GREW, SANBORN WILL RETIRE

Ten Faculty Members Plan To Leave This June

Ten Phillips Academy faculty members will leave Andover at the end of this school year, including Foreign Language Department Chairman James Grew and biology instructor George Sanborn, both of whom are retiring.

"Fine Place to Work"

Mr. Sanborn plans to move to Kennebunkport, Maine, while Dr. Grew will move to a home in North Andover. Mr. Sanborn commented, "I've been here for most of my working career, and I feel that PA is the best there is. It's a fine place to work."

Dr. Grew remarked, "I'm sorry to be leaving, particularly because of the coming of the new Headmaster. I think that the school will go places with him, but most of all, I'm sorry to leave the classroom and the kids."

Larger Slice

Some faculty members will leave PA to continue their education. Physics instructor Mark St. John will work toward a Masters Degree in Physics at either the University of Washington, the University of New Mexico, or the University of Vermont. Mr. St. John noted, "I'm leaving because I've been to PA, I've been to Princeton, and I want now to see a larger slice of the world. I also want to learn some more Physics and teaching skills. My two years here were fine, but I feel that I ought to move on. I also feel rather out of place being the youngest teacher on the faculty, and I'm not ready to settle down here yet."

Chairman of the Foreign Languages Department Dr. James Grew.

Conservative School

Biology instructor Henry Howe, who plans to do graduate work at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, pointed out several facets of the school which have bothered him. He commented, "As far as schools go, I think that institutions such as PA should become coeducational, try harder to understand minority claims, and provide more (Faculty Leave, Page 4)

College Admission Statistics Show 166 Acceptances To Ivy Schools

Harvard University has admitted 39 out of 128 Phillips Academy senior applicants. Director of College Placement Robert Hulburd announced last Friday. In addition, Yale University accepted 35 out of 81 applicants, the University of Pennsylvania took 22 out of 44, and Brown University admitted 19 out of 41. Harvard placed 20 seniors on its waiting list, followed by the University of Pennsylvania with 12, Yale with 10, and Brown with four.

While Harvard's admissions decreased by two and the University of Pennsylvania's dropped by six, Yale accepted three more seniors than last year, and Brown accepted nine more.

Princeton, Cornell

Princeton accepted 15 of 51 applying seniors, placing three on the waiting list. Cornell admitted 13 seniors, rejecting six and placing two on the waiting list. Columbia took 12 out of 17, with one on the waiting list, while Dartmouth accepted 16 out of 32 applicants. Tufts, Duke and MIT accepted nine out of 17, 10 out of 24, and three out of 11, respectively. Vassar accepted 11 out of 17 applicants.

Johns Hopkins accepted 16 out of 18 seniors, and Colgate took nine of 16. Occidental took 10 out of 19, while Pomona took six out of 11 applicants. Stanford took only 17 of 51 seniors who applied.

"The Little Three," Amherst,

Williams and Wesleyan, admitted about 35% of their applicants, accepting three out of 13, six out of 17, and eight out of 18, respectively.

Waiting List

Mr. Hulburd said that although some figures are not yet finalized, approximately 50% of this year's 250 seniors were accepted into their first choice schools. He added, however, that due to the increased number placed on the waiting lists of some schools, this percentage could rise to nearly 60% by the end of this school year.

Mr. Hulburd also announced that Harvard has chosen seniors Tom Raleigh and Bruce Bruckmann as Harvard National Scholars, while senior Nick Hadley has been named a University Scholar by the University of Chicago. In addition, the University of Virginia has named senior Rick Berry as an Echols Scholar.

National Spokesman For Veterans Against The War Speaks Friday

John Kerry, national leader of the Vietnam Veterans Against the War, spoke last Friday morning at a voluntary assembly in George Washington Hall. Mr. Kerry, a recently declared candidate for Andover's 5th Congressional District, outlined his positions on Vietnam and domestic issues. Later that morning in the Underwood Room, Mr. Kerry participated in an informal question and answer exchange with a group of interested students.

Well-Kept Secret

The main thrust of Mr. Kerry's speech centered on the Vietnam war. According to Mr. Kerry, "America is still deeply involved and South Vietnam is war-weary and completely dependent on the United States for survival." He added, "Four years ago a man ran for president who said he had a secret plan for peace. This has been the best-kept promise of the administration; the plan has yet to be revealed...no one would have voted for the President if anyone had known the plan would mean 25,000 more dead Americans and four more years of war."

"Betrayed"

During his informal discussion with students, Mr. Kerry emphasized that he thought the war's intensity had not abated, and offered evidence of increased naval and air participation in the war as proof. He commented, "I feel that the American people have been betrayed by their leaders. The Gulf of Tonkin incident never happened—we have no right to be fighting in Vietnam. I think that this typifies the manner in which the government operates." He also outlined his own congressional campaign platform of tax reform, economic prosperity, and equanimity in law enforcement.

Moreover, Mr. Kerry stated that he still harbored an optimism for the future of America and asserted that the American people "have great potential yet unrealized."

Coop Appoints Committee To Devise Course Critique Plan

Phillips Academy's Student-Faculty Cooperative last Thursday passed a motion from senior Andy Thurman to "appoint a committee of students and faculty to investigate and prepare a plan for a course critique."

Coop president Bob Blattner, hearing no discussion, called for a vote. The motion passed by a clear majority of the group. Blattner then opened the floor to any discussion pertaining to the Coop.

Purpose of Coop

During the open portion of the meeting, several speakers attempted to define the boundaries of the Coop and to find solutions for the problem of low attendance. Headmaster Simeon Hyde suggested that the Coop consult Acting Dean of Faculty Peter McKee to find an opening in next year's schedule in which the Coop could meet with no conflicting events.

Re-examination

Biology instructor Jack Harris suggested that the Coop re-examine its purpose and future, commenting that the Advisory Committee has partially replaced the Coop in function. Mr. Hyde disagreed, commenting that the Coop has not been replaced as a "sounding board" for student opinion. He suggested that decentralization and the cluster system, currently under consideration by both the Advisory Committee and the faculty, be the topic for the next Coop meeting.

Alumni Completes Fund Drive; Council To Meet Here Friday

FUND

With a total of approximately $332,000 worth of donations, the Andover Alumni Fund's 1972 General Campaign ended on March 31. According to Director of the Alumni Fund Charles Smith, the fund's total very nearly equals last year's amount, but he added that there was a drop in the number of donors. Mr. Smith noted that the decrease in donors was surprising in view of the number of letters, telephone calls and announcements of Dr. Theodore Sizer's appointment issued during March.

Reunion Classes

Mr. Smith commented that the two reunion classes, 1922 and 1947, gave the drive a "stronger total dollar position than last year," donating nearly $70,000, almost twice the total of last year's reunion classes. Mr. Smith expects an additional $20,000 from the reunion classes which would bring the Fund total closer to its goal of $425,000. This amount would be an improvement of almost $20,000 over last year's total.

COUNCIL

Members of the Phillips Academy Alumni Council will meet here Friday and Saturday. Alumni Secretary Charles Smith expects approximately seventy alumni and their wives to attend the annual spring conference.

"Back to the Classroom"

In what Alumni Council President Henry Riggs termed as a "Back to the Classroom" program, the alumni will attend several classes. Students in the Friday morning classes will then escort the alumni members to lunch at Commons. Following lunch the Alumni Fund Committee will meet with the Class Secretaries.

On Saturday, there will be a breakfast meeting for the Executive Committee, followed by morning classes. At 10:30 a.m. the alumni will meet in a general session in the Morse Hall Faculty Room. The session will include reports from Chairman of the Alumni Fund Stephen Goldhue and Chairman of the Class Secretaries and the Reunion Committee Lee Bergstrom.

Students Participate In Presidential Campaigns

Seniors Don Ward and Jim McVeety recently attempted to register in Andover.

With the Presidential campaigns in full swing around the country, many Abbot and PA students have shown active involvement in the local primary campaigns. The students' activities entail canvassing for signatures, writing letters, and making phone calls to initiate support among the voters for their favorite candidate.

18 Year Old Vote

One of the major reasons for this recent increase of interest in politics is the 26th amendment, which permits 18 year olds to vote. As one senior explained, "With this new law many of us are now eligible to vote. We now feel that our opinions can be more effectively expressed through the use of this new privilege." Most juniors, lowers, and uppers feel that since they are not eligible to vote, campaigning is the only way they can express their support for a candidate. Presently, the only candidates supported by Abbot and PA students are Senators John Ashbrook, George McGovern, and Edmund Muskie.

Several Young Americans for Freedom (YAF) members, including uppers Alan Huth, John Mackner, George Sumner, and senior Clayton Bond worked for Republican candidate John Ashbrook last February during the New Hampshire primary. Members of the YAF canvassed and did clerical work throughout the Manchester campaign. According to Huth, the purpose of their campaigning was "to show Nixon that there still is a strong conservative element in this country, and that he should stick to his conservative campaign promises of 1968." Huth added that although Ashbrook didn't win in New Hampshire, the groups' efforts were considered "a small success."

McGovern Organization Largest

At this point, the McGovern campaign group, which consists of approximately 30 students, is the largest political organization at PA. History instructor Donald Gardner, Abbot Mathematics instructor David Tower and Chemistry instructor Thomas Rees head the McGovern supporters, while seniors Abbie Shaine and Fred Ralston are student organizers. Ralston commented, "We are one of the largest operating groups in the Lawrence area."

Canvassing

With the Massachusetts primary occurring on April 25, the McGovern campaigners have been very busy encouraging voters to support McGovern. Most of their work involves canvassing voters in the local area. According to Ralston, "The canvassing process begins with collecting lists of all eligible voters from Andover and Lawrence, and recording the names of those voters who are Democrats or Independents. The canvassers then look up the voters' phone numbers and assemble cards containing any pertinent information about the particular voters. After these preparations, the actual canvassing occurs." According to Mr. Gardner, the purposes of the canvassing are to present the voters with some information on George McGovern, to leave the voters with a favorable image of both the canvasser and Senator McGovern, and to identify voters who favor or oppose McGovern's candidacy. Ralston commented, "Because of our work and because the Lawrence area is solidly Democratic, the group is very optimistic about the success of Senator McGovern."

Senior Bill Pruden is the only Andover student working with the Muskie campaign. Before spring vacation, Pruden, in connection with Lowell students for Muskie, canvassed the Lawrence and Lowell areas for signatures to place Senator Muskie on the ballot in the Massachusetts primary. Pruden commented, "Basically, I am campaigning for Muskie because I like the man, and I agree with him on the issues at hand." Pruden also sighted his interest in politics as another reason for his participation in the campaigning. Pruden added that although he has been very active in the Muskie campaign, he has accomplished little because of a complete lack of student interest.

Student Registration

In a non-partisan attempt to increase the amount of student involvement in politics, six Abbot and PA students recently attempted to register to vote in the upcoming Massachusetts primary. The town of Andover only registered upper Travis Bissett and senior John Hoffman, while refusing seniors Jim McVeety, Deborah Roth, Abbie Shaine, and Don Ward. The town clerk stated that because the seniors were graduating in June, they were not residents of Andover and thus could not register. If the students lived in nearby states, they could register at home. After registering, they could either go home to vote or submit an absentee ballot.

With these initial attempts to increase the amount of political activity and awareness among students, Abbot and PA can look forward to even greater political involvement in the future.

Political Activism

Student participation in a political campaign is an extremely useful activity which gives students not only a chance to extend their horizons but also an opportunity to develop a comprehensive understanding of the political system which controls our lives. So far this year, college and high school students have demonstrated the effectiveness of political activity, contributing substantially to Senator George McGovern's popularity in New Hampshire's primary election.

Yet less than one-twentieth of the student body is currently engaged in campaign work on behalf of the major candidates for the presidency of the United States. This lack of involvement stems from a general disinterest in the affairs of the surrounding community as well as a rigid schedule which discourages extensive off-campus activity.

While boarding schools must resign themselves to a sense of isolation on the part of the student body, they can and should provide students who are willing to work outside the school the time to participate in political campaigns. PA could encourage this type of activism by instituting campaign work as an athletic alternative and granting long weekends to students wishing to aid in their candidate's election bids.

By accommodating the needs of the student campaigners, Phillips Academy can promote interest in the political system and offer one more educational experience.

CELLULOID JUNGLE

Saturday, April 22, in GW — in They Shoot Horses, Don't They? (1969) Jane Fonda and Michael Sarrazin are contestants in a big dance marathon in 1932, as the excitement of the fad is beginning to wane. Gig Young won an Oscar for his role as the leader of the marathon in a sleazy dance palace on a California pier. Gig mingles among the pathetic and dreary couples who are all hoping to win the big prize waiting after weeks of physical and mental exhaustion. Red Buttons and Bonnie Bedelia are featured in minor roles.

Saturday, April 22, in Kemper — The Kremlin is an hour-long documentary re-creating events in the seat of Russian authority through five centuries of its existence. The film highlights the effects of history on the Kremlin, including the killing of Ivan the Terrible's son, the murder of members of Peter the Great's family by the Strelitsi guard, Napoleon's capture of the Kremlin and the subsequent burning of Moscow.

ERRATUM

Last week The PHILLIPPIAN erroneously reported that the Phillips Academy Board of Trustees would meet on April 13, 14 and 15. Actually, the Trustees plan to meet here during the weekend of April 27, 28 and 29.

The PHILLIPPIAN wishes to apologize for this mistake.

In Memoriam

PA is, like America, a very demanding and at times cold institution. This is because it deems its own stability and laws more important than the growth and values of the student. The individual of the institution is apt to feel alienated, and tends to create a self-centeredness due to a sense of oppression. This did not happen to Tom Munro.

He was selfless and for this he was happy. He had an idea of who he was and for this he was able to transcend the sorrows which most of us unnecessarily bear on our backs. In a place where there is so much distrust he was liked by everyone, and in a place where there is so much disrespect he was respected by everyone. His smile came from within and his eyes were sincere.

However, if Tom were to read what I have written he would be touched by the feeling involved but also made uncomfortable by the clumsiness of my words. For Tom, life was not a verbose affair. It was sunshine, Van Morrison, and perhaps a can of beer. During his lifetime, he lived and we are lucky to have lived with him. Many of us loved him and we can only hope that his death will bring us as close together as his life. "Awake and sing, ye that dwell in dust, and the earth shall cast out the dead." Russell Selby, '73

Welcome to you, Tom's friends. Join us in our salute to him. Join us in song and prayer, reflection and communion that this celebration may resound to the glory of life and the miracle of our Tommy.

NEWS BRIEFS

Rohrer, Wicks Art Shows

Phillips Academy senior Dean Rohrer will conduct an exhibition and a sale of his own drawings and paintings at Abbot Academy's John Esther Gallery this Friday at 7:00 p.m. According to Rohrer, the work reflects his country Pennsylvania background. Refreshments will be served, and Rohrer commented that the exhibition will be "a place with good vibes."

An exhibition this week at the Addison Gallery is Wingate Paine Fellow in photography Stephen Wicks' collection of photographs of rural western North Carolina. The exhibit will be open until May 3.

"Sound-Off"

Eight juniors in English instructor Meredith Price's first year English class last Monday published "Sound Off!," a newspaper covering events involving the junior class.

Edited by junior Matthew Van Atta, the seven page paper featured interviews with Physics instructor Mark St. John and Teaching Fellow in English John Faggi. The paper also included coverage of junior lacrosse and baseball prospects for the coming season, a profile of senior proctor Kevin Threadgold, and several news items ranging from junior housing plans for next year to the "Junior Express Yourself" contest at Williams Hall on April 12.

Abbot Renovations

According to Mr. Griggs, Abbot's laundry will close next year due to financial difficulties. The building will probably become an art department facility, with the basement used as a coin-operated laundry.

Mr. Griggs commented that the school will construct a building to house and repair Abbot vehicles. Abbot will also install portable walls and improved lighting to the John Esther Gallery to better accommodate art exhibits. In addition, interior designer Barbara Freeman, Abbot class of '49, will direct the painting of McKee and Davis Halls.

Pianist To Perform

The Music Department of Phillips Academy will present pianist William Dawson in a concert of classical and semi-classical music on Sunday, at 3:00 P.M. in Kemper Auditorium.

According to Chairman of the Music Department William Clift, 27-year-old Dawson has performed throughout the United States and Europe, including recent concerts in New York, Chicago, the Gardner Museum in Boston, Wellesley College, and The Spoleto Festival of Two Worlds in Italy. During the coming season, he will be a guest soloist with the Boston Pops.

Andover-Exeter

Phillips Academy's Philomathean Society recently tied Exeter in the 67th Annual Andover-Exeter debate. The topic of the debate was "Resolved: that the federal government should completely finance primary and secondary school education in the United States."

The affirmative consisting of Abbot junior Beth Polebaum, PA seniors Mark Brown and Russell Graham, and upper John Bishop, lost at PA, while the negative, consisting of Abbot senior Jackie Carter, senior Arnon Mishkin, and lowers David Hilder and Adam Lerner won at Exeter.

Four Teachers To Join '72-'73 Abbot Faculty

Abbot Academy Headmaster Donald Gordon recently announced the appointments of four instructors to the Abbot faculty for next year.

Zanda Rewis and Mott DeForrest will conduct a course in Human Relations. Mr. DeForrest is presently a counselor at Meadowbrook Junior High School in Newton, Massachusetts. Ms. Rewis currently works with a drug rehabilitation agency in New Haven, Connecticut. In addition to teaching at Abbot, Ms. Rewis and Mr. DeForrest will spend time creating a Human Relations Center for Independent Schools. The center will provide services for students, faculty, and staff of participating schools.

According to Mr. Gordon, Keder Bayard, a Haitian, will join the math department. Mr. Bayard received his schooling in Haiti and France and holds a Master of Arts degree in higher math and computer math. Mr. Bayard came to the United States in 1965 and has been teaching at St. Margaret's in Waterbury, Connecticut.

Mr. Theodore Warren will teach history at Abbot next year. Mr. Warren, a Master of Arts in history, has taught at Browne and Nichols in Cambridge.

Advisory Council Discusses Decentralization Of School

Phillips Academy's Student-Faculty Advisory Committee met on April 11 to continue a discussion it began earlier this term concerning the decentralization of the Andover community. Dean of Students John Richards commented that he feels this subject is "the most important issue facing PA now."

Cluster Discipline

According to Mr. Richards, some of the discussion dealt with a proposal from the cluster chairmen suggesting an increase in cluster discipline authority. The proposal called for cluster discipline systems which would involve both students and faculty members. However, Mr. Richards said that most of the meeting's debate centered on the development and continuation of the cluster idea in general.

Although the Advisory Committee did not vote on the proposal, members expressed interest in finding the general feeling of the school community toward the cluster system. The committee recommended to both the faculty and the Student-Faculty Cooperative that the groups consider decentralization in their upcoming meetings.

ABBOT ANNOUNCES CURRICULUM ALTERATIONS FOR NEXT YEAR

Abbot Academy Director of Studies Carolyn Goodwin recently announced several additions to Abbot's curriculum for next year, including a major in Psychology, four new elective majors in History, a Human Sexuality major and a Humanities major.

Roles of Women

Women in Society will explore the role and status of women in cultures and societies which have determined the roles of women in our society. The course is a year-long major divided into three terms to provide the option of taking only one term.

A two term course entitled Black Americans will question the validity of the "melting pot" theory in application to blacks. The course will study Marcus Garvey, Malcom X, James Weldon Johnson, and the NAACP. Black Americans will also consider the black man's experiences in slavery and his post-slavery struggle for equality and identity. Economics, a term-contained major, will introduce students to the basic principles of economics and the application of these principles to the contemporary economy.

Sex and the Media

The Abbot sex education department, will offer Sex in American Culture Today, which will study modern sex customs in historical perspective, and then move more specifically to sex in advertising, film, mass media, art and literature. The participants will determine other topics of interest.

Instructors Grew, Sanborn To Retire This June

learning experiences outside of the classroom. I noted the same lackings at Exeter when I was there a few years ago. In general I think that Andover is a very conservative school in spite of attempts to be progressive."

Biology instructor Jack Harris will work for a Ph.D. at Albany's University of New York. He commented, "I'm sorry to be leaving at a time when Ted Sizer is becoming the Headmaster of the school, but I'm also sorry that there is a lack of young faculty with ideas for humanizing education. I'm leaving because I'm frustrated with the school, and because I want to pursue a course of study that interests me."

Improvement

Mathematics instructor Warren Young also plans to attend graduate school, pointing out that he wished to improve in all areas. He remarked, "Phillips Academy has shown me many things, and I've learned while I've been here. While here I've come to re-evaluate myself, and I have come to see that not only is there need for improvement, but that I already have to some extent seen the means of my improving."

Religion instructor Grant Mallett is undecided as to his plans for the coming year. He reflected on his time at PA commenting, "I've really enjoyed my two years here, and I liked the school, but for many reasons I think that it would be best if I moved on." French instructor Jean Raynaud said that his plans for next year were as yet undecided, and declined further comment.

Good Future

History instructor Donald Gardner intends to go into politics after leaving PA, and described his plans briefly: "I've been long interested in government and politics, and I'm presently interviewing for a job with the mayor of Boston. I hope to work there next year. I leave PA, however, with many regrets. I enjoyed working with the students and the faculty and I feel that the school has a good future."

Biology Instructor George Sanborn.

Mr. Stephen Wicks, a Wingate Paine Teaching Fellow in photography, will continue as a professional photographer next year while teaching photography. Mr. Wicks commented, "I was here on a Teaching Fellowship that only lasted one year. Under the circumstances, I only had close contact with the Art Department. However, I found teaching enjoyable although I am primarily a photographer. I intend to teach documentary photography on a part-time basis as well as photograph."

Baseball, Tennis Take Season Openers

PA Racketmen Down Williams Freshmen, 6-3

Wednesday, April 12; Andover—The Andover tennis team started the season off on a winning note, as it defeated the Williams freshmen, 6-3. Andover showed depth in both singles and doubles, winning four out of the six singles matches and two out of the three doubles matches.

McCracken Crushes Opponent

PA's number one racketman, captain Dave McCracken won easily, using a tremendous serve, driving ground strokes, and a strong net game, to score an impressive 6-0, 6-3 victory. Sandy Wood, in the number five spot, also won in straight sets as he overpowered his opponent with sharp, well-placed ground strokes. Also winning easily in straight sets were Bill Kaplan and Ned Bacon, at the third and sixth positions, respectively. Kaplan, with his usual consistent game, downed his opponent 7-6, 6-3, while Bacon relied on his strong net play to capture his match, 6-2, 6-4.

Dave Chase and Tom Raleigh, playing at the number two and four spots, sustained the only losses in the singles. Chase, though taking the offensive in his match, made too many errors, and consequently fell, 6-4, 6-4. Lacking the consistency that is usually his strong point, Raleigh fell to his opponent in three sets.

Bacon, Bloomfield Win Doubles

The handiest victory of the day came from the number three doubles team of Ned Bacon and Brooks Bloomfield, as they humiliated their opponents, 6-0, 6-1. They played aggressively and consistently, taking complete control of the match. The second doubles team of Kaplan and Raleigh also won, as they downed their Williams counterparts, 6-3, 7-5. Accounting for the only double loss of the day was the number one team of McCracken and Chase.

Clayton Bond led the Blue to a 6-0 victory over Browne and Nichols, allowing only one hit in four innings of shutout pitching.

Cronin, Bolduc Lead Baseball Past Browne and Nichols, 6-0

Wednesday, April 12; Cambridge, Mass. — Paced by the two-hit shutout pitching of Clayton Bond and Lew Howes, the varsity baseball team opened its season with a 6-0 win over Browne and Nichols. Greg Cronin and Danny Bolduc led the Blue offense with two hits apiece.

Andover scored all the runs it needed in the first inning, which opened with a single by captain Doug Bigwood. After Harry Cronin popped to first, Greg Cronin grounded to the shortstop, who forced Bigwood at second. However, Hal Stanwood, batting in cleanup spot, kept the inning alive by singling to left; Cronin advanced to second on the play. Both runners then moved up on a passed ball, setting the stage for Rick Hall, who promptly laced a 3-0 pitch into centerfield for a double and a 2-0 Blue lead.

Bigwood Ignites Rally

PA picked up another run in the second inning without the benefit of a base hit. Leading off, Bolduc was hit by a pitch. He moved to second on a passed ball, and reached third as Mike Halley grounded out to the first baseman. Clayton Bond then hit a sacrifice fly to deep center, scoring Bolduc to give Andover a substantial three run lead.

Control Problems Plague Bond

Walking five men in the four innings he worked, PA's starting pitcher Clayton Bond found himself constantly working out of jams. The most serious of these occurred in the second inning. With runners on first and second and two outs, Bond allowed his only hit of the game, a single to centerfield, which Bolduc fielded and fired in to Greg Cronin; Cronin then relayed the throw home, nabbing the runner at the plate to preserve the shutout for the Blue.

Lew Howes replaced Bond in the fifth inning, and went on to give up just one hit and three walks in his three innings. Howes also struck out three batters.

Andover secured the victory in the seventh, as singles by Bolduc, Halley, and both Cronins, two stolen bases, and a passed ball accounted for three insurance runs, giving the Blue an insurmountable six run advantage.

PA-Yale Contest Postponed

Last Saturday's scheduled contest between Andover and the Yale freshmen was called in the middle of the third inning due to hazardous weather conditions, with the Blue leading, 2-1.

Lacrosse Loses To Yale Frosh, 6-2

Saturday, April 15; Andover—Hampered by poor passing and a weak attack, the PA varsity lacrosse team fell at the hands of a strong Yale freshmen squad, 6-2. The Yale team opened up an early lead and held on to win, virtually dominating the entire game. The frosh opened up the scoring with a goal in the first quarter and two more in the second. PA's efforts to retake the lead were thwarted, though, as the Blue offense was almost totally ineffective throughout the first half.

Don Ward scored Andover's first tally of the game on a slow bouncing shot that beat the screened Yale goalie; his linemate Bruce Bruckmann picked up an assist on the play. The frosh came right back with three more scores, however, to take a 6-1 lead. In the final period, PA began to gain the momentum, but it was still unable to capitalize on a number of scoring opportunities. Upper Scott Clemson tallied Andover's second goal at the midway mark of the final period with a beautiful 15 foot shot after stickhandling through the entire Yale defense.

Midfield Weak

Although midfielders scored both PA goals, the main difference between the two teams was at that position. PA had trouble passing and shooting throughout the game, while Yale usually managed to give itself good scoring opportunities.

Goalie Bruce Poliquin, although turning in a fine effort, was bombarded by the accurate, strong shots of the Yale attackmen during the entire contest. As a result, Poliquin let in six goals, a figure that could have been much higher if it weren't for his fine play. The defense was also under constant pressure as the frosh was able to keep the ball in its attacking zone for a majority of the game. This was caused in part by PA's inability to clear the ball, especially in the first half. Defenseman Al Senior and Dave Victor both played well throughout the game, particularly in the last quarter.

Stan Livingston and Steve Sherrill, two PA alumni, led the frosh at defense and attack, respectively. Livingston was injured early in the game, however, and was forced to sit out the entire second half. Sherrill paced the Yale attackers, tallying a goal and an assist to lead the scoring.

Midfielder Bruce Bruckmann tallied an assist in Andover's disappointing 6-2 loss to the Yale freshmen.

Wolfe Runs 4:26.9 Mile

Dartmouth Freshmen Topple PA Track, 84-65

Co-captain of the track team Bruce Wolfe will be Andover's top miler this season.

Saturday, April 15; Andover—The Dartmouth freshmen track squad used its superior strength in the weight throwing events to defeat Andover, 84-65, in the first meet of the spring season for the Blue. The Dartmouth team swept the discus, shot put, and hammer throw to open up an early lead which PA could not overcome.

Fleming, Butler Win Twice

Sprinter Tom Fleming led the Blue, taking firsts in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes. He recorded excellent times of 10.1 seconds in the 100 and 22.7 seconds in the 220. Other outstanding performances for PA were turned in by miler Bruce Wolfe and hurdler Sam Butler. Wolfe won the mile event in 4:26.9 and Butler took a first in the 180 yard low hurdles with a 20.6 second clocking, both good times on the slow, wet track. In the 880, Butler won his second race of the meet with a fast time of 2:00.5. Ed McPherson took Andover's only other individual first with a fine 21 1/2" effort in the long jump.

Lower Lee Murray captured a second and two third places in track's loss to Dartmouth freshmen.

PA Relay Team Takes First

PA's relay quartet, consisting of Tom Masters, Otha Mosby, Lee Murray, and McPherson, was victorious in the 880 yard relay. Murray also took second place in the 180 yard low hurdles and thirds in both the 120 yard high hurdles and the high jump. Along with his first place in the long jump, McPherson captured second place in the 440 and third place in the 100.

Double winner Alex McLean paced Dartmouth as he took firsts in both the high jump and the 120 yard high hurdles. Sprinter Rick Cheebokjian was another one of Dartmouth's top performers, winning the 440 in a time of 52.2 seconds. Andover edged the frosh in the winter track season and to avenge that loss, Dartmouth brought the best of their freshmen to this meet, including some members who are also on the varsity squad.

PA to Face Northeastern

Andover's next meet is against the Northeastern freshmen, a week from today. Northeastern had a strong team in the winter that defeated the Blue by 10 points. PA will be looking to avenge that loss, and in view of the fine performances given in the Dartmouth freshmen meet, the Blue's chances look very good.

PREP SCHOOL SUMMARY

Opposition - 27, Red Lax - 2

Harvard Frosh, Tabor Crush Exeter

Exeter's varsity lacrosse team, in a dismal opening of its season, fell to the Harvard freshmen, 15-1, and to a very good Tabor team, 12-1. Playing on marked fields for the first time this year, as muddy ground conditions had hampered its practice sessions, the Red was unable to generate any offensive attack in either of the games. Despite the lopsided scores, the Exeter coach commented that his goalie, Cal Norman, played well in the Red nets, turning aside many opposition scoring attempts.

Mt. Hermon Drops Opener

Playing in its first game of the season, the Mount Hermon varsity lacrosse team dropped an 8-5 decision to Governor Dummer. Plagued by offensive lapses throughout the contest, Mount Hermon remained in contention through the opening two periods, but Governor Dummer scored three quick goals in the first minute and a half of the third period to clinch the victory. Ron Cree played well in a losing effort for Mt. Hermon as he stood out at his attack position.

BASEBALL

Exeter Falls Twice

The Exeter varsity baseball team opened its season on a losing note as it fell to Newburyport 5-4. Third baseman Rick Endelman stood out in defeat for the Red, as he played an outstanding game in the field.

In its second game of the week, Exeter fell at the hands of the Harvard Freshmen, 7-1. The game was relatively close through five innings, as Exeter's starting pitcher, Mike Lynch, limited the frosh to just two hits and two runs. The Crimson exploded for three hits and two runs off Lynch in the sixth inning, however, upping the score to 4-1. The Harvard rampage did not stop there, though, as it scored three more runs off Lynch's reliever in the seventh, to drop Exeter's record to 0-2.

Blue Golf Falls To Yale JV's; Kazickas, Coyer Cop PA Wins

Saturday, April 15; New Haven, Conn.- In its first meet of the season, the PA golf team fell to a strong Yale JV squad, 427-453. This score represents the total of the five best performances of each team.

Kazickas Downs Opponent

Captain Alex Kazickas, playing number one, shot a 43 for the front nine and 40 coming in, to complete the course with an 83, the third lowest total overall. Kazickas shot well off the tees and from the fairways; his play around the greens, though, proved to be considerably weaker.

Upper Dave Chase, playing second on the ladder, carded a poor 95, while his opponent shot an 80, the best score of the meet. Vic Crosby played in the third position for PA and shot a respectable 91, considering the inclement weather. He fell, however, to his Yale counterpart, who recorded an 88.

John Hess, Jack Cahill, and Howard Sklar all had poor showings as Hess finished with a 98, Cahill with a 93, and Sklar with a 102. Chris Coyer in the last position, shot a 91 and downed his opponent by one stroke.

Kent Oarsmen Defeat Andover For Seventh Successive Year

Saturday, April 15; Kent- In its first meet of the regular season, the varsity crew fell to a well-conditioned Kent team by close to three lengths. Kent posted a winning time of 4:59 while the Andover crew was clocked at 5:11 for the one mile course. This loss marks the seventh straight year that Kent has defeated the Blue.

Kent Takes Early Lead

As the race commenced, Kent jumped to a quick lead. This can be attributed to the fact that a two count start was given instead of the three count start which the Andover oarsmen are used to.

PA's attempts to gain during the race were to no avail, however, as the strong, Kent team maintained a substantial lead and won by a large margin.

JV Loses

Andover also lost the first race of the day as PA's second boat, consisting of Duke Burnham, Chris Maietta, Craig Christianson, Cap Lesesne, Bruce Schulan, and Dick Kauffman also finished as runner-up. Again the Blue got off to a poor start, and its attempts to come back during the race fell short. The Blue finished the course with a time of 5:29.

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

SAM BUTLER

Sam Butler took firsts in both the 880 yard run and the 180 yard low hurdles in track's meet against the Dartmouth freshmen.
