingate (A); second, Cushman (A); third, Heyward (H). Time, 58 seconds.

Dive: Won by Kelley (A); second, Hook (A); third, Johnson (H).

150-yd. medley: Won by Huntington (Friel, Thomson, Robins): Andover (Weaver, Preston, O'Brien). Time, 1 min. 1 sec.

200-yd. relay: Won by Huntington (Coombs, McKay, Watson, Caulfield); Andover (Bowers, Kiphuth, Wingate, Griffin).

The line-up for this afternoon will be as follows:

50-yd. freestyle: Bowers, Griffin

100-yd. breaststroke: Campion, Cates

200-yd. freestyle: Rafferty, Cushman

100-yd. backstroke: Hurlbutt, McManus

100-yd. freestyle: Wingate, DeWitt

the teams divided the last two matches. The Andover substitutions were Randell for Dimock and Jones for Guerin.

The scores were Morgan (A) 5, Hall (D) 2; Dimock (A) 5, Hinchman (D) 1; Guerin (A) 1, King (D) 5; Hinchman (D) 5, Morgan (A) 3; King (D) 5, Dimock (A) 2; Guerin (A) 3, Hall (D) 5; Morgan (A) 3, King (D) 5; Randell (A) 2, Smith (D) 5; Jones (A) 5, North (D) 1.

The Blue fencers face a strong team from Loomis in Bulfinch Hall this afternoon. Coach Barss is confident of a win, banking especially on his epee team of Morgan, Dimock, and Guerin. Morgan, Lindsay, and Guerin or Dimock will probably compete in the foils. Jones, Randell, and Wickwire are likely spares.

be losing ground. This does not necessarily prove that small colleges are dying out, for the period of the survey is too short for privilege of conclusions.

Also noticeable is the fact that more and more students attend college. For instance, in 1923, out of a graduating class of 194, 154, or about 80 per cent, attended college, whereas in 1932, 188 out of 198, about 95 per cent, continued in the search for higher learning.

Mr. O. W. Allen of the Faculty of Phillips Academy in collaboration with Mr. A. le Rebeller, a Frenchman, has translated from the French Louis Fredric Rouquette's The Great White Silence, a story of his own experiences in Alaska and the Canadian Northwest. The author is a great admirer of Jack London and wrote the book in his style.

The book describes the beauty of the country and the stark, horrible terror of loneliness in the snows. The author encounters in that cold country various types of men and women, who furnish him with veritable human records. The brilliant style of The Great White Silence has not been lost in this excellent translation.

To the Editor of THE PHILLIPIAN:
If you want The Mirror to have more than two contributors from the student body, you must make the students conscious that there is such a publication as The Mirror, which is the literary output containing all the literary work in the school "that's fit to print." To do this I think it only right that the English Department should take the little time and the little trouble to forward the progress of this Andover literary supplement. Instructors should encourage writing. On the suggestion of the master good prose and poetry work should, with the consent of the author, which consent would not be hard to get, be submitted to the Editor of The Mirror; and, as this has been passed on by the English instructor, it will automatically go to press. Now with this plan it will be the job of the Editor to call on all the English professors and ask them for good, students' work which they have put aside for purpose of publication. You will be sure that it will be of good quality if submitted by them. To spur enthusiasm English masters could offer extra credit to those who would write material suitable for The Mirror. This will, after all, be legitimate, as any effort in English prose or poetry is bound to improve the writer's writing ability—a thing which all our masters are anxious to have us do.

Book reports and summaries could be submitted. Since we do not get a chance to read all the best-sellers, these would give us an idea of the story content in them. Personal views on today's news would be especially interesting in that they would give a fellow an idea of what the other fellow thinks.

Everybody is familiar with the dormitory "bull-sessions"—to call them such. These are really profitable and enjoyable as there is an exchange of viewpoints. This same thing could be accomplished through the medium of The Mirror. It will be a real throwing-back or reflection of opinions and personalities. "Bull-session" subjects, such as the next war, politics, future life, life after death, interesting experiences about which one would like to write, and personal beliefs, could be submitted. These need not be signed by the writer, and other anonymous authors could remark and dispute these ideas in a gentlemanly fashion. If there was much discussion, publications could be more frequent. In this way the whole student body will quickly gain interest in this project.

And another point. How about the English instructors themselves submitting articles? They certainly ought to be good, and we have not had much from our masters in this line. Let them lead the way in Andover literature! They should be able to write!

P. A. '35

To the Editor of THE PHILLIPIAN:
In view of the fact that the faculty has been recently considering privileges for Honor Roll students and has increased the scope of their rewards, I think it advisable to advocate some prize for Credit List students. These boys seem to be forgotten men here at Andover. Although they often earn higher averages than the students on the Honor Rolls, they are frequently held back by a single mark below seventy. It is discouraging to the students who barely miss out on the Honor Roll not to have some portion of the rewards that go to the boys above them. A logical recompense for such boys is to present them with one day at the end of vacation or an extended week-end during the term. I sincerely hope that the faculty will take some action to encourage these deserving boys who seem to be overlooked.

ELIZABETH CUSHMAN SOLOIST AT VESPERS

Concert Soprano Favorably Criticized Wherever She Has Appeared

Miss Elizabeth Cushman of West Newton, Mass., will be the guest soloist at the afternoon Vesper Service tomorrow at 5:15. Miss Cushman has been very successful as a concert singer in Boston and has received favorable criticisms everywhere she has appeared. A large number of students are expected to be present to hear such a talented soprano.

Miss Cushman's program will include "Oh, Divine Redeemer!" by Gounod, a setting of the ninety-first Psalm, and also a setting of "Fairest Lord Jesus."

GAULS AND ROMANS WIN CLUB SWIMMING MEET

Gaulic Tribe Leads Series With A Total Of 3 1-2 Points As Last Meets Approach

The Romans nosed out the Saxons 27-23, and the Gauls easily defeated the Greeks, 33-17, in the next to the last club swimming meet of the season Thursday.

In the Roman-Saxon competition the former squad took the 50-yd. freestyle, the dive, and the relay; while the Saxons won the breaststroke, the 100-yd. freestyle, and the backstroke. In the other meet the Greeks took the 50 and 100 yd. freestyle, while the Gauls won the remaining events. About the only remarkable speed was that of Howe who did the 50 in 4-5 of a second under numeral time.

The standing of the teams is now as follows: the Gauls have won 3, lost 1, and tied 1 for a total of 3 1-2 points; the Romans have won 3 and lost 2 giving them 3 points; the Greeks have won 2 and lost 3 giving them 2 points; and the Saxons have won 1, lost 3, and tied 1 for a total of 1 1-2 points. The next competition will decide the winner. If the Gauls obtain either a victory or a tie, they capture the series, but if the Romans succeed in defeating them, they win.

UNDEFEATED GAULS WIN BASKETBALL CROWN

Roman And Saxon Teams Lose In Final Contests Of Competition

The club basketball championship went to the Gauls on Friday night by dint of their six straight victories. In the last two games the Greeks beat the Romans 13-12, and the Gauls defeated the Saxons 12-10. Smith was the star in the former game while Craft and Conant were outstanding in the latter.

mainder can all be found in the bookcase, where the interested student can inspect them at will.

One particularly fine series is that of eight Renaissance painters. Each book deals very fully with one artist, and is illustrated by many faithful reproductions of his greatest works.

Communications

To the Editor of THE PHILLIPIAN:

The school administration should see to it that the quadrangle between Taylor and Bancroft is flooded. It would make an admirable hockey rink and provide a convenient place to skate for the occupants of the nearby halls. It is none too pleasant to walk the long distance to Poms or even Rabbits Pond on a very cold day. Then too, many who would like to skate have not enough time to go over to one of these ponds. Thus, if the place were flooded, many more could indulge more often in the pleasant and healthful practice of skating.

It would be relatively simple to flood this ground, and, once flooded, it would need no further attention for several weeks. To be sure, there is some ice on it at present, and a limited amount of skating is possible, but there is not enough for a hockey rink, and the ice is not very smooth.

Well over 200 boys live right next to this quadrangle, and several hundred more within a convenient distance. It would seem reasonable, therefore, that the school could well afford to make the small effort necessary. I feel sure that the entire student body would be most grateful.

To the Editor of THE PHILLIPIAN:

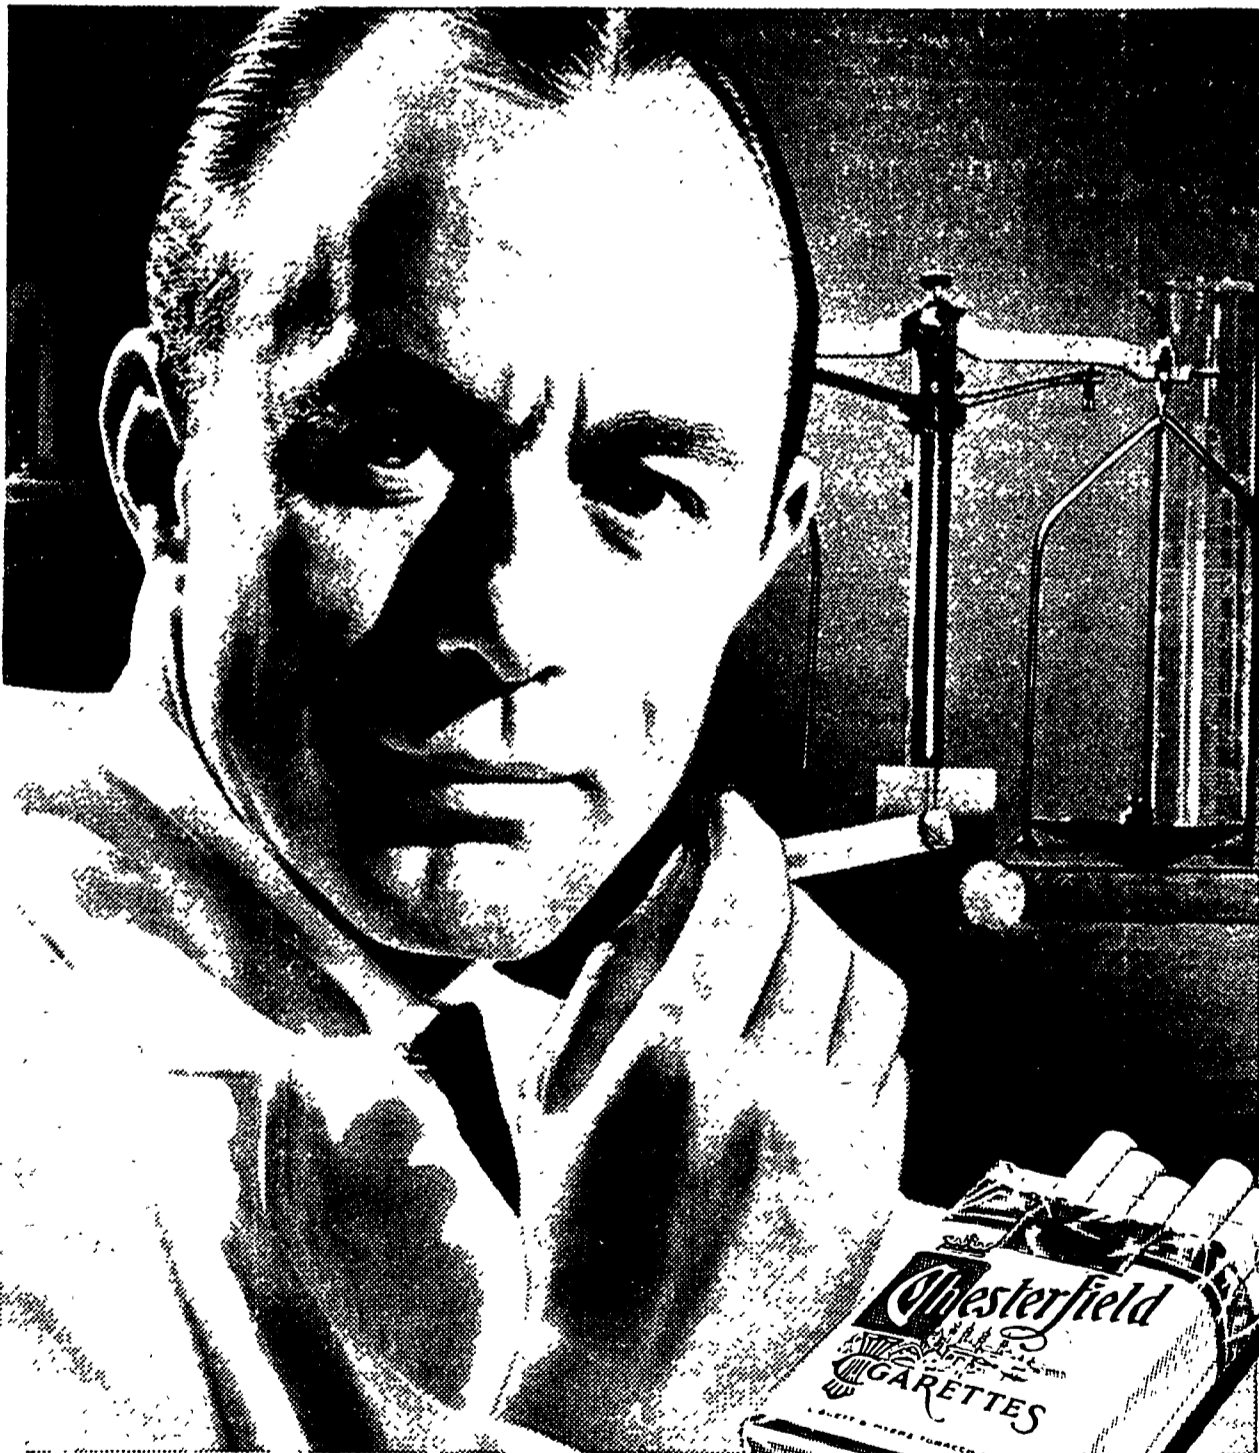

It has long been a part of the religious work of some of the East's leading preparatory schools to hold regular Sunday night hymn sings—voluntary and, in some cases, compulsory. These are always well-liked by the students, who sing only those hymns which appeal to them.

Of course it is impossible to tell how many would support such a Sunday night sing at Andover. One of the leading graduates of Phillips Academy, Phillips Lord, made a name for himself by organizing one on the radio. Would it not be possible to inaugurate a hymn-sing as part of the Society of Inquiry's Sunday night program? It could be held once a month, or as often as was deemed advisable.

If the school did not react favorably, this sing could be enlarged to include such other tunes as "The Long, Long Trail," "Smiles," or "I've Been Working on the Railroad."

Certainly the idea is worth a trial. There would be much to gain and nothing to lose.

- we believe you will enjoy them

You hear a lot today about balanced diet—

.. and there's something too in the way tobaccos are balanced that makes a cigarette milder and makes it taste better.

I keep coming back to that statement on the back of the Chesterfield package—

CHESTERFIELD

ARE A BALANCED BLEND OF THE FINEST AROMATIC TURKISH TOBACCO AND THE CHOICEST OF SEVERAL AMERICAN VARIETIES BLENDED IN THE CORRECT PROPORTION TO BRING OUT THE FINER QUALITIES OF EACH TOBACCO.
